Why did the Government put a highway on such a road when it could get a straight road, bar one little curve hardly noticeable, from Smith Street right hrough to Marmora, via Douro and Dummer?

We would be satisfied if we got a portion of the road. I can take a hundred taxpayers over the two roads and I can get ninety per. cent for the boundary. What does the Government mean; is it going to hoodwink the people of Dummer and Douro? I am writing for both municipali ies but will tell you, my good people, when the next election is pulled off it will be easy to count the present Government's ballots.

I would say if the Government wants to relieve the unemployment situation why doesn't it take the road building and not give it to contractors; give the laboring man a chance to earn an honest living and not be listening to those white-collared gents who don't care for man or beast as long as their big salary comes in.

We are going to fight for our rights and we will have them! Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for space in your paper,

Dummer-Douro.

ARE WE PRACTICAL ATHESISTS?

Editor Examiner:

The churches of the Central Powers likewise prayed for victory. Of course the allied countries claim they won, but can it be called a victory when all the participants were so frightfully punished? Look at the condition of every country in the world to-day as a result. Surely it should be plain to every one using the with which they have been gifted, that the war was due to some basic cause being ignored (God's will) as expressed in the words "The Land Shall Not Be Sold Forever." Moreover "The Profit of the Earth Is for All." Are these words meaningless? Are they not God's directions to us His creatures?

Is there a country in the world to-day obeying this command; the answer is "No, not one." Then are we not all practical atheists? And in view of this non-conformity to the will of God, which is essential to peace on earth and good-will toward men, is it not imbecility or worse to have a blind faith that appeals to God to suspend His natural law in order to relieve us of the national punishment we have brought on ourselves.

R. W. Whitelaw,
Cobourg, April 14, 1931.

THE CHURCH OF TO-DAY.

The Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir: In your issues for the last year or so (particularly) you have, like myself noticed the numerous plays, dances, whist drives, concerts, suppers, bazzars, etc., being held continually in our present day churches.

Whilst a comparison with the early church may be interesting to your readers, it may also be helpful to someone.

The early church as you know "prayed" in the "upper" room, while the twentieth century church "cooks" in the "supper" room. The supper room has taken the place of the upper room. Play has taken the place of prayer, feasting the place of fasting. There are more full stomachs than full hearts and bended knees. More "fire" in the church range than in the church pulpit.

Ice cream chills the fervor of the spirit. The early Christians were not cooking in supper room the day the Holy Ghost came. They were praying in the upper room. They were not waiting on the tables, but they were waiting on the Lord. They were not waiting for the fire in the stove to burn up, but for the fire of the Holy Ghost from above.

They were detained in the upper room by command of God, not entertained in the lower room by the winning of man.

They were all filled with the Holy Ghost, and not stuffed with stew and roast.

Would it not be much better for our land if the cooking squad was put out and praying band let in. Let us have less ham and sham and more of Heaven; less pie and more piety; less use for the cook and more use for the Book. Put out the fire in the kitchen and build it on the altar. More love and more life; fewer dinners and less sinners—a church full of waiters not on the tables but upon the Lord. They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength.

In closing, the general thing said in support of the present day affairs, when selling tickets, etc., is that it is the Lord's work? It's for a good cause! It's to help pay expenses! You must give the young people a good time, etc. The church surely is supposed to be a soul saving station and not a body fuelling station?

It must surely be presumed that doing all these things in the church and in the name of the Lord must make them right to do?

There is little left for the non-church goer to do that is not done within most churches. Yet these people are considered lost or sinners?

Finally, if these things are right for Christian people to do—the Bible cannot be quite so true as these same Christians would have us believe for instance. When ye come together in the church it's not for the purpose of eating and drinking (with the exception of the Lord's supper—. Have ye not houses to eat and to drink in? or despair ye the church of God? If any man hunger let him eat at home; that ye came not together unto condemnation. 1 Cor. 11: 18-34. Surely this clashes with church feeds?

And Jesus went into the temple of God, and cast out all them that sold and bought in the temple, etc. And said My house shall be called the "house of prayer," but ye have made it a den of thieves. Matt. 21:12, 13. Surely, this applies to bazaar s or rummage sales, the principal is the same as though it were "doves"? Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world, etc. 1 John 2: 15, 16, and the friendship of the world is enmity with God? James 4:4, 5. Ye cannot serve God and Mammon. Matt. 6:24. Surely we must class dances, card playing, plays, raffles, etc., etc., as at least things of the world" and therefor should render unto Caesar the things that are his and to God the things that are His.

Thanking you, for space, etc.,
Yours sincerely,
Frank Danzey, Oshawa.

What To-day Means To You

"ARIES.

If April 15th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. and from 7:15 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. The danger hours are from 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m., from 4:30 p.m. to 5:45 p.m., and from 9:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m.

The astrological indications of April 15th are particularly propitious for new enterprises and for research work. They reveal buoyancy of spirit and continuity of effort: many unexpected, but happy, results may be safely anticipated. Marriages solemnized on this date will be productive of much happiness.

Children born on this April 15th will be truthful, self-confident, and never impatient. They will easily acquire the habit of punctuality and the custom of courtesy. Domestic in their tastes, they will have many interests outside of the home, and their horoscope bespeaks for them merited success and happiness.

Born on April 15th, you are broad-minded, and are more liable to judge actions by the original intention, rather than by the method of execution. You take wide views, and do not permit yourself to be led astray by little details which often obscure the main issue, rather than contribute to its "denouncement." You are destined to achieve your ambition—whatever it may be—unless you allow yourself to be deflected by a foolish infatuation—and this is, for you, a real danger.

You are a good organizer, and never shirk responsibility. You are considerate of others, when they work with you, and not against you. Ineptitude can be overlooked: disloyalty, never. You are a good judge, although not a votary, of art. You like, too, to dabble in problems of life that are usually classified as abstruse. Although not an enthusiastic "fan," you take a keen interest in sports and outdoor recreation.

Your disposition is an amorous one. You are destined to have many love affairs. These, however, will be your apprenticeship, and when you finally "settle down" it will only be with the one who will satisfy your longings for steadfast and true companionship. Your love for children is fully reciprocated by them.

Farmers Requested To Support Tories

LONDON, April 15.—(C. P. Cable.)—Agricultural interests must give plain and unswering support to the Conservative party declared J. F. Wright, leader of the New Norfolk Farmers' Party, to-day. The Norfolk Farmers' Party was established largely through the efforts of Lord Beaverbrook, but since the decision of Lord Beaverbrook to support the Conservatives the farmers are likewise falling in line.

Mr. Wright stated that Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, before he left the chairmanship of the Conservative Party organization recently, was asked if the Conservatives were prepared to put customs duties on foreign foodstuffs, to protect the British farmer, both at home and in the Dominions. The answer was that is the intention of the Conservative party, Mr. Wright added.

Trusts Company Is Awarded Judgment

Judgment was recently delivered in an action tried before His Honor Judge L. V. O'Connor in the County Court at Peterborough on November 23, 1930, between The Trusts and Guarantee Company, Limited, administrator of the estate of Mary Jane Dunford as plaintiff and Archibald Reynolds and Matilda Reynolds as defendants, for the sum of $149.65 with costs on the Division Court scale in favor of the plaintiff company.

The defendants were not allowed any set-off for costs. The action was for $766.43, but at the trial the plaintiff abandoned a portion of the claim, leaving the sum of $283.22 in dispute. The plaintiff's claim was for rent alleged to be owing by the defendants to the plaintiffs.

A. L. Elliott of the law firm of Gordon and Elliott acted for the plaintiff, and W. F. Huycke, for the defendants.

SHORT SELLERS

WINNIPEG Man., April 15.—James A. Richardson, prominent Canadian grain man, undertook yesterday to identify the short sellers in a bull wheat market. His testimony, before the Royal Commission inquiring into futures trading, was intended to answer the effort of Sir Josiah Stamp, chairman, to determine the source of the futures-selling interest which must balance the buying by bulls.

Mr. Richardson enumerated the selling interests as follows:

(2)—Traders who have bought futures at lower prices and are anxious to sell on the rising market.

(3)—Professional spreaders who might buy wheat in other markets and sell at Winnipeg.

(4)—Regular hedging from day to day, such as deliveries to elevators.

(5)—Stocks on ocean being hedged when sold.

(6)—Speculative short selling by professional bears.

Sir Josiah promptly readjusted the list for his own purposes with Mr. Richardson's approval. The British economist's list follows:

(1)—Unhedged grain coming into position from the farmer, the ocean, etc.

2)—Unhedged grain from other markets.

(3)—Transfers in hedging by spreaders.

(4)—Genuine bear speculators.

That's the man I want to see, said Sir Josiah, referring to number six in Mr. Richardson's list and number four in his own.

Canadian Producers Hold Advantage Over Africans

EDMONTON, Alta., April 15. (CP) Canada's far north holds abounding wealth for the Dominion and possibly the greatest radium deposit in the world. One ton of the rare mineral discovered at Echo Bay, on Great Bar Lake, 1,200 miles north of Edmonton, is worth $8,600. Geologists reveal that radium-bearing pitchblende is not peculiar to the district surrounding Great Bear Lake but might also be found in the precambrian shield that extends over 2,000,000 square miles of Canada.

Dr. J. A. Allan, head of the Department of Geology, University of Alberta last night announced the results of analyses by Provincial and college officials of pitchblende ore samples from the Great Bear area. Dr. Allan estimated the value of the ore at $8,600 a ton, and declares it is better than the product of the mines in the Belgian Congo, the only large-scale radium producing mines in the world.

Extent Unknown

It has not yet been proved, he continued, that this discovery can be regarded as a commercial proposition a present. We have no authoritative reports of the extent of the ore body.

Dr. E. H. Boomer who conducted the radio activity tests interviewed in regard to the radium content of the samples, stated that the ore was as rich as any that had ever been discovered.

The ratio of radium to uranium in any ore, he said, bears a fixed proportion of 3.4 parts of radium to 10,000,000 parts of uranium, if the ore is old enough and the radium has not been bleached out by geological disturbances.

These specimens show no such disturbances. They are approximately 17 times as strong as the standard Colorado carnotite which I used to calibrate the electroscope.

The carnotite ores of Colorado and Utah, during the war used as a source of radium, were forced out of competition by the discovery of pitchblende ores similar to the Echo Lake discoveries in the Belgian Congo in 1922.

Big Export Business Aids Chicago Advance

CHICAGO, Ill., April 15.—(CP)—Big export business in North American wheat and renewal of dust storms in spring wheat territory led to material fresh upturns in grain prices to-day. Unexpected advances in Liverpool wheat quotations were also a bullish factors together with word that French miller had been granted permission to increase use of foreign wheat five per cent opening unchanged to ¾ cents higher; wheat afterward continued firm. Corn started unchanged to 3-8 up and subsequently rose all around.

NICKEL ISSUE IS UNCHANGED

While Noranda Eases Slightly to $24.50 on Standard Exchange.

GOLDS UNIFORMLY LOWER.

TORONTO, April 15 (CP). — A substantial recovery on the part of Eldorado was the only outstanding movement on the Standard stock and mining exchange during a dull forenoon session to-day. The stock in question sold as high as 84 this morning, in comparison with the close yesterday of 72.

International Nickel went unchanged, while Noranda eased slightly to $24.50. McLeod dropped a couple of cents, other miscellaneous issues showing comparatively no change.

Golds were uniformly lower, but losses did not exceed the five-cent limit. Teck Hughes lost 5, and Hollinger 5, while Vipond, Sylvanite, Siscoe, Kirkland Lake, Wright Hargreaves and Mining Corporation had smaller declines.

Oils continued dull and easier. Home was off 2, and Acme Gas 2. Sarnia went against the trend, adding 5 to sell at 70.

Winnipeg Review

The wheat market was more or less featureless yesterday with trade volume somewhat smaller than on the past two or three days. Opening prices were about half cent lower based on the weakness in Liverpool Cables, that market not following our upturn of Monday. However, there was fair buying by export and seaboard houses during the first period and prices came back to the previous close, and held very steady during the first half of the session, but later the demand largely disappeared and locals were inclined to press the market, looking for some re-action and prices made new lows for the day, but on the scale down there was some buying by continental houses and the market was able to re-act from the extreme dips. A fair export business was confirmed, overnight sales being estimated at around 600,000 bushels, part of wich was worked by the Pool. In the cash market there was a good demand for the top grades from shippers and exporters and spreads on these grades were 1-8 to ¼ better but were unchanged on others. Offerings continue on the light side, and large holders are showing no anxiety to sell. There was no change in the flour situation, which continues generally quiet with a fair domestic demand, but very little doing in export channels. There were reports of a few light scattered showers in the west, but these were not sufficient to any more than lay the dust. Bradstreets available supplies of wheat decreased 7,798,000 bushels for the week, and now stand at 443,275,000, as against 387,670,000 a year ago. Some rains were reported from the South, including Minneapolis Liverpool closed unchanged, after being ½ lower. Country marketings Monday were 330,000 bushels as compared with 97,000 a year ago. Winnipeg futures closed ½ lower.

Coarse Grains.—There was not much doing in the coarse grains to-day. Oats were strong but outside of a little domestic demand for coarse grain sto-day. Oats were strong but outside of the odd car, the demand was thin. No exports of barley reported while rye was merely following wheat. Flax quite and somewhat lower, closing prices 1¼ to 7-8 lower.

Liverpool due ½ to ⅝ lower based on Winnipeg.

BRITISH PRESS LAUDS ALFONSO of graft and violence," but this, they say, failed to satisfy the people in view of their loss of political liberty, and King Alfonso was held personally responsible.

Tributes Paid

Aside from this there are not a few expressions of sympathy for the fallen King and willing tributes paid to his courage, industry, good nature and devotion to the interests of his country.

It was being assumed that Great Britain would be his future home, temporarily at least, and pointed out that he would be welcomed here for his bonhomie, accessibility, interest in sport, and his unsullied relations with the British Royal Family, which have long made him popular here.

It was said that his exile was not likely to be embittered by poverty. If current reports are true, he is one of the richest men in Europe, and foreseeing the possibility of loss of the throne, he had laid his plans accordingly. The story goes that he not only inherited an immense fortune from his mother, Queen Christina, but himself possessed financial genius which led him to make many shrewd investments. It was also said that he had withdrawn most of his funds from Spain and reinvested them in British and other foreign securities.

CANADIAN PRODUCERS

OTTAWA, Ont., April 15.—(CP)—(By the Canadian Press)—While Canadian copper producers must be prepared to meet competition from African sources, there are several uncertain factors bearing upon the African situation which are wholly absent among Canadian operators. This inference is to be drawn from a publication recently made available by the Dominion Department of Mines, Ottawa, which sets forth the impressions of W. B. Timm, chief of the ore dressing and metallurgical division, who as official delegate of the department, attended the third Empire Mining and Metallurgical congres held in South Africa early in 1930.

TELEPHONE SERVICE FURTHER IMPROVED

Statement is Issued by President C. F. Sise With Dividend Cheques.

TORONTO, April 15.—C. F. Sise, President of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, yesterday made the following statement, which is also being mailed with dividend cheques to the shareholders:

"One of the gratifying things about the development of the telephone is the extent to which, as the mechanical components of the service are improved, operating methods, practices and technique keep pace.

"Last year much attention was given to the completion of local calls—reducing the number that for many reasons end in failure. The percentage of calls completed was increased from 81.0 to 81.7, which meant the daily completion of 37,000 more calls than in the previous year.

"The percentage of long distance calls completed increased from 90.9 in 1929 to 92.1.

"The average time required for completing long distance calls was reduced by 6 per cent; 87 per cent of the connections were established while the calling subscriber remained at the telephone.

"Operating errors on manual calls were further reduced and now amount to only 1.4 in 100 calls.

EASTER MEETING OF X. L. SOCIETY

Mrs. Ernest Kitney, River Road, Hostess to Members of Society.

GOOD PROGRAM.

Mrs. Ernest Kitney, River Road, was the hostess last evening to the members of the H. L. Mission Circle of St. James' United Church who gathered at her home for their Easter Thank-offering meeting.

Owing to the absence of the president through illness Connie Wagar, first vice-president presided. The opening hymn was followed by prayer offered by Mrs. W. Rose.

A beautiful devotional service on the Easter theme was given responsively by the members in Scriptures and song. About thirty members responded to the roll call and the items of business were quickly despatched. Mrs. Elmer Frost contributed two delightful vocal solos entitled "Philosophy" and "Who'll Go A-Maying?"

Muriel Moorhouse gave a most interesting account of the chapter of "The Fruits of Christian Missions in Japan" for this month's study. "What Will He Do With Me?" was the timely and sweetly rendered vocal solo by Geneva Sedgwick. The treasurer's report for the first quarter was extremely encouraging and this was augmented by the Thank-offering of the evening as well as the monthly contributions.

After the closing hymn the benediction was repeated in unison. The social hour was in charge of Miss Edith Wright, who introduced a jolly "turtle race". The dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mesdames Alex Rosborough and E. Kitney.

The May meeting of the Circle will be held at the home of Miss May Welch, Princess street with Mrs. Sedgwick, Misses Geneva Sedgwick and Pearl Welch as assisting hostesses.

TORONTO ELEVATORS IMPROVES POSITION

Preferred Dividend Requirements Earned Twice Over During Six Months.

TORONTO, April 15.—Earnings of Toronto Elevators, Limited, in the six months ending March 31, 1931, were maintained at a rate of approximately twice preferred dividend requirements for the period, after deducting depreciation, according to G. C. Leitch, managing director.

Mr. Leitch says that "the results from operations for the first six months of the current fiscal year were very satisfactory. Earnings after all charges, including adequate depreciation, were approximately twice accrued preferred dividends for the period.

"The financial position as at March 31, 1931, shows an improvement over that shown as at September 30, 1930. Net current assets are higher and it is significant that bank loans and amounts owing on grain purchases were substantially reduced, mainly as a result of the reduction of inventories, accounts and bills receivable and receivables on cash grain for future delivery."

Trust's Net Income Shows Big Increase

TORONTO, April 15.—Net revenue of Second Canadian General investment Ltd., for the year 1930 shows a substantial increase over the preceding year's figures. Net revenue from interest and dividends received is shown at $360,958, as compared with $194,661 for the 10 months ending December 31, 1929. Adjusting the 1929 report on a 12-month basis, this represents an increase for the year of $4.52 per cent.

Profit on sale of investments amounted to $156,443, which added to net revenue, after deduction of expenses at $36,874, left net income for the year of $480,528.

Interest paid on Britain's 5 Per Cent War Loan last year amounted to over $522,000,000.

INTERNATIONAL PAPER COMPANY INCREASES EARNINGS FOR YEAR

Balance, After All Charges, Including Depreciation, Totals $4,206,524 Available.

FOR 1930 DIVIDENDS.

TORONTO, April 15.—International Paper and Power Company is one of the few large industrial corporations to show an increase in consolidated earnings during 1930, according to the company's financial statement issued yesterday. The company's balance, after all charges, including depreciation, available for dividends, was $4,206,524, compared with $4,011,762 in 1929.

Consolidated earnings of the company, after deducting all interest and other charges senior to preferred dividends, but before deducting depreciation, amounted to $12,695,668. Total dividend payments on the shares of the company amounted to $7,703,307, leaving a balance before depreciation of $4,992,630. Depreciation charges (the rate of which was reduced as of July 1, 1930) amounted to $8,489,143, resulting in a deficit for the year of $3,496,513.

Earnings Less, Before Depreciation.

The consolidated earnings before depreciation of $12,695,668 for 1930 are slightly less than the $13,151,264 shown on the same basis in 1929. As a consequence, however, of the reduction in the rate of depreciation, consolidated earnings after depreciation were higher than in 1929, standing at $4,206,54 asr against $4,011,762. The expected growth in earnings from the company's Canadian power developments was realize substantially in full and the anticipated increase in efficiency of paper mill operations was surpassed, but the increases in income set by the adverse effect of depression on the volume of the company's business and on prices.

Queen Heads For France.

Queen Victoria of Spain left the Royal Palace for France to-day with four of her children, the last of the Royal family to go, and the colors of the new Spanish Republic were draped across the doors of Escurial.

The Queen left by train for Irun on the Franco Spanish border. Leaders of the day old Spanish Republic were moving to insure the life of the new regime.

In the meantime King Alfonso, who boarded a cruiser at Cartagena this morning, and was sailing westward on the Mediteranean, presumably for England.

The final scene of parting took place in the little station of Escurial, near the Palace, to-day as the Queen saw her two daughters and two sons, last of the family to depart, bade adieu on the station platform to a little band of faithful retainers, grandees and aristocrats who had gathered to wish them Godspeed.

Scores of members of the aristocracy of Spain, apparently convinced of the disappearance of glory, were also bound out of Spain on express trains, pending a settlement of the country's affairs.

With the Queen were the Infantas Cristina and Beatriz, the Crown Prince of the Asturias, Prince Gonzalo the youngest son.

Republican Manhandled

One untoward incident marked the departure of the Royal Family. A Republican sympathizer at the station, during an interval in the shout of the Monarchists for Royalty, shouted Viva Republica. He was promptly manhandled by a group of aristocrats wearing goatees and bustled off the station platform.

Plans for the departure of the Queen and her children were made with strictest secrecy. They arrived at the station from the palace in automobiles, accompanied only by a few close friends and a score of civil guards.

At sight of the group which was waiting at the station, made up of friends of the gala days at the palace and court favorites, the Queen broke down and sobbed pitifully as she was assisted by her two handsome daughters aboard the train.

The tragic events of the past week, while the ancient throne was tottering and Royal lives were even thought to be in danger, had laid a heavy hand of the Queen.

General Jose Sanjuro, regarded as Spain's bravest, toughest and most hard-fisted soldier, although a Republican, had asked to be allowed to see the Republican's Government's guarantees of safe conduct carried out, and he had chosen 25 picked men for the job. They rode in the express train to prevent any possible attacks on the Royal family by Extremists, during the journey.

Once the Queen was safely aboard the train General Sanjuro personally inspected everybody who desired to approach the Royal private car. Although the blinds were drawn when the Queen entered they were raised shortly and the bright face of the Queen which graced Spanish and European court functions so often, appeared with tears streaming down as she daubed her nose with her handkerchief in an effort to control the spasms of her emotion.

Aristocrats Flee

A number of the aristocrats who appeared for farewells had already given notice to their large staffs of servants that they would close up their establishments and leave the country. Seats on fast trains for the French frontier were eagerly procured.

The express train lost no time at the station. With a couple of snorts from the engine it rolled away, bearing the last of the Bourbons who have ruled Spain during her grandeurs and her miseries.

Tranquility Reigns.

In the meantime the new Government announced that tranquility reigned now throughout all Spain. All expatriates have been invited to return to Madrid. The artillery, which was the first army corps to adhere to the revolution, arrived today to help in preserving order, but there was apparently no need for it.

Large throngs of people filled the streets again, continuing their joyous celebrations of yesterday. The new Government had decreed a national holiday and all business houses and schools were closed. Red, purple and yellow banners were everywhere. Royal statues had all either been thrown down or draped in with the Republican colors during the night. Republican colors draped the door of the palace.

MANY CHANGES IN PRIZE LIST

Discussed at Executive Meeting of Ontario Plowmen's Association.

REGARDING MATCH.

Several radical and beneficial changes were made in the prize lists for the forthcoming International Plowing Match to be held in this city, at a meeting of the executive of the Ontario Plowmen's Association held at Parliament Buildings, Toronto, yesterday. There was a large attendance of executives and local directors of the various associations, while Peterborough Plowmen's Association was fully represented by the following: J. J. Duffus, president of the local assbciation and chairman of the local committee: Howard Quinn, C. E. Moore, William Thompson, committeemen, and J. B. Nelson, secretary.

For several years many classes have been largely contested. The men's class in stubble, for example, having received 67 entries at Stratford, with only five prizes awarded in this class.

As a result of yesterday's meeting this class is now divided in two sections, offering an added list of prizes open to men who have not previously contested at a Provincial plowing event.

The same principle was applied in the sod and tractor classes, which thereby provides almost double the number of classes, with a more equal distribution of prizes. A three-furrow class was also added.

Some $400.00 was received as donations to the Provincial Association for the International Match, being made up of $300.00 from the Federal Government (Horse Breeders' Division), and $100.00 from the Ontario Horse Breeders' Association.

PAPERS READ BY THE MEMBERS OF LEADERSHIP TRAINING CLASS

Service of Special Interest Held in Queensboro United Church on Sunday.

OUTLINE OF WORK

QUEENSBORO, April 15 (Examiner Correspondence) — A service of speceial interest was held in the United Church on Sunday evening when members of the Leadership Training class, which has been held each week since the middle of January, and who wrote their examinations a week ago, gave an outline of the work they had completed. Mrs. J. F. Everson had charge of the service and in her introduction stated that leaders in religion should be trained for at least three reasons, first because the people who come to listen are much better educated than formerly, secondly because of the spiritual illiteracy so prevalent among the people of the United States and Canada. Only a small percentage of the people have an intelligent understanding of God or of Jesus Christ. It being estimated that there are 26,000,000 in the U.S.A. of Protestant ancestory under twenty-five years of age who are receiving no religious education and that about half of the more than nine millions in Canada are equally uninformed in the truth of scripture. Thirdly, and perhaps the greatest reason of all is because we have grown to believe as never before that youth is the nation's greatest asset. The church has taken a new view of its obligation to youth and childhood and to-day considers itself a trustee of the child, whose rightful heritage is an experience of religion.

Miss Ida McCaw

Miss Ida McCaw gave a paper on the 'Four Corner Stones of Religious Education" in which it was stated that men need, first, a true conception of the kind of God, Jesus revealed. God is the central fact of life and man's life is determined by how he thinks of God. Jesus spoke of God as a Father; human society as a family; all people as brothers; the law of the home is love its badge of nobility is service. The New Testament defines love as a mighty power within the life, which impels men to spend and be spent for others. It is creative and life giving. Secondly, man is God's son, created in the Father's image and heir to the kingdom. He is therfore a spirit like God. Each child possesses the possibilities of a person. If this is true of our children, then slum and heathen children are being cheated out of their rights. Thirdly, Jesus thought of the world as the Father's world, a loving universe and not a machine, dead, cold, pitiless and indifferent to human life. If man will but co-operate with the purpose and love of God he will find the world forces his servants and allies. Fourthly, the result of the above conception is a noble upright, Christian life. The greatest handicap to Christianity, the speaker stated was the bad example of so-called Christian nations.

Mrs. J. F. Everson

A paper on "Methods of Religious Education"' was given by Mrs. Everson. In this it was pointed out that when Jesus began his work he had to consider the means he would use to attain a given end, would it be force, an appeal to the spectacular, or would he try to arouse the conscience of his hearers and appeal to their inner life. His method was determined by the goal he hoped to reach and the goal was fixed by his viewpoint in life.

Mrs. C. B. Hamm

A paper on "Leaders and People" was given by Mrs. C. B. Hamm, in which the benefit of having as many persons as possible help with arranging policies and programs was pointed out. She also emphasized the value of keeping the idea that God is in everything at the forefront in order that the program would be purely Christian and thereby meet the needs of the listeners. God's presence gives meaning and significance to all we do, said the speaker, it elevates our plans, keeps our motives pure and our actions right.

In closing, Mrs. Hamm, pointed out the necessity of congregations being led to see and understand the importance of religious education and stated that the minister, the director of religious leadership, the teachers in the Sunday schools, who are fitting themselves year by year for a better service, and an aroused congregation are the agents in bringing about greater interest and efficiency in church work. What has been said, stated the speaker, should be sufficient to show the church that it has a program so large, comprehensive and worthwhile that it becomes the business of the ministers, teachers and people to consecrate themselves to the work and dedicate themselves, their means and their skill to its achievement.

Prayer was offered by Fred Rollins, the scripture was read from St. Matt. 6, 19-34. The hymns used were, "Am I a soldier of the cross," "Stand up, stand up for Jesus," "Sow in the morn thy seed" and "Oh happy is the man who hears instructions warning voice."

Tribesmen In Miyana Revolt Against Ruler

BOMBAY, April 15 (C.P.). — Despatches from Ranpur to-day said that militant Miyana tribesmen had revolted against the ruler of the native Indian State Malia, where a reign of terror exists.

The ruler has been made a prisoner in his fort, which is surrounded by Miyanas. Serious clashes have occurred between forces which are remaining in his defence and rebels with a considerable number of dead and wounded resulting.

An attempt was made yesterday upon the life of the assistant district officer, but the Prime Minister of the state summoned armed reinforcements and rescued him. Telegraph wires have been severed and roads torn up.

PORT McNICOLL NAVIGATION OPEN

FORT WILLIAM IS GOAL.

MIDLAND, Ont., April 15 (Examiner Correspondence). — Navigation from Port McNicoll was officially opened on Monday evening at six-th rty, when the "Assiniboine," C.P.R. passenger and freight steamer, flagship of the Great Lake fleet, sailed out of the harbor here, signalling her sister ships in the harbor, as she sailed majestically past. The quiet of the winter months was once more broken, as one by one the other steamers in the harbor returned the salute. Captain McCannell of Port McNicoll was in charge. The former chief engineer, C. Cameron, past chief of the fleet, was for the first time in a number of years left behind, having been superannuated late last fall.

The boat carried on her first voyage of the season forty carloads of merchandise, booked for Fort William, and other points in Western Canada.

Wireless messages received up until a late hour Tuesday afternoon stated all was well, and no ice fields encountered.

The Ralph Budd of Midland, owned by the Canada Steamship Lines, wa s the first grain boat to leave Midland this season, sailing out of the harbor on Monday morning. Captain Teddy Burk of Midland was in charge of the freighter, bound for Fort William for a cargo of grain for the Midland-Simcoe elevator. This elevator has a capacity of four million bushels, and has been almost emptied during the winter. There are rumors afloat that an addition to this elevator will be made during the coming season, and that the capacity is to be increased by two million bushels. The original elevator only held two million bushels, but was enlarged about two years ago.

MILLBROOK Y.P.S. VISITS ZION CHURCH

Missionary Committee Had Charge of the Evening's Program.

MILLBROOK, April 15 (Examiner Correspondence) — The missionary committee had charge of the Young People's Society on Monday evening, the meeting by invitation being held in the church at Zion, and the convenor, Miss Mary Wood, occupying the chair.

Four or five car-loads of the members drove to the Zion appointment, the opening devotional period being in charge of Miss Wood, who read the parable of the sower, and applied the matter of seed-sowing to the present day situation in Saskatchewan, so far as the matter of the spread of the gospel is concerned.

A duet, "He Knows it All," by Rev. W. W. and Miss Francis Jones, was much enjoyed, and Mr. Milton Challice gave an interesting outline of: "Missions as revealed in the Old Testament and the New," tracing the beginning at Abraham, who journeyed to a new land carrying the worship of the one, true God thither and founding a nation through whom Christ should come and all the families of the earth be blessed, through to the coming of the Saviour and the spread of the gospel to the present time.

Mrs. George Fallis followed with a paper on "Missions Among the Chinese Women in British Columbia."

Community singing, and the service of refeshments, featured the enjoyable social hour at the close. Next Monday's meeting will be under the auspices of the Citizenship Department, Aliver Brock, convenor.

(Special to The Examiner)

INDIAN RIVER, Ont., Apr. 14. — In a closely contested and very exciting game here last evening the Indian River Maple Leafs swamped the Peterborough C. P. R. team under a barrage of hits and runs to the tune of 23—11.

The game was exciting from start to finish despite the long margin between the two scores. For Indian River Fitzgerald was the star giving some fine examples of good fielding. Helen Spencer also played good ball for the Maple Leafs. On the mound for Indian River Ron. Spencer twirled a good game, although the players in the field for Indian River gave him better support than the Peterborough fielders gave Murdock.

There was not much choice between the visiting players although Hall at first and Rose behind the bat played good ball at all times. The return game will be played at a later date in Peterborough when the veteran player MacGregor will be seen in action for the first time during this series.

Line-ups:

Indian River—Holmes, c; Ron. Spencer, p; Helen Spencer, fb; R. Spencer, sb; Harry Fitzgerald, tb; Olive Spencer, ss; Devlin, Fitzgerald, Bill Collins, field.

Peterborough— Rose, c; Murdock, p; Hall, fb; Rolly Tedford, sb; Jack Tulley, ss; Watkins, tb; T. Jones, K. Jones, Kirkcaldy, field.

Mrs. Spencer, umpire; Lizzie Fitzgerald, scorekeeper.

Softball 1st Basemen Allowed Finger Gloves

GUELPH, April 15. — Major G. C. McArthur of Guelph, president of the Amateur Softball Association of Ontario, has been called upon to make his first ruling on the 1931 playing rules of the association.

At the annual meeting in Paris on Good Friday, an amendment was passed permitting the first baseman to wear a glove without stipulation regarding the kind, and the Stratford association has asked if this means a finger mitt or a regular baseman's glove. President McArthur's ruling is that only a finger mitt may be used. In former years the baseman has had to play without a glove, and the president feels that the protection offered by a finger mitt is quite sufficient.

21st Battalion Club Refuse To Back Team

KINGSTON, Ont., April 15.—(C.P.)—The 21st Battalion Club, who operated Kingston's team in the Central Ontario Baseball League last season, have decided not to have a team this season.

Operating expenses last year set the club back a matter of $514 and it was considered inadvisable to operate again this season.

Plans had been made for a revival of the league with Kingston, Belleville, Peterborough and probably Oshawa in the league. Practically all the players have signed with the Kingston Intermediate team, who may now seek senior rating.

GODINO SIAMESE TWINS AT THE CAPITOL FRIDAY

Imagine the carefully planned course of training that must have been pursued to make gymnasts of Lucio and Simplicio Godino, age 23, the celebrated Pilipino joined-together boys, the world's only male Siamese twins, for they are just—gymnasts thanks to Teodore Yanco, former Commissioner for the Philippines to the United States, who adopted the twins shortly after their mother died (and this is a strange fact) in giving birth to normal child, they were trained by expert instructors in a gymnasium which Senor Yanco had erected for them on his estate near Manila. Their benefactor believed that he could make the lives of his adopted children much happier if they were taught to handle themselves as agilely as scientific instructors could plan and devise. At the same time, the boys were educated by private tutors and, among other accomplishments, they now speak four or five languages.

Like most Filipines, the Godinos were naturally musical and they were given every opportunity to develop their talent. So well did they succeed that they became leaders of the most famous orchestra ever assembled in the Far East, however, the interest of audiences is naturally centered in the Godino Siamese twin leaders, who offer musical, gymnastic and dancing specialties of truly amazing skill and appeal. The world's only male Siamese twins, will come to Capitol for one day only, Friday o fthis week, and no more sensational and novel major act has even been seen in this city. Usual prices.

J. J. Duffus Speaker At Oshawa Luncheon

OSHAWA, Ont., April 15.— (Special to Examiner.)—The influence of a good citizen on the community in which he lived and the effect in return of the community upon a citizen was dealt with in a very interesting fashion by J. J. Duffus of Peterborough in speaking at the Kiwanis luncheon yesterday. The influence of the Press on a community was held by the speaker to be very important. President Ross Birchard introduced the speaker while a vote of thanks was moved by "Ernie" Davis.

price of silver, and a combination of other circumstances, political as well as economic.

Remedies are proposed by both, and the value of the plans of either is conceded by the other. All are agreed on the obvious facts; there is over-production, under-consumption, unemployment, and considerable distress in the United States and throughout the world, therefore, there is something wrong with the machine which produces, distributes and consumes, or it is functioning under bad conditions.

The radicals assert there is something fundamentally out of kilter in a system which permits a piling up of stocks in the hands of producers while there is need for these stocks by consumers. Looking about for the deep-lying cause they find the use of machinery and modern methods has greatly increased production over a period of years, and at the same time has eliminiated the necessity for many human hands, that this phenomenom has been accompanied by an inequitable distribution of division of profit, wealth accruing through modern developments in industry having been disproportionately distributed as between capital and labor. The result has been, it is said, that on the one hand, the market has been restricted and reduced through unemployment, while profits have been turned back into production further increasing stocks of commodities for which demand was coincidentally growing smaller.

One remedy advocated for a long time by the American Federation of Labor, is shorter hours, and higher wages. Economists add to these proposals the establishment of unemployment insurance.

Shorter Hours Idea

While President Hoover reiterated a few days ago his stand for the maintenance of wage standards, and the shorter hours idea has a firm hold in the American mind, unemployment insurance is yet looked upon askance by the man in the street. Advocates of insurance suggest the aversion of the American to interference by the government in business might be overcome by establishment of insurance by industry itself. This could be accomplished under governmental jurisdiction, one expert pointed out, inasmuch as the American is accustomed to seeing his government as an arbiter between capital and labor.

Other economists make several proposals having to do with the causes which they see as lying at the base of depression. Those who believe the concentration of three-fifths of the gold supply in New York and Paris—the rise in the value of gold—is considerably responsible for present conditions, suggest reduction in gold reserves might be made to cover the monetary needs of the world. Those particularly interested in the oriental market which has greatly suffered as a result of the decline in the price of silver, demand international action should be taken to valorize or perhaps even remonetize silver. Either of these plans would attack the problem by spreading out over the world what represents wealth—"put a jingle in the pocket."

Members of this school suggest reduction by agreement among producers as a means of checking overproduction.

The British Financial Secretary to the Treasury estimates that if members of Parliament travelled third class, instead of first, on railways, the country would save $80,000 a year.

USE OF .22 RI RIFLES BY BOYS INCREASES FATAL ACCIDENTS

Should No Longer Be Treated as Kid's Plaything.

CONTROL FIREARMS.

By Gregory Clark.
(Special to Examiner, Copyright, 1931.)

TORONTO, April 15.—Twenty-two calibre rifles—boy's guns—have figured in two grave accidents, in the past few days in Ontario. One Toronto boy was shot dead. Another was dangerously shot in the head while playing at William Tell, a companion having tried to shoot his hat off.

The .22 rifle can no longer be treated as a kids' plaything. This month, the big ammunition companies of the Jnited States and Canada have just launched an advertising campaign announcing new high-speed super-power ammunition for the .22 rifle.

The power of this rifle—which can be bought as low as $4.50 and is therefore within the reach of anybody—is announced by one arms concern as having been stepped up 25 to 35 per cent in speed and from 50 to 80 per cent in power.

Mildly regarded as a toy rifle for shooting at squirrels, ground-hogs and targets, the .22 is this year so altered in character by the development of its ammunition that it becomes mighty wicked little weapon to be used indiscriminately all over the countryside.

H. M. Stevens, manager of one of Toronto's busiest gun and ammunition stores, gave the following table of ballistics of the old and new .22 calibre shells.

Sold to Thousands.

"On the box of the new Palma cartridge it distinctly states," said Mr. Stevens, "that this shell is not to be used except in high-grade match rifles in good condition. That means a .22 rifle costing as much as $40. Yet I have no doubt this shell will be sold all over the province this summer to people who will use it in cheap $5 rifles of which there must be tens of thousands in the province. I do not so much fear these powerful shells exploding in the cheap rifles, but from this ballistics table you can see how much farther and with what greater power these little 40-grain bullets will skim all over the countryside. If these shells were restricted only to high-grade rifles naturally the owners of these weapons are likely to be experienced shooters, and will take every care with the modern high-speed shells."

Looks Small Enough.

The 40-grain bullet of a .22 shell seen in the hand looks pretty tiny. But the weight of the modern high-speed bullet of the 30.30 rifle, which is the standard arm for deer and bears, weighs only 110 grains.

In all the sporting magazines there are advertising campaigns by all the big arms companies, announcing the tremendous speeding up of the .22 shell. In all the hardware and sporting goods stores of the province, new posters from these ammunition makers spread the news of the modernizing of this little shell and telling of its speed and power. But none of these announcements carry any warning of the danger that arises from the indiscriminate use of these shells by the tens of thousands of men and boys who take the little .22 rifle out into the fields at this time of year and through the summer months.

The tragic death of one 16-year-old boy and the shooting of another boy in the head under circumstances which indicate that there is not enough information broadcast as to the wicked danger packed in these little rifles and miniature shells seem to indicate that something should be undertaken by authorities to control or to advise the use of these arms, now that modern science has started to increase their power.

Shipbuilding Drops In Merchant Lines

NEW YORK, N.Y., April 15.—Lloyds register reported to-day that merchant shipbuilding is being carried on in smaller volume than at any time in the last four years. Great Britain and Ireland accounted for two-thirds of the decrease, being 215,000 gross tons behind their rate at the beginning of the year.

The United States showed a slight decrease, dropping only 1,027 tons. In Germany the decrease is more than 80,000 tons, and France gained almost 60,000 tons.

Selling of radios on the installment plan has been introduced into Germany.

LITERARY GROUP HAS CHARGE OF TOPIC

Campbellford Half-Holiday is Set for Thursday, Starting in May.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 15.—(By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—The weekly meeting of the Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Campbellford, was held on Monday evening in the church parlor with the president, Mrs. H. T. Scott, in the chair.

After the devotional period, Miss Annie Parks, convenor of the Literary committee, took the chair. The topic, "John Knox, the Scottish Reformation," was given by Miss Mary McGregor. The program included a piano solo by Mr. Newcourt, guitar selections by the Misess Grace and Leah Blue, and a contest, in which all entered.

Half Holiday Thursday.

By a decision arrived at by the merchants of the town of Campbellford, the summer half holidays will be observed on the Thursday of each week commencing with the month of May. This will conform with the late closing by-law which goes into force the same month, ruling that Wednesday of each week shall be a open night.

OBITUARY

MRS. SAMUEL QUIGLEY.

KING'S WHARF, April 15.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—The funeral of the late Mrs. Samuel Quigley was held from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Kelly, of Lindsay, to Trinity United church, Bobcaygeon, where service was held by her old pastor, Rev. Mr. Hinton. She was laid to rest in Bobcaygeon.

LEGION BRANCH HOLDS MEETING AT WARKWORTH

22 NEW MEMBERS

CAMPBELLFORD, April 15. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—A very successful meeting of the Campbellford Branch No. 103, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L. was held Monday night in the Community Hall, Warkworth, when the comrades from that district entertained the branch at their regular meeting. A large attendance was present and G. A. Ironside occupied the chair.

A feature of the evening was the application for membership of twenty-two new members, all being accepted. This is the first result of the provincial-wide membership drive which is being held during the month of April. The Campbellford branch have set as their objective fifty new members, and an extensive campaign is being carried out in the district to gain this end. Special inducement is being offered also to those memebers who have become in arrears to make good their standing.

G. A. Thompson, treasurer of the branch, gave his report covering the Easter dance and draw. This was very gratifying showing as it did that the total money cleared will be about $90.00.

The Rev. N. Clark Wallace brought before the meeting a matter which has created some interest of late. This was in connection with handing the Campbellford war memorial over to the town. He pointed out that it was erected by the Imperial Daughters of the Empire. It belonged to the citizens of the town, he said, and he thought it was only right that the town should have it. He pointed out that although the Legion had been looking after it, and he felt would always do their best to do so, yet the time would come when it would eventually become town property.

A. H. McKeel, speaking on the question, said that he would like to see a by-law passed by the people of the town setting aside a sum yearly for the upkeep of the Memorial. It needed looking after he said; it was too low as it is and a proper lighting arrangment was needed.

A motion proposed by Rev. Wallace and seconded by C. Holmes, was passed, appointing a committee to interview the Daughters of the Empire, with the idea of arranging that the War Memorial be handed over to the town of Campbellford. The committee appointed was: the Rev. N. Clark Wallace, A. G. Thompson, G. A. Ironside and E. H. Armstrong.

Major Belford Present

A guest of the evening was Major J. F. Belford, who briefly addressed the gathering. He congratulated the branch on the result shown by their efforts during the membership drive pointing out that it was necessary the Legion be got to its first full strength. He stated that if it were not for Legion many returned men would be worse off than they were to-day, and many dependent would be suffering greater hardships. He wanted to see the Legion get into working shape where it could use its influence to benefit the country. It stood for the best in Canada he said therefore it should get the backing of every returned man. He outlined the splendid spirit that had existed in the old army, declaring that he wanted to keep that spirit alive still. During the war he said, Canada had written her name exceedingly large in this small world of ours, and she can do it now by upholding that wonderful spirit of the war and making this Canada a place fit to live in.

The Rev. E. Smith, M.A., Ph.D.F.R.A.S., was also present as a guest and spoke a few words to the comrades. Although a member of the old order, he was not linked up now with the Legion and stated that he had come that evening to see for himself what the organization was doing. He was anxious to know he said. He agreed with the previous speaker, that the spirit of comradeship, that had existed during the war, should be kept alive. He had not served as a soldier, but as a sailor, being the man who had driven the Germans off the Doggar Banks in 1918 declaring that up to the time 250 British ships had been sunk in an effort to retain possession of that portion of the sea. He also described his service while ships under his command were acting as a smoke screen off the coast of Ostend stating that he had seen the Canadian Ace, Errol Boyd, dropped in the water with one ding of his machine blown away.

At the conclusion of the meeting the Warkworth members served lunch to the visiting comrades.

K.O. Mission Band Meets At Centreton

CENTRETON, April 15 (Examiner Correspondence)—The members of the King's Own Mission Band met on Sunday morning with an attendance of twenty-four when a splendid program was given and included a reading, "Thy Word is Like the Garden, Lord," was given by Mabel Webb; recitation, "Daisies and Buttercups" Clifton Rogers; quartette, Enid and Neil Nichol, Jack Stewart and Haden Smith; recitations, Mabel McKenzie and Merle Blodgett.

The lesson story was taken by Miss Hazel Blodgett The committee in charge of the program for the May meeting includes Francis Coffey, Roberta Webb and Hayden Smith.

Police Nab Fugitive Following Long Vigil

PORT HOPE, April 15.—Four hours crouched in a clump of bushes by Rice Lake rewarded Constable Traves of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police with the capture of James Shilling, hunted for four months for contempt of court. Shilling, a Rama reserve Indian, was supposed to appear as a witness in a liquor case, but fled to the woods. Since then he has been sought by the police, ending with his capture while muskrat trapping at Rice Lake. He was sentenced to three months' imprisonment by Police Magistrate McCaughrin of Orillia.

The Best Toothpaste can only clean teeth

You can't buy a dentist's care in a tube

No dentifrice can replace regular visits to your dentist. Recent and exhaustive laboratory tests reveal that the claims made for certain dentifrices do great harm. Countless persons today rely on a dentifrice to cure or correct a condition which requires the attention of an expert.

These same tests have proved that the cleansing properties of no other dentifrice are equal to those of Colgate's. No sluggish, pasty dentifrice possesses the penetrating powers of Colgate's active foam in cleansing tiny crevices and fissures.

A dentifrice is not a medicine. It is a mechanical agent and should be used for only one purpose—that of cleansing teeth. Its merit lies in the thoroughness with which it performs this single duty.

Colgate's cleans better, than other dentifrices, because it possesses a unique property (low "surface tension"). That's how it penetrates into the tiniest crevices which ordinarily block "heavy" dentifrices. In these minute fissures, invisible to the naked eye, food particles lodge. If allowed to remain they cause decay. Colgate's floats them away in a foaming hygienic bath, thus providing the full protection of complete and thorough cleansing.

Be safe. Choose the dentifrice which has won the approval of high dental authorities . . . the dentifrice which, on dentists' advice, more people are using today than any other.

LAMP PRESENTED BY FIRE BRIGADE

Lakefield Firemen Honor Their Comrade—Celebrate 30th Wedding Anniversary.

SUNDAY SCHOOL SOCIAL

LAKEFIELD, April 15 (Examiner Correspondence).—On Monday evening the Fire Brigade with their trucks and full equipment paid a visit to their comrade "Ernie" Robertsaw, and his bride at their home on William street, and with the usual formalities presented Mr. and Mrs. Robertshaw with a handsome electric lamp, accompanied by the very best wishes of the brigade for future happiness. Both Mr. and Mrs. Robertshaw replied, thanking their friends of the brigade for their kindly thought and the good wishes which prompted the gift.

30th Wedding Anniversary

On Friday evening last Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Payne entertained a large number of friends at their home on Bridge street in honor of their thirtieth wedding anniversary. The evening was delightfully spent in progressive euchre. Miss Ethel Blakeley and Mr. George H. Spence won the first prizes for cards, and Miss Graham and Mr. Nathan Payne won the consolation prizes.

The house was very prettily decorated for the occasion and the spacious rooms were filled with a happy crowd of friends all joining in good wishes for many happy returns of the day to the bride and bridegroom of thirty years ago. A unique and pleasing feature was the presence of Mr. and Mrs. David Payne of Dummer, cousins of Mr. Payne, who were also celebrating having been married the same night by the same minister. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frankish (brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Payne) were also celebrating a wedding anniversary on Friday, so all three couples were recipients of the heartiest of good wishes.

A large number of the guests were present at the twenty-fifth anniversary celebration of these couples, held also at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Payne. Friends were present from Warsaw, Dummer, Lakefield and North Smith.

Supper and Presentation

On Friday evening last the members of the I.O.G. Club of the Baptist Church were guests of Rev. and Mrs. J. B. McCormack at a very jolly little supper party at the Baptist Parsonage. After supper, the evening was spent in a social manner with games and conversation. Before the little company dispersed, the hosts received a delightful surprise when Miss Shields read an address, expressing the heartiest good wishes of the club to Mrs. McCormack, the wise, just Councillor of the club, and to her helpmate, who had been an inspiration to higher and greater service in the work of the church.

Miss Vina Nicholls presented Mrs. McCormack with a gift of money with which to purchase a remembrance of the I.O.G. Club, one which would be useful or ornamental, as she wished. Mr. and Mrs. McCormack were deeply moved at the gift and at the love and loyalty expressed in the address, and in reply assured the ladies of their kind and affectionate remembrance of the association.

Sunday School Social

On Friday afternoon the teachers and officers of St. John's Sunday School held an afternoon tea and sale of cooking in the parish hall with marked success, in spite of the rain which poured down most of the afternoon. In the evening a progressive euchre was held with five tables played. Prizes were won by Mrs. Chappell and Leslie Gregor, with Miss A. Watson and Fred Hampton winning the consolation prizes. The drawing for the doll was also held and Mendel Smith drew the lucky ticket, acquiring the very pretty doll and its wardrobe.

The teachers and staff of the Sunday School deserve much credit for the success which they made of the affair.

Honor Couple

On Wednesday evening last a number of young people of the village joined a number of the young people of the country in a miscellaneous shower for Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Charlton. A happy evening was spent in social intercourse and dancing, the bride and bridegroom received a large number of useful gifts.

Chimney Fire

A chimney fire about noon on Saturday called out the fire brigade to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard McCracken on Bridge street. The damage was almost nil, owing to the prompt action of the brigade.

WOMEN BAILED TO STAND TRIAL IN FORGERY CASE

Cavan Township, whose wife, Edna, of Emily Township, one of the accused is now living apart from him, and who is facing alimony proceedings instituted by his wife, shown a letter dated aJnuary 12th, 1931, said, "it is the handwriting of my wife, Edna Bigelow."

Afterwards shown the promissory note, placed on file as Exhibit 1, witness stated, "the writing on the back of the note does not look like father's writing," and in reply to a further question, replied, "it looks something like my wife's writing. I say the writing "Pay to the order of Edna Bigelow,' is her handwriting.

He was also shown a Bill of Sale dated October 14th, 1930, and said that the signature on the affidavit was that of his wife. "I was there when she signed it."

A Bill of Sale dated March 7th, 1931, was also produced and witness again recognized the signature on it, as that of his wife.

Further evidence regarding signatures on various documents was also given by Miss Elizabeth Kewin from the law office of T. F. Hall, K.C., of Cobourg and Miss Helen Buchanan of the law firm of Gordon and Elliott of Peterborough.

John T Field, registrar of the County Court of the Counties of Northumberland and Durham produced the original will of the late John Bigelow. It was dated December 5th, 1927. The testator died on September 10th, 1930 and the will was probated on November 15, 1930.

A photograph of testator's signature, taken from the will, was submitted by F. J. Skitch, photographer of Cobourg, after which W. T. Wood of Millbrook, one of the witnesses to the will of the late John Bigelow, identified his own signature. He also stated that the other witness to the will, a Mr. Smith, was now deceased.

Mabel E. Moore, official court reporter of Peterborough, produced shorthand notes of evidence given by Edna Bigelow at a County Court action recently.

Expert handwriting was given by J. A. McKone, principal of Peterborough Business College and a teacher of penmanship at Peterborough Normal school. Shown the original will of the late John Bigelow and comparing the signature on it, with the endorsement on the back of the note, stated that the handwriting was not the same. Witness also compared Edna Bigelow's handwriting on exhibit 2 and other documents with the writing on the back of the note, and was of the opinion that the same person wrote both.

Herbert Bigelow, testifying against Priscilla Bigelow, the second accused, said that a certain document produced and in pencil writing was in the handwriting of the accused.

The document referred to in this instance is understood to be the recipe for a cake.

J. A. McKone examining the recipe writing with the name Priscilla Bigelow written on the back of the note, said the handwriting was that of the same person.

On this evidence the accused were as before stated, committed for trial. No objections were raised and no questions were asked by counsel for the accused.

To Criminals, Finger Prints bring Detection and Punishment

"Look for a finger print"—such is the first thought of detectives and policemen when arriving at the scene of a robbery or murder. When they find a print, they photograph it and compare it with similar ones among the many thousands on file at police headquarters. They are often able to track down the criminal in a surprisingly short time. Thus the police protect society through the finger prints left by evil men.

YOUR FINGER PRINTS BRING DISEASE TO YOU!

You leave prints, too, on everything you touch. But they are not criminal prints. Your prints may be laden with germs. Your fingers pick them up from handling things others have touched. A door knob—a library book — a dollar bill — these are things that have been touched by many hands — contaminated hands. Hands that may have checked a sneeze or cough, and thus become infected. Colds may be conveyed in this way. Even the shaking of hands spreads countless colds.

On All Your Food, Too!

Then when you eat some fruit, a cookie or a chocolate, these germs enter your mouth where they breed and multiply. They soon attack your system and if you are run down, you may catch "Flu," or a cold. Life Extension Institute lists 27 germ diseases that may be conveyed by the hands in this way.

Children must be Protected

These germs are everywhere. We cannot escape them. Our hands are always in contact with something that others have touched. But children are particularly susceptible to infection. Remember to make them wash often — but with a germicidal soap — and always before every meal.

The Pleasant Way

Lifebuoy Soap forms the pleasant way to do this. Millions the world over use it to protect them from infection.

Here is an exquisite toilet soap, based on two palm oils—a luxurious soap—a beauty soap. No better soap was ever created for the skin and complexion. But Lifebuoy also contains a germicide which either kills germs or makes them inactive.

So in a like way, a bath with Lifebuoy means freedom from body odours for many hours. No perfume, but a refreshing scent of safety that tells you it purifies and yet disappears in a few minutes. You will enjoy a bath with Lifebuoy and learn to love its extra-clean scent.

If you have not already tried this famous health soap, why not start to-day? Keep a cake on the wash basin and another for the bath. Let your family use it regularly. Let your children get the "Lifebuoy Habit." Protect them from germs and see the wonderful effect it has on their young skins.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Many of you housewives no doubt are in the midst of the housecleaning tasks and are coming across articles which you have put aside not knowing just what to do with them.

• • • • • • •

I have known housewives to come across such articles and take them out of the place where they had been for six or eight months, only to put them in some other place until the next housecleaning season.

• • • • • • •

These women just wouldn't make up their mind to dispose of the articles and so they put them aside to think the matter over and that is about as far as the matter got.

• • • • • • •

It is no use to keep a lot of articles which take up space and are of little use, and disposing of the articles is sometimes a good way to make the most of them.

• • • • • • •

If the articles can be put to a new use, all well and good and it is well for the homemaker to think of these ways as quickly as possible.

• • • • • • •

In the modern dwellings without attics, it is hard to know just where to put them so that they will not occupy wanted space. And in apartments the problem is even worse.

• • • • • • •

If sentiment attaches to the article, then some place will have to be found for it but if not it may be just the thing someone else wants.

• • • • • • •

Just now the Relief Association would welcome such articles if they are in good condition, and are just as acceptible, in many cases, as money would be.

• • • • • • •

Should you desire to put the articles to new uses, you will find ruga can be made from rags. Mats can also be made from silk hosiery.

• • • • • • •

I recently learned of a woman who came across a linen frock, which was in good condition and instead of letting it hang in the closet, taking up space, she salvaged it and made a dainty and attractive luncheon set.

• • • • • • •

A length was transformed into a cloth and the smaller pieces into napkins and doilies.

• • • • • • •

A mahogany cabinet for records was transformed into a magazine cabinet in a home where many magazines were taken. It could have served as an adjunct to a linen closet for the napery would be easily accesible on the shelves with dust proof doors.

BLOOD PRESSURE AND ITS CAUSES.

A chief cause of blood pressure is acidosis from eating acid-forming foods. To counteract, use alkali-forming foods. The only alkali-forming foods are fruits, vegetables, milk, almonds, egg yolks and Roman Meal (the only alkaline grain food known). At fifty my pressure was 215, heart threatening to stop each beat. By exercising in bed, overcoming tension, eating alkaline Roman Meal, fruits, etc., my pressure at seventy-two is 130—heart—I can run five miles in forty-seven minutes, run up four flights of stairs two steps at a time, work ninety hours a week and never tire. Alkaline Roman Meal, fruits, etc., are remarkable vitalizers for sick or well, when used properly. 2 cups solidly packed ground peppers and juice.
6 cups sugar.
1 bottle pectin.

Green and red sweet peppers may be used in any proportion. Discard seeds. Put peppers through food chopper twice, using finest knife. Measure peppers into large kettle, using only enough juice to flood cups level. Add sugar and vinegar. Mix. Bring to a full rolling boil and set aside, uncovered, to keep hot 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Bring again to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard 2 minutes. Remove from fire and stir in pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for about 8 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating. Pour quickly. Cover hot relish with film of hot paraffin; when relish is cold, cover with 1-8 inch of hot paraffin. Roll glass to spread paraffin on sides. Requires about 1 dozen medium peppers. Makes about 9 eight-ounce glasses.

ST. GEORGE'S W.A. OBSERVES BIRTHDAY

Rev. E. R. James of St. John's Church is Speaker for Occasion.

The sixth anniversary of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. George's Church was observed yesterday afternoon when a good attendance of members and friends met in the church basement. Mrs. E. Tucker, president, presided over the meeting, and conducted the opening devotions. Following the Scripture reading, the usual monthly routine business was gone through. The treasurer gave a favorable report, and the junior superintendent reported on the junior work. Mrs. J. Howard sang very feelingly the solo "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," Mrs. Hughes playing the accompaniments. The special speaker for the afternoon was Rev. E. R. James of St. John's Church. Mr. James expressed his pleasure at being asked to speak at a W.A. meeting, and referred to his long connection with W.A. work. He spoke from the words, "I believe in the Holy Catholic Church."

The thanks of the meeting were conveyed to Mr. James and also to Mrs. Howard on the motion of Mrs. Hughes, seconded by Mrs. H. Wood. Mrs. Hughes referred to the June board meeting to be held in Peterborough, and gave some explanation regarding board meetings. The rector closed the meeting with prayer.

Dainty refreshments were then served by a committee of ladies, with Mrs. W. H. Andrews as convenor, and a social time was enjoyed.

Canadians Beat Hawks To Retain Stanley Cup

COLORFUL HABITANTS BLANK CHIHAWKS IN FINAL TILT 2-0 TO CAPTURE COVETED TROPHY

Goals By Gagnon and Morenz in Second and Last Periods Enable National League Champions to Retain Historic Hockey Cup.

MONTREAL, Que., April 15.—(By Wallace H. Ward, Canadian Press Staff Writer)—Jealous of their title of the world's champion hockey team, Montreal Canadiens turned a furious onslaught on Chicago's Black Hawks here last night, and with a pair of goals effectively threw aside the middle westerners' courageous attempt to win the Stanley Cup, symbol of the world hockey title. The Canadiens 2—0 shutout victory gave them the laurels of the series by a margin of three games to two.

A swift-moving, thrusting drive and a dogged, fighting defence gave the colorful French team the ultimate victory in a rugged and hard fought series marked with all the thrills dear to the hockey public. Canadiens in keeping the Stanley Cup for the second successive year, have equalled the feat of Ottawa Senators in the old all-Canadian professional loop. Ottawa held the battered old trophy successively in 1920 and 1921.

Bruised and battered after a tough five-game series with Boston Bruins, the Canadiens went to Chicago with two of their men left behind in hospital. Thy eked out a 2-1 victory in the first game at Chicago, and then bowed to the Hawks in the second game by the same score. Both teams moved to Montreal for the last three games. Hawks came from behind to force the Canadiens into overtime in the third game of the series, and a lone goal after 52 minutes and 50 seconds overtime gave them a 3—2 win and a 2—1 edge on the series. Still fighting, though sadly crippled still by injuries, Canadiens shook off a 2-goal deficit on Saturday night and squared the series with a smart 4—2 win. Their hurts healing each day, Canadiens showed improving form on Saturday, and went into the deciding struggle last night as slight favorites. The Hawks eagerly questing after their first world title, tore into the veteran Frenchmen with vigor last night, but it was not their night.

A crushing, tearing flood of red-sweatered hockey experts fell upon the Hawks with wild and glorious abandon. Johnny Gagnon rapped home a goal in the second period on a pass from the tricky little Aurel Joliat, and then Howie Morenz gave the Canadiens a 2—0 lead with a terrific shot from left wing in the third period. It was a spectacular goal scored unaided, and showed all the vividness of the mid-season goals that gave Morenz the scoring honors of the National Hockey League for the year.

The Black Hawks were on the move at the start. They turned back quick forays from Joliat, Morenz and Gagnon, and then romped to the attack three and four men strong. A quick shifting, hard skating drive carried them in on Hainsworth again and again. Anxious Canadiens supporters rose to their feet breathless with suspense as wild scrambles sent the puck crashing off Hainsworth's pads continuously. The cool little Canadiens net custodian was at the top of his form last night, but he was ruffled and uneasy as he jumped and sprawled to fend off the flying bit of rubber. The Canadiens braced themselves during the interval, and swung into a loose knit but breathlessly fast drive in the second period. Their smart plays carried them riding three abreast on the Hawks' defence. Gardiner had his turn while Hainsworth rested. Abel, Wentworth and Graham took the brunt of the attack. For a time they held out staunchly, while the frequently changing Chicago forward line back checked desperately. The Canadiens' attacks thudded against the Chicago defence with heavy shocks. The Hawks were desperate. They backchecked viciously at centre ice, trying to check the onrush of the Flying Frenchmen. Mush March slashed at Joliat and a wave of the referee's arm sent him to the penalty box. The crowd rose with a roar as the Canadiens jerked into top speed. The goal came with surprising suddenness. Joliat feinted, swerved and was over the blue line. The Chicago defence sandwiched him and he crashed to the ice, but not before slipping the puck sideways to the right. Johnny Gagnon, skating furiously behind the play, picked up the puck with his outstretched stick. Like a streak he cut a short arc across the mouth of the Chicago goal, jerking the puck into the net width a vicious jab as he passed. The crowd howled with delight and a shower of paper and balloons fluttered down from the stands.

The Hawks were slightly shaken, but gamely settled down to fund off the ferocious forays of the exuberant Canadiens. Gardiner warded off shots with either hand, with his stick, and with his broad pads, at times dropping his stick to catch the rubber in his gloved hands. His brilliant and alert care of the nets and the canny checking of Couture, Graham, and Bostrom, held off the Canucks for the rest of the period.

Trying Period in Third

Canadiens fell back on the defensive for a moment in the third period and it nearly was their undoing. Ripley and Gottselig aided and betted by Mush March, scurried into corners and sniped ceaselessly at the Canadiens' goal. In desperate efforts they skirmished madly around a flustered and tiring Redshirt defence. Two quick penalties to Pete Lepine left the Canadiens shorthanded. Canadiens were hard pressed. Joliat and Gagnon wasted time; the team shooting the puck down the ice at every chance.

Howie Morenz was circling watchfully. Like a cat he pounced upon the loose puck. A few quick choppy strides and the Stratford streak was in motion. The fastest skater in the game today, Howie bore down on the Chicago goal like an express train, his hair tossing with the sheer speed of his rush. He flashed around Wentworth like the wind, eluding his out-stretched stick. Deep in the corner he drove the puck with a blistering shot that Chuck Gardiner had no chance with. The force of the shot nearly carried the twine out of the back of the net, the goal umpire declares.

The building trembled to the roar of the partisan crowd. Pennies and programs rained on the ice. Women shrieked in their joy. Canadiens' players quickly surrounded Morenz, their arms about his shoulders. There was no stopping the Canadiens after that. It was the first goal Morenz had scored in all the play-off games.

The Hawks were generous losers, and swarmed over to shake hands with the winners and offer their congratulations. Then they hurried to their dressing room, packed quickly, and caught the 11 o'clock train for home.

Vince Anthony's hard-hitting quintette of ten pin spillers copped the City League Championship last night in a whizz-bang battle with Fred Scates' Jokes, who dropped the decision by 263 pins. The game attracted a big gallery of enthusiastic fans who weren't backward in their applause, when the boys uncorked some clever cutting. The Bowirites were in top form and every player topped the five hundred mark while their opponents, with the exception of Laing and McIlwain, were also zipping along nicely.

Colorful Habitant Scores Goal to Clinch Mug for Flying Frenchmen.

TORONTO, Ont., April 15 (C.P.)—Johnny Gagnon, swerving sharpshooter of Montreal Canadiens, who last night started his team to victory by scoring the opening goal against Chicago Blackhawks, and the diminutive "Cooney" Weiland, Boston's brainy centre player, share the National Hockey League Stanley Cup play-off scoring honors.

While Weiland collected his six goals and two assists in five games to equal the play-off scoring record, Gagnon required ten games to tally a like number of goals and assists. The pride of Chicoutimi, however, received his Stanley Cup baptism in the series against Chicago, this being his first season with the Habitants. On the other hand "big time" money series mean nothing to the Owen Sound hockeyist, who started for Boston when the Bruins won the coveted mug in 1929.

One of the striking features of the championship series was the goal famine which struck Howie Morenz, leading point scorer, during the regular league schedule. The Stratford streak came into his own last night, however, when he scored the Habitants' second counter, clinching the historical mug for his team for the second straight year and for the fifth time since the colorful French-Canadien club was organized.

The records follow:—

Sylvio Mantha, Canadien defenceman, was the most penalized player, having spent 26 minutes with the penalty timekeepers.

PROHIBITION BEER

When Sera Martin, French 800 meter Olympic ace, made his 21 day tour of the United States' tracks, he was forced to change his entire training system. In France good beer was no small part of his diet, but on coming to the United States he found the prevalent near beer of that country to be worse than useless. Making an earnest effort to obtain the real stuff he made a visit to a speak-easy with some of the boys. He sampled the drink put before him, then with a pained and bewildered expression pushed the glass away and watched in amazement while his American hosts consumed glass after glass in evident enjoyment. When asked what seemed to be troubling him he replied tactfully in French, "Votre bierre est peut-etre suppisante pour abrecuver la soif d'une vache, mais celle d'un soldat, ah non, alors," meaning pour that back in the lamp, mister, and give me a bowl of soup.

Highly Successful Season Promised For Major Leagues—250,000 Fans See Games.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer)

With all the fanfare that usually accompanies the start of a new baseball year— and with some timely co-operation from the weather man to boot—the major leagues have launched what promises to be a highly successful season.

The size of the opening day crowds which filled eight ball parks with nearly 250,000 fans, and the quality of the first game performances combined to promise great things for future days between now and September. All around the two circuits, the teams that have been picked to finish in the first division performed well enough to justify the predictions while the others showed they may become contenders. A number of the recruits, particularly on the weaker teams, shone in the opening games. In no case was the margin of victory more than four runs while one game which brought together two of the prospective pennant contenders was carried into extra innings. The Philadelphia Athletics, champions of the baseball world, defeated the Washington Senators, who finished second to the A's in the American league last year, 5 to 3, in an eleven inning battle. The A's tied the count in the ninth just about the time President Hoover left the scene for more pressing duties, then bunched hits off Al Crowder in the eleventh to win. For the most part the game was a mound duel between Rube Walberg of Philadelphia and Lloyd Brown of Washington.

Holds Red Sox

Three other good pitching performances turned up in the American league. Before a crowd of 70,000, Charley Ruffing of the New York Yankees held the Boston Red Sox in check to gain a 6 to 3 victory. Babe Ruth added to the festivities by hitting his first home run of the new season while Winsett made a pinch homer for Boston. Wesley Ferrell started out to beat last year's mark of 25 victories for Cleveland as his mates hit well behind him to beat the Chicago White Sox 5 to 4. Walter Stewart of St. Louis limited the rebuilt Detroit Tigers to six hits while the Browns doubled the number to win 7-3.

Charley Root Stars

Charley Root, ace of the Chicago Cubs, turned in the National league's best hurling performance as he allowed the Pittsburgh Pirates only four blows while gaining a 6 to 2 triumph. A homer by Gabby Hartnett also helped entertain the 45,000 fans of the National league's best crowd.

The champion St. Louis Cardinals, now just one of the teams battling for the flag, found trouble with Larry Benton's pitching in the early innings but came with a rush at the finish and defeated Cincinnati 7 to 3. New York Giants and Philadelphia quickly found the range of the right field wall at Baker Bowl, Philadelphia, and slammed out four homers, three in that direction. Chuck Klein walloped two in succession but could not keep his team ahead as a big seventh inning gave the Giants a 9 to 5 victory.

John Picus Quinn started his 20th years as a professional pitcher on the mound for Brooklyn but failed to foil the Boston Braves batters after the first few innings. He was removed in the seventh but the damage was done and Boston won by 7-4 count. Boston's starter, Tom Zachary, was driven to cover in the first inning.

ROCHESTER WINGS FAVORITES TO WIN TITLE FOR 4TH TIME

Fair Weather Likely as Eight Clubs Set Forth on International League Campaign.

SEVERAL NEW FACES.

NEW YORK, N.Y., April 15 (C.P.)—Eight clubs were prepared to set forth to-day on their campaign for the International League's 40th championship with the Rochester Redwings heavy favorites to win the title for the fourth straight year.

The Redwings clash with the Newark Bears in the day's outstanding battle at Newark, N.J. Other pairings bring together Baltimore and Montreal at Baltimore; Reading and Buffalo at Reading, Pa., and Jersey City and Toronto at Jersey City.

Rochester has lost many units of its championship machine of last year including Pitchers Paul Derringer, John Berly and George Grant, and Outfielder Red Worthington, but the Redwins have gained such strong reinforcements from the St. Louis Cardinals, the parent organization, that most experts are about ready to concede them the pennant without a struggle.

Baltimore, with a heavy batting attack built around "Unser Joe" Hauser, the home run king, and Newark, which gave evidence of considerable improvement during the Spring training season, both may give the Redwings a tight fight over at least a good part of the season, although neither possesses the reserve strength that makes Rochester so formidable.

The two Canadian clubs both stress strong defenses and fairly active pitching, but they do not look so powerful on the offense. Of the other three clubs, Buffalo, Reading and Jersey City, none looms particularly powerful and all are going through a rebuilding process that may cost games early in the season. Clarence Rowland at Reading and George Toporcer at Jersey City are the only new managers starting the season.

Will Repair Quinte City Baseball Park

BELLEVILLE, April 15.—The City Council has practically assured the Belleville Amateur Athletic Association, Belleville Victorias, Belleville Junior Moose and Belleville Ki-Y League that they will fix the Alfemite Recreation Park into a first class ball park. Belleville has long been wanting another ball park so games may be played but it came to a climax this year, when it was made known that at least four city teams would represent Belleville in the Ontario Amateur Baseball Association. The Belleville Ki-Y Juvenile League may also enter the play-offs.

At present the work of fixing these grounds is in the hands of a committee and it is hoped by the teams concerned that the grounds will be ready by May 15th at the latest, if possible May 1st.

BASEBALL PARK NEED OF REPAIRS

Once Known as Best Ball Field in Central Ontario is Now Probably the Worst.

STANDS NEED PAINTING.

With the approach of the baseball season, the ball parks and diamonds come in for a certain amount of attention. And what about the James Stevenson Park? This city-owned baseball park is in pretty bad condition. The infield, the outfield, the stands, the dugouts, the fences: all are badly in need of attention. And there is a crying need for a liberal coat or two of paint to make this park once more the attractive place it should be.

James Stevenson Park, or more generally known as Riverside Park, was the best all-around baseball field in Central Ontario up to four or five years ago. It has been declining in appearance ever since and now is probably the worst in this part of the province. None of the other C.O.B.L. towns has a park in as poor a condition as Peterborough.

The fence around the local ball field is about through. Several large gaps appear along the east side, while the whole structure leans in a crazy manner both toward and away from the field. A number of boards have been torn out here and there, evidently by ambitious boys. While the grandstands are not in perfect condition, there is nothing they need as badly as paint. The main stand is in good shape as far as safety is concerned, having also a good screen in front. The west stand, however, should have a number of floor boards repaired in case of accident. But plenty of paint is the big demand. It would make a world of difference.

Diamond In Poor Shape.

And the diamond itself will require at least some temporary repairs before it can be used in games. To be properly fixed, it should be torn up and re-turfed, have new sods and more earth laid down, and then rolled again and again until perfectly smooth. A caretaker would be required to bring it along properly after that. This, however, is not altogether necessary. Enough repairs could be done on the diamond to put it in good enough shape to do this summer, and it would not cost so much at one time. Both the outfield and infield can stand a lot of work, the base paths resembling country roads in April, the ground between first and third base having a dangerous swell, making infielding hazardous, and the outfield a place of rolling land abounding in hills and vales.

But, as stated before, paint and repairs to the fixtures around the park should be considered absolutely necessary if the park is to be in operation this summer. And it certainly should be as there are not nearly enough ball parks in the city without it. The E.P.L. will use the diamond at the Exhibition Grounds, and it will not be available for senior games, City League games, Mercantile games, etc.

James Stevenson Park should be put in order again by the city, if only temporarily. The Council could start it off with enough repairs, and the leagues using the park could set aside a percentage toward the upkeep of the place throughout the summer. Money could not be spent to better advantage in Peterborough, considering what baseball does not only in the way of advertising the city, but in providing so many players—young and old—and so many fans with a good outdoor sport.

CASUAL COMMENT

Ches Mowry is getting his Rotary Juveniles lined up this evening at James Stevenson Park. Any player under eighteen may try out at six o'clock. Other City League teams will be working out from now on.

• • • • • • •

And it wont be long till the golfers are out in force too. Some of them are out at the Peterborough Golf Club these days practising on the temporary greens. Whenever the ground is good and dry, permanent green will be fixed up.

• • • • • • •

Well, it looks like there'll be five teams in the East Peterborough League now. Bailieboro wants in, and so does Raybestos, while Cogs and C.G.E. were sure entries for some time. And now the Crescents will probably again figure in the E.P.L. race.

• • • • • • •

At next Saturday's meeting, called for 7.30 at Duffus', it will be known definitely just what's what. After the entries are all in, a date will be arranged for the opening games of the league.

• • • • • • •

This league is fixing up the diamond at the Exhibition Grounds already. The backstop will be moved, the dugouts fixed up and the ground rolled. It will be in good shape in plenty of time for early practises.

• • • • • • •

Down in Oshawa they hardly know what they're going to do in baseball this summer. They may have a senior team in the C.O.B.L. Or they may have an intermediate team in the Lakeshore League—if that league functions again. And there is a remote possibility that they may affiliate with one of the leagues in Toronto.

• • • • • • •

The next meeting of the Lakeshore loop will be April 21st in Port Hope. And the annual C.O.B.L. session is called for the 25th, so by that time they are likely to declare themselves.

• • • • • • •

Two softball meetings this week. The Men's City Softball League holds its regular annual meeting in the Board Room at Duffus' at 7.30 to-night. The financial report, election of officers and the entering of teams will comprise the evening's business.

• • • • • • •

And on Thursday night at the same place at 7.30, the Girls' City Softball League will organize. There are a number of teams already lined up and other entries should be in also at this session.

• • • • • • •

All those interested in either league should be on hand for the meeting on either Wednesday or Thursday night.

• • • • • • •

Bowling is beginning to slow up around town with the warm weather remaining. And the leagues are gradually finishing up. The Monday Night League is through, and to-night winds up the Wednesday Night League. Wont be long now till it's lawn bowling, what?

• • • • • • •

James Stevenson Park, more genefally known as Riverside, is certainly in bad shape. What a pity that is! This diamond was the best one in Central Ontario only a few years ago, and now it must be the worst. If there is another as bad anywhere, it is likely being kept a secret—and it should be.

COME TO THE MATINEE

TIGERS MADE HIT WITH WINNIPEGERS

Percy Bond Returns From Dominion Hockey Finals in Manitoba Capital.

Recently returning from the west, Percy Bond is full of praise for the treatment he and the party he travelled with received on the trip and in Winnipeg. Mr. Bond, as 1st vice president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, left Toronto with a large number of officials, delegates, newspapermen and others, to see the Allan Cup playoffs in Winnipeg.

Arriving in Winnipeg, they were given a great welcome by the mayor, and citizens, as well as western delegates and executive of the Winnipeg team. The whole eighth floor of the Fort Garry Hotel was given over to the visitors, while the players occupied the ninth floor. Throughout their visit, they were treated royally by the hotel people, according to Mr. Bond.

The delegates were banqueted by the city, by the RKO theatre, and others; and on Good Friday, as none of the visitors had had time for any shopping and they were leaving that evening, the Hudson Bay—a huge department store—opened its doors for two hours to the players and visitors from the east to permit them to buy anything they wished before leaving.

Mr. Bond says that the Tigers made a big hit with the western fans with their good sportsmanship. At the end of the last game, before the victorious 'Peg players could get off the ice, they were surrounded by a cheering, handshaking bunch of Tigers. The crowd liked this very much.

Three cups now rest in Winnipeg, all hockey cups won this winter, the Abbott Cup for western junior honors, the Memorial Cup for Canadian junior supremacy, and the Allan Cup for the senior championship of Canada.

Fred Marples and his crowd of officials and players were at the station to give them a big send-off, and there was a tremendous gathering on hand. Percy and a small party went west to Saskatoon for a short pleasure trip, before returning east. He says the Winnipeg people and the Fort Garry Hotel staff certainly made a big impression on the travellers from all parts of Canada who attended the play-offs.

JACK THOMPSON REGAINS TITLE

California Negro Explodes Popular Belief Boxer Never Comes Back.

EASILY BEATS FREEMAN.

(By Charles Dunkley, Associated Press Sports Writer).

CLEVELAND, O., April 15.—Young Jack Thompson, Oakland, Calif., Negro youth, is back on the throne to-day as welterweight champion of the world. Thompson regained the title he lost to Tommy Freeman six months ago by scoring a technical knockout over the titleholder in the twelfth round of their scheduled 15-round encounter in Cleveland's public auditorium last night. Freeman, with his left eye swollen shut, was unable to respond when the bell clanged for the start of the twelfth round. The eye started to swell in the tenth and by the end of the eleventh it was tightly closed. He protested that he was unable to see and surrendered to the California Negro on the advice of a physician.

By his victory Thompson exploded the popular belief that they never come back. His performance in winning back the title he lost takes rank with the achievements of the late Stanley Ketchel and Pete Herman, who won back their championships after losing them. Ketchel knocked out Billy Papke back in 1908 in 12 rounds after Papke two months previously had stopped him in the eleventh round of their middleweight engagement. Herman retrived his bantamweight title from Johnny Buff after losing it to him.

"Now, boy ain't that something," grinned Thompson as he sat in his dressing room after the fight.

"I got my championship back. I never should have lost it, but I'm sorry I won it the way I did. I would have liked to have knocked him out."

For a championship fight, the battle was highly disappointing to a crowd of 9,000 spectators who paid $46,670 to witness it. It was dull and so uninteresting at times that the spectators yelled and booed, demanding action.

Profits of Austria's government tobacco monopoly in 1931 are expected to be over 50 per cent.

SOCCER GAME WILL BE HELD SATURDAY

Picked Team Will Team Against Brinton on Latter's Grounds.

The local soccer season has started a few weeks earlier than last year, and to get the players into shape the clubs have participated in friends games before the real test takes place on April 25th, when the local league competition opens.

Next Saturday afternoon, the Brinton Athletic will have a picked eleven as their guests for the day on the Brinton grounds.

The association eleven is as follows: Charlie Griffin, goal; George Blowers and J. Pottie, backs; Don Emery, full back reserve; D. Best, Jack Wade and A. Bromley, halves; reserve halves, Robert Carmichael, William Robb and J. Buchan; N. Downer, J. McMaster, R. Preston, B. McMaster and T. Foster, forwards. Reserves—Alex. Beggs, A. Mitchell, W. Robb and A. Burgess.

All the signed players of the Brinton are requested to be at the pavilion no later than 2.30.

The responsible executive members report that all players interview as chosen by the local board have committed themselves as being active participants on Saturday, thereby making the game interesting. Through the generosity of the Canadian Packing, the picked team will wear a mauve and white stripe sweater. To facilitate arrangements all players must bring their own pants, stockings and boots; the Brinton providing the ball and the executive the refresments for both teams. Kick off at three o'clock.

LEN POST MARKED AS FISTIC COMER

Put Up Courageous Battle With Cy Horner of Toronto, Although Clearly Outboxed.

This is a word for Len Post, the young local boxer who was given something of a rough passage in his bout with Cy Horner, of Toronto, in the boxing show at the armouries on Friday night.

Post earned a big hand from the crowd with his courageous display. Although out-matched he never stopped trying and was still going in and anxious to go the route when Referee Garwood allowed the bout to go to Horner at the end of the second round.

This Horner is just about one of the sweetest amateurs around the Queen City, and the sterling manner in which the local youth handled him marked Post as a comer. With little more than a year's training behind him, Post is already one of the best boxers in the city and is one of the few who can give Reg. Lesurf a real workout.

Fans will hear more of Post if he continues his strict training, because he has shown that he has courage, ability and other assets that stamp him as a comer; all he needs is more experience.

Stanley Cup Briefs.

MONTREAL, Que., April 15 (By Wallace H. Ward, C.P. Staff Writer).—"There is no other hockey team we would rather lose to," said Manager Bill Tobin of the Hawks after the battle was over. "They are a great team of hockey players and earned their victory. Once more the penalties proved expensive for us. The boys played well and I'm proud of them."

Equally generous was Cecil Hart, astute manager of the Canadiens. "These boys of mine deserve due credit for coming through after so many heartbreaking setbacks, crippled by injuries at times, and bruised mentally by tough breaks. They are a wonderful hockey team and I'm proud of every one of them. At the same time, I want to say a word for the fellows in the other dressing room. They are a bunch of hard and clean fighters and good hockey players. Apart from that they are sports and game losers. I want to congratulate them on their stand."

As soon as the last bell of the hockey season ended hostilities, the boys all shook hands. Canadiens grabbed Chuck Gardiner, the smiling and always cheerful Hawks' netminder, adjudged the smartest in the game, and carried him on their shoulders to the Canadiens' dressing room, where certain mystic rites were performed before Chuck, somewhat rejuvenated was able to go to his dressing room.

The ticket scalpers were on the job. Reserved seats were quoted at $18 each, and standing room pasteboards brought $4.50 each. The line-up for tickets to the unreserved sections formed early yesterday morning. The incurable hockey fans brought a soapbox to sit on and tucked their lunch in their pocket. By game time the Forum was completely surrounded by a milling mob of humanity. Scalpers plied their trade stealthily in an effort to evade constables and detectives who worked through the crowd.

The battle song of the Canadiens fans broke out long before the game, the swinging anthem "Les Canadiens Sont La," rising to the rafters with gathering strength.

The wise money backed Canadiens at odds of 8 and 7 to 5 yesterday before the game, and there were plenty of takers.

Howie Morenz and Tommy Cook had a high-sticking duel. Howie was thumbed to the box while the crowd roared its anger. But Tommy was sent along, too, and the demonstration died down.

Stewardesses to attend to women passengers will be carried in the new forty-passenger planes which will fly between London and the Continent next summer.

FISTIC SHOW IS PROMISED

Gord Garwood to Stage Another Exhibition Under Auspices of Rangers.

AROUND MAY 1ST.

Local fans had their appetite for boxing nicely whetted by the sparkling fistic show staged in the armouries last Friday night, and now they are promised a retaste of the same dish. The Peterborough Rangers are definitely embarked upon staging another boxing show, the date being tentatively set for the first week in May.

That will give Gord Garwood, the zealous instructor, sufficient time to bring his class of hard-working boxers further along the path of progress. The boys all stood up well in their first go and Garwood, an experienced ring man, believes that much real talent is possessed by many in the local stable. The boys will be further hardened by the continued training and some of the little rough spots in their armour will be ironed out.

Again it is Garwood's aim to bring mitt artists from Toronto here to give added tang to the show. His ambition will be to make the next show better even than the one which pleased fans so much on Friday night.

OLD RELICS REMAIN INTACT IN HEART OF MONTREAL CITY

Apartment and Furniture of Marguerite d'Youville Still Preserved.

IN GREY NUNNERY CRYPT.

MONTREAL, April 15 (By The Canadian Press).—A little bit of eighteenth century Montreal is tucked away in the heart of the modern commercial city, its existance known to but few. In the crypt of the Grey Nunnery are the two rooms which were those of the Venerable Marguerite d'Youville, founder of the order, taken piece by piece from the former Hospital General de Montreal which she conducted down by the riverfront at what has since been named in her memory Place Youville.

The room where Madame d'Youville worked when she was Mother General where she saw to the details of administration of her charitable undertakings up to the time of her death in 1771 is there. The beams in the ceiling, the floor itself, are the original ones, and all her furniture is placed exactly as she set it out herself. Along the wall is a tall long desk, of stained wood. There is a little stool whereon stands her pewter drinking mug beside a water crock; a bookease, chairs, and on a wall bracket the clock which she had brought from her home.

In the adjoining bedroom stands her bed covered with a patchwork quilt, a copy of the original which disintegrated with the passage of time, beside it a little table with her brass candlestick. On the wall is her curcifix above the prie-dieu. A marble-topped table is at the further end of the room, and there are some chairs. In a corner stands a fine carved chest, a replica of one in the other room.

In all of this, beams, flooring and furniture, there is not a nail, which may in part account for the perfect state of preservation in which it is today. The only anachronism is the electric lighting that has been installed, switched on from outside so that the privileged visitor may see the rooms through a window that has been let into the wall.

With the passing of the old Hopital General the tomb of Marguerite d'Youville was moved to a mortuary chapel in the Grey Nunnery. Her remains rest behind a wall of polished grey stone. At the base stands a bust of the founder, wearing the familiar habit and headress of the order. A tablet bears an inscription in French, the translation of which is: "Here rest the remains of Marie Marguerite Dufrost de Lajemmerais, Widow d'Youville, founder and first superior of the Sisters of Charity of Ville Marie; born October 15, 1701, died December 23, 1771.

Each day, with the exception of feast days, members of the three sections of the community, the nuns, novices and the poor in their care, assemble at the tomb to make a novena. On the wall are three copies of a papal decree concerning her "cause" for canonization, in French, English and Latin. Another step in her cause will be taken at Rome on June 16.

Madame d'Youville was left a widow in impoverished circumstances at the age of 29, and devoted her life to caring for the sick, the poor and the foundlings. One of her sons, Abbe Francois d'Youville is also buried in the crypt of the Grey Nunnery, likewise two of her sisters and several of the hospitaller brothers who had conducted a hospital in Ville Marie before Madame d'Youville took charge of the work and advanced it greatly. At the time the tombs were moved from the old chapel of the Hopital General the bones of 102 Grey Nuns were reinterred in two graves in the crypt of the Grey Nunnery, their names being recorded in a framed list which hangs nearby.

DELEGATE READS TORONTO REPORT

Mrs. E. Wand Represents King George and Confederation Schools at Educational Convention.

ASSOCIATION MEETS.

A very interesting report of the section for Home and School Associations at the Ontario Educational Convention held in Toronto last week was given by Mrs. E. Wand last evening in the Confederation School, with a good attendance present. Mrs. Wand acted as delegate for the King George and Confederation Schools combined, and her report was full of helpful suggestions to help forward the work of Home and School Associations. These associations are growing each year, and this year had the largest delegation at the convention. Among the special points emphasized by the speaker were the need for the parents study of children. Character building should begin at home in the early years of the child's life, and more praise should be given where deserved. Some good suggestions were given for a "fall" meeting, and the fathers were urged to attend the meetings and help to create a family interest. It was also very important to have the right men on the Board of Education.

The speaker referred to the resignation of Mrs. W. R. Morris, Provincial president, after three years' tenure of office, and the appointment of her successor, Mrs. R. S. McLaughlin of Oshawa.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Wand for her valuable report.

The president of the Association, Mrs. T. Monk, acted as chairman for the very enjoyable program. She welcomed the large audience, and appealed for a greater membership in the Association.

The program consisted of the following items:

"O Canada," sung by all; violin solos, Alex. Robertson, accompanied by Miss Herrington; vocal solo, "Love the Pedlar," Miss Isabel Black; recitation, "Seven Ages of Man," Margaret Pitchford; accordian selections, A. Pooley; vocal solo, Miss B. Curtis; pianoforte selection, Miss Herrington; recitations, Miss Parnell.

All the artists received well merited applause, and responded with encores.

Miss Herrington and Mrs. R. King acted as accompanists.

An exciting moment arrived at the conclusion of the program, when a bird and cage kindly donated by Mr. Pooley was drawn for. Mr. Pooley was asked to draw out the lucky ticket, and Mrs. J. Milby was declared the winner.

The proceeds of the evening are to be devoted to relief, and a substantial sum was realized. Mr. Pooley was thanked for his generous gift, after which the meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

"They are lovely, aren't they? . . . "It's certainly no trouble to take care of children if they're in perfect health."

THEY LOOK IT - and so can you

"GUESS that big ocean isn't going to scare us any Sister! Mother's watching us! C'mon!"

Doctors pretty well agree that (barring germ diseases) most illness, most lack of pep and ambition, are due to failure or inability to keep "clean inside".

In blaming this condition for most of our sickness, so they agree also on the safe way to relieve it—keeping clean inside by the Nujol type of treatment. Nujol is not a medicine at all. It contains no drugs. It is colorless and tasteless, and children love it.

Two things you have to remember if you want to enjoy "Nujol health."

One: Don't expect results overnight.

Two: Be sure you get Nujol. Your druggist has this pure, drugless product in a sealed package, trademarked "Nujol" to protect you. Don't you think it's worth trying?

EXPRESS DITCHED BRAKEMAN HURT

8 CARS LEAVE RAILS.

BUFFALO, N.Y., April 15 (C.P.). --The eight cars on the International Express, Pennsylvania passenger train bound from Buffalo to Washington and other eastern cities, left the rails at 11.55 o'clock last night a mile north of the village of Delevan, in Cattaraugus County.

No one was killed. It was reported at the Pennsylvania offices here this morning that one trainman, Brakeman J. A. Markert, of Renova, Pa., had suffered a broken leg.

None of the 45 passengers on the train was injured. The cars plunged to one side or other of the tracks, but all of them remained upright. The locomotive remained on the rails.

Never sell blind labour on a subnormal or an abnormal basis, said Captain Baker. Be content with those jobs at which blindness is no handicap and at which a blind person possessing proper qualification can produce equally with the average sighted workers and without special addangements.

Modern industrial plants happen to be favorably designed for blind workers since every effort is made by the employer to provide against accidents to the non-thinking sighted worker according to Captain Baker.

Captai Ian Fraser, chairman of St. Dustan's, is a foremost figure, and with Clutha Mackenzie, of Auckland, N.Z., will visit Canada after this conference. Miss Greenwood, who is among the feminine sightless visitors, will also go to Canada to attend a conference in Toronto, early in May.

THE SON OF TARZAN No. 39 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Korak sighed, thinking of his own father and mother in far away London, as he waited for the glad reunion of father and daughter. The Arab was striding softly toward the girl; now he stood directly behind her. With a start the child glanced quickly up. Korak, amazed, saw her great, dark eyes fill with terror, saw her try to crawl away, and saw the Arab's cruel lips curl in a grim smile as he kicked and struck her brutally.

Above them, in a tree, a beast crouched where a moment before there had been a boy—a beast that trembled with rage. The Sheik was stooping again to reach for the girl when the Killer dropped to the ground at his side. Astonished by this sudden apparition out of the clear air, he took a backward step. Korak's clenched fist, backed by terric power, landed full on his face.

Bleeding and senseless the Sheik sank to the earth. Korak turned to the girl, staring wide-eyed and frightened. In an involuntary gesture the Killer threw an arm about her shoulders and waited for the Sheik to regain consiousness. He spoke to her in English, then in the ape's language. She did not answer. Instead she made some motions. Korak understood her. She meant the Sheik would kill her for this.

Then she came to his side again and stood trembling. She did not fear him. Had he not saved her from a terrific beating? Never, in her memory, had another so befriended her. She looked into his face. It was a boyish, handsome face, nut-brown like her own. She admired the spotted leopard skin that circled his lithe body from one shoulder to his knees; envied him the metal ornaments he wore. And Korak looked at the girl!

COLEMAN BROS. PHONE NUMBER IS 617

By a regrettable error in Coleman Bros.' advertisement last Friday, announcing their Free Gift Contest for a living room table, the phone number was given as 67, whereas it should have read 617. And starting early Monday morning and continuing to date, the owner of phone 67 has been considerably annoyed by numerous phone calls from parties wanting Coleman Bros.—so many that she naturally complains. This incident, coupled with the record-breaking results to Coleman Bros. from their ad. is, to use Andy's favorite phrase, a double check on our contention that "It pays to advertise in The Examiner." We tender our sincere apologies to the lady victim of our error.

'EX' PRIZE LISTS BEEN REVISED

READY TO BE PRINTED.

Prize lists for the 1931 Industrial Exhibition were last night revised and corrected, at a meeting of the directorate of Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, and have been placed in the hands of the printers.

His Worship Mayor Roland Denne was in the chair, and while the passing of the prize lists was the main item of business, it was a task involving much care and consideration. Some $250.00 has been added to the prize list, the increases being noticeable among the junior farmers sections.

The reports of each of the chairmen of committees was also received and each is functioning with the main object of making this year's exhibition eclipse all prevous efforts.

William Knox, reporting for the advertising committee, spoke of the splendid co-operation which the Fair Board had received again this year from all local merchants either in the way of advertising space in the prize lists or through the donation of special prizes. He hastened to add that the generosity of these public spirited merchants is greatly appreciated.

The firefighters were obliged to remain there until about 11.15, and during their stay they also burnt the grass on other properties. During this time a call came in from 705 George Street for a chimney fire at 9.57 a.m.

RECORD IS BROKEN

WORKERS UNTY LEAGUE WANTED

Minister and representatives of the Government and attack the judiciary" he told one of the speakers, who had expressed the belief that the courts could not be trusted. "This Government will use every energy in the power of the people of Canada to preserve law and order" continued Mr. Bennett. He objected to the use of the word "demand" and to the general tenor of a "petition" which the delegation presented claiming that it represented the views of 100,000 unemployed in Canada.

At the outset, Premier Bennett asked for the names of the delegates present and countries in which they were born. Answers revealed that the vast majority had been born in central Europe and other European countries.

Voicing the views of the delegation, T. A. Ewen, Toronto, complained of treatment given by law officers, of harsh sentences imposed and of the practice of police terror against members of the organization. Reference to a "capitalistic court" by Mr. Ewen brought a reprimand from the Prime Minister. He also refused in very positive tones, to discuss Communism with the delegation, suggesting that if its members desired to live under a Communistic system means to facilitate this might be provided.

Refers to Dale Conditions

In refusing to accede to the delegation's request for non-contributory unemployment insurance, the Prime Minister, who was accompanied by Hon. G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor, referred to conditions in Great Britain resulting from the "dole." The idea of the delegation, he said, was that the state should bear the cost of the proposal. "That is a direct invitation to idleness." Premier Bennett said. If the members of the delegation had followed the situation in Great Britain they would know that establishment of the "dole" system would be "suicidal" for a new country. Canada had an economic system which was not likely to be displaced.

Manitoba Endorses Federal Wheat Board

WINNIPEG, Man. April 15.—(C.P.)—United demand for the formation of a Federal Wheat Board, for the handling of the 1931-32 crop of Western Canada, may go forward to Ottawa with the endorsation of the Prairie Governments.

Last night the Manitoba Legislature, adopting a motion of J. R. Griffiths, Government member for Russell, unanimously approved formation of a Dominion-wide board, similar to the 1919 organization of the Federal Government, to peg the price of wheat which, it declared, would carry the western farmer through the present period of depression.

MRS. S. H. MOYER IS PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

W. M. S. of St. James' United Church, Holds Easter Thank Offering Meeting.

The Easter Thank-offering meeting of St. James' W.M.S. was held on Tuesday afternoon in Wesley Hall with an attendance of over forty.

Mesdames Fife, Church and Copson were a reception committee and cordially welcomed the members and visitors.

Mrs. A. E. Moorehouse, the president occupied the chair and conducted the business session.

Reports, which were very encouraging, were given by the secretary and treasurer, showing the record of work accomplished during the first quarter.

A report of the executive meeting was given and ratified by the meeting. This included plans for the annual W.M.S. Sunday to be held on Mother's Day, the 10th of May.

The hymns of the day carried out the Easter spirit and were chosen by Mrs. E. L. Woodley who is a shut-in member of the Easter program committee.

A beautiful responsive Easter service included the scripture lesson, which told the story of the resurrection and prayer was offered by several members.

The study book was in charge of Mrs. R. B. English who gave a very interesting resume of the third chapter of "Fruits of Christian Missions in Japan."

The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. S. H. Moyer, past president of Peterborough W.M.S. Presbyterial who chose as her subject "The Stewardship of Life."

Two members led in earnest prayer at the close of Mrs. Moyer's inspiring message.

A vote of thanks was extended to the speaker by Mrs. English convenor of the group in charge of the meeting.

A social half hour was enjoyed when dainty refreshments were served. A pleasing feature of the meeting was the enrolment of six new members.

SUBURBAN AREA

In regard to the proposed paving of the road from the city to Lakefield, it is understood that an estimated cost was mentioned at $100,000 of which the Ontario Government would pay $50,000 and the county and city $25,000 each. Factors which tended to encourage the work this year were the employment which would be provided and also the fact that road costs are said to be from 25 per cent to 33 1-3 per cent. less than a year ago.

It was suggested that the city and county's share of the estimated outlay could be raised by debentures. The idea was abandoned, however, for the present season. A Lakefield interest in the proposal was the possibility that the road would be made of cement from the Canada Cement Company's plant at Lakefield, and to that extent additional work would be supplied for the mill employees. Mr. Gainey moved for the construction of a mile of the road this year, but Mr. Fellowes advised that the cost of bringing in road building equipment would not be warranted by a contract for only one mile. Neither of the other members of the Commission seconded the motion.

Gordon Gastle Committed For Trial

AUTUMN ASSIZES SET FOR HEARING IN BARRIE COURT

Prisoner Accused of Mrs. E. Hisey's Death is Returned to County Jail.

ELLIOTT COMES UP.

Faces Murder Charge Over Same Death—Several Witnesses Called.

BARRIE, Ont., Apr. 16. —(CP)—Gordon K. F. Gastle was today committed for trial by Magistrate Compton Jeffs on the murder charge in connection with the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Hisey, of Midland, Ont., when her car, driven by Gastle, plunged into a forebay at Niagara Falls, Ont., on Feb. 18.

Gastle was immediately returned to the county jail to await trial at the assizes here next autumn.

Elliott Comes Up

The court then proceeded with the preliminary hearing in the case of R. J. Elliott, also on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Mrs. Hisey.

Elliott's counsel, D. F. McCuaig, formally objected to the jurisdiction of the local courts to hold either the preliminary hearing or the trial for murder if a committal is made. Magistrate Jeffs noted the objection and continued with the hearing.

William Ingram, of Chippawa, Ont. who was the first to reach the scene after the accident, gave evidence similar to that given at the Gastle hearing a week ago. He said he had noticed automobile tracks zig-zagging along the road and he was on the look-out for an accident. His headlights spotted a man lying on the embankment and, he said, he found Gastle lying flat on his back and calling, 'my girl, my girl."

Mr. McCuaig objected to Crown Attorney F. G. Evans asking the same question twice, when endeavoring to establish the position of Gastle to the automobile lying in the water.

Constable Percy Walker of the Niagara Parks police force, described the scene of the accident, while Constable Jones stated Gastle was in a nervous condition when brought into the police station. Neither of the witnesses saw Elliott the night of the accident.

Walter Jonnston, employe of Ontario Power Company, told of releasing the woman's body from the submerged car. He had not seen Elliott at the scene of the accident, he stated.

Arthur B. Short, Chippawa garage man, who raised the car from the water and inspected it, stated he found no blood marks about the car, and that both the brakes and steering gears were in good operating condition.

Constable E. A. Priest of Niagara, testified he had found a patch of blood near where the car had turned off the raodway after crossing the radial tracks the car travelled a distance of 72 feet before turning off the road into the water. Of that distance the wheel marks were distinct in a straight line for 42 feet along the shoulder of the road leading up to the right turn into the water.

WELLAND CANAL OPENING HELD UP

WAS SET FOR JULY 1.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 16 (C.P.). —Because the Government estimates do not contain enough money to complete the Welland Ship Canal this year, it is almost certain the official opening ceremonies will not be held this summer, as scheduled. Although the lock structure has been completed and is working, considerable dredging remains to be done at the Lake Erie end of the canal before it may be used to full capacity. The estimates are not large enough to complete this work this year.

July 1 had been set for the official opening ceremonies, and because of the magnitude of the work, there was to have been an extensive program. The canal when completed, will have cost Canada between $100,000,000 and $125,000,000. It was commenced before the war and is considered to be one of the greatest engineering feats of its kind in the world.

Nine Communists Are Remanded For Week

SUDBURY, Ont., April 16. —(C.P.) —Nine men, arrested yesterday in connection with the Communist demonstration, appeared in police court to-day before Magistrate McKessock, for preliminary hearing. The Crown agreed to a remand of all the accused for one week, and in the meantime the local organization has made arrangements for the appearance of H. J. McDonald, counsel for the Labor-Defence League, of Toronto, to plead the case of the men.

PARLIAMENT HAS STORMY SESSION ON RELIEF WORK

Not the Proper Time Bennett Answers King's Demand for Gov't Policy.

MONEY BILLS PASS.

Woodsworth Raises Storm of Protest as He Warns of Possible Riots.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 16 (C.U.) — After a day's respite while supply bills were passed, Parliament to-day will resume the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne. Nearly 75 speeches have been made in the debate so far and, although it has dragged on almost since the opening of the session, the end is not expected this week. The names of many members still remain with the party whips, and the division is not looked for until after the week-end.

Stormy Sitting

A stormy sitting of the House of Commons developed yesterday with unemployment contributing most of the features. While a large deputation of workless men and women from many parts of Canada waited outside the buildings, the Government was beseeched by Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, Liberal Leader, to enunciate at once its policy on unemployment. It was not the time for a declaration of that kind, countered Premier R. B. Bennett. Following Canadian and British Parliamentary practices, the Government's policy would be announced when the address debate was concluded.

Premier Bennett's motion to go into supply, to consider the money bills, was a signal for a general discussion on unemployment. It lasted all afternoon, the money not being voted until the 6 o'clock adjournment hour. Warnings of possible

NEW BUILDING IS TO BE ERECTED BY PAPER WORKS

COMPLETED IN 60 DAYS.

L. A. Turner President of Card and Paper Works Limited, Announces Plans.

L. A. Turner, president of Card and Paper Works Limited, Sherbrooke street, announced this morning the company's plans for a $25,000 addition to their factory.

The contract has been let to C. H. Huffman and Sons of Peterborough, and the first sod was turned this afternoon on the property immediately west of the present plant. The building is to be completed in sixty days. The plans call for a two-storey structure, comprising a basement and main floor, fifty by eighty-five feet, and boiler room at the rear. It will be of brick and steel construction on a concrete foundation, and will include steel sash.

The ground floor will be built for a pressure of 200 pounds to the square foot, and following the recommendation of roofing specialists, the roof will be flat, with copper hoppers.

A Modern Factory

To The Examiner, Mr. Turner said that the new addition will be thoroughly modern, and when completed will be devoted to the company's manufacturing operations, while the present building will be used for the storage of raw material and finished stock, and also for the office, which will be enlarged. All the machinery will be set up in the new section, and the equipment will include a power elevator and two boilers, and also a special kiln which has been developed by the company, incorporating its own ideas.

The Card and Paper Works Limited saw its inception in Peterborough twenty-five years ago. In the deliberations of the present extension, some thought had been given to a proposal to transfer the plant to Toronto, where a large part of the finished product is sold. After weighing the advantages of a Toronto location against the fact that the business is established here and also has certain local advantages, the company decided against removal.

Local Company's Products

The major products of Card and Paper Works Limited are mounting board used by photographers, show cardboard, picture matting and cover paper. It is likely that several other lines will be added when the plant enters upon its approaching expansion, and the future plans contemplate a more aggressive sales policy, requir-

Long Missing Plunder of Captain Kidd Lures New Search Party to Oak Island

SYDNEY, N.S., April 16 C.P.).—Whether Captain William Kidd sank his plunder from the Malabar Coast on Oak Island or not, that Ettle upthrust of earth in Mahone Bay is to have another invasion of pick, shovel, and pump—or their modern equivalents. This latest attempt to wrest reputed treasure from the island has already reached the contract-signing stage, the working having been entrusted to a firm of building contractors. Associated with the venture is William Chappell, who was employed in an unsuccessful attempt to lift the treasure in 1897, and who declares that "he has not the slightest doubt" that a hoard lies buried on the island. Modern machinery, he believes, will bring it to the surface.

Work is scheduled to begin next month. News and moving picture rights, it was said to-day, have already been sold, and steps taken to carry on the operation unobserved except by those who have paid for the privilege.

DIFFICULT TASK IS LYING BEFORE GOV'T OF SPAIN

Heavy Hand Used to Curb Threats of Red Disturbance and Separation.

TWO KILLED AT SEVILLE.

Barcelona's Move For Separate Catalon Republic to be Suppresser.

(By Clarence Dubose, C.P. Correspondent. Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press.)

MADRID, April 16. — The Government, attacking the tremendous problem of changing Spain almost overnight from autocracy and dictatorship to a Republic, to-day used a heavy hand to curb threats of Communist disturbance and Separatism.

Martial law was proclaimed in Seville after Communist rioting there. A Communist mob provoked the fire of a garrison sentinel, and two persons were killed and nineteen wounded in the ensuing clash. Four police were wounded. General Cavallenas, newly appointed Captain-General of Andalucia, was ordered to Seville immediately to take charge of the situation.

Under Martial Law.

Seville was the second Spanish city to go under mortial law since the proclamation of a Republic and flight of the royal family. Barcelona, the first, also was in the hands of the military to-day after Syndicalist rioting with some casualties.

There were other scattered disorders, with Communists in some sections using the red flag of revolution as a symbol of their own cause, but the general atmosphere was one of celebration rather than violence. A Government order asked all Spain to go back to work to-day after its holiday of yesterday, pleading that the Junta had vital questions to consider and should not be disturbed by problems of public peace.

Frown on Catalan Republic.

The Council of Ministers was understood to-day to have decided that the integrity of Spain must be maintained until a constituent cortes or constitutional convention can work

Sick Woman Carried From Blazing Home

WELLAND, Ont., April 16 (C. P.). — When fire to-day gutted the upper part of the family home on McAlpine Avenue South, Crowland Township, Mrs. I. Ballantyne, lying seriously ill, was carried by neighbors on a mattress from the blazing house.

Crowland and Welland Fire Departments answered the call. Woodwork behind the stove in the kitchen catching fire was the cause of the blaze. The loss is estimated at $1,000 partly insured. Neighbors saved the furniture on which there was no insurance. Mrs. Ballantyne has been critically ill for six months.

TRAINING CAMPS ARE CANCELLED

Last year some 35,000 Militiamen were trained at these camps for a period of ten or twelve days.

The principal camps in which the Militia were trained in the past were located at Aldershot, N.W.; Sussex, N.B.; Valcartier, Que.; Levis, Que., and St. Johns, Que.; Barriefield, Ont.; Petawawa, Ont.; Niagara, Ont.; Camp Hughes, Man.; Dundern, Sask.; Sarcee, Alta., and also for British Columbia. In addition there were a few local camps.

City units and those in rural districts which have local headquarters suitable for such purposes will be provided with funds for four or five days' training. Schools for officers and non-commissioned officers will be concentrated on.

The usual training camp for the permanent force will be continued.

DECEASED PRIEST AND COUNSELLOR IS LAID TO REST

CATHEDRAL IS FILLED.

Many of the Clergy From District and Other Parts of Ontario Attend.

"You knew him for years. I knew him late. I became acquainted with him only when his long trail had dipped down into the valley of the sunset. At our first meeting, he humbly asked for my blessing and I also knelt at the feet of this reverend priest and received his blessing. May that blessing help me to carry on my work as he did, whose span of years in the priestly councils equals my span of life."

It was a feeling and eloquent tribute that Rt. Rev. Denis O'Connor, Bishop of Peterborough, paid to the memory of the late Father Peter McGuire, whose funeral took place this morning from St. Peter's Cathedral.

Throngs Visit Cathedral

"Father Peter", as he was lovingly known, rested at the Cathedral last night. Here throngs of people who had known him, from the city, from Hastings and Downeyville, Bracebridge, Keene and Emmismore, where he had labored, from many other parishes of the diocese and from Toronto and other cities, came to pay their last respects to the old priest who lay in all the ceremony of his vestments. Easter lilies, emblem of the resurrection, bloomed behind him, and flickering tongues of flame lit the summits of tall candles. This morning, with the sonorous chant of the Latin that he loved echoing around him in the "Requiescat in pace" that makes the final benison of the Church for her departing sons, with the voices of the little children who sang his funeral Mass in his ears, with the praises of his Bishop as a last remembrance, and with the sunlight gilding the ceremony with hope rather than sadness, 'Father Peter' went out of the Cathedral for the last time, companioned by dozens of his brother priests, making an aisle for his casket and escorting him solemnly from the sanctuary to his last earthly pilgrimage to God's Acre.

At seven o'clock last evening, the remains were brought from Dean O'Sullivan's house to the Cathedral. They were met at the entrance by the rector, the Rev. P. Costello, who, with a procession of priests, escorted the body to the sanctuary, where the regular ritual of the church, the Office for the Dead, was chanted. Then the members of the congregation viewed the remains and the Knights of Columbus formed a Guard of Honor during the night vigil.

Several Masses for the repose of the soul of Father McGuire were said prior to the Pontifical Requiem High Mass which was sung at half past nine o'clock this morning by His Lordship, Rt. Rev. Denis O'Connor, D.D., LL.D., Bishop of Peterborough, assisted by the Rev. P. Costello, as High Priest; the Rev. Dean O'Sullivan and the Rev. Dean

OVERPRODUCTION IN BASIC GOODS IS FOUND TO BE NOT UNIFORM

Consumers May Very Possibly Run Short of Certain Basic Supplies.

SURPLUSES OTHERS

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 16 (By Ken Clark, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent). While economists of Washington dispute about the depression, as to causes and remedies, all agree there is a great deal of good stuff, animal, vegetable, and mineral in the world for which no buyer except the poverty stricken may be found.

They are able through governmental and trade agencies to make some rough estimate of what stocks are in hands of the producer, but they cannot discover the position of the consumer. It is pointed out, during a period of depression the tendency of the consumer is to get along on what he has and it is to be expected he is running short.

A number of commodities including wheat, pulpwood, silver, copper, beef, hides, butter and eggs, pork flaxseed, sugar, coffee, wool, rubber, cotton, tobacco, and gold are looked upon as basic and to be taken as an index of the world situation. The first half dozen figure very largely in Canadian export trade.

A brief resume of the position of these according to latest figures available here, follows:

Taking wheat as the most important single export product of the Dominion, the stocks of wheat in the world have been steadily increasing

Capone's Brother Is Freed by Court

CHICAGO, April 16. — Ralph Capone, brother of "Scarface Al," walked out of Judge Justin McCarthy's Court to-day freed of the vagrancy charge preferred against him and numerous other "public enemies," several months ago.

A nolle prosequi was entered by Russell Root, Assistant States Attorney, who explained to the Court that after a thorough investigation by prosecutors in charge of the vagrancy cases they had been unable to get any evidence from the police to substantiate the charge.

Mr. Root said the State's Attorney's office had not obtained the warrants, but had taken up the prosecutions after their issuance by Judge John H. Lyle.

Three Police Slain In Burmese Rioting

The Burmese rebels who wear khaki uniforms, are creating considerable disorder in Kama township villages, in some of which the headmen have been assssinated. Military police and a section of a Kunjabi regiment are en route to the scene.

Liberals Decide To Lend Support To Labor Ministry

Liberals Left Chamber Immediately After Tom Johnson, Lord Privy Seal, Had Concluded His Speech in Defense of the Government Unemployed Policy.

TWENTY-EIGHT MEMBERS FAVORED AIDING GOV'T 7 WERE AGAINST AND 8 DID NOT WANT TO VOTE

Stanley Baldwin Backed Up His Much Awaited Censure Motion With One of the Best Speeches of His Career—Thomas' Trip to Canada Fitting and Futile.

LONDON, Apr. 16. — (By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—The Labor Government is safe.

When the Liberal members walked out of the House of Commons this afternoon, they went to decide their attitude in tonight's division on the Conservative motion of censure. They went at the same time to decide the fate of the Government in an inevitably close vote.

Twenty-eight of the Liberals voted in favor of supporting the Government; seven against, and eight more in favor of not voting at all. Provided no unexpected developments arose before the bells clanged for the division, the Government should have an easy victory.

Drama has been made on many occasions in the House of Commons. But to-day excitement cast an electrical atmosphere over the crowded chambers, reaching its height when, as Tom Johnston, Lord Privy Seal, concluded his speech in defence of the Government's unmployment record, the Liberals immediately marched out of the chamber.

The House fell silent. From their faces, it could be seen the Liberals were somewhat disappointed with Mr. Johnston's speech. Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald showed little trace of anxiety, but his foot nervously tapped the floor, a characteristic habit in times of stress.

Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, backed up his much awaited censure motion with one of the best speeches of his career. He was derisive of the Labor Party's election campaign promises; sardonic as he spoke of lost chances and futile effort. He described the trip of Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, when he was Minister of Employment, to Canada as fitting and futile. When he came back he heard for a time about seven phantom ships, but these ships have never been sighted. We all hope, however, that Mr. Thomas had a nice time in Canada, he said. He concluded by declaring his belief, and the belief of his party, that the Labor Government was absolutely incapable of dealing with unemployment.

AT STOUFFVILLE.

Husband Finds Bodies in Outhouse on Returning From Doing Chores.

STOUFFVILLE, Ont., April 16 (C.P.)—Walking to the outhouse with her two-year-old daughter before breakfast to-day, Mrs. Fred Stephenson, 41, a farmer's wife of this village, slashed the throat of her child and in a similar manner ended her own life, carrying out a threat that she would take her child out of the world before she got into the sin of the world.

Returning from the barn where he had been doing the morning chores, her husband inquired as to his wife's whereabouts and when his calling was not answered he started searching for her. After a few minutes he found her and their daughter Esther, lying dead on the floor of the outhouse.

Failed to Heed Specialist

Although Mrs. Stevenson was recently examined by a specialist who advised her removal to an asylum, Stephenson did not believe that the mental derangement was serious enough and did not send her to an institution.

Coroner Dr. S. S. Pall, who was called to the scene of the tragedy, stated it was a clear case of homocide and suicide and said it was unlikely an inquest would be held.

KING MAY SPEND EXILE IN FRANCE

Duke of Meranda States Alfonso Will Stay in Paris Till June Elections Over.

MAY NEVER GO TO ENGLAND.

(By Joseph E. Sharkey)

PARIS, April 16. (AP)—King Alfonso XIII, may spend his exile in France and not in England.

Just before he took the train at Marseilles to-day to come to Paris, the Duke of Miranda, companion and spokesman for the deposed king, said that Alfonso would remain in Paris to await the result of the June elections in Spain.

The Duke said that there was no present prospect of the King's visiting England.

Later on, the Duke said, perhaps never.

The impression prevailed at Marseilles that the king would take refuge in England only when he belefe his exile to be definite.

Paris Welcomes Exiles

Parisians, who always give a generous welcome to exiles, whether they be republicans or kings, are following the odyssey of the Spanish royal family with sympathetic interest. To-day they were eagerly asking news of the stately Queen Victoria, who reached Paris in a condition of prostration.

They were speculating as to why the king did not accompany his queen and the children to Paris instead of embarking on a cruiser at Cartagena.

The belief prevailed that the king had changed his mind while at sea and decided to come to Paris instead of sailing to England.

WINNIPEG BROKER IS ALLOWED BAIL

APPEARS APRIL 23.

WINNIPEG, Man., Apr. 16.—(CP) —Charged with the theft of $289,000, William Martin, Jr., head of the bankrupt broker firm of Clark, Martin and Co., Ltd., today was free on bail of $100,000. He will appear in Provincial Police court today when an adjournment will be made until April 23. Martin was arrested late yesterday, according to police.

Besides the theft charges, Martin will face one of conspiracy to defraud. His arrest followed an investigation by the Manitoba Attorney-General's Department into the affairs of the Clark, Martin Company, which closed its doors on October 21 last year.

In a report made last December 9 by the Northern Trust Company, acting as liquidators, Martin was held personally responsible for an amount of $296,810.48, shown as a liability in the firm's trading account. This account, according to the liquidators, was operated on behalf of Martin.

Advances made to the Western Alberta Oil Company, states the report, were made by the company and shown in their books as an asset. The Oil Company, however, went into liquidation about two months ago, and in any event, the advances made appear to have been applied to them in payment for shares and do not show as a liability to Clark, Martin and Co., Ltd., the liquidator is advised that William Martin, Jr., is personally responsible for this amount of $296,810.48.

An alternative charge, also laid last night, charges the broker with theft of valuable securities and monies of clients amounting to $29,000.

Alfonso Denies He Abdicated Throne

SPANISH ROYALTY AWAIT IN FRANCE WILL OF NATION

Monarch Refuses to Believe Dissension Permanent—Powers Not Passed Over.

QUEEN GRIEF STRICKEN.

Claims People Do Not Realize They Have Been Duped By Communists.

PARIS, Apr. 16. —(AP)— Spain's King and Queen, driven from their throne at Madrid in a movement which has culminated in establishment of a Spanish Republic, today found an asylum in France.

Sad faced and tearful, Queen Victoria, who left an English home to become the bride of Alfonso's youth, reached Paris with five of their children this forenoon. She retired to a hotel apartment where she was said later to be in a state of virtual prostration as a consequence of the strain of the past four days.

She shut herself up in her bedroom and would see no one upon her doctors' advice that she must have absolute rest and quiet until tonight, when Alfonso is expected here from Marseilles where he landed from aboard the cruiser Principe Alfonso at dawn today.

All But One In France

With Alfonso's arrival, a few minutes before midnight, the entire Spanish Royal family will be gathered in Paris with the exception of the third son, the Infante Don Juan, who went to Gibraltar from Cadiz yesterday and may remain there a day or so.

Both King and Queen from the moment they reached France made emphatic declaration that Alfonso did not abdicate his throne or renounce the royal line, but merely suspended the royal prerogative until such time as he decides whether the people want him or wish to cast him aside.

The King has not abdicated. He has not even passed over his powers. He has merely left his country. Victoria insisted to newspapermen who journeyed with her from Hendaye on the frontier to Paris.

A similar declaration was made at Marseilles by the King's spokesman, the Duke of Miranda, chief of the royal household, who declared His Majesty has retained all his rights. He has merely abandoned power in order to avoid trouble or even civil war.

Queen Grief-stricken.

It was a grief-stricken Queen who could hardly believe what had happened to them, whom the train from Hendaye brought to Paris, but it was a nervous, irritable King who came to Marseilles aboard the cruiser Principe Alfonso.

He answered newspapermen who asked for an interview shortly after his landing at Marseilles with a firm, "Laissez moi—Leave me alone." His face was drawn with fatigue, and when he went upstairs to his hotel room he told the porter three times to be sure to take good care of his baggage.

Before he left the Principe Alfonso, which anchored in Marseilles Roads at dawn, Alfonso participated in what may be his last formal ceremonial as King. The crew of the ship lined up at the rails and he inspected them, and then shaking hands with the officers, stepped into the launch which took him to shore.

The Duke of Miranda, speaking for His Majesty, said that he would join Victoria and their children in Paris and make their residence there. No decision will be made on whether

Spotted Fever Rages Soldiers Isolated

CATTERICK, Yorkshire, England, April 16 (C.P.). — The eight thousand soldiers at Catterick Camp have been isolated as a consequence of an outbreak of spotted fever. Two soldiers have died.

Great precautions have been taken to prevent spread of the dread malady, and authorities to-day were confident that they have it under control. The camp covers hundreds of acres, and the isolation order extends to wives and families of soldiers who live in the area.

Earlier this year there was a serious outbreak of the disease in the famous Aldershot Camp in Southern England, a number of fatalities occurring before the situation was brought under contral.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength) and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

Archbishop Attends Jerusalem Service

JERUSALEM, April 16 (C.P.). — The Archbishop of Canterbury, wearing borrowed canonicals — his own having been left in the Morgan yacht the Corsair — to-day made simple solemn entry into the Church of the Holy Sepulchre.

The Orthodox Patriarch officiated at a special service in his honor in the Catholicon or Church of the Crusaders, known as the Orthodox Cathedral.

A small mixed crowd witnessed the modest procession which included the Archbishop on its march from the Jaffa Gate. The Archbishop was accompanied by the Anglican Bishop, the Presidential Canon, the Archdeacon, and English and United States and Palestine chaplains.

BISHOP STRINGER HAS BEEN CHOSEN NEW ARCHBISHOP

Arctic Missionary and Veteran of Yukon to Succeed Archbishop Matheson.

EIGHT NOMINATED.

Bishop Owen of Niagara Runs a Close Second in Vote Taken.

WINNIPEG, April 16. — Missionary to a Far North land for almost four decades, Right Rev. Isaac O. Stringer, who travelled 360 miles by sleigh to quit his snow-country diocese and meet with leading churchmen here, late yesterday was elected Archbishop of Rupert's Land.

The veteran divine, who left colleague and a Bruce County, home 39 years ago to be minister in the Church of England Diocese of the Yukon, succeeds Archbishop S. P. Matheson, who recently retired from the See of Rupert's Land after 26 years in office. Election of Bishop Stringer took place at a conference of Bishops, clergy and laymen from all parts of Western Canada.

Over Bishop Owen.

On the final ballot, after a full day taken up with nominating eight for the honor, and lengthy discussion, Bishop Stringer was elected over Right Rev. Derwyn T. Owen, Bishop of Niagara. The vote was announced as 17 to 14. It was nearly an hour later before the Yukon Bishop declared his acceptance of the honor.

Six other names were listed during the nominations, but early balloting narrowed the contest to Bishops Stringer and Owen. Others nominated were: Right Rev. J. A. Richardson, Fredericton, N.B., Right Rev. C. A. Seager, Bishop of Ontario, Right Rev. W. T. M. Harding, Qu'Appelle, Sask., Right Rev. W. A. Geddes, Mackenzie River, Alta., Rev. R. R. McElheran, Toronto, and Canon H. J. Cody, Toronto.

Since Before Gold Rush.

By dog sleigh in winter, by steamer, power-boat, and canoe in summer, Bishop Stringer has patrolled his Yukon diocese since before the Klondike gold rush in 1896. During the last couple of years he has occasionally used an airplane for his longer trips. A great deal of his work has been among Eskimos, of the 5,000 persons in his territory only two-thirds being white.

When he first went to the Yukon, fresh from graduation at Wycliffe College, Toronto, Bishop Stringer found only a few whites—mostly fur traders and a few prospectors. That was in 1894. A year before the Klondike gold rush he married Miss Sadie Alexander, from his home town of Kincardine, Ont. His wife shared his arduous life as a missionary.

In splendid health for all his 65 years, the new Archbishop of Ruperts Land will take over his duties within a short time. He will visit Toronto immediately after the present conference is adjourned, to meet a daughter, who recently returned from India, where he was a missionary.

Mrs. R. Parnall Reads Convention Report

Queen Alexandra Home and School Association held their regular meeting Monday night in the school; the president, Mrs. H. Tremaine, in the chair.

The main item on the program was a report of the Federation of Home and Schools Convention held in Toronto at Easter. Mrs. Richard Parnall, the society's delegate, brought a detailed and most comprehensive report. She brought many ideas from the convention, and gave her hearers a very clear idea of business transacted, and the many questions discussed, as well as imparting a vast deal of enthusiasm for the work.

FIGHT STAGED IN CAPITAL STREETS IS MOST SERIOUS IN MANY YEARS 6,000 UNEMPLOYED TAKING PART

SING "RED ANTHEM."

Firemen Forced to Play Hose on Mob of 3,000 in Sudbury Before They Disperse.

WINNIPEG, April 16.—(CP)—Six thousand unemployed disrupted the usual orderliness on city streets late yesterday when they clashed with officers of the law in one of the most serious demonstrations witnessed in the Manitoba capital in years.

Six demonstrators are in hospital as the result of the battle. More than a score of others are suffering from injuries, caused by the policemen's batons and flying missiles that broke store windows and damaged automobiles and street cars.

The struggle with the police occurred following a demonstration in front of the legislative buildings as heads of the unemployed interviewed Premier John Bracken and placed their appeals before him.

Attempt Parade

The 6,000 men attempted to parade homeward. Jeering of police started and several of the unemployed attempted to block street car and automobile traffic.

Suddenly one demonstrator picked up a huge stone and hurled it at a policeman. It was the signal for battle.

Huge rocks, pieces of cement taken from a road under repair, flew fast and thick. Policemen swung their batons on the bodies of the unruly as the missiles whizzed around them, crashing into store windows and automobiles. As the struggle waged, the demonstrators kept up a roar of booing.

Bleeding Men Flee.

Men, bleeding around the head, rushed from the scene. Many others continued the struggle until the officers arrested several. Then the turmoil ended and the struggling mass of humanity drifted away in groups, singing the "Red Anthem" and cheering the Soviet regime.

At the Legislative Buildings, heads of the delegation were met by Premier Bracken, and a McNamara. Deputy Minister of Public Works.

The unemployed requested passage of a Bill providing for non-contributory unemployment insurance. Mr. Bracken replied that a resolution, already passed, favored the calling of a conference of Federal and Provincial Governments to consider a scheme of unemployment insurance. He added, however, that he could not give his support to the non-contributory phase of such insurance.

The delegation also requested that all relief work provided, included salaries on the fair wage rate—42½ cents per hour. They also protested alleged cuts in relief measures.

Premier Bracken said his government would consider all requests and that he would convey the pleas to the Government at Ottawa.

Riot at Sudbury

SUDBURY, April 16. (CP)—As a result of disturbances following Communist demonstrations in which a crowd of 3,000 took part here yesterday nine men are in police cells, three charged with assaulting police officers, and the remainder on csarges of obstructing police or disorderly conduct.

The mob was dispersed by combined forces of police and firemen. Mayor Peter Fenton, who was at the scene of the demonstration when it started early in the afternoon in front of the Government employment office, gave orders to direct two streams of water from the fire hose upon the crowd. The demonstrators were broken up into small groups and groups of 200 or 300 which attempted to rush the police were turned back by the force of the water.

Only two women took part in the demonstration, neither being arrested. The arrested men will appear today in police court for preliminary hearing.

While the disturbance was taking place, about 200 unemployed men, all of them single, remained at the city hall registry office, where they were registering for relief work.

The demonstration was called by the Workers' Unity League to protest against the treatment of comrades in the local jail.

BAND FOUNDER DIES

LONDON, April 16.—(C.P.).—A wealthy woman who left her West End home 40 years ago to work among the poor in London's dockland has just died. Mrs. Harriet Cartwright, a sister of Julia Cartwright, the authoress, joined the Rev. B. Dunny at Wapping in 1891, when he, too left a society home to become an honorary priest at St. Peter's Church. Miss Cartwright took a flat in a tenement house in Old Gravel-Lane and there, after many early difficulties, she eventually won the confidence of the poor. She mixed freely with the dockers and their wives and her flat became an open house for children and necesitious people. Food and clothing formed her gifts; never money. An enthusiastic temperance worker, she founded one of the largest Bands of Hope in London.

SASKATOON, Sask., April 16.—(C.P.)—Claiming that single men are being appointed to the staff of the Federal penitentiary at Prince Albert in preference to qualified war veterans, the Prince Albert branch of the Canadian Legion is sending a deputatiin to the warden to ask why more former soldiers are not being given positions. The belief was expressed at a players were given the preference, they being taken on as an asset to the penitentiary team.

MAN HUNT LEADS POLICE LONG RUN

Finlander Wanted for Stabbing is Pursued All Over Haliburton County.

ROADS DRY UP EARLY

LINDSAY, April 16 (Examiner Correspondence) — Provincial Constable Porter returned to-day from Haliburton County where he assisted Provincial Constable Warren in a man hunt which extended to the borders of Hastings County. The man sought after was a Finlander named Sussia Inkinin, who is wanted by the Toronto police on the charge of stabbing a compatriot in that city on Christmas Eve. He broke jail at Minden village when placed under arrest by the village constable and pulled a knife while the latter was pursuing him.

There is a colony of Finlanders in Haliburton County, and the accused is said to have been working in Harcourt. The search in Haliburton by the police was replete with thrills, and was kept up day and night. At Gelert one of the officers was going in a laneway to a house, while the Finlander left by the back door and ran into the woods. The officers covered three hundred miles in their chase. According to reports the prisoner was said to be heading for Bancroft in the northern part of Hastings County.

Record for Roads

Motoring from Minden village in Haliburton County on mud roads in mid-April was a record established by Messrs. Lakins, merchants of that village yesterday. In past years it has been impossible for any kind of vehicle to pass over the northern highways until well on in the month of May. The highways are reported in excellent shape, and motorists who plan business trips to the northland will find stretches of the road in as good shape as would be expected in summer months. Provincial Constable Porter made the trip to Haliburton village in a car, and traversed many of the highways in the county during his stay in the north.

IRWIN APPEALS TO HINDU PEOPLE

Advises Majorities to Give Minorities Reassurance They Desire, as Best Course.

MEETS GANDHI AGAIN.

BOMBAY, India, Apr. 16.—(AP)—An earnest appeal to Hindus to allay the fears of their Moslem neighbors in working out India's problem was made in a farewell address today by Lord Irwin, retiring Viceroy of India, who is sailing for England Saturday.

Pointing out that he was reasonably satisfied that minorities were essential in any political society, he said that in view of what he believed was a widespread feeling of apprehension among minorities, he desired to offer a word of personal advice.

I would say that the only wise course for the majority in a community, he said, is to recognize frankly those apprehensions, unfounded though they might be and to be prepared to give the minorities the reassurance they desire until such time as they of their own free will are prepared to let their apprehensions go.

He said that he believed such action in India would work such a chance in Moslem feeling as to altar the whole atmosphere for the better and make the problems much easier to solve.

Lord Irwin received Mahatma Gandhi late today and the two conferred for nearly an hour. It was understood that among the matters discussed was the question of how well the Government, as well as the National Congress, is observing the Indian truce.

GENERAL PUBLIC LISTED GAMBLERS IN GRAIN FUTURES MARKET PROBE

Commission Under Sir J. Stamp Seeks Three Days Before Finding Elusive Trader.

SELLERS CLASSIFIED.

WINNIPEG, Man., April 16. (CP) The cloak of mystery had been torn aside to-day from the "bad man" in the grain-futures market, exposing to view none other than the "general public." The Royal Commission, marshalled by Sir Josiah Stamp in its quest for the selling in a bull market which is not legitimate hedging, appeared to have reached the conclusion that the common people are the quarry.

Three days of the four-day commission sitting at Winnipeg were necessary before the eminent British financial expert was able to track down the elusive trader who is classed by futures-market supporters as the heavy loser when prices are bulled. If satisfied the commission will turn now to the substantiation of statements that the farmer profits through the futures mart.

Sought Benefactor

Soon after the commission opened Monday, Sir Josiah said he sought the speculator who was a benefactor of the farmer doing his good deeds by stealth. Tuesday, with the aid of James A. Richardson nationally known grain man, he divided sellers on a bull market into legitimate hedgers and out-and-out gamblers, and yesterday, Dr. A. B. Clark labelled the general public as the gamblers.

The commission is to return its report on what effect, if any, has the sale of grain- futures on the price to the producer, before Sir Josiah sails for England on April 29. Today the inquiry opened its last day of session in Winnipeg prior to a two day trip across the prairies, to be followed by two days of session at Winnipeg next week and a swing to Minneapolis and Chicago.

SIAMESE KING RECOVERS.

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 16.—(C.P.)—Wireless dispatches received by His Serene Highness, the Siamese Minister to Washington, from the Canadian Pacific steamer Empress of Japan, state that His Royal Highness Prince Sukhodaye (His Majesty King Prajadhipok of Siam) is sufficiently recovered from the indisposition announced yesterday to permit boarding the special train of the Royal party at Vancouver to-morrow afternoon.

Proposed C.N.R. Charge Will Not Take Place

CAMPBELLFORD, April 16 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—It has been intimated in Campbellford that the change in the C.N.R. schedule, which was to have become effective on April 28, will not take place, as far as the Lindsay-Belleville division is concerned. This will mean that the morning train from Lindsay leaving Campbellford at 9.53 will remain the same and not be put back to 4.15 in the afternoon as would have been the case if the proposed schedule had gone into force. This will come as a relief to the community as the proposed altered schedule was very unpopular and not in the interests of the business men of the town of the High School students.

Ontario Peaches are without a doubt the finest flavoured peaches the world produces. Ontario produced a bountiful crop of peaches last season, packing continuing very late into the autumn, resulting in a considerable quantity of STANDARD QUALITY fruit, and more ripe than usual, going into tins. LARGE AUDIENCE HEARS PROGRAM

ROSENEATH, April 16.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—Probably one of the largest audiences ever to attend a church concert was present on Monday night to hear Walter B. Craw, B.A., of Toronto and other local artists that took part in making the entertainment a decided success.

The entertainment was under the auspices of the Roseneath United Church and was presented in the auditorium of the church, which was filled to capacity. The pastor in charge, Rev. R. W. Paton, M. A., was chairman, making a brief introductory address and also sending forth an atmosphere of social friendship, making everybody feel at ease.

This is the first church concert held for some time and the rapt attention throughout the entire programme and the enthusiastic and persistant applause which followed each number on the programme.

Although Mr. Craw was the chief artist and entertainer of the evening, his selections were exceedingly good and thoroughly enjoyed, it would be a difficult task to distiuguish which was the best number on the list.

Little Lavigne McMillan was a most pleasing introduction to the solo numbers on the programme, while the Roseneath orchestra took an important part and played with ease and fine expression.

The following is the programme: Duet, Messrs. Wilfred Davey and Lewis Roberts; vocal solo by Mr. Ted Cusworth, of Camborne, accompanied by Mr. Albert Shaw, at the piano; Trail Raingers Quartette Glen Brisbin, Billy Halstead, Mervin Smith and Cecil Robins; vocal solo, Wilfred Davey; orchestra; vocal solo Ted Cusworth; vocal solo, Lavigne McMillan; orchestra; duet, Wilfred Davey and Lewis Roberts; duet by Misses Beatrice and Jessie Smith; vocal selection, Wilfred Davey. FENELLA UNITED CHURCH

FENELLA, April 15 (Examiner Correspondence).—For his Sunday evening sermon in Fenella United Church on April 12, Rev. R. W. Paton chose the following passage of Scriptur as the basis of his discourse, "O house of Israel, cannot I do with you as his potter?" saith the Lord. "Behold as the clay is in the potter's hands, so are ye in mine hand, O house of Israel," Jeremiah, 18:6.

"In this chapter we read that God commanded Jeremiah to go to the potter's house and there he would speak unto him. Jeremiah is watching the potter as he endeavorus to mold the clay into a vessel of a certain design. But the potter discovers that in the clay are certain unwieldy particles which are resisting his will. So the partly-made vessel is broken, and the particles that were obstacles in the process of moulding are removed, and the potter patiently gathering up the broken clay endeavours again to mold the vessel into the desired design. As Jeremiah saw this being done, suddenly the message of God came to him. He saw he force of the analogy in the potter's work.

God will gather the children of Israel together again and will strive to mould them according to the Divine pattern, removing great obstacles of sin, in order that they may become useful vessels in His service.

But God's messages are for all time, all people and every individual. Every life is an idea in the mind of God. Every human life is shaped for divine use. God has given us powers to achieve a certain purpose. That purpose cannot be fulfilled by any one else. This is the Divine Ideal. But we know we have all failed to measure up to the high ideal. The potter who worked with the clay must have been a man of wonderful patience. But think of the patience and forbearance of God, as He strives with sinners, endeavouring to mold their lives into vessels for His service, realizing what vessels of honor those lives can become, if only those unwieldy elements of sin are removed.

"Are we going to refuse to give God a chance to mould our lives according to the Divine pattern, or are we, with God's help, endeavouring to obliterate those unwieldy elements that have marred us, in order that we may become vessels of honor in His sanctuary, filled with sweet and wholesome things?"

The Sacrament of The Lord's Supper will be administered Sunday morning, April 19, at 11 a.m.

WELL WORTH SUPPORTING.

The Examiner is glad to be able to call attention to the fact that the Peterborough Male Voice Choir, which has done valuable community service in the past not only by providing musical programs of rare excellence but by advertising Peterborough far and wide as a musical centre, is again demonstrating its willingness to help others.

The organization has announced a concert in aid of the unemployed to take place on Friday night of next week, and the Male Voice Choir will be heard in a characteristically fine program, to which the George Street United Church Orchestra and a number of well-known local artists will also contribute—a combined musical offering of splendid merit.

With such a program, in aid of a worth-while cause, there should be no doubt of the response of the public.

The Male Voice Choir is an organization that deserves well of the community because of its record of achievement, and the public spirit it is showing in arranging next week's concert should be recognized by a capacity audience in aid of Peterborough citizens who are victims of the present economic conditions.

AN IMPOSSIBLE DEMAND.

The firm answer given by Premier R. B. Bennett to a Communist delegation which waited upon him yesterday to "demand" the immediate establishment of a system of non-contributory national unemployment insurance will be applauded by the majority of Canadians regardless of their political affiliations.

The deputation, whose names revealed the fact that most of them were of central European origin, represented what they called the Workers' Unity League of Canada, and claimed that they were presenting the views of one hundred thousand Canadian unemployed.

Mr. Bennett was emphatic in his refusal.

"We will not put a premium on idleness and we will not put our people on the dole," he informed the Unity League delegates in announcing that never would any Government of which he was a member enact such legislation.

Some form of unemployment insurance may eventually be developed in this country, but most certainly it cannot be allowed to take the shape of the bill suggested by yesterday's delegation.

Unemployment insurance to which the worker did not contribute would, as the Premier pointed out, merely destroy men's self-respect, and there is no possibility of any worth-while support for a non-contributory system.

Mr. Bennett gave the only answer that could be given to the impossible request of an element that is out of line with the rest of the country.

THE DRIVER IS THE VICTIM.

Michigan has again turned its back on the plan to renewed attention to a point of law in regard to automobile accidents that would seem to call for revision.

Under the present law in Ontario a motorist who shows a kindness to others by giving them a ride is held responsible for the safety of his guests and is liable for damages in the event of an accident.

In the Hamilton case an Ancaster woman was standing at the side of the highway waiting for a bus when a Toronto salesman approached in a motor car.

The woman signalled him and asked for a lift, her request was granted, and a few minutes later the driver in passing a lumber wagon drove his car head-on into a car coming from the other direction, with the result that the passenger was injured.

She instituted an action for damages, with the result that she has been awarded $2,000, with an additional $750 for her husband to recompense him for the loss of his wife's assistance in the home while she was in hospital.

Even the fact that the request for a ride came from the plaintiff herself did not save the driver from being held responsible for the damages resulting from the accident.

There is much in such a law that is not only unfair but that seems to depart from the realm of common sense completely.

This has been recognized in many States across the border where amendments to the law have been passed to exempt drivers from liability in similar cases.

"LES CANADIENS SONT LA."

The feat of the Montreal Canadiens in winning for the second time the Stanley Cup, emblematic of the professional hockey championship, has seized upon the imagination of sport lovers in this country to a degree seldom experienced.

The popularity of the victory of the Flying Frenchmen over the Boston Bruins and the Chicago Black Hawks is not to be attributed entirely to the fact that they represented a Canadian city, while their fellow-Canadians in the Boston and Chicago uniforms were fighting for the sporting prestige of their respective American centres.

Neither can it be altogether explained on the ground of admiration for the gameness of the Canadiens in battling through to ultimate victory after injuries sustained in the Boston series had apparently killed their chances.

The real secret of the hold the Stanley Cup champions have upon the affections of all Canadian lovers of sport is that they represent the fastest game in the world played as most people want to see it played, with blinding speed, clever stick-handling and wide-open style of play, as contrasted to the crushing, close-checking methods of some other professional aggregations.

In the Canadiens ice-hockey is demonstrated at its fastest, brightest and best, and in that fact is found the reason why arenas are always packed when the colorful Flying Frenchmen are billed to appear and why their second capture in succession of the Stanley Cup is an overwhelmingly popular victory.

So long as hockey is played as the Canadiens play it, it will continue to hold all its old admirers and to win armies of new friends for a game that in many respects is unrivalled in the arena of athletic endeavor.

CANADA POINTS THE WAY.

(Los Angeles Evening Express)

Canada sets an example for our own and other countries. By an order-in-Council the Canadian Government forbids the importation of Russian commodities which may compete in the Canadian market with similar products of Canada or any other free labor country.

No question of price or quality is involved. It is purely a move to uphold the dignity of Western civilization. The Canadians through their Government declare their faith in the system of law which holds the rights of the individual paramount. Russian communism is a denial of individualism. It recognizes no right of the man to direct his own life.

The order-in-Council is plain notice to the world that Canada looks upon the new Russian policy of dumping its products on foreign markets—often at the expense of starvation of the people of Russia—as the beginning of the threatened war of destruction of the economic and social and political system of the world west of Russia. The Canadians do not sit back and await an attack, but carry the fight against communism into the enemy's country.

WILL EINSTEIN UNDERSTAND?

It was said that Prof. Albert Einstein found himself more a celebrity in Los Angeles than any screen star. In newspapers—ever the barometer of public appraisal—the name "Einstein" flashed forth in bigger, bolder type than either of those charmed others, "Bow" or "Garbo."

Now Einstein and the amiable Frau Einstein have returned to their home in Berlin. On their last appearance in California crowds battled to reach the authority of the relativity theory. Men and women, brandishing pencils, beseeched him for autographs. Einstein "fans" flocked at the scientist's heels.

It must all have seemed very strange, very unusual to the professor whose home in Germany is a guarded retreat, who has summed up results of 20 years' grueling study in a paper of a few hundred words' length.

Einstein came to America to study stars and became one. He has starred in talking motion pictures, known all the glamours which surround Hollywood's most exalted. It is quite a different type of fame than that reflected when George Bernard Shaw declared him the one individual alive who is assured of a place among immortals.

Einstein's name has become synonymous with relativity—that revolutionary scientific theory which it has been said only 12 men in the world are learned enough to understand. Now that the professor has returned to Germany, after the tumult and shouting has died away, will he retire to a quiet study and there with that dynamic brain ponder a new problem in relativity? Will he seek to discover the relativity between senseless demonstrations by celebrity-crazed crowds and the essential soundness and sanity of the world's most prosperous nation? Being Einstein he should be able to make this discovery.—Vancouver Sun.

THE VALUE OF KNOWING FRENCH.

The people of Canada have been very forcefully reminded from time to time, in various way, of the value of learning to speak the French language, inasmuch as this is a bilingual country. The case has been presented so convincingly that really no objection can be made to the desirability of teaching French thoroughly and efficiently in the schools of Canada. Both as a matter of educational accomplishment and commercial utility, the advantage of being able to speak French fluently and correctly is unquestionable. Both in the political and commercial spheres the knowledge of French has come to be practically indispensable in Canada. In discussing the question, The Ottawa Journal very pertinently says:

"The Earl of Bessborough, like his predecessors at Rideau Hall, speaks French fluently. So do members of his family. The truth is that, beginning with King George and members of the Royal Family, there is hardly an Englishman or Englishwoman of education who doesn't speak French. It is a mark of culture. Canadians should take a leaf out of this book. Although this is a bilingual country, officially, the number of our people who cannot speak French, or who have never tried to speak it, is extraordinary. The regrettable part of it is that it is a condition born of an absurd belief that there is something almost disloyal about learning French, that its acquisition by any large section of our people would be something almost equivalent to treason. Such nonsense, happily, becomes more rare. More and more we are beginning to discover that a knowledge of French is not merely a mark of real education, but a valuable business asset as well. It will be a good thing for all of us when that feeling becomes general."

What The Journal says is perfectly true. No one who has had the privilege of listening to English diplomats and statesmen who have visited this country, or to those who have occupied the vice-regal office, could fail to appreciate the splendid type of culture discernible in their public addresses. The teaching of French in Canada ought to become the subject of an enthusiastic educational crusade for the benefit of the Dominion in future generations.—Brantford Expositor.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Windsor Council's beer-by-the-glass resolution is getting an icy reception from other municipal councils. There is no demand in Ontario for a return to old conditions.

With the Athletics winning and Babe Ruth starting the campaign with a home run, the baseball season may be said to have had an orthodox opening.

Britain bought ten times as much Russian wheat in the first three months of this year as in the corresponding period in 1930. Canadian wheat growers will not likely greet the announcement with cheers.

Premier Henry is enjoying a ten-day vacation, but the unfortunate part of it is, that when he takes time out he has to take the Minister of Highways and the Minister of Education with him.

Mayor Stewart of Toronto advocates a municipal conference in regard to unemployment. Much can be accomplished by careful planning and the exchange of helpful ideas.

When a Montreal policeman tried to shoot an injured horse the bullet glanced off a wall and killed a bystander. Surely general carelessness is indicated in an accident of that kind.

TANAR OF PELLUCIDAR

BY

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Synopsis of preceding instalments:

Tanar is a young warrior of Sari, a country in Pellucidar, a strange world somewhere beneath the earth's crust. In an invasion of a horde of savages called Korsars, Tanar is carried away on one of their ships. Stellara, who is supposedly the daughter of the Korsar chieftain, The Cid, makes friends with him. A terrific storm comes up. The Korsars abandon the battered vessel, leaving Tanar and Stellara behind. Tanar learns that Stellara is not the daughter of the Cid. The Korsar chief had kidnapped her mother, Allara, from the island of Amiocap previous to the birth of Stellara, but her mother had told her that her father was an Amiocapian named Fedol. The derelict ship drifts to the shores of Amiocap, but native warriors, believing that Tanar and Stellara are Korsars, make prisoners of them. Brought before Zural, chief of the village of Lar, Stellara tells him the story of her birth, but he refuses to believe her. The two prisoners are cast in a hut. A girl named Letari brings them food, and plainly shows that she is attracted to Tanar, which makes Stellara very jealous. They learn that they are doomed to be burned to death. They escape and flee through a forest. Tanar saves the life of a huntsman who is being pursued by a Tandor—a giant beast of Pellucidar. He proves to be Fedol, Stellara's father.

The noonday sun of Pellucidar shone down upon a happy trio as Fedol guided Stellara and Tanar towards the village of Paraht, where he ruled as chief.

"Will they receive us there as friends," asked Stellara, "or will they wish to destroy us as did the men of Lar?"

"I am chief," said Fedol. "Even if they questioned you, they will do as I command, but there will be no question for the proof is beyond dispute and they will accept you as the daughter of Fedol and Allara, as I have accepted you."

"And Tanar?" asked Stellara, "will you protect him, too?"

"Your word is sufficient that he is not a Korsar," replied Fedol. "He may remain with us as long as he wishes."

"What will Zural think of this?" aked Tanar. "He has condemned us to die. Will he not insist that the sentence be carried out?"

"Seldom do the villagers of Amiocap war one against the other," replied Fedol; "but if Zural wishes war he shall have it ere ever I shall give up you or my daughter to the burning stake of Lar."

Great was the rejoicing when the people of Paraht saw their chief, whom they had thought lost to them forever, returning. They clustered about him with glad cries of welcome, which were suddenly stilled by loud shouts of "The Korsars! The Korsars!" as the eyes of some of the people alighted upon Tanar and Stellara.

"Who cried 'Korars'?" demanded Fedol. "What know you of these people?"

"I know them," replied a tall warrior. "I am from Lar. There are six others with me and we have been searching for these Korsars, who escaped just before they were to have been burned at the stake. We will take them back with us and Zural will rejoice that you have captured them."

"You will take them nowhere," said Fedol. "They are not Korsars. This one," and he placed a hand upon Stellara's shoulder," is my daughter, and the man is a warrior from distant Sari. He is the son of the king of that country which lies far away upon a mainland un known to us."

"They told that same story to Zural," said the warrior from Lar; "but he did not believe them. None of us believed them. I was with Vulhan and his party when we took them from the Korsar ship that brought them to Amiocap."

"At first I did not believe them," said Fedol, "but Stellara convinced me that she is my daughter, just as I can convince you of the truth of her statement."

"How?" demanded the warrior.

"By the birthmark on my left shoulder," replied Fedol. "Look at it, and then compare it with the one upon her left shoulder. No one who knew Allara can doubt that Stellara is her daughter, so closely does the girl resemble her mother, and being Allara's daughter how could she inherit the birthmark upon her left shoulder from any other sire than me?"

The warriors from Lar scratched their heads. "It would seem the best of proof," replied the warriors' spokesman.

"It is the best of proof," said Fedol. "It is all that I need. It is all the people of Paraht need. Take the word to Zural and the people of Lar and I believe that they will accept my daughter and Tanar as we are accepting them, and I believe that they will be willing to protect them as we intend to protect them from all enemies, whether from Amiocap or elsewhere."

"I shall take your message to Zural," replied the warrior, and shortly afterward they departed on the trail toward Lar.

Fedol prepared a room in his house for Stellara and assigned Tanar to a large building that was occupied solely by bachelors.

Plans were made for a great faest to celebrate the coming of Stellara and a hundred men were dispatched to fetch the ivory and the meat of the tandor that Fedol and Tanar had slain.

Fedol decked Stellara with ornaments of bone and ivory and gold. She wore the softest furs and gorgeous plumage of rare birds. The people of Paraht loved her and Stellara was happy.

Tanar was accepted at first by the men of the tribe with some reservations, not untinged with suspicion. He was their guest by the order of their chief and they treated him as such, but presently, when they came to know him and particularly after he had hunted with them, they liked him for himself and made him one of them.

The Amiocapians were, at first, an enigma to Tanar. Their tribal life and all their customs were based primarily upon love and kindness. Harsh words, bickering and scolding were practically unknown among them. These attributes of the softer side of man appeared at first weak and effeminate to the Sarian, but when he found them combined with great strength and rare courage his admiration for the Amiocapians knew no bounds, and he soo recognized in their attitude toward one another and toward life a philosophy that he hoped he might make clear to his own Sarians.

The Amiocapians considered love the most sacred of the gifts of the gods, and the greatest power for good and they practised liberty of love without license. So that while they were not held in slavery by senseless man-made laws, yet they were pure and virtuous to a degree beyond that which he had known in any other people.

With hunting and dancing and feasting, with tests of skill and strength in which the men of Amiocap contended in friendly rivalry, life for Stellara and Tanar was ideally happy.

Less and less often did the Sarian think of Sari. Sometime he would build a boat and return to his native country, but there was no hurry; he would wait, and gradually even that thought faded almost entirely from his mind. He and Stellara were often together. They found a measure of happiness and contentment in one another's society that was lacking at other times or with other people. Tanar had never spoken of love. Perhaps he had not though of love for it seemed that he was always engaged upon some enterprise of the hunt, or contending in some of the sports and games of the men. His body and his mind were occupied—a condition which sometimes excludes thoughts of love, but wherever he went or whatever he did the face and figure of Stellara hovered over in the background of his thoughts.

Without realizing it, perhaps, his every thought, his every act was influenced by the sweet loveliness of the chief's daughter. Her friendship he took for granted and it gave him great happiness, but yet he did not speak of love. But Stellara was a woman and women live on love.

In the village of Paraht she saw the girls openly avowing their love to men, but she was still bound by the customs of Korsar and it would have been impossible for her to bring herself to tell a man that she loved him until he had avowed his love. And so hearing no word of love fro Tanar, she was content with his friendship. Perhaps, she, too, had given no more thought to the matter of love than he.

But there was another who did harbor thoughts of love. It was Doval, the Adonis of Paraht. In all Amiocap there was no handsomer youth than Doval. Many were the girls who had avowed their love to him, but his heart had been unmoved until he looked upon Stellara.

Doval came often to the house of Fedol the chief. He brought presents of skin and ivory and bone to Stellara and they were much together. Tanar saw and he was troubled, but why he was troubled he did not know.

The people of Paraht had eaten and slept many times since the coming of Tanar and Stellara and as yet no word had come from Zural, or the village of Lar, in answer to the message that Fedol had sent, but now, at last, there entered the village a party of warriors from Lar, and Fedol, sitting upon the chief's chair, received them in the tiled living room of his home.

"Welcome, men of Lar," said the chief. "Fedol welcomes you to the village of Paraht and awaits with impatience the message that you bring him from his friend, Zural the chief."

"We come from Zural and the people of Lar," said the spokesman, "with a message of friendship for Fedol and Paraht. Zura , our chief, has commanded us to express to you his deep sorrow for the unintentional wrong that he did your daughter and the warrior from Sari. He is convinced that Stellara is your daughter and that the man is no Korsar if you are convinced of these facts, and he has sent presents to them and to you and with these presents an invitation for you to visit the village of Lar and bring Stellara and Tanar with you that Zural and his people may make amends for the wrong that they unwittingly did them."/

Fedol and Tanar and Stellara accepted the proffered friendship of Zural and his people, and a feast was prepared in honor of the visitors.

While these preparations were in progress a girl entered the village from the jungle. She was a dark-haired girl of extraordinary beauty. Her soft skin was scratched and soiled as from a long journey. Her hair was disheveled, but her eyes were bright with happiness and her teeth gleamed from between lips that were parted in a smile of triumph and expectation.

She made her way directly through the village to the house of Fedol and when the warriors of Lar descried her they exclaimed with astonishment.

"Letari!" cried one of them. "Where did you come from? What are you doing in the village of Paraht?"

But Letari did not answer. Instead she walked directly to where Tanar stood and halted before him.

"I have come to you," she said. "I have died many a death from loneliness and sorrow since you ran away from the village of Lar, and when the warriors returned and said that you were safe in the village of Paraht I determined to come here. And so when Zural sent these warriors to bear his message to Fedol I followed them. The way has been hard and though I kept close behind them there were many times when wild beasts menaced me and I feared that I should never reach you, but at last I am here."

"But why have you come?" demanded Tanar.

"Because I love you," replied Letari. "Before the men of Lar and all the people of Paraht I proclaim my love."

RUMOR TRENT CANAL TO BE CLOSED.

To The Editor of The Examiner:

Sir: It is learned from a private source in Ottawa that the T.V.C. will be closed at any rate for a time at the end of the season. As there is no apparent anxiety for its completion and the Orillia Board of Trade says it is not needed, it is probable that the expense of it will be cut out until good times return.

J. H. Burnham.

ALL TOGETHER.

To The Editor of The Examiner:

Sir: Sir George Foster recently issued an impassioned appeal to drop party and come to the rescue of the country. Unemployment is much worse; agriculture is a morass of despondency; lumbering is dead; industry is fluttering.

Mr. Bennett last July stated among many other things that he would refund the debt calling in the 5% and making them 4%. He could have done it then, but things are so much worse now that he has announced his abandonment of the idea. Instead he has had to give us a great increase in the sales tax to make up for the greatest deficit in our history.

There is no good dwelling upon the unwisdom of putting it beyond his power to deal with Russia. Some people are shouting against Russia who would deal with the devil if it suited them. Mr. Ferguson may get some of the huge contracts now going to Britain and the United States. That will help and in time world-trade may be restored. Mr. Bennett also announced that there would be no more tariff-raises this session. Shutting out the world wouldn't work.

The rich are but little affected by the depression. The idea is what is to become of the workers and when they begin to ask that question themselves, look out.

J. H. Burnham.

INSINUATIONS

There is not half so much danger in the desperate sword of a known foe as in the smooth insinuations of a pretended friend.—R. Chamberlain.

What To-day Means To You

"ARIES."

If April 16th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. from noon to 3 p.m. and from 6:15 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. The danger hours are from 10:45 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. and from 4 p.m. to 5:45 p.m.

April 16th promises, according to the planetary aspects, to be a day fraught with considerable perplexities and difficulties. Prudence and much self-control is counselled. While it would be the height of folly to "take chances" it would be just as unfortunate to start any new enterprise.

Children born on this April 16th will be over-sanguine and will always want, both mentally and physically, to bite off more than they can chew. Without curbing meritorous ambition, there must be forced on them a proper sense of perspective. Their dispositions will be naturally affectionate and impulsive.

Born on April 16th, your alents are diversified and you have ability in several directions. Your head is a long one and your vision is exceptionally keen. You possess, too, some psychic gift, as you can invariably foresee the epilogue, after only witnessing the prologue. Your nature is a kindly one, and you do everything in your power to spare the feeling of others. Sometimes you go too far in this direction.

You are well-liked, and your one weakness is your susceptibility to flattery—which is unction to your soul. Force, with you, can accomplish nothing. A few well chosen encomiums of praise—even though they are not entirely merited—will influence you to an unconscionable degree. If you would only allow your own judgment to prevail, instead of allowing yourself to be moved by the wiles of others, your success would be pronounced and enduring. You evince a lively interest in mental and scientific problems, and the gratification of these tastes is your hobby; if, by an adverse fate, they are not your vocation. You should cultivate more personality, and endeavor to reflect in conversation more of what you really are, and what you stand for. Your house life will be characterized by harmony of feeling and felicity of understanding.

MISSIONARY HEARD IN CAVAN CHURCH

Mrs. Duncan McLeod Special Speaker When W.M.S. Takes Charge of Service.

CAVAN, April 15.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—A special service under the auspices of Cavan W.M.S. was held in Cavan United Church, on Sunday morning, with Mrs. Duncan McLeod, who with her husband, has spent several years in missionary work in Formosa, as special speaker.

The president of the W.M.S. Mrs. Richard Matchett, conducted the service.

Mrs. Matchett introduced the speaker Mrs. McLeod, who gave a beautiful missionary message and brief description of part of the work being carried on in Formosa.

Teaching, preaching and healing, go hand in hand, in the missionary fields, said the speaker. Sometimes the medical missionary goes first.

Formosa is a compact field in which to work, with a great mass of people, needing Christ. There are no churches where they can be gathered in, so the message must be carried to them. One place where this is done is on the noisy market.

It is a hot tropical country and farmers who bring their produce long distances to market, must get there early in the day. They are up early and rest at the noon time. This is a splendid opportunity to talk to these people.

Often on going to a strange village, the missionary is welcomed as an old friend by some who have listened to his message on the market.

Sometimes preaching is held on the big squares in front of heathen temples, here business men, women and children can be addressed at night.

Helen Twelvetrees Has New Husband

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., April 16. — (C.P.). — Helen Twelvetrees, film actress, was displaying a new wedding ring to-day which she had kept hidden for three weeks.

She introduced Frank Woody, Hollywood real estate broker, to the screen colony as her husband, to whom she was married in Reno, Nev.

Her divorce from Clark Twelvetrees was made final here by Judge Dudley Valentine on March 31. She obtained an interlocutory decree March 26, 1930, on charges of cruelty.

LIGHT SELLING GOLD SECTION

REDUCED DEMAND.

TORONTO, Ont., April 16.—(CP)—Price action on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange again reflected general weakness on other boards in forenoon session to-day. Trading volume was off, however, and softness was largely attributed to reduced demand.

Light liquidation appeared in the gold section; Teck Hughes dropping 30 to $8.10; Lake Shore 35 to $27.15 and Mining Corporation 6 to $1.99. Premier sold off 5 at 80 Moss lost a couple to 49 and Eldorado was down 7 at 66. Penny golds gave a fair account of themselves with St. Anthony registering an advance of a cent or so.

International Nickel and Noranda were off a quarter each to $16.75 and $24, respectively. Hudson Bay eased 5 to $5.55 and Chibougamau a couple to 49. Lindaleys were soft, Sudbury Basin dropping 5 and Ventures and Falconbridge a couple each.

In the oils B. A. Oil recovered a half to $11 but Imperial was down a like amount to 14 and Acme Gas and Nordon lost 2 and 3½ respectively. Home Oil was 3 higher at 88.

N. Y. LIST DROP IS WELL BROKEN

U. S. Steel Slips Off Point, Going Shade Below 1928 Bottom of 132 3-8.

SPASMODIC RALLIES.

NEW YORK, N.Y., April 16.—(CP)—New York Stock Market vacillated uncertainly to-day, offering better resistance to the forces of depression than it did yesterday; but on the whole showing a complete lack of determination.

Share prices in the main worked lower, but the decline was interrupted by spasmodic and rather feeble rallies. With the spring peak of industrial activity apparently reached, and the next stimulation of changing seasons not due until August, the speculative fraternity is for the time being bereft of a sense of direction.

U.S. Steel slipped off about a point, going just a shade below the 1928 bottom of 132 3-8. In 1927, when the capitalization was increased by the 40 per cent stock dividend, the issue touched 111 3-8. J. C. Starret, an inconspicious specialty issue, broke more than 7 points to below 20, presumably foreshadowing adverse dividend action. Safeways Stores lost 5, and issues selling off 2 points or so included Eastman, Paramount, American Tobacco "B" Union Carbide, and Columbian Carbon. Losses of a point or so were numerous. A rally around midday modified some of the losses. Issues getting a point or so above yesterday's close included air reduction, Case, Fox, and Allied Chemical. Several prominent issues, such as General Motors, General Electric, Radio and Bethlehem were well supported.

SMELTERS DROPS 10 POINTS TO 140

Dominion Bridge Loses 2 Points During Weak Trading on Montreal Exchange.

MONTREAL, Que., April 16.—(C)—Consolidated Smelting and Mining Stock plunged ten points down to 140, during forenoon trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange to-day. Dominion Bridge lost 2 points at 42 on a weak market that moved down gradually from the opening of trading.

Dominion Glass yielded a point at 123 over the previous sale and Power Corporation went down a point to 58. National Steel Car dropped lower under pressure of the past few days, selling at 27 at noon or a net loss of 3 points over yesterday's close. Bazilian lost 3-8 at 20 5-8 and Nickel lost 1¼ at 16¾. Atlantic Sugar sold off 3-8 at 25 1-8. Canadian Pacific was at a low of 37½ and Montreal Power, Canada Cement, National Breweries each dropped ½.

LIBERALS DECIDE TO AID MINISTRY

defence, declared Britain's unemployment trouble was mainly in the export trades, in shipbuilding, cotton and coal, and the only remedy for this was an improvement in international trade. But the Government had taken sweeping measures regarding housing, land drainage and reclamation, electrification and railway and other transport developments all giving men new jobs. The Government had stimulated $100,000,000 worth of works, he declared; and among many plans for the future, the Government was now examining the possible use of British coal for producing motor fuel.

Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, rising to speak when the Liberals returned to the chamber after their brief adjournment, made it immediately clear that he personally would vote with the government.

WIDER USE FOR NICKEL.

The International Nickel Company is authority for the information that twenty-four countries have adopted pure nickel coinage, the example having been set by Switzerland a half-century ago. Since that time $3,000,000,000 pure nickel coins of 62 different denominations have been minted. The comment of the subject by International Nickel was occasioned by the announcement last week that the Hotel des Monnaies Brussels, had completed the minting of 2,000,000 fifty-centime pieces of pure nickel and new design for Luxembourg.

ing some increase to the sales and office staff. There may also be a slight addition in the number of employees, although there is no definite statement in that direction.

A Personal Achievement

This Peterborough enterprise as grown up with Leslie Turner himself. As a photographer in this city before he dreamed of becoming a manufacturer he experienced the need of mounting boards for the finished photographs. His necessity forced him to make his own stock by rather crude machines of his own devising. From that elementary stage he passed on to certain improvements, and realizing the opportunity of the entire Canadian market he finally branched out first in the north end of the city until business demanded larger quarters. Nineteen years ago the first factory on Sherbrooke street was erected, with an extension at the back some years ago.

The new building will provide ample room for the company, which although one of the smaller industries of Peterborough is one of the soundest and, as its present extension indicates, is not lacking in progressiveness.

Light Export Demand Turns Chicago Prices

CHICAGO, Ill., April 16.—Influenced by unlooked for setbacks in Liverpool wheat quotations and by lessened export demand or North American wheat, grains tended downward early to-day. Fresh low price records for securities counted also as a bearish factor. Opening ¼-3-8 cents off to 1-8 up; wheat afterward receded all around. Corn started at 1-8-3-8 decline and subsequently sagged further.

TORONTO LIST CONTINUES DROP

British American Oil Remains Above Last Night's Closing of 10½.

IMPERIAL AT NEW LOW.

TORONTO, Ont., April 16.—(CP)—New lows for the year—one of them all time lows for the present stock—were scattered throughout the Toronto Stock Exchange market this morning as the list sagged still lower after having closed weak last night and showing no improvement over night.

Attention naturally turned to the oil group in view of the sharp break in price of B.A. Oil shares yesterday. The statement from President Ellsworth had a reassuring effect and brokers reported rather substantial orders under the market. The stock rebounded still further at the opening and for a time in the second hour sold above 11. Later it eased again, but still remained above last night's selling price of 10½.

Nickel was down approximately ½ point; Brazilian sold down ½; Ford at 24 was unchanged and C.P.R. down ½ at 37¼.

Service Stations opened weak; sold off to a new low at 18½; then recovered to 19½.

Winnipeg Review

The market had a strong opening about one cent higher and gained a further cent in the course of trade. While the early cables were practically unchanged, strength developed later. Liverpool and Buenos Aires markets both showed a decidedly strong tone. The news generally favorable to the constructive side. An important item was the report of the modification of the milling regulations in France. Permission is now given millers to utilize 15 per cent. of foreign wheat in grinding. Further removal of restrictions is probable. It is admitted that supplies of native wheat in France and Germany have been largely consumed and that substantial imports will be necessary to carry on with until new crops become available. It looks as though Europeans have overstayed the market. The domestic news also favored holders. There was good export business worked during the morning and as far as could be checked up over 2,000,000 bushels of wheat were taken direct yesterday morning. It is probably that other business was put through at the seaboard. A few light showers occurred over night in the Canadian West but complaints of dry conditions are numerous from the spring wheat territory on both sides of the International Line.

While the weekly Washington weather and crop report claims conditions generally good in the winter wheat country, private advices are not so optimistic as they were recently. There are already some reports of burning and others of a serious menace from hessian fly. The lack of subsoil moisture is already showing and the weather is turning warm. The weather in North America will be the leading factor for some time. Believe wheat should be bought on declines but would not follow the advances with buying orders.

Coarse Grains.—Futures were fairly active yesterday with prices on the upgrade in sympathy with wheat. There is some export business in barley from day to day but what cash trade there is in oats is on a small scale with Eastern Canada. Receipts of the coarse grains are light and a large proportion of the daily inspections are graded tough. Believe barley should be bought on breaks and held for moderate profits. Do not look for any notable advance as visible supplies are still very large.

Liverpool due one half to one quarter higher based on Winnipeg.

DUMPING LAWS IMPOSED HELP CANADIAN INDUSTRY

With six months of experience to draw upon, Canadian manufacturers seem thoroughly pleased with the way the Dominion Government has put into effect the drastic anti-dumping laws enacted by the Federal Government in September, 1930, it is reported by The Financial Post, Toronto.

It will be remembered that the special session of Parliament, which sat last fall, enacted the most drastic anti-dumping laws ever placed on the statute books of this country. So drastic were these provisions that many doubted at the time whether the Government would be either willing or able to put them into effect.

Now, after six months of operation, manufacturers interviewed by The Financial Post maintain that in almost every instance where a bona fide case of dumping has been reported to the board, not only has the law been enforced with considerable benefit to Canadian industry, but furthermore, without penalty to Canadian consumers.

BUSINESS BUYS NOW TO SAVE ON SALES TAX

Business in Canada is receiving a decided fillip at the present time in anticipation of an increase in the sales tax, according to leading manufacturers, quoted by The Financial Post, Toronto. Many plants are understood to be working two and three shifts a day to meet this situation, it having been ascertained that once goods are billed for delivery prior to a change in the rate of tax, they cannot be burdened with whatever increases is made in the rate. A short time ago it was rumored that the budget was to be brought down early in May, while later rumors indicate that it will be delayed till the end of that month. Some canny manufacturers go so far as to believe that this latter suggestion may be a ruse on the part of the Government to put business off its guard so there will be an easing up of production in anticipation of an extra month's leeway. At any rate it is known that there is feverish activity in the customs and tariff departments at Ottawa, and it is now believed beyond all question that the turnover tax is a dead letter at the capital.

ROYAL COUPLE GO SIGHTSEEING

Japanese Visitors Enjoy Sights of United States Capital.

GUESTS AT RECEPTION.

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 16 (C.P.). — Stepping for a brief time from the roles of royalty, Prince and Princess Takamatsu of Japan were in outward appearance to-day a honeymoon couple from a foreign land enjoying the sights of the United States capital.

With their formal official welcome concluded last night by the state winner at the White House, the royal couple turned to sightseeing.

This will be their principal diversion the next five days.

Interspersed with tours, however, their program called also for ceremonious dinners and functions by both United States and Japanese officials.

Most prominent in their activities for to-day was a visit to the tidal basin to see the famous blooms of cherry trees presented to Washington by Tokio some twenty years ago. Another visit will be made to the basin on Saturday when the blooms will have had time to change to a deeper color.

Customary tributes at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington Cemetery, Washington's Tomb, and Mount Vernon, and a visit to Fort Myer completed their itinerary for the day.

All of the splendor of uniforms and decorations which Washington can muster when at its best will be on parade to-night at a late formal reception. Ambassador and Madame Debuchi will receive more than 500 of the capital's officialdom, diplomats, and social leaders invited to be presented to the royal couple.

ABOLITION OF SOLDIER BOARD IS SUGGESTED

Will Be Replaced By Officer Known as Director of Soldier Settlement.

ESTABLISHED IN 1917.

Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Immigration, is Sponsor of Resolution.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 16.—(CP)—Abolition of the soldier settlement board and its replacement by an officer to be called the director of soldier settlement, is provided for in a resolution which appears on the order paper of the House of Commons in the name of Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Immigration.

The minister gives notice of legislation amending the Soldier Settlement Act so as to abolish the board and provide for the transfer of its powers, functions and privileges to an officer to be called the director of soldier settlement, who shall be paid such salary as the governor-in-council shall fix.

The soldier settlement board consists a chairman and two commissioners. The chairman is Col. J. G. Rattray, and the commissioners are Maj. E. J. Ashton and S. Maber, Mr. Maber is secretary of the board as well as one of the commissioners. For some time there have been rumours of re-organization of the board. Whether or not such re-organization will involve staff reduction is not stated. Col. Rattray said this morning that he knew nothing about the proposed change, nor did he know who would be appointed to the post of director of soldier settlement. Transfer of the natural resources to the prairie provinces had no bearing on the proposed change, he said.

The soldier settlement act was passed in 1917 for the purpose of placing soldiers on the land. The act provided for a commission of three. In addition to settling men on the land, provision was also made for loaning money to purchase land. In all more than 24,000 settlers have been placed on the land with loans since the creation of the board.

While the work of the board has been diminishing there is still, it is stated, a good deal to be done in connection with the settlers already placed on the land. Since the period when Hon. James A. Robb was minister of Immigration the board has acted as a land settlement branch for that department and had to do with administration of three thousand families scheme and the settlement of five hundred families in New Brunswick.

It is anticipated that Mr. Gordon will make a full statement as to the intention of the Government with respect to the board when he moves the resolution in the House of Commons.

TWO DISTRICT LOOPS FORMED

Bay of Quinte and Trent Valley Leagues Make Up Intermediate "B" Series.

PLAN DOUBLE SCHEDULE.

MARMORA, April 16. (Examiner Correspondent). — A get-together meeting in the interests of baseball in the Inter B series for the district originally served by the Trent Valley and Bay of Quinte Leagues, was held at the Y.M.C.A. Belleville last night under the Presidency of R. A. Elliott.

Represenatives were present from Madoc, Sulphide, Deloro, Belleville Victorias, Point Anne, Corbyville and Wellington. The meeting was one of the most enthusiastic on record. With the exception of Madoc each of the others represented will field a team for what will be an inter-locking schedule.

Sulphide, Deloro, and Victoria will comprise the Trent Valley League and Point Anne, Corbyville and Wellington will make up the Bay of Quinte loop.

It is proposed to have a double schedule in the respective leagues, meaning a total of eight games for each team in its own league. A total of six games for each team with the team opposing the league, other than that to which the team belongs will be played in the inter-locking schedule. While wins and losses in the interlocking games will set the standing of the teams in their respective leagues.

Completion of organizations deferred until a meeting to be held in the Y.M.C.A., Belleville on April 29.

FARMERS ON LAND AROUND MILLBROOK

Many Plowing, Some Seeding Done—Fall Wheat, Clover Winter Well.

MILLBROOK, April 16 (Examiner Correspondence) — Farmers are at work on their land in this vicinity this week, some of those living on the Fourth Line having begun plowing several days ago, while cultivating and seeding have had a start within the past two days.

Harold Tate did his first seeding on Tuesday of this week, and from the entire district reports are that the land works up well, and that there is practically no wet ground this season.

Fall wheat and clover have come through the winter exceptionally well, with apparently no killed-out spots. On some farms the owners find snow lingering along the sides of the fields, hindering plowing or cultivating until its removal, which the warm sun of the past few days is rapidly accomplishing.

The frost-line was not very deep this year, and is apparently all out, though W. Fred Pallis while plowing his garden on Tuesday found some places where the ground was not all clear of the winter's freezing.

Farmers generally have been able to begin work on the land earlier than usual, the twentieth of April having been the date in recent years, and owing to late springs some report having been able to start until May, finishing in some cases as late as the twenty-fourth of that month. All signs indicate that spring is here to stay, and that farm work may go on unhindered by untimely seetbacks this season.

SPANISH ROYALTY

eventually to go to England until later.

Tragedies of Royal House

One of the tragedies of the Spanish royal house lies in the physical incapacities of two of the children, the Prince of Asturias, heir to the throne, who is a hemophile, and the Infante Don Jaime, second son, who is a deaf mute.

Don Jaime was at his mother's side during the ordeal of welcome at Paris, nodding the thanks which he could not speak. The Prince of Asturias, his face white and almost bloodless, was carried in a stretcher from the train to a waiting car which took him to the Hotel Meurice, where he has a room adjoining his mother's quarters.

Both the Infantas, Beatriz and Cristina, appeared to have been crying. The face of the Infante Don Gonzalo, youngest of the four sons, alone was immobile and expressionless.

"It was horrible, too horrible," Queen Victoria said repeatedly. "They would have killed us. If the King had resisted, they would have cut our throats."

The Queen said that the Spanish people don't understand that they have been duped by Communists, who are the real agiators of the revolution.

The Queen and the Royal family have taken an entire floor of the Hotel Meurice, with 28 rooms and 33 persons to be cared for altogether in the party. The salon of the King and Queen overlooks the Rue de Rivoli, with a view beyond of the Tuileries Gardens, where Marie Antoinette used to stroll before her downfall. The decorative style of the salon is that of the Louis XVI period.

PARLIAMENT HAS

riots in the larger centres came from J. S. Woodsworth, Labor member for Winnipeg north centre. This drew from Hon. R. J. Manion the retort that any member, expressing that view in the House was consciously or unconsciously inciting to riot. The Laborite, however, repeated his opinion and renewed his demand that the Government take immediate steps to deal with unemployment.

Time Opportune

Mr. King, when the abortive debate was at its crest, said he believed the time was opportune for the Government to announce its unemployment policy. There was no mention of it in the main estimates. What had the Prime Minister meant when he promised, during the election campaign to end unemployment if placed in power.

Prefacing his answer with the assertion this was not the time for a declaration of that type, Premier Bennett declared he had never expected to undo in a day by remedial legislation, the wrongs that have been done to this country in the past ten years. No Government had done more to implement its promises than the present administration.

Before the money bills were passed, Opposition members brought up the question of dismissals from the Department of the Interior. Every possible effort would be made to find places in other departments for those left without positions, Premier Bennett declared. The department's work has been curtailed by the transfer of the natural resources of the Western Provinces. Hon. Charles Stewart, former Minister of the Interior, introduced the subject and, while he did not advocate paying civil servants, when there was not work for them, he thought they should be placed on a reserve list for future employment.

Cheques Issued Day Late

The Interim Supply Bills totalled $42,087,000, being one-sixth of the main estimates tabled earlier in the week. They will be discussed to-day by the Senate. The Government pays its employees on the 15th of the month, but because the bills were not passed in time the cheques will not be issued until to-day.

Conditions in certain parts of Montreal were as bad as the London slums, asserted Henri Bourassa, Independent member for Labelle. Already in that city there had been the beginning of riots and he pressed upon the Government the need of immediate action to remedy conditions.

Fergus McMahon Gets Auto For 99 Cents

With the odds at about 300 to 1 against, Fergus (Ted) McMahon of Mark street, Ashburnham last evening held the lucky ticket which gave him an option to purchase a used car at Hughes Limited, Chevrolet Dealers sale, for the extremely nominal sum of 99 cents.

Quite a large crowd, all imbued with the gambling instinct flocked into Hughes used car sales rooms, long before the appointed time for the sale of the 99 cent car, a Gray-Dort touring model. The conditions of the sale were explained by Joseph Collins of the T. K. Kelly Sales of Minneapolis, the organizer of the present used car sale at Hughes, which is to last until April 25th. The conditions were that each and every person wishing a chance to purchase the car for 99 cents, must procure a coupon. The coupon stubs were then drawn, by a three-year-old child in arms who was selected from the crowd.

The first stub drawn was a blank and the crowd got a hearty laugh from the incident, while the next ticket was number 26 held by McMahon, who paid over the stipulated purchase price in coppers.

JOHNSON MOTORS BUILDING ENGINE TO FIGHT FLAMES

TITANIC FEAT

Water raced through a small motor at the Canadian Johnson Motor Company's plant here yesterday afternoon at 54 pounds pressure and streamed out the nozzle of 150 yards of hose at 122 pounds pressure. That little motor sent out the nozzle a stream of water which rose 150 feet in the air and sprayed to the ground in a field 250 feet away.

The pigmy motor which did this titanic feat of water pumping was a Johnson-Tremblay portable water pump, which was built in the local plant. The little pump, which so proved its effectiveness yesterday, is hailed as a revolutionary development in equipment for fighting fires, de-watering, and municipal protection.

Civic officials and others interested in the progress of fire-fighting equipment were present to see the demonstration, and expressed their amasement at the job of water pumping the little Johnson-Tremblay accomplished.

In appearance the water pump looks like a Sea Horse racing motor for urging skimming "sea fleas" over the waves. The upper part of the motor is just that, a racing Sea Horse motor and the one used yesterday formerly drove Lou Marsh's old sea tub "Pick-'N'-Shovel." Beneath the motor was the Tremblay pump, which was invented by J. Tremblay, who for years was fire-chief and director of public safety of the city of Montreal.

The pump yesterday tossed out 258 gallons of water per minute. Its stream dwarfed that from the city's hydrant at 54 pounds of pressure.

The Johnson-Tremblay will be a boon to forest fire-fighting crews, farmers and villagers. It is self-priming and a lake, river, swamp or cistern will serve equally well as its source of water supply.

Spain's increase of minimum wages for railway workers will cost the government over $1,000,000 a year.

MEN WHO KNOW STEEL PREFER THE VALET —MEN WHO KNOW FACES PRESCRIBE IT

FLYING blind through fog and darkness—the pilot knows that life itself depends on precise reading of charts and maps—unflagging attention—accurate calculation of wind-drift. Throughout the scientific world better results always reward extra care.

In the modern precision plant where the new Valet blade is made—workers and key men alike jealously guard quality for millions of discriminating shavers. Rigid and unvarying conformance to meticulous standards is a creed.

Praised by men who know steel—used and endorsed by those who know faces—the new Valet is an acknowledged favorite among scientists. Acclaimed by metallurgists—this remarkable blade is prescribed by dermatologists for the relief of skin troubles requiring freedom from shaving harshness and irritation.

The new Valet is built exclusively for the Valet AutoStrop Razor—also a fine example of precision workmanship. Cleaning and stropping do not require removal of the blade. Valetite steel is triple-hardened and finished to a marvelous, long-lasting shaving edge. Every blade must pass electro-magnetic and magnifying mirror inspection.

Accept the opinion of famous authorities when you shave tomorrow morning. Try the scientific Valet. Buy blades today—and the razor if you haven't one.

MICMAC LODGES MOURN A CHIEF

HUNDRED YEARS OLD

ANNAPOLIS ROYAL, N.S., April 16.—(By the Canadian Press)—A chief has joined the Great Spirit. Just before noon on March 30, a salute of three guns announced to the inhabitants of Lequille the death of Benjamin Pictou, chief of the Micmacs of this district.

Seven months ago, on September 7, Chief Pictou celebrated his hundredth birthday, and although death was the natural result of age, it is believed that he over-estimated his strength at the birthday festival, when he gave a long and eloquent address and led the dance.

A colorful and courageous figure, Chief Benjamin Pictou had sailed the seas as a youth, turned to hunting and fishing, and refusing to be idle in his old age, had taken up basket making. He was a devout member of the Roman Catholic Church.

Born at Eel Wier, the outlet of Kedgemakoodge Lake, the son of Matthew and Harriett Pictou, Benjamin Pictou was twice married. His first wife, Mary Ellen Gloade, died with her infant son Joseph. By his second wife, Madeline Paul, there were fourteen children, seven of whom survive.

In early boyhood Benjamin Pictou tilled the soil with his father, but when nineteen years of age he left home and sailed with Capt. Morehouse on his barkentine from Bear River to Boston for two years. Then he turned to hunting, settling in Lequille. The old camping ground was near Digby Gap on the Neck side, and Ben Pictou in his canoe paddled the Bay of Fundy, and shot porpoises, eating the flesh and extracting the oil, which he sold in Annapolis Royal, Digby and Saint John for $1.25 a gallon. For years he followed the porpoises, with salmon scooping in the spring. He remarked at his 100th birthday celebration that he remembered scooping out seven salmon one frosty April morning, each weighing ten pounds. "But that was fifty years ago," he added.

One exploit he told of occurred when he saw some objects in the water he thought logs. Getting nearer he saw three bears. He shot two and got so close to the third he seized it by the neck and killed it with a blow of his hatche. The chief told many stories of his adventures when on his lone hunting and fishing trips, on one occasion his dog saving his life by towing him to shore when his canoe upset in Grand Lake.

Speaking of the activity in fishing and shipbuilding when he was a young man, Chief Pictou said Chief Membertou put a curse on the Annapolis district because the English drove the Indians from the water front.

About twenty years ago the Chief gave up hunting and fishing and turned to basket work. Well cared for by his son and daughter-in-law, with whom he lived, he did not have to work, but he was always industrious. He carried his years well. All his children and grandchildren were gathered by his couch during the last hours, as well as his first cousin, Martin Pictou, of Bear River, aged 94. Of his 14 children he is survived by three sons, four daughters, 24 grandchildren, 20 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild born a week ago in Caledonia, daughter of Beatrice Labrador, who was the daughter of Lalia Jeremy, daughter of Rosie Paul, daughter of the great Chief.

HEAVILY-ARMED AEROPLANE FOR LONDON CITY DEFENSE

With Six Machine Guns, Travelling Nearly 200 Miles an Hour.

NEW ONE-MAN DEFENDER

LONDON, April 16 (By The Canadian Press).—Unexpected developments in the future of air fighting are included in the design of a remarkable new British single-seater fighting aeroplane which has completed, in the hands of Royal Air Force pilots, secret tests at the Martlesham Heath Experimental Establishment, near Ipswich.

This machine, the first of its kind in the world, is equipped with no fewer than six machine guns instead of the two guns normally fitted to similar one-man 'planes. Two guns are placed in grooves at the sides of the fuselage, arranged with synchronising gear to fire through the disc swept by the airscrew; four other guns are mounted in the wings just outside the airscrew radius, the barrels projecting a few inches from the front edge of each of the upper and lower wings.

At the will of the pilot these six guns may be fired simultaneously, throwing out a continuous "cone of fire," the guns being righted to converge on a target some hundreds of yards away. Little imagination is needed to realize the deadliness of fire concentrated in this way by six guns on a target fairly located near the focal point on which the guns converge. Damage done would undoubtedly be serious even if the stricken machine were not literally disintegrated by the storm of bullets.

The single-seater fighting aeroplane is primarily the weapon of air defence. It is the most effective answer to the air raider, and the controllers of London's air defence have therefore paid much attention to the development of this type of aircraft. British invention and research directed to the perfection of the interceptor fighter — a single-seater of high speed and rate of climb intended to ascend at brief notice to intercept enemy raiders — have resulted in the production of machines which are the swiftest and most efficient military craft yet in service in the world, outstripping the best service aeroplanes of any other nation by 40 or 50 miles an hour in sheer speed and climbing at a rate which leaves all competing craft far behind. Now, in this new "multi-gun" fighter the defence against air attack receives fresh accession of strength.

Though it is not quite so speedy as Britain's fastest single-seaters the new "multi-gun" fighter, despite its heavy load of guns and ammunition, is able to move in level flight at a speed of nearly 200 miles an hour, and to operate at heights up to 26,100 feet.

Three Miles High in Nine Minutes.

It is driven by a supercharged radial 480 H.P. Bristol "Jupiter" air-cooled motor. Around the engine, at its greatest diameter, is placed a Townend ring, the British device which causes marked reduction in the considerable resistance to forward movement through the air of this kind of engine, in which the cylinders radiate like the spoke of a wheel from a central crankshaft.

Thus equipped and with full service load on board the S.S.19 sustained a speed of 194 miles an hour in official tests and reached a height of 15,000 feet above the ground in nine minutes.

Other interesting performance figures, similarly recorded by the R.A.F. test pilots, are the speed of 170 miles an hour at ground level, the steady increase in speed with gain in height as the supercharger fitted to the motor comes into more and more effective action till at 10,000 feet the machine sustains 188 miles an hour, and the comparatively low landing speed of 57 miles an hour.

The ship showed no sign of strain or stress though it was put through every known aerial manœuvre, including power dives at more than 320 miles an hour. Not a single repair was needed to the structure of the machine. Pilots remarked on the unusual ease of control of the aeroplane, the robustness and rigidity of its structure, the ease of maintenance in strenuous day by day flying, and the good view in all directions combined with unusual comfort in the cockpit.

In shape the aeroplane is beautiful and "clean," its lines recalling the monoplane built for the last Schneider Trophy Contest. It will probably be seen for the first time in public at the next annual R.A.F. Display, in Hendon Aerodrome in June.

FIRST PRINTING IN CANADA, 1752

Printing Craft Introduced From New England Into Nova Scotia.

TORONTO, April 16 (By The Canadian Press). — Under the heading, "Introduction of Printing Into Canada," the 'Mail and Empire' published the following editorial:

"Early Canadian printers who were practically the first newspapermen of Canada must have been singularly diffident about their own achievements. Few historical events are wrapped in greater obscurity than the beginning of Ontario printing. As recently as 1886 Kingsford in his 'Canadian Archæology' admitted that he had been unable to discover, aside from newspapers of statutory publications, only a single piece of printing in Upper Canada of earlier date than the 'History of the War of 1812,' produced at Kingston in 1832 by David Thompson. Six years later he was able to include in a second book, 'The Early Bibliography of Ontario,' more than 33 works printed by Thompson at an earlier date. Nevertheless he was unable to carry further back than 1814, and was still a long way from his goal.

"An effort or rather the beginning of an effort to remedy this defect is made in 'The Introduction of Printing Into Canada: A Brief History, by Aegidius Fauteux. In six parts. Montreal: The Rolland Paper Company.' Printing entered Canada in 1752 by way of Nova Scotia from New England as might have been expected from their early and continuous association. Although there has been some controversy on the point it seems to be settled that William Brown, a Scot who went to Philadelphia as a youth, had the honor of introducing the first printing into Lower Canada in 1764. His paper, the famous 'Gazette de Quebec,' did not cease publication until 1874, and suffered only two short interruptions in its long existence of more than 110 years."

HIDDEN IN THE MUSEUM CELLAR TREASURES ARE TO SEE LIGHT

Ontario Institution Plans Million Dollar Extension to Rival London.

SPECIAL GALLERIES.

TORONTO, April 16 (S.N.S.)—One of the most impressive spring growths in Toronto, is the Royal Ontario Museum which is blossoming out into a new wing.

It has long been high time for the museum to expand. August Buddhas and ancient Pharaohs were herded with the common herd in a manner little short of sacrilegious. Mighty emperors who ruled whole continents and had scarcely elbow room and gigantic dinosaurs had to double themselves up like concertinas.

But now, or rather in a year--and-a-half's time, there will, in Shakespear's phrase, be room and room enough.

At present the cellars of the museum are fuller of treasure than was Ali Baba's cave. Part of this buried richness is the magnificent mausoleum of a Ming monarch of ancient China. In the enlarged museum he will come from the gloom of centuries and cellars into the light of day. In the courtyard between the two wings his tomb and its attendant sculptures will be set up in a sort of sunken rock garden of Proserpine.

The new wing plus the connecting gallery will much more than double the space of the old. Its facade will be more than 150 yards long and will be of stone, not the brick which is the structural material of the present wing. That will be excluded from public gaze when another stone wing is built around the present structure.

Then the structure will rank in mass and area with the great museums of the world and will present the appearance of a stone temple of antiquity.

The vestibule of atrium will be even more impressive than the doorway. It will be a lofy baronial hall 60 feet by 120 and will contain an exhibition of arms and armour of every period.

That pertains to archaeology and this subject will have the lion's share of the space new and old, 90-000 square feet out of a total area of 157.000. The drector, C. T. Currelly, is now in England, but he left behind him in the University of Toronto Monthly a description of the new archaeological sections.

Special Galleries

In the connecting gallery between the two wings will be a synoptic collection of Chinese art which will give a visitor at a glance some notion of the main stages of its development.

There will be special galleries for Persian and general Mohammedan art, Italian, Spanish, French, German and British art, pottery porcelain, furniture silver and so forth.

The ethnological collections will be generously housed in galleries on three different floors with large totem poles running through the stair wells. The prehistoric collection "ranging from the eoliths tion ranging from the eoliths through various palaeolithic stages to the neolithic and bronze ages" the Greek collections and the wealth of Egyptian antiquities and the museum's special glory, Chinese art, will also be adequately displayed.

Archaeology in short will get the whole of the present wing which it shares with mineralogy, geology, zoology and palaeontology, plus a generous slice of the new accommodation.

ASK FOR STATE FISHERY PROBE

Measure Before R. I. House Calls for Commission to Study Fishermen's Rights.

PROVIDENCE, R.I., April 16.—Nova Scotia is not the only part of the world in which difference of opinion exists on fisheries regulations. Late in March a resolution was introduced in the Rhode Island assembly calling for the creation of a five-man commission to study the state's fisheries laws.

The Journal remarks editorially that enactment of the commission "might well be the starting point for the statutory reform in this field which is so much needed.

"The proposed commission ought naturally to do more than obtain the views of the various factions among Rhode Island fishermen and use them as a basis for codifying the existing statutes. It should first determine exactly what rights and privileges are given the Rhode Island free fishermen by the State's fundamental law, then study out the essentials of a programme under which the fisheries would best be developed and conserved as a resource of the State and a source of income to the individual, and finally frame a body of laws designed to protect these rights and privileges and promote that program, with a single commission as the administrative authority.

"The disputes and warfare among fishermen and the ill-feeling between the latter and State authorities to whom the task of regulating the fisheries has been delegated will not end, nor will the fisheries be truly and wisely conserved, until such a course of action has been followed."

Do You Forget?

"I did mean to remember," exclaimed Gwen woefully, "and so I forgot! It's the Kellers' Golden Anniversary." John and Gwen considered for a time. Then came inspiration—and a prompt telephone call to the out-of-town Kellers. It pleased them so, and saved an embarrassing situation.

SCULLIN SENT AID BY PREMIER LANG

SAVED GOV'T THREE TIMES.

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 16 (C.P., Cable via Reuters).—Prime Minister Henry Scullin has no love for the extremists of his labor Party, and recently he had two of their representatives removed from the cabinet. But it is only with the aid of the Extremists that his Government remains in power. On three occasions lately the last-minute support of the left-wingers has saved the Government from defeat.

Today, despite the dissensions within the party, a party caucus was held on the Melbourne Express train. Premier J. T. Lang, who, while head of the New South Wales State Government is still the leader of the Extremists in the Federal Party, was present. It was decided that two left-wingers should leave the train at Gouldburn and proceed to Canberra, where their votes will assure Premier Scullin of a majority in an impending division.

In the meantime, J. A. Lyons, erstwhile cabinet colleague of Premier Scullin, and now his most formidable opponent, addressed a crowded and enthusiastic meeting in the Melbourne town hall, the use of which had previously been refused to Premier Lang.

Mr. Lyons declared the real problem was to find work for the people. The only reason that money was not available was because of lack of confidence in the Government, he said, otherwise it would be impossible to convert loans to a lower interest basis in London. This would immediately relieve the taxpayer, but it would be impossible while there was talk of repudiation, he stressed.

EARLY START ON MOUNTAIN LINK NATIONAL ROAD URGED.

EDMONTON, Alta., April 16 (By The Canadian Press).—Immediate start upon the construction of that part of the proposed Trans-Canada highway system lying between Jasper, Alta., and Blue River, B.C., is requested in a petition forwarded to A. U. G. Bury, M.P., at Ottawa, for presentation to Premier R. B. Bennett.

Completion of the highway will connect one of the most rapidly developing areas of the prairie provinces by the lowest and safest pass to the Rocky mountains with the highway system of British Columbia.

The petition recommends the Jasper route as being the logical outlet to the Peace River country providing a gateway to Jasper and Robson parks and as an unemployment relief program.

The school is expected to appeal particularly to foreign officers. Sir John has just returned from other European countries where he outlined his project to members of governments, all of whom promised to send officers to the University for instruction.

Run-Down, Weak, Nervous?

To have plenty of firm flesh and the ability to do a big day's work and feel "like a two-year old" at night, you must eat three good meals a day, relish your food and properly digest it. If you can't eat, can't sleep, can't work, just give Tanlac the chance to do for you what it has done for millions.

Mrs. Arthur Calouette, 5307 Chambord St., Montreal, writes: "Stomach trouble made me so weak and miserable that life was almost unbearable. TANLAC has not only relieved indigestion, weakness, nervousness—it has increased my weight twelve pounds and given me the best of health I cannot praise TANLAC enough."

Tanlac is wonderful for idigestion and constipation—gas, pains, nauses, dizziness and headaches. It brings back lost appetite, helps you d'gest your food, and gain strength and weight. It contains no minera drugs; it is made of roots, barks and herbs, nature's own medicines for the sick. The cost is less than 2 cents a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist. NAVAL EXPERTS RESUME WORK

LONDON, April 16.—(AP)—The French and Italian naval experts who are drafting the tripartite naval agreement here, resumed work at the Foreign Office to-day. They would make no statement regarding their progress, which it is expected will be slow, in view of the caution necessary to avoid further difficulties.

ATTACK RAILWAY DIRECTOR SYSTEM

Part Time Directors and Lack of Experts Called Handicaps.

LONDON, April 16 (By The Canadian Press.).—This is the season for the annual meetings of the four big English railway companies. With railway dividends, except in regard to prior charges, having long been sliding to the vanishing point, it is only natural that stockholders have called into question the composition of railway boards. Roughly speaking, stockholders on this matter are separated into two divisions. The first advocates a drastic reduction in the number of directors and their fees. The second is more anxious as to whether the board leaving alone its size, contains the best men that are available.

The four English groups have among them 92 directors, whose fees average about $5,750 per director. Obviously this is a low remuneration for a whole-time job. Many directors, of course, are appointed with the intention of their providing expert knowledge in relation to the many forms of specialized business which come within the scope of railway activity.

"Lack of the necessary expert knowledge and experience, and the fact that directors do not give their whole time to their duties, are the twin weaknesses of British railway administration," declares The Saturday Review. "They are radical weaknesses. In England, as in no other country, there has always been an almost complete divorce between the executive and the administrative sides of railway undertakings and very little attempt to bridge this gap by means of liaison officers. Such a system would be bad in itself; it is obviously worse when a non-expert board obstinately refuses to co-opt experts, for which reason no general manager or chief engineer of a British railway company has ever been permitted to sit on the board until he resigned his executive functions. As for the suggestion that an occasional director should be chosen from the less exalted ranks of the executive hierachy, that is regarded by chairmen as a combination of indecency and major blasphemy."

Back To Babylonian Court Jewel Period

Jewelry Won at King Nebuchadnezzar's Court Found by Expedition.

LONDON, April 16 (By The Canadian Press).—Jewelry worn at the Court of Nebuchadnezzar, magnificent sculpture of the Sassanian period and royal tombs over 5,500 years old have been discovered by the Oxford-Field Museum Expedition excavating at Kish, near the site of old Babylon. Dr. Stephen Langdon, Professor of Assyriology, Oxford University, director of the expedition, has sent a report to Sir Charles Marston, author of Essays on the Old Testament, who states that the Jewelry is said to be worth several thousands of pounds.

The expedition is working on three separate strata covering three periods of history. Sassanian sculpture, dating from about 250 A.D., was found on the top layer above the great Temple of Nebuchadnezzar. The find of treasure from the Nebuchadnezzar period is sensational and includes solid gold ornaments.

"It will be of great interest to know just what has been found because the time of Nebuchadnezzar is one about which we are learning a great deal from recent discoveries, and excavation is supporting the old Biblical narrative to an extraordinary extent," Sir Charles says.

Below the Nebuchadnezzar Temple have been found a further series of Sumerian royal tombs. These are about 5,500 years old and the expedition is just beginning o explore them. Written tablets and cuneiforms writings have been recovered which will probably shed light on the history of those times. Sir Charles adds: "It is especially interesting to know that the date of the flood has now been fixed at 3,400 B. C., so that hese tablets are probably older still."

135 Non-Preferred Immigrants Allowed

OTTAWA, Ont., April 16.—(C.P.)—A total of 135 immigrants—farm laborers or domestic servants—from non-preferred countries were admitted to Canada between January 1 and July 31 last, under letters covering assuance of employment issued by the Immigration Department on the recommendation and endorsement of various Members of Parliament. This was shown in a return tabled in the House of Commons.

The largest racial group so admitted were Polish Hebrews, of whom there were 27. Of Poles there were 23 Ukrainians 17, and so on in lesser numbers to one Hungarian.

Letters of recommendation were signed by Members of Parliament, and of these G. W. McPhee, Liberal, Yorkton, had the largest number, with 34. Hon. Charles Stewart had 10.

Canadian Efficiency Praised in Argentina

Buenos Aires Herald Congratulates Canadian Officials at British Empire Fair.

BUENOS AIRES, April 16 (By The Canadian Press).—Under the title: "Canadian Efficiency," the Buenos Aires 'Herald' of March 14, said editorially:

"All congratulations to the organizers of the Canadian Pavilion at the Trade Fair. From start to finish their work has been done with clock-work regularity, and when yesterday — the eve of the opening day — arrived, they had not only seen to it that the last touch of paint and the last bit of polish had been applied, but had the floors all washed ready for visitors, and uniformed men at the doors ready to explain anything required of them. On the same day the Prince Robert arrived with all the Canadian delegates, and this afternoon the pavilion will appear as though it had been in operation for weeks. Major McColl, the Canadian Commissioner, and his assistants have worked like Trojans, and can well afford to sit back and smile with satisfaction at the result. Every now and then one reads of the high grade of efficiency and up-to-dateness of the Dominion of the north. Buenos Aires has been given a practical object lesson of this, and one that will not fail to make its impression. The average Argentine is of the go-ahead type and quick to appreciate modernity. Canada has shown him how things can be done, and we may be sure that the demonstration will have its full effect."

"After this one needs not insist on the impression created here by the participation of Canada to the British Empire Art and Industrial Exposition. As a matter of fact, Canada attracts more than its formal share of attention. Its pavilion was the first completed — a fact much appreciated by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, who paid it a private visit a week before the official opening—and one which receives now the most visitors. It is well situated on the Palermo ground and its exhibits are well presented, thanks to the Dominion Government representative, Mr. Turcotte, whose 30 years in international fairs has helped to another success.

Human Seismometer Predicts Earthquakes

SHAUNAVON, Sask., April 16 (By The Canadian Press).—This town possesses a human seismometer in the person of Carl Viberg, who predicts when earthquakes will happen. Just about the time something seismic is taking place in the world Mr. Viberg declares he "feels" it and tells his friends to watch for the announcements in the newspapers.

On February 14, Mr. Viberg told friends an earthquake was taking place and that they shortly would hear of it. The following day newspapers carried accounts of an earthquake at Alina Cruz, Mexico. Recently Mr. Viberg "felt" unusual movements in the earth and the following day the country was shocked with detailed accounts of the New Zealand earthquake.

He also foretold earth disturbances on Penal Island, off the coast of Mexico.

Asked to describe his "feelings" Mr. Viberg was unable to give any idea of it. A certain trembling comes on, he states, which he cannot account for. This is always followed by news of earth movements having taken place.

Britain To Continue Buying Russian Wood

LONDON, April 16 (C.P. Cable).—Right Hon. George Lansbury, First Commissioner of Works in the Labor Cabinet, informed a questioner in the House of Commons to-day that the value of timber of Russian origin purchased by his department last year was approximately $11,500. He added that he was not substituting any other timber for the Russian product in 1931

Departmental purchasing of Russian timber and the relative prices and merits of Canadian timber have figured frequently in the House of Commons of late. The Parliamen-Secretary to the Admiralty stated last month that Canadian deal wood was being bought by the Admiralty in place of Russian deal because of reduced prices and changed market conditions, and that it was the Government's general policy to deal with Russia on the same basis as any other country.

GREAT AIRCRAFT END LONG FLIGHT

Down Africa and Back Completed on Schedule by Royal Air Force Troop Carriers.

CAIRO, Egypt, April 16 (By The Canadian Press).—Exactly to time the formation of three Vickers "Victoria" troop-carriers, chosen to make this year the annual Royal Air Force flight from Cairo to Cape Town and back, alighted at Heliopolis aerodrome. They returned to their base after an absence of two months, having flown twice along the entire length of Africa from north to south, a distance of 11,240 miles.

This is the first year that "heavy aircraft" have made the journey, which has thus provided much valuable information about the operation over the route of large aeroplanes similar in size and performance to the air-liners which should be carrying mails and passengers regularly between Cairo and the Cape beofre the end of the summer. Further, much was learned which should throw light on the military use of the heavy transport service aeroplane, a type that is expected to play an important part in the strategy of Empire air defence.

Occasionally the flight was delayed—by bad weather, flying conditions at one or two of the aerodromes and, twice, by damage done in landing at Broken Hill—but the aeroplanes never failed to make up the lost time with ease and there was never any danger that the pre-arranged schedule would be affected. At Broken Hill on the outward journey one 'plane damaged a lower wing in landing; again on the return one machine struck an obstruction on the landing ground there and sustained damage to the lower wing. The formation visited this aerodrome at the very worst possible time of year, the first landing being made in a heavy storm. At two aerodromes the machines got bogged and were dug out.

The Vickers "Victoria" troop-carrier is a big biplane equipped with two 530 h. p. Napier "Lion" engines. It is able to remain aloft long enough to cover stages of nearly 800 miles without refuelling and, with full load on board, weighs eight tons.

COMPULSORY EXAMINATION FOR TEACHERS

BROCKVILLE, Ont., April 16 (C.P.)—Compulsory examination of all teachers appointed to the staff of the local schools has been decided upon by the Board of Education. The proposal has been under consideration for some time and the examination will be conducted by a physician later to be appointed.

"How will you have your Shredded Wheat this morning?"

"I'll have it with hot milk, my dear. It's a bit chilly out doors, and I want something to warm me up. It certainly is great the way you can serve Shredded Wheat as either a hot or cold cereal—and just as easily either way. Fickle spring can't fool us, can she? And be sure to have some Shredded Wheat yourself because it is what you need to keep strong and healthy in this kind of weather."

Rheumatism So Bad Could Hardly Walk

Mrs. Wm. Kanasig, R.R. No. 4, Guelph, Ont., writes:—"For years I suffered with rheumatism, and my hands and feet used to swell so, at times, I could hardly walk, and could not sleep or rest for the pain. I used different kinds of medicine, but got nothing to do me any good until a friend told me to take Burdock Blood Bitters. Now I have no more pains and the rheumatism is all gone."

"BIG SHOT" OF RACKETEERS SLAIN POLICE ARE EXPECTING GANG WAR

Masseria Mowed Down When Found Alone in Coney Island Restaurant.

CAPONE ASSOCIATE.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Apr. 16.—Giuseppe Masseria, or other wise "Joe the Boss", described by newspaper as an associate of Al Capone and by the police as the biggest racketeer of them all, is dead from foe's bullets and the police today feared there would be a gang war.

Five bullets were fired into the back of his head and shoulders while he sat thumbing a deck of cards in an obscure little Italian restaurant in Coney Island last evening.

Joe lived in Harlem, and he was a long way from home when he arrived at the Nuova Villa Tammaro in his steel-armored car with its inch-thick plate glass windows. It was uncertain whether he arrived alone, or whether there were any other customers in the place. The proprietor was out for a walk, and the cook was in the kitchen, and neither knew a thing about it.

Volley of Shots

An hour after he arrived there was a volley of shots in the restaurant, and an automobile pulled away from the curb.

Police found Joe in a pool of blood, a card table over-turned, and the cards strewn over the floor. His car was still outside where he had parked it, and not a great distance away was a second automobile in which were found several sawed-off shot guns.

The feuds which "Joe the Boss" waged in New York have been so many, police said, that any one of a dozen enemies might have killed him. They said he was bigger than Al Capone, and that he had a hand in every racket known. Moreover, Al Capone is supposed to have warned him in recent weeks that some of his practices were dangerous for his health.

Long Criminal Career.

Joe came to the United States in 1903; then a boy of 16. He swaggered through the Mulberry Bend district for five years before his name got on a police blotter for a minor offence. From 1907 to 1920 he was arrested a number of times for assault, extortion and burglary, and once he was put away for three years in Sing Sing.

Along about 1920, when he had learned the ropes thoroughly, he blossomed out as a big shot. Since then he has been put on the spot four or five times, but until yesterday his luck held out and bystanders usually came off the worse. Police hauled him on the carpet a dozen times. They questioned him about the murders of Frankie Yale and Frank Marlow. The Boss knew nothing about them.

Society Protesting Against Stray Dogs

Flower Beds and Lawns Destroyed by Canines Running at Large.

The stray canine came in for a great deal of attention last night at the regular weekly meeting of the C.G.E. Horticultural Society when several members voiced their disapproval of the fact that a great many dogs were running at large and doing considerable damage to flower beds and lawns. The discussion was quite lengthy and finally resulted in a resolution being passed which authorized the secretary of the organization to forward a letter to the City Council and to the Reeve of North Monaghan requesting that the by-law which forbids the practice of permitting dogs to run at large be strictly enforced.

The membership of this society has reached the 360 mark and is a good indication that another successful season is at hand. A letter was read at the meeting from the Peterborough Horticultural Society which suggested that the two organizations combine their flower shows this year and a committee of four representing the C.G.E. Club were appointed to meet a delegation from the Peterborough Society and discuss the matter in detail. The committee is as follows: W. J. Swanger, chairman, Bruce Law, Thos. McMillan and L. McGillen.

MAKES CITY PROSPEROUS

A retail merchant once said, "It is astonishing to me to know that many people of Peterborough have not realized yet the importance of an active Chamber of Commerce. To me it is the surest way to make our city and county prosper and grow, considering the outside contact we get and the vast amount of publicity obtainable only through a live Chamber of Commerce.

TRIBUTE IS PAID MEMORY OF LATE REV. A. H. DENOON

New Glasgow Church is Crowded to Capacity at the Funeral Service.

MEMBER OF LEGION.

Pictou County, Nova Scotia recently paid tribute of respect to the memory of one of its sons, Rev. A. H. Denoon, when a crowd that overflowed Trinity United Church, gathered in the final service. Representative citizens from all over the county, as well as from adjoining counties, assembled, and joined in the service conducted by the Presbytery of Pictou.

The late Rev. Dr. Denoon who passed away at Halifax, was a brother of Mrs. A. H. Robinson of Gilmour street Peterborough.

When his remains arrived at New Glasgow from Halifax, they were met at the station by a large number of the members and officers of the Canadian Legion, who, after draping the bier with a British flag carried out a brief but impressive service, in which the Legion Chaplain, Rev. Mr. Kennedy of First Presbyterian Church, and Rev. John Service of St. Andrews Church participated. The Legion members formed a guard of honor accompanying the remains from the station to Trinity Church.

Banked by great masses of flowers, the new church in the initiation and building of which the late Dr. Denoon had so large a part, and which is regarded as the crowning work of his long ministry, formed a reverential and beautiful setting for the service. Members of the Masonic Order occupied a block of seats, members of the Canadian Legion attended in a body and members of Pictou Presbytery occupied seats on the platform. The choir of Trinity Church led in the service of praise, while Professor Fletcher, presiding at the organ rendered the Dead March in Saul.

Rev. A. H. Frame presided at the service. Rev. H. R. Grant and Rev. D. G. Ross Stellarton read the Scripture. Rev. A. D. Stirling, Scotsburn led in prayer. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. J. L. George.

Representing the United Church of Canada, Rev. Dr. Clarence Mackinnon of Halifax read a telegram of sympathy from the executive of the United Church, and a personal telegram from the Right Rev. Dr Oliver, Moderator of the United Church.

Dr. Mackinnon of Stellarton who represented the Presbytery of Pictou, and who was a fellow student of Dr. Denoon at Dalhousie and Pine Hill, and a close intimate friend, also paid high tribute, in the course of a very feeling address.

CANADIAN SOLDIERS ARE WELL EDUCATED

Says Lieut.-General Sir Archibald Macdonell in Kingston Address.

KINGSTON, April 16.—(Special to The Examiner.)— "A nation of free men skilled in the arts of peace and with an inherent love of sport, makes a most dangerous potential enemy," declared Lieut.-General Sir Archibald Macdonell, addressing a Y. M. C. A. Supper Club. This veteran Canadian General was describing the Canadian Contingent that fought in the Great War and was trying to give his listeners some of the reasons why the Canadians made such excellent soldiers. "The Canadians," he said, "were on the average, the best educated troops on the Western front and they were ambitious and anxious to excel. The fact that the Canadian troops compared so favorably in general education with soldiers of other countries was a splendid recommendation for the Canadian educational system the General thought.

Chinese Bandits Take Revenge Because They Were Opposed in Looting.

TSINAN, Shantung, April 16 (A.P.)—Reports that 180 out of the 200 persons in a village near Tenghsien, Shantung, had been massacred by bandits, as a revenge measure, were received here to-day.

The villagers were said to have fallen in resisting the second attack.

Southern Shantung and Northern Kiangsu Provinces were reported to be suffering from an acute wave of banditry which was terrifying the populace and paralyzing trade.

ENGINEER ASKED TO DROP CHARGE

TWO BADLY BURNED

LINDSAY, April 16—Deputy Reeve J. B. Begg, chairman of Lindsay's finance committee, believes that when special relief work is being carried out, just for the sake of the unemployed, that Town Engineer O. Smith should not exact his usual 5 per cent. Relief sewers, constructed on Carol and Lindsay Streets during the winter months, cost considerably more than under normal conditions, he claimed. The account was allowed to stand.

Two Suffer Burns

Mrs. Alex McGinnis, Norland, suffered severe burns when sulphur from a match she was lighting fell and ignited her clothing. Most of her clothing was burned off before help arrived. Her husband also received burns when he attempted to stifle the flames.

Relief Cost $20,000

In connection with unemployment and relief work here, approximately $20,000 has already been spent and relief work has not yet been completed. Of this amount it is expected that half will be collected from the government. An additional $5,000 was expended for direct relief to families in dire need. Some 250 men were on the unemployed list, of which 75 were single men without dependents, 50 were single men with dependents and the balance were married men.

RICE LAKE CLEAR OF ICE SHACKLES

Very Little Damage Done Along Shores to Boathouses and Cottages.

BAILIEBORO, April 16 (Examiner Correspondence)—The high winds of the past few days has completely taken the ice from Rice Lake.

It is many years since the ice has disappeared from the lake and left so little damage done. At the head of the lake where a lot of damage is usually done to summer cottagers' boat houses and other buildings, there was scarcely any damage done by the floating ice jamming against the shore.

Women Fight Fat With Wheaten Diet

Enquiries among restauranteurs in several Canadian cities suggest that the fair sex has found a new and better diet to preserve that sylh-like figure. Gone is the starvation menu—the slice of toast and the glass of water. Instead the modern miss is slimming on whole wheat—usually in prepared biscuit form—with milk and fruit added.

The enquiries which were made of restaurant owners by the Canadian Shredded Wheat Company included the following question. "Are whole wheat foods of all types more popular with lady customers than five years ago?" The reply was an almost unanimous "YES" with the rider that while breakfast is still the big cereal eating meal, whole wheaten items are becoming increasingly popular at other meals, particularly tea.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER BOTH RECEIVE BENEFIT

Ontario Lady Speaks Enthusiastically About Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. N. Couneaye Used Them for Kidney Trouble and Sore Back.

Tweed, Ont., April 16.—(Special). —"I used your Dodd's Kidney Pills when my last baby was born," writes Mrs. Nelson Couneaye, a resident of this place. "I had a bad Kidney trouble and sore back. I could hardly turn in my bed without help. I took six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and they put me on my feet again. My daughter has also taken them for Kidney trouble and they have been a great help to her."

Dodd's Kidney Pills purify the blood, and pure blood carried to all parts of the body means new health and increased energy all over the body. Dodd's Kidney Pills are an excellent tonic, and now is the opportune time to take them. During the long, weary winter months the system becomes weakened and gets in a run-down condition. Dodd's Kidney Pills work with Nature by encouraging and assisting the kidneys—to cast out everything impure or diseased.

LEGION IS SEEKING MEMBERSHIP BOOST

Call Being Sent Out to Veterans of District by Campbellford Branch.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 16 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent) — The boys of the Old Brigade are standing shoulder to shoulder. Through the great nation-wide organization of the Canadian Legion the wounded, the tubercular, the blind, the distressed, are helped by their more fortunate brothers. The old spirit of the fighting force in France, of giving the "other fellow" a "leg up," clings to the Legion with all the memories and pathos of the war years. A great deal of money has been raised by this organization and the good it has done cannot be estimated. The faithfulness and self-sacrifice, that is the corner stone of its foundation, should make some of the rest of us hang our heads in shame when we consider our indifference.

It is not the spirit of the waving flag, or the giddy shouting of the fervent recruiting officer, that makes the Legion such a force in Canada to-day, but loyalty, brotherhood and sympathy.

It is natural to put the thought of war as far away from us as possible, but we must not disregard the consequences. Our children will be paying off the huge war debt long after we are gone but right now there is a humanitarian debt that we alone can discharge. The wreckage cast up by the storm must be conserved, brought back to usefulness and mortality.

The Canadian Legion knows the very heart and soul of the pensioners and the hospital cases. It is more able to help than anyone. The veterans who have not identified themselves with the Legion are shirking. It is a hard word to use because it has significance to an ex-soldier. But when he has memories of 1914-18 always with him, surely he can help his conscience by doing a little to alleviate the suffering of those who were not so fortunate.

The Campbellford Branch No. 103 is sending out the "Fall In." Every veteran in the town and district will be conscious of what this appeal means to him and to his former comrades in arms.

NOTED EVANGELIST IN CAMPBELLFORD

Rev. J. W. Wright Had Interesting Career as Detective Preacher, Federal Officer.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 16 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent) — Detective, preacher, United States Federal officer, missionary and printer, such is the record of the Rev. J. W. Wright, who is conducting a series of evangelistic services in the Free Methodist Church at Campbellford.

Mr. Wright was for many years a United States Federal officer under the Department of the Interior during which time he travelled extensively through America. Later he was a private detective on the west coast, working between British Columbia and the Southern States. He also operated a printing office in the city of Vancouver.

As a missionary he served in the Canadian North West Territory where he did good work and had many thrilling experiences, especially in the lumbering camps. For two years he held the office of justice of the peace.

Mr. Wright comes of old Ontario stock, his grandfather, the late John Bacon being born near Madoc in 1839. At the age of fifteen Mr. Bacon was converted to the Methodist persuasion and for the rest of his life was a travelling preacher through the countryside, walking with his message from place to place.

The evangelistic spirit has been handed down from father to grandson and Mr. Wright is now coming back to the old family preaching ground with the same message his father proclaimed. He is conducting services in the Campbellford church at the present time, which will terminate on May 3.

Toll rights at a crossing over a river at Burrowbridge, England, were recently sold at auction.

ENO'S FRUIT SALT

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, April 16. — Inactivity continued on the local butter market yesterday, brokers finding difficulty in moving supplies at any price. Buyers were just not buying, and quotations by brokers were made on an asking basis only. Prices quoted for creamery solids were ¼c to ½c lower than asked on Tuesday, and 1c to ¼c lower for the week. Brokers were endeavoring to make sales at 31c for No. 1 and 30c to 30¼c for No. 2, the latter grade being fairly scarce, and therefore not subject to the decrease in effect on the better grade. There was not any market, and it was the opinion of many that trade could not be stimulated by a sudden reduction in prices, but that trade would gradually improve as supplies dwindled and had to be replaced.

Cream

The quotation to country shippers for cream was unchanged from last week's advance to 33c for special, 32c for No. 1, and 29c for No. 2, f.o.b. country points, but with the butter market on the low ebb these prices will likely be lowered within a week.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, April 16.—Prices on the produce and dairy market continued their downward trend here yesterday and butter, cheese and egg quotations were lower while potato prices remained unchanged.

Fresh No. 1 finest butter declined ½c to ¾c at 29½c to 30c a pound and regraded No. 1 finest lost 1c at 30c a pound. To retailers, solids and prints were shaded a cent at 32c to 33c and 33c to 34c a pound respectively. Receipts were 844 boxes.

Ontario colored cheese was ½c lower at 11¼c to 11½c a pound and receipts were 36 boxes.

On the egg market Ontario and prairie fresh extras, in cartons, were off a cent at 23c to 24c, while firsts were unchanged at 21c to 22c and seconds declined a cent at 18c to 19c a dozen. Carlot prices of British Columbia fresh extras were down 1c at 23½c to to 25c. Firsts were unchanged at 21½c to 23c and seconds lost a cent at 13½c to 20c a dozen. Quotations to retailers were unchanged. Receipts were 1,487 cases.

New Brunswick Green Mountain potatoes, in carlots, were quoted at 90c per 80-lb. bag and to retailers $1 per 80-lb. bag.

CHICAGO BUTTER

CHICAGO, Ill., April 16 (C.P.) — The lowest levels reached in the history of the exchange at this time of year on future deliveries of butter were registered at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange yesterday. November storage standards fell to 26¾c cents a pound, ¼ cent under the previous record low of 27 cents made last Fall.

June butter dropped to 24¾ cents or ½ cent under the record made several years ago.

Increasing production during the period when withdrawals from storage ordinarily are heavy brought on selling and the market lacked support. The principal storage cities reported a movement of butter to storage now, instead of the normal withdrawals.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, April 16.—Despite low-price records in stocks, wheat rose buoyantly yesterday to a new high-price record for the season, 66 1-8c a bushel, December delivery. Huge purchases of North American breadstuffs for transatlantic shipment, more than 2,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat in particular, were largely responsible, with reports that Europeans had missed their best opportunities, that overseas home-grown supplies were becoming exhausted, and that new-crop prospects were unsatisfactory. As a result, however, of heavy profit-taking sales, late reactions from top prices ensued.

Wheat closed nervous, unchanged to 1 1-4c higher; corn, a shade to 3-8c up; oats, unchanged to 1-4c advance, and provisions, 10c to 15c down.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, April 16. — Excellent overnight export business, braced by strong foreign cables, gave wheat prices a boost in the wheat pit here yesterday, and values at the close were 1¼c to 2c higher than Tuesday's closing level.

May wheat closed at 62¼c, and July finished at 63½c to 63⅝c each for a gain of an even 2c, while the October future climbed 1⅛c to close at 65¼c.

Pit trade for the greater part of the morning was fairly active. Inter-market spreading operations were not a factor.

Overnight export sales were reported in the neighborhood of two million bushels.

Most grades of cash wheat were in demand at the unchanged spreads. Coarse grain trading was routine, with values holding in sympathy with wheat.

LAKEFIELD, April 16.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The married members of the A.Y.P.A. entertained the single members at a very jolly court whist party on Monday night.

Owing to a number of counter attractions the number present was not as large as was hoped for but nevertheless a very pleasant time was spent. But a curious co-incidence the prizes were won by married people while the single people won the consolation prizes. Mrs. Earnshaw and Mr. M. Hampton won the first prizes and Miss B. Riel and T. Simpson won the consolation prizes.

So well planned was the affair and so well kept was the secret that Mr. and Mrs. Stabler never guessed that anything was arranged till the guests arrived. The evening was spent in cards and dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Stabler (nee Mrytle Fitzgerald) were married in the old Methodist church on the afternon of April 11, 1906.

SUNDAY SCHOOL OFFICIALS MEET

Millbrook Executive Decides Sessions Will be Held in Morning From May 17 to Fall.

AT SAINT ANDREW'S

MILLBROOK, April 16 (Examiner Correspondence)—The regular quarterly meeting of the Sunday School executive of Saint Andrew's United Church was held on Tuesday evening, the superintendent, W. Fred Fallis taking the chair, and the pastor, Rev. W. W. Jones, B.D., leading in the opening prayer.

Business receiving attention included the decision to use the official program for the Mother's Day Sunday, May 10, omitting the suggested pageant and having the pastor preach a sermon instead.

On motion it was decided to hold a joint service of the Sunday School and the congregation on May 10, the school sessions to be at 10 a.m., the Sunday following and continuing until fall. The Mothers' Day service will be at 10.30 a.m., with the school occupying the centre pews of the church.

A number of accounts were ordered paid, included with these being the expense involved in the enlargement and raising of the platform in the Sunday School auditorium, a work which has been accomplished through the volunteer labor of T. Douglas, Wes. Williamson, and J. H. George. The hardwood floor which is to finish the platform will be laid within the next two weeks, according to report made by Mr. George at Tuesday's meeting.

Since the renovation of the basement last fall the pictures remain unhung, and it is expected that this task will also be finished in the immediate future.

In the absence of the secretary, Oliver Brock, the treasurer, W. G. Hetherington, acted in that capacity and also made report on the funds in the treasury, with the immediate claims upon these for settlement.

The matter of a new library for the school was not brought up at Tuesday's meeting, though it is recognized that this is a need for consideration within a reasonable time. An exchange of books with some other school may possibly be effected as has been done on previous occasions, but as yet no definite steps have been taken in that direction.

The meeting was dismissed with prayer by Rev. Mr. Jones.

Slides Are Shown At Young People's League

CAMPBELLFORD, April 16 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent) — The weekly meeting of the St. John's Young People's League, held on Monday evening in the Sunday School room, was featured by the topic, "India" being illustrated by eighty-four beautifully colored slides. The subject of which was "The Village Folks of India," the pastor, the Rev. R. C. Tait giving an interesting talk describing each slide.

The meeting was arranged by the missionary convenor, Miss Florence Bibby, the proceedings being directed by Miss Reta Palliser, in the absence of the president. Part of the program included a piano solo by Miss Nita Tucker.

Mrs. Harriet E. Raphael, of Heddon, England, directed in her will that her body should be cremated and the ashes buried at the head of the grave, in Flanders, of her son, who laid down his life for his country in the World war.

WOMEN GLASS BLOWERS

LONDON, April 16.—(C.P.).—Hundreds of women in London are blowing for a living. They earn good money, too. They are employed "blowing" glass and shaping it into thermometers, scientific, surgical and chemical apparatus, valves for wireless, and other forms of glass ware. A woman who possesses fine judgment and can use her lung pressure skilfully to blow through a melting tube of glass and convert a "bulge" into a beautiful cylinder of the right dimensions can earn $15 a week. In one London workshop alone there are 80 young women employed "blowing" thermometers. Plenty of girls apply for the work, but only a small percentage prove suitable after a trial for training to become expert "glass-blowers."

"A little goes so far!" says Mrs. Rose Henrici

"No more scrubbing, no more red hands for me on washday! I use Rinso now. With Rinso I get whiter, brighter clothes than ever—just by soaking! Easier on the clothes—and on me. And what a saving!—a little Rinso goes so far, even in the hard water we have here. Its suds are creamy and lasting. No need for a softener now! I use Rinso for dishes and for cleaning all through the house."

MRS. ROSE HENRICI

Safe—and so economical!

Rinso is safe for the finest cottons and linens. It keeps colours from being scrubbed out. Economical, too—gives twice as much suds, cup for cup, as lightweight, puffed-up soaps. No softener needed.

Like magic in washers, too! The makers of 39 famous washers recommend Rinso. Get the BIG package. Try Rinso for dishes, for all cleaning.

Avoid the Dangers of RANCID OIL in STALE COFFEE

Indigestion, Headaches, Sleeplessness now traced directly to this RANCID OIL

Use coffee you know is safe . . . Chase & Sanborn's is guaranteed fresh when you get it . . . every tin dated SURPRISED to find that there's oil in coffee? There is . . . approximately a half cup in every pound. But it's only in stale coffee that this oil is dangerous!

When coffee is fresh, this oil is as fresh and fragrant as sweet butter. But when it gets stale, the oil turns rancid, spoils, just as butter does! Then it causes indigestion, headaches, sleeplessness.

To avoid this danger you must be certain the coffee you drink is fresh!

Chase & Sanborn's protects you. It's guaranteed fresh when you get it.

Rushed to your grocer, straight from the roasters, every tin dated the day the grocer receives it. If there's any unsold at the end of ten days our inspectors remove it, replace it with fresh. The date is your positive evidence that it is fresh!

THIS PHOTOGRAPH was taken in a Canadian grocery store where the photographer bought high-priced coffee more than eighteen months old. His affidavit is on file.

FRESH COFFEE is the most delicious and reviving of drinks . . . a mild, wholesome stimulant provided by nature to make life seem brighter and better. But, science warns you, be sure the coffee you drink is fresh! Insist on Chase & Sanborn's . . . It's guaranteed fresh!

Little silver specimen vases held rose and pink stocks and clarkia in delicate sprigs of bloom and the three spring colors of pink, yellow and green that predominated throughout were carried out in the mints of three colors and the lighted candles that were in silver candelabra at either end, with delicate crystal prisms pendant from their triple branches.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

I wonder how many of you housewives keep accounts and have one called the "petty cash" account?

• • • • • • •

If you do then you will know just how quickly the money allowed for this account soon dwindles. Every person who keeps track at all of his expenses knows that money fritters away in small sums until a goodly amount disappears without anything of value to show for it.

• • • • • • •

Homemakers, of course, have numerous avenues for such small expenditures. This being so, means that there are as many ways of saving trifling sums, although this may not have occurred to you.

• • • • • • •

It is so easy to leave the radio running just a little while after one is through listening to some special program. You leave the room and fail to return to shut it off for a little while.

• • • • • • •

No one is getting any good from the program. Then too, it sometimes happens that the sound is shut off without the electric current being shut off.

• • • • • • •

The electricity in each instance is being wasted. You may wonder why the electric bill is a bit higher when the month's bill comes in. Enjoy your radio, of course, but don't let the current be wasted.

• • • • • • •

And even if you have a battery radio, remember that it does cost money to have the battery charged.

• • • • • • •

In many homes electric lights are allowed to burn for hours without being of use to anyone. Save money by turning the lights off when no one is in a room.

• • • • • • •

Overdue fines on library books may seem mere trifles at the time. But they can mount up in the course of a year, if one is careless. One One day overdue fines are scarcely worth considering, but even they, if frequent, count up in the long run.

• • • • • • •

Unless one gets the habit of prompt returning of books, the time when they are overdue grows from one day to many.

• • • • • • •

One woman recently thought of a library book which she had had for a long time and she actually gasped when the amount totalled showed up to fifty-six cents.

• • • • • • •

She realized that she had finished retading the volume several days before she took it back. So this woman not only wasted a good part of this sum, but also kept the book out of circulation.

PRODUCTS FOR BEAUTY

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Alice Michaelis

JUST SUCH TRIFLES

Merest trifles may have potent parts to play,
Light as petals windward drifting.
Yet with sovereign forces lifting.
Little things may lend glad meaning to the day.

Joy may come from some one passing on your road;
Just a fancy, just a folly,
Still may rout old Melancholy,
And give strength that you will need for any load.

Then in turn, in spreading blisses you may share;
It may not seem worth the trouble,
But there's beauty in a bubble;
Send your words of promise speeding on the air.

You can help make someone cheery
all day long.
Bright with hope, perhaps, your speech is,
And who knows how far it reaches?
Just such trifles make life's journey sweet as song.

JELLIED HORSE-RADISH

1 cup horse-radish
½ cup apple vinegar
Green coloring, if desired
3½ cups sugar
½ cup pectin.

Combine horse-radish and vinegar, and add enough coloring to give tint desired. Add sugar, stir, and bring to a boil. At once add pectin, stirring constantly, and bring again to a full rolling boil and boil ½ minute. Remove from fire; let stand 1 minute, skim, and pour quickly. Cover hot jelly with film of hot paraffin; when jelly is cold, cover with 1-8 inch of hot paraffin. Roll glass to spread paraffin on sides. If lemon juice is used instead of vinegar, use 1½ cups water and strained juice of 2 lemons. Makes 4 to 5 eight-ounce glases.

DRAPERIES MADE NEW

"When we resumed housekeeping a month ago I found my draperies had become creased from packing. I hung them out on the line, hoping to remove the creases. Then I forgot them. The result was they became badly faded and sun-spotted.

"I was heartsick until the happy thought struck me to dye them. I just dyed them a deeper green, and as I used Diamond Dyes they look gorgeous and new. I have never seen easier dyes to use than Diamond Dyes. They give the most beautiful colors—when used either for tinting or dyeing—and never take the life out of cloth as other dyes do."

OUR MAIL

Dear Anne:

I have never sent a line to your page before, but I have much enjoyed your talks and especially the one on smocking. The directions were so clear that I had no trouble and it does make a sweet trimming for children's frocks.

I have so enjoyed the letters from the neighbours and Quid Est has such splendid common sense ideas that I eagerly look for her letters.

I was wondering, Anne, if some one of the neighbours or anyone could tell me where I could get wool carded into rolls? It is rather an antiquated request in these late days but I learned to spin when I was a girl and I thought I would like to try it again.

Wishing you every encouragement in your work,

Yours sincerely,

JANE.

Welcome to our page, "Jane", and I am so glad that you enjoy our page. Yes, the letters from the neighbours are interesting but just now they seem to be scarce, don't they. Perhaps we will be getting more when household tasks become less as the season progresses. I do not know where you can get the wool carded but perhaps some of the neighbours will be able to help you out.

REDEMPTIVE HOMES RESTORE MANY GIRLS

Annual Reports Show Success in the Institutions in Various Cities.

TORONTO, Ont., April 16.—(By the Canadian Press)—Superintendents of seven redemptive homes in Canada in their annual reports to the Board of Evangelism and Social Service of the United Church report progress in the mission of mercy and rescue in the various institutions. The havens are located as follows: Maritime Home for Girls, Truro, N.S., Interprovincial Home for Young Women, Moncton, N.B.; Bethany House, Montreal, Que.; Cedarvale School for Girls, Georgetown, Ont.; United Church Home, Winnipeg, Man.; Mountview Home, Calgary, Alta. and United Church Home, Vancouver, B.C. The Truro and Moncton havens are cared for co-operatively by the Anglican, Baptist and United communions, while the other five are under United Church auspices. To round out the service by opening a similar institution in the province of Saskatchewan is a proposal coming before the Board.

There were 171 inmates of these homes when 1930 opened and 160 girls and young women were admitted during the year. The averzge age was 16 and 61 of the cases were of delinquents under 16 years of age. Of the total received, 84 were neglected children, indicating the broken home as a large factor. In the year, 68 were restored to their parents and 61 sent to safe positions. The number making profession of Christian faith while in the homes last year was 27.

The Gospel Mission, St. John's, Newfoundland; the Earlscourt Childrens Home, Toronto; the Farm Centre for Boys, Fullarton, Ont.; the social service worker at Toronto; the McLean-Malpas Memorial Institute, Thorold, Ont.; the care of Armenian orphans in Ontario and now the Ida Grafton Gage Home for Ladies in Toronto complete "a remarkably varied and gracious ministry," the report says.

Looking For Helium In Trinidad Island

"Largest Oil Producer in British Empire" Now Engaging in Hunt for Helium Gas.

PORT-OF-SPAIN, Trinidad, B.W.I., April 16.—(By the Canadian Press)—Does helium gas exist in Trinidad? This is a question of exceptional interest to the people of the Island, and the findings of the Government analyst are being watched very anxiously, as if helium gas is found in Trinidad it will mean a great aid for the Colony in its present industrial depression and Trinidad will have another distinction to add to that of being the "largest oil producer in the British Empire."

Experiments have been started on a Trinidad oilfield by an investigator whose work along these lines previously inspired the hope of obtaining the gas in appreciable quantities. At the same time it is understood that the Mines Department is directing a series of tests. The search for this commercial product which all aviation countries are on the look out for has previously engaged the attention of the Trinidad Government. Certain analyses for this gas were made some time ago, but did prove a success.

The R-101 disaster has called attention to the need of finding sources of helium supply within the Empire, although the United States has since relaxed its restrictions on the export of this gas. Helium not being inflammable, its use in airships removes the risk of explosion which is a real one in some cases of emergency, although under normal conditions it may be negligible.

LINDSAY, Ont., April 16 (Special to The Examiner).—This morning at 3.30 o'clock, fire, supposed to be caused by spontaneous combustion, completely destroyed the stable on the property of W. E. Baker, Wellington street. Besides the barn a number of miscellaneous articles of value were also burned. The loss is placed at $1,500.

TELLS OF OUR ADVANTAGES

It should receive the support of every citizen who wants a more prosperous community.

OVERPRODUCTION IS NOT UNIFORM

since 1926-27 when they were estimated at the beginning of the season as 257,000,000 bushels. The estimate for this year is 535,000,000 bushels of which Canada on August 1, will hold 128,000,000 bushels. Some indication of how the surplus of wheat or the inability of the world to buy wheat affects the Dominion is furnished in the export figures for Canada 1929-1930 which show that while the Dominion exported $215,753,475 worth of wheat up to the end of March, 1930, this sum was $312,770,851 less than the value of exports in 1929.

On the other hand world supplies and stocks of cut pulpwood are stated to be no more than normal. The United States which consumes the bulk of Canadian production, has lately clapped a virtual embargo on shipments from Russia, considered the great menace to Canadian trade in this commodity. Pulpwood experts from the Dominion for 1930 showed a falling off but not nearly so serious as the drop in wheat. The exports for 1930 were estimated as being worth $13,860,209 which was $326,891 less than in 1929.

The world's production of silver for the past three years has averaged around 250,000,000 ounces during which time the price has fallen from about 60 to 25 cents. Those interested in silver in the United States claim this reduction in price, which has greatly restricted the purchasing power of China, countries in South America, and other nations on a silver standard," is owing to the threat of dumping by the British government for India since the rupee was pegged to gold in 1926. However, some economists dispute this. Exports of silver from the Dominion dropped $393,073 in 1930 to a total value of $11,569,855.

As to the copper, the figure for 1930 shows a falling off in world production amounting to 350,000 short tons as compared with 1929. Consumption for the United States shows a decided drop. The visible supply of non-ferrous mineral raw material is at present in excess of current requirements. Nickel, however, is stronger. Canadian exports of copper were up last year in value by almost $11,000,000 reaching a total of $37,735,413. Nickel exports which totalled $25,034,975 were up $1,154,483 although the quantity of exports decreased by 18,000 hundred weight.

Cattle Increasing

Statistics for the cattlemen of Canada are not particularly encouraging. It is noted that in six of the eight major producing countries cattle numbers are on the increase, the peak of production being expected early in 1932. The number of cattle exported from Canada last year was about $3,000,000 which represented a decrease as compared with the previous year of 1,500 and a loss in revenue of $1,500,000. Reduced consumption in the United States and Europe attributable to economic conditions is given as a reason for the present low price of beef cattle.

World production of cattle hides as reflected in figures for the United States, Argentina, and Uruquay, which furnish one-fifth of the world supply, dropped almost 30 per cent since 1925, while the United States consumption of hides has risen from 21 per cent of the world production to 23.6 per cent in 1930. Nevertheless, while Canada exported 66,984 more hides in 1930 than in 1929 exporters took a loss of $1,748,777 as compared to the amount they received for fewer hides in 1929.

40 Voices Make Up Male Voice Choir

The conbert to be given in the Collegiate Auditorium on Friday, April 24; under the auspices of the Peterborough Male Voice Choir promises to be of outstanding merit. The choir consists of more than 40 voices and some choice musical numbers will be given.

Mr. Thomas Phillips, the conductor, has spent much time in the training of his choristers and the presence of several well-known local artists on the program will add greatly to its attractiveness.

There should be a full house on April 24, especially considering that the entire proceeds are to go to the local Unemployment Relief Funds.

One Opera Requires Three Prima Donnas

"Don Giovanni" is Hard to Cast in Consequence But Carl Rosa Singers Triumph.

LONDON, April 14.—(By the Canadian Press.)—"The Carl Rosa season of opera goes from height to height," says a writer in The News-Chronicle who frequently contributes to that paper on local events in music. He refers to the Carl Rosa Opera Company's recent production of "The Twilight of the Gods" as a remarkable success, and says "a quite extraordinary peak of perfection was attained in the performance of 'Don Giovanni'," which was given subsequently.

With reference to "Don Giovanni" the writer says:

"This opera is awkward to cast, for it requires three prima donnas, but the difficulties were triumphantly overcome, and, frankly, it was difficult to say which of the three—Miss Nellie Palliser as Donna Elvira, Miss Mabel Baker as Donna Anna, or Miss Audrey Mildmay, the Zerlina—was the best. Their voices are all delightfully fresh, they act well, and Miss Mildmay was deliciously flirtsome. Leyland White made a gallant figure of the Don, and sang as well as he made love, and Leporello— Ronald Stear—was cleverly comic without overdoing the part.

"Arthur Hammond conducted, and once again impressed greatly. He obtains his effects without impressing his own personality."

HAD SIMPLE ORIGIN

MONTREAL, Que., April 16.—(By The Canadian Press).—The well-known suffrage leader, Mrs. John Scot, aged 76, was recently interviewed by the Gazette. Asked what made her first think of suffrage and women's rights, she said, "a very simple incident. One day I left the house with my husband and children, and when we got as far as the garden gate he looked at me and said, 'I have forgotten my clean handkerchief.' I started to go back to the house for the handkerchief, and it came to me in a flash, why could he not go for it himself and I said, 'You'll find it in your drawer,' and after looking rather stupefied he went back and got it himself. Fifty years ago," continued Mrs. Scott, "it was almost an unheard-of-thing for a woman to speak in public or to take charge of a public meeting and the men were very antagonistic about it."

LABOR MINISTRY TO GET SUPPORT OF THE RADICALS

British Government is Believed Able to Get Majority on Vote.

VOTE COMES TO-NIGHT.

Lord Privy Seal Will Defend Government's Record in the Debate.

LONDON, April 16 (C.P. Cable). — The Labor Party was confident today as members flocked to the House of Commons for debate on the Conservative motion of censure which will end in a division to-night. Undoubtedly the vote will be close, but the Labor Party's semi-official organ, The Daily Herald, asserted that the Government would have a majority of between 10 and 20.

Since the motion of censure based on the Government's record in the matter of remedying unemployment, was first introduced by Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, there has been a growing belief that the Government would be sustained by a slight majority. The division, however, ranks as perhaps the most important since Labor came into power almost two years ago, for defeat would be followed either by the Government's resignation, or dissolution and a new election.

The members of the Independent Labor Party, Labor's left wing, met last night and decided to support the Government. This decision was made, it was stated, on the ground that a Conservative Government would be even worse than the Labor Government insofar as remedying unemployment is concerned. This attitude apparently coincides with that of the bulk of Liberals, who have continued to support the Government more in fear of the return of the Conservatives to power than out of love for Labor.

Liberals also met last night and it is understood the general feeling was that the members should record their opinions one way or another in to-night's division, and not merely abstain from voting.

And as the Conservatives assail the Government's record and policies, the chief burden of defence will rest on the shoulders of Rt. Hon. Thomas Johnston, Lord Privy Seal and unofficial Minister for Employment. Mr. Johnston has been in office only a few weeks, but is closely in touch with the unemployment situation having been in the Ministry as Under-Secretary for Scotland since the elections. Mr. Johnston was one of the signers of the famous Mosley memorandum—the drastic proposals for relief of unemployment drawn up by Sir Oswald Mosley last year. The Government's failure to adopt these proposals led to the resignation of Sir Oswald as Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster in the Labor Cabinet.

Mr. Johnston's speech will decide the attitude of the Liberals. The Government some time ago expressed agreement with Liberal plans for unemployment relief, and if the Lord Privy Seal indicates to-night that concrete action towards carrying them out is under way, then the government it assured of a good victory.

Meanwhile the government's town planning bill, under which the government and interested industries will probably spend many millions of dollars for preservation of the English countryside and creation of garden cities, has received second reading in the House of Commons. The abolition of modern blots on the beautiful old landscapes would create a great deal of work and the government expects the building alone will contribute two billion dollars over a period of years.

KINGSTON, Ont., April 16 (Special to The Examiner).—Late last night Mrs. Stringer, wife of Bishop Stringer of the Diocese of the Yukon, received a message from her husband while she was at an executive meeting of the Dominion Women's Auxiliary of the Anglican Church, that he had been appointed Archbishop of Rupert's Land, in succession to His Grace Archbishop Mathewson, at a meeting in St. George's Hall. Bishop Seager made the announcement. It was heartily received and Mrs. Stringer was the recipient of warm congratulations.

HOLSTEIN BREEDERS RE-ELECTED CARMAN SEYMOUR AS PRESIDENT

Harry I. Seymour Appointed Field Man For Eastern Ontario.

OPTIMISM EXPRESSED.

Carman Seymour of Cavan township was re-elected President of the Peterborough branch of the Holstein Breeders' Association at the annual meeting last night in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

That was not the only interesting incident of the meeting relating to the Seymour family. It was announced by R. B. Faith of Brantford, director of extension for the Canadian Holstein Breeders' Association, that Harry I. Seymour, also of Cavan, has been appointed a field man for the Association and will begin his duties next week, having been allotted the territory of Eastern Ontario. He is a third year student at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

Harry I. Seymour and Carman Seymour, are sons of Mr. and Mrs. James Seymour of Ida, Cavan township. The family has been long prominent among the Holstein cattle breeders of this province.

Last night's meeting was quite largely attended, at least thirty members of the local association being present. This year's officers were elected as follows:

President—Carman Seymour.
Vice-Pres.—W. A. Anderson.
Sec.-Treas.—Chas. E. Moore.
Sales Agent—W. A. Anderson.
Directors—For Smith, Joseph Mann and Edward Bulmer; Harvey, Archie Wilson; North Monaghan, Gordon McIntosh; Otonabee, James Matchett, Samuel Comrie, Fred Fife and Joseph Tully.
Douro—Elwood Dunford and James Sweeney.
Belmont—John Pollock and D. Moloney.
Asphodel— Gordon Girven, G. A. Brethen and John Mark.
Dummer—E. N. McDonald.
Ennismore—W. J. Scollard.

Mr. Nelson's Appeal

J. B. Nelson, district representative of the Department of Agriculture, outlined the improvement work that had been done among the cattle of the county during the year. Holstein breeders own one-third of the cattle in the county, also the greatest number of accredited herds and the greatest number of pure bred herds.

"You are outnumbered only by the breeders of Shorthorns," Mr. Nelson said. "Up to the present, William Knox has placed fifty registered bulls, more than thirty of them being in herds that previously had no bulls, or animals of inferior quality. We may look forward to the day when 80 per cent of the bulls in the county will be registered. With the progress we have made in the last year we may attain that state possibly in another year. Then the county council has authority to pass a by-law under which no person can buy or sell a bull that is not registered. The destiny for the unregistered would be the butcher."

As an aid to the Department's effort to improve the cattle stock in this county, Mr. Nelson urged the breeders not to sell a bull that is not registered. "Issue a pedigree with every bull you sell," he advised. "Also do a little missionary work for the cause whenever you can. If a man is thinking of buying a low grade bull, persuade him to buy a good one. If you know a man with a low grade bull, try to get him to replace it with a better one."

Mr. Nelson made the statement that the cattle in Peterborough County were not as good as they were forty years ago. He believed the sellers of bulls were to blame.

Mr. Faith's Optimism

Mr. Faith told his Peterborough audience that their meeting was the best he had attended in eastern Ontario. Meetings generally this year have been better attended than in 1930, indicating the trend of increasing interest by the breeders of Holsteins. Mr. Faith said he saw many signs of the passing of the period of depression that has been holding up the country and the world. He agreed with Babson, who had given the opinion a short time ago that agriculture had been the first to suffer from the slump, but it would be the first to come back.

The prices paid for Holstein cattle were an evidence of the intrinsic strength of the dairy industry and the breeders of dairy cattle. The average price at a recent Holstein sale at Guelph was $162, and at another western Ontario sale the average price was $143.

Mr. Faith touched upon the export business in Holsteins to the United States and other foreign countries. One recent enquiry was from Japan for Russian prospects.

"Our home market will always be our best. It and the demand from the eastern States, but we value the foreign trade so highly that we have asked for a livestock trade commissioner. If the Federal Government makes that appointment, it will be the first of its kind made by any government in the world. And why shouldn't we take the lead? The manufacturers have trade commissioners here and there around the world; why shouldn't our industry have a livestock trade commissioner?"

Free Transportation

Expressing the belief that the worst of the depression had passed in the west, and also that the east had heard only the darker side from the Prairie Provinces, Mr. Faith stated that the Federal Government was going to bring in a policy of free rates on cattle for the west. The Government would assume the transportation charges as a means of assisting farmers who were going into the dairy business, especially in the districts around the larger cities such as Regina, Saskatoon, Winnipeg and others.

To Grade Herds

Mr. Faith concluded his address with a detailed exposition of the increasing necessity and value of R.O.P. work and selective registration. The day was here now when graded herds were a necessary development by the alert and progressive breeders. His returns showed that there was not one graded herd for selective registration in Peterborough County.

In this district the Victoria County breeders are making a beginning next week, and a grader is to be sent to Lindsay. An arrangement was made last night for local grading following the Lindsay work, and a list was made up at the meeting of farmers who desire the classification of their herds.

It was also decided that William A. Anderson, who was appointed sales agent for the county association, shall receive the fee stipulated by the Canadian Association. This fee is five per cent, with one per cent going to the Canadian association for extension work.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

A GENERAL DIET FOR EVERYBODY.

In these days when you are reading the opinions of various food experts you may wonder just how much to accept as correct and what to disregard.

Because a certain food is rich in heat units before it enters the body, doesn't mean that the body is able to use all these calories or heat units.

I am not referring to the loss of valuable food materials in cooking, where in some cases valuable mineral salts are lost because the water in which the food is cooked is thrown away. I am referring to the fact that, peas and beans for instance, rich as they are in protein, do not give as large a proportion of this protein to the body as does meat.

There are other foods, which are seemingly good foods that actually pass through the body unchanged; give up no heat units whatever.

Now there are some individuals eating too much meat because they do no work whatever; others who would be wise to eat a good helping of meat, or eggs, or peas or beans everyday even although they do no hard work, because their particular system needs more protein.

Similarly with raw foods everyday for the average individual is wise. Raw food as a complete diet for the average individual has proven to be unwise.

There is no question but that the excessive use of salt lessens the amount of lime in the blood, and lime is necessary for every cell in the body. On the other hand it would be a mistake to try and use a diet free of salt. Salt is also necessary to every call in the body.

What then should be our general rule about foods; a rule that will give us not only what we need, but what we like. Prof. C. von Noorden, Vienna, Europe's outstanding expert on food and nutrition tells us that what must be watched for carefully, is that the body gets enough mineral salts and vitamins daily.

Does he outline a long list of the foods we should eat or avoid?

No.

He says that we should be sure to eat daily, fruit, fresh vegetables, and leafy salads—along with meat and potatoes.

This is surely simple enough for us all to grasp; continue to eat our regular meat and poatoes as usual, but to be just as careful to eat fruit, vegetables, and leafy salads.

GROWING DAYS OF GLADIOLUS

Depends Largely on Size of Bulb, Condition Soil and Amount of Sunshine.

DIFFERENT VARIETIES.

Just about this time of the year when all of the dyed in the wool flower fanciers are beginning to have a touch of what is commonly known as 'Gladiolus fever' and are utilizing all of their spare moments in either getting the planting season started or else adding to their store of knowledge on horticulture, it might be timely to publish a list of the names of the numerous varieties of 'Glads' and the number of days which elapse before the flowers bloom. This information would certainly be valuable to the flower grower who intends to exhibit some of his blooms at any of the Horticultural shows which will be held during late mid-summer.

The number of growing days for any type of gladiolus depends a great deal on the size of the bulb, the condition of the soil and the amount of sunshine which is received during the growing period but for the majority of cases the following list will be found very reliable. The planter will do well to remember that undersized bulbs should be given a week or ten days longer than full sized ones before full bloom can be expected.

At the meeting last night of the C.G.E. Horticultural Society it was suggested that a complete list of the growing days for Gladiolus be published for the express purpose of assisting the members of that organization in selecting the varieties of flowers which if planted soon would be in full bloom at the time of the C.G.E. Flower Show, and the list which begins to-night will be run in instalments until completed. This index has been compiled for this latitude and all flower growers should clip it for reference purposes:

12-YEAR-OLD EXPLORER

Hartley de Gerald, 12-year-old son of president of People's National Bank, Chicago, who plans a trip to the mouth of the Mackenzie river this summer, armed only with a camera and diary. Last year the youngster completed a 7,000-mile exploration trip of the West Indies.

A BEDTIME STORY

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S WHISKERS

"Too long! Too long!" said Uncle Wiggily one day as he sat on a cracker in his hollow stump bungalow. "Quite too long!"

"Do you mean you have been sitting on that cracker too long?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy with a little smile as she looked at the rabbit uncle.

"Oh, am I sitting on a cracker?" asked Mr. Longears in surprise. "I thought I felt something queer!"

"Of course you are sitting on a cracker!" squeaked Nurse Jane, and, surely enough, he was. Only, of course, Uncle Wiggily was also sitting on a chair which held the cracker as well as himself.

"How did the cracker get in my easy chair?" asked the rabbit gentleman as he picked up the crumbs and threw them out for the birds. For when Uncle Wiggily sat on the cracker he crushed it into little pieces, as he was quite a heavy rabbit.

"Baby Bunty must have put the cracker in your chair," said Nurse Jane. "I saw her eating it just before she got ready for school and I suppose when she saw the other children hurrying, so the Lady Mouse Teacher would not mark them late, Baby Bunty hopped fast and dropped her cracker on the first chair she saw, which happened to be yours."

"I suppose so," Uncle Wiggily answered. Then he said again: "Too long! Much too long!"

"Now see here!" exclaimed the muskrat lady housekeeper pretending she was going to be cross (which she never was) with Uncle Wiggily. "See here, Mr. Wiggily, that's the second time you have said it was too long. You told me you didn't mean you have been sitting on Baby Bunty's cracker too long, so it must be something else."

"It is," said Uncle Wiggily, mysterious like and teasing.

"Do you mean the Bob Cat's tail?" asked Nurse Jane. "Is that getting too long?"

"No," Uncle Wiggily answered, "the Bob Cat's silly little tail will never get too long."

"Well, then," spoke Nurse Jane, "what is too long? Don't be so secret about it and mysterious. What is too long?"

"My whiskers!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily.

"Your whiskers!" cried Nurse Jane in surprise.

"Yes, they are much too long. I shall have to go up in the bathroom and shave before I go adventuring. Ah, me! Too long! Too long!"

"Well, of all things! My gracious goodness!" squeaked the muskrat lady. "To think of getting me all excited about something being too long and then to have it turn out to be only your whiskers— Ha! Ha!"

"I don't see anything funny to laugh at!" spoke Uncle Wiggily. "If they were your whiskers you wouldn't make fun of them."

"No," said Nurse Jane, who, being a muskrat lady, had whiskers, like your cat, "I suppose I wouldn't. I beg your pardon."

"That's all right," answered Uncle Wiggily. "I'll hop up to the bathroom now and take off some of my too long whiskers and then I'll go look for an adventure."

Uncle Wiggily, before he started to shave, mixed on a brush a nice, white, foamy lather of soap to spread on his whiskers to make them look like a frosted cake. He had his face well lathered and was just going to start making his whiskers shorter when, all of a sudden, he heard a noise at the bathroom window. Slowly it was pushed open and in jumped the Bob Cat with his silly little tail.

"Oh, so it's you, is it?" asked Uncle Wiggily, holding his brush of shaving soap lather in one paw.

"Yes, here I am!" mewed the Bob Cat. "I guess you didn't expect me, did you?"

"We were just talking about you, Nurse Jane and I," said Uncle Wiggily, which was true enough. "We were speaking of your silly little tail which will never grow any longer as my whiskers do."

"Don't talk about my tail!" snapped the Bob Cat who was much ashamed of it. "But you don't seem surprised to see me. I climbed up the old honeysuckle vine on the side of your bungalow and got in your window. So here I am!"

"And you are just in time!" said Uncle Wiggily suddenly.

"Just in time for what?" mewed the Bob Cat much surprised that the rabbit gentleman didn't seem afraid of him. "In time for what?"

"In time for this!" bravely cried Uncle Wiggily. With that he struck the brush, full of soapy whisker lather, right in the Bob Cat's face. And as the Bob Cat's mouth was open a lot of soap got inside. And soap was plastered in his eyes and over his nose and the Bob Cat mewed:

"Oh, dear! Oh dear! Oh, dear! I guess I am too much in time! I wish I hadn't come in!" And with that he jumped out of the window, all soap.

Mr. Longears finished shaving his whiskers and all was peace and happiness

DECEASED PRIEST

O'Leary of Bracebridge, as Deacons of Honor; the Rev. P. J. Galvin of Downeyville, as Deacon of the Mass, the Rev. J. McAuley of Ennismore, as sub-Deacon, and the Rev. J. Finn, as Master of Ceremonies.

Other priests who were present in the sanctuary and who accompanied the remains later to the cemetery, were Very Rev. Father Carr, Superior General of the Basilian Order, Toronto; Rev. Father Oliver, representing Rev. Father McCorkell, Superior of St. Michael's College, Toronto, Rev. Father Cline, parish priest of the Holy Name Church, Toronto, Rev. Father Lowery of Goderich, Rev. Nicholas Roche of Owen Sound, Rev. V. McFadden of Trout Creek, Rev. C. J. McCarney of Trout Creek, Rev. J. P. Power of Kearney, Rev. G. Maher of Huntsville, Rev. L. Cleary of Byng Inlet, Rev. P. Butler of Kinmount, Monsignor W. J. McColl of Lindsay, Rev. E. Welsh of Lindsay, Rev. C. Begley of Lindsay, Rev. J. P. Collins of Parry Sound, Rev. H. Black of Parry Sound, Rev. Father Bunyon of Callander, Rev. J. J. O'Brien and Rev. C. J. Maloney of the Church of the Sacred Heart, Rev. C. J. Carroll of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Rev. V. J. Corkery of St. Joseph's Hospital, Rev. J. J. Guiry of Port Hope, Dean Scanlon of Grafton, Rev. J. J. O'Sullivan of Wooler, Rev. J. B. Ferguson of Warkworth, Rev. Austin O'Brien of Toronto, Rev. P. J. Kelly of Hastings, Rev. J. McCarthy of Norwood, Monsignor Kelly of Cobourg, Rev. James McGuire of Cobourg, Rev. J. J. Garvey of Lakefield, Rev. K. Corkery, and Rev. Dr. J. B. Masterson, of St. Peter's Cathedral.

The Libera was chanted by Bishop O'Connor, who also spoke briefly but very eloquently.

"A great man is dead", quoted His Lordship, opening his final tribute to the memory of one of the oldest priests of the diocese of Peterborough.

Capable Pastor

"On Monday of this week, those words echoed through all the rectories and in thousands of the homes of the diocese, when the word went out: 'Father Peter McGuire is dead.' In his passing, the diocese of Peterborough has suffered a great loss. He leaves a void that will not be filled for many long years. We of the priesthood have lost a friend; you of the laity have lost a capable pastor, a kindly confessor, a wise counsellor.

"Many of the parishes of this diocese knew him. Ennismore knew him., and Keene. Downeyville and Hastings knew him, and the Cathedral and most of all, his beloved Muskoka. In him we have lost a veteran indefatigable missionary. No road was too rough no trail was too long for him in his quest for souls. We are the poorer for his passing.

"Before these funeral obsequies are concluded, I desire to express at his casket the thanks of the diocese of Peterborough for the work he did here, and this is not a word of belated thanks. He knew that his bishops, my predecessors, appreciated his labors, and he knew that I also appreciated them fully. I knew him late. You knew him for years.

"Visit him there in that City of the Dead. Pray for his soul. Now, his soul has gone to the House of Eternity. The long drawn day is ended and he has gone before his Master for his reward and also for his judgment. Pray that that judgment may be a lenient one and that his soul, if it be not already in heaven, may soon receive that reward for which he was created and which he merited by his pastoral work. Pray that his memory may remain green among you and that it may inspire you and all of us that abide in this diocese. May eternal rest be his and may perpetual peace shine upon him."

The big church was filled for the services this morning and the congregation numbered people from the city, the district and from other cities of the Dominion and the United States. Mayor Denne was present and many other friends of the departed priest.

Pall-bearers were six priests of the diocese: Rev. C. J. Carroll of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Rev. J. B. Ferguson of Warkworth, Rev. V. McFadden of Trout Creek, Rev. J. Power of Kearney, Rev. V. Corkery of St. Joseph's Hospital and Rev. J. J. O'Sullivan of Wooler.

Leafs Defeat Jersey City In Opening Game

12,000 FANS SEE TORONTO COP 9-5 WIN

Manager Toporcer Uses Fourteen Players in Effort to Stop Leafs.

LEAD ALL THE WAY.

"Curly" Ogden Shines in Relief Role as Smith Retires in Eighth.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., April 16. — Under ideal weather conditions and before a crowd estimated to be around twelve thousand, the Toronto Maple Leafs took all the joy out of a notable Jersey City baseball opening here yesterday afternoon by defeating George Toporcer's Skeeters 9 to 5 to start the International League campaign.

All the frills and formalaties usually observed on such occasions were employed here to start the Skeeters off right with new ownership, new manager and in many respects, a new team. The stage was all set for a gala day for Jersey City fandom who came prepared to cheer their favorites on to victory. But the Maple Leafs crowded the local out of the spotlight and annexed the laurel wreath of victory.

Even the brilliance of their new toggery and the enthusiasm of their patrons failed to inspire the men of Toporcer to the point of beating the Toronto team. The Skeeters dazzled the spectators and the Leafs with bright red and rouge stockings, red caps and cream colored uniforms, a combination that would have illuminated an Easter fashion parade. The Leafs, resplendent in bright grey with black and white stockings, and caps to match, looked neat, but not gaudy. They were not conspicuous until they went into action with their bats, and then they occupied the centre of the stage and refused to relinquish it.

Led All the Way

The O'Neillmen jumped into an early lead, strengthened it as they went along, and romped in with a decisive margin over their opponents, who outhit them, but that's all. Manager Toporcer used fourteen players in an effort to stop the Maple Leafs. Four of these were pitchers. The Leafs used two pitchers in addition to Arthur Smith, who faced the Skeeters for seven and one-third innings before he began to weaken. Bob Shanklin went to Smith's rescue in the eighth when the skeeters had two runs in, a man on second, and only one out. Shanklin pitched five balls, and then returned to the Toronto bench, leaving Curly Ogden to relieve the situation and retire the remaining Jersey City players, a task that Ogden accomplished in impressive fashion.

Pitching an opening-day game in Jersey City is nothing new to Arthur Smith, the Leaf's starting flinger. Last year, with Montreal, he opened the season here and registered a 5-to-3 victory. He looked as if he could have gone the route today, but Manager O'Neill decided not to take any chances.

The Skeeters made all their hits off Smith, an even dozen. In this collection were two home runs and five doubles. The Leafs made eleven hits off Frank Nekola, Kenner Graf and Charles Sullivan Perkins, the last-named having just reported from the Philadelphia Athletics. Fred Hartman who worked the final inning, retired the Leafs in order.

MONTREAL WINS AGANST C. N. R.

GOES TO R. R. BOARD.

MONTREAL, April 16 (C.P.)—The Montreal city executive has won the first round of its battle with the Canadian National Railways over construction of the belt-line loop in the eastern part of the city. The city authorities have been notified that Ottawa has ordered the railway to cease all work on the belt line until the board of railway commissioners has heard the appeal of the city against construction of the line. The hearing is scheduled to take place April 27.

When the railway started the work a few days ago, the city countered by refusing city water on the job and posting police to keep the line from placing building materials on city property.

SPORTS By JIMMY THOMPSON

BOBBY HAS HIS TROUBLES

Bobby Jones, the golf wonder, who has accomplished more, and won more national golf titles than any other golfer, has again and again been lauded by sport writers for his wonderful nervous control while under the greatest strain during critical moments in his games. Many attribute his wonderful success at the game to his exceptional control. Shortly after his retirement from competitive golf Bobby was asked to speak over the radio and accepted the invitation. It is said that the speech caused him hours of worry before he was ready to give it. When he did speak for a brief five minutes he showed more nervous exhaustion than as if he had played a whole day of the most trying golf in the world.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 16. —The Orioles downed the Montreal Royals in the opening game of the season here yesatrday by 6 to 3. The Royals tied the score in the eighth at 3-all with a 2-run rally, but the Flock pounded out three more counters in their half, aided by three walks.

Monte Weaver, who followed Koupal and Smythe to the mound, not only received credit for the victory, but his single sent in the run that would have been enough to win, in the eighth inning.

BISONS WHIP KEYS.

READING, Pa., April 16.—A crowd of 8,000 saw Reading lose its opening International League game to Buffalo here yesterday 7 to 3. The Bisons combed the offerings of Johnny Welch for 15 hits, and he was removed in the ninth with two out.

Reading could touch Johnny Wilson for only nine scattered hits. Jay Partridge hit a home run for Reading with none on base in the fifth.

TOUGH BLOW TO BEARS.

NEWARK, April 6. — The Rochester Red Wings, three-time winners of the International League pennant, got off to a flying start here yesterday, when they slugged their way to a 7-4 victory over the Newark Bears before an opening day crowd of 20,000.

George Sisler, former big league star, making his debut with Rochester, singled three times in four trips to the plate.

Ralph Judd went the distance for Rochester. He allowed seven hits, two of them home runs by Hargreaves and McSwain.

BASEBALL FALLS TO SUFFRAGE AGE

Miss Jack Mitchell Lands Hurling Job on Chattanooga Staff.

Professional baseball now may boast of its first woman pitcher. Or it may not boast about it.

Miss Jack Mitchell, age 17 yeears, of Chattanooga, Tenn., has taken the first step toward this unusual career for women by signing a contract with the Chattanooga Lookouts after completing the course at Kid Elberfeld's baseball school held this spring.

The Kid's school is the world's only educational institution devoted entirely to baseball.

Dazzy's Protege

Jack is tall, muscular, rather good-looking and left-handed.

When she was a child her parents lived in Memphis, where one of their neighbors was Dazzy Vance, now Brooklyn's pitching ace, but then a member of the Memphis team. He took a fancy to the little girl next door who seemed more interested in boys' games than in dolls, and taught her to throw a baseball.

Then and there she decided to be baseball's greatest 'woman pitcher."

She uses an odd, side-armed delivery, and puts both speed and curve on the ball. Her greatest asset, however, is control. She can place the ball where she pleases, and her knack at guessing the weakness of a batter is uncanny.

What An Arm!

The fact that she has a good pitching arm is proved by the ease with which she recently threw a baseball 215 feetby actual measurement. She also hits well and during the past season had a batting percentage of .400.

During the two weeks she spent at Kid Elberfeld's baseball school, she pitched frequently at batting practice, and the Kid's pupils found the "lady pitcher" one of the most puzzling southpaws they had ever faced.

She doesn't hope to enter the big show this season, but she believes that with careful training she may soon be the first woman to pitch in the big leagues. In that event she sees no reason why she shouldn't command as great a salary as Babe Ruth now draws.

Plans are being considered for the extension of the National Highway of Panama from the Costa Rican to the Colombian borders.

Our Boarding House . . . . . By Ahern

WHY THE CANADIENS WIN

Why is it that Canadiens outscore and outgame most other professional hockey teams? How is it that, year after year, they are out there fighting for the Stanley Cup, seemingly inspired? What is the difference between them and their competitors?

The answer, we think, is clear. Canadiens are not merely a good team of professionals giving of their best. They are, in addition—and it is a tremendous addition—the representatives of their race, the trustees, as it were, of its courage and its fame, and that feeling, the consciousness that they are playing for something far more precious than mere money, what gives the team its almost fanaticism for victory.

"All for one and one for all"—that is the spirit of the Canadiens. It is something of the thing that Knute Rockne instilled into football at Notre Dame, the spirit that year after year has carried that little South Bend University to the football summits. It is something that mere technical perfection can't achieve.

Racial pride, community spirit—these things cannot be found in the Canadian playing hockey for a few promoters of Madison Square Garden. Human nature isn't like that. But it is different with the young French-Canadians playing for the Canadiens. Each man feels that the honor of Quebec, of his race, is staked on him alone; each man and the whole team knows that tens of thousands of their own people are hoping for them and cheering for them and taking pride in them, that it is up to them to uphold the name and the fame of a community and of a race. It is a never-say-die spirit that money can't buy.

Ottawa teams had something of this in the days gone by: and so had the teams of Montreal and Quebec and Toronto. The teams were made up of home town boys fighting for their home towns. Cheering them on, glorying in their victories, consoling them in their defeats, proud always of their exploits, the public was heart and soul with their own teams; all but a part of them. It was the sort of feeling or spirit that sent young and old into almost hysterical pride when, two weeks ago, Ottawa's Primroses came home.

The weakness of the existing professional hockey organizations is that they have killed this spirit. Who, after all, can possibly be stirred by a hockey player from say, Calgary, playing for a team owned by an ex-prize fighter from Pittsburgh? Or by another Canadian, covered with stars and bars, playing for a professional sport promoter of Madison Square Garden? The thing is impossible; impossible because in sport, as in all other things, there is sentiment, and national and race and community spirit. They are a much more powerful appeal than the desire to see mere strength and skill.

This, in brief, is the story of Canadien victories; of the team's heart and courage. They are playing for something different. And it is the very absence of such a thing in most of the other teams that explains why hundreds who were hockey fans in the old days now see little in the game.—Ottawa Journal.

STANLEY CUP IS PRESENTED TO CANADIENS

Montreal Team Lauded as One of Greatest Aggregations in History.

GATHER AT BANQUET.

National League Governors Discussing Blue Line Officials Suggestion.

MONTREAL, Que., April 16. (CP). Amid wild excitement, with 500 admirers cheering the Stanley Cup, emblem of world supremacy in hockey, was presented to the Canadien Hockey Club of Montreal last night by William Foran, of Ottawa, co-trustee of the historic trophy. The scene of the presentation was a banquet given by followers of the great winter game and the team which last night beat the Chicago Black Hawks to win the honors for the second successive year, heard speeches in which they were lauded as one of the greatest aggregations in the history of the game.

Judge Archambault of Montreal presided at the banquet which lasted until well after midnight. The height of the enthsiasm came well on in the evening when the players were called on individually to speak. Aurel Joliat came first, followed by Howie Morenz. Both were profuse in their praise of their teammates and of the support tendered them by their supporters.

Hon. Athanase David, provincial secretary and president of the Canadien Hockey Club, after congratulating the team, turned to President Frank Calder of the National League and suggested placing two men on the boards to watch blue line infringments largely as linesmen act in football. In reply Mr. Calder said the matter was under discussion by the governors of the league. He paid tribute to Canadien club and players and speaking for the entire league, said all the teams would rather lose to Canadiens than any other club.

In making his presentation Mr. Foran said he was impressed with the fighting qualities of Canadiens. He stressed the fact that Canada was at present the nucleus of hockey and that the players, in the major league at least, would always be drawn from this country.

The annual report that Cecil Hart will retire as manager of the team was dealt with by Joe Cattarinich, one of the owners. "Cecil Hart can remain as pilot of the club as long as he wishes to" the hockey and racing magnate stated, his remarks being cheered to the echo by the players grouped around him.

CUBS' PILOT CLOUTS HOMER BEATS PIRATES

Pittsburg Nosed Out 6 to 5—Claude Smith and "Weeping" Willoughby Go the Limit.

Homers Rattle Over Fences.

Boston Braves and St. Louis Browns Throw Surprise by Winning Again.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr. Associated Press Sports Writer)

Fans who haven't already forgotten the pre-season jullabaloo over the new baseballs used in the major leagues this year may well wonder after two days of big time play what effect the altered spheres are having.

It seems evident that the balls still are lively as the home runs go rattling over the fences at their usual rate, but good pitching performances appear on the increase as well.

Eight pitchers went the full route in the two major leagues yesterday, an unusual number for the second day of the season.

Bump Hadley of Washington and Burleigh Grimes, veteran spitballer of the St. Louis Cardinals, shared topmost hurling honors. Hadley limited the world's champion Philadelphia Athletics to four hits while the Senators fell on big George Earnshaw for five runs in the fourth inning and a 7 to 1 victory. Grimes pitched the year's first shutout, setting the Cincinnati Reds down with seven blows as the Cards won 4-0.

Bob Smith of the Chicago Cubs and Claude "Weeping" Willoughby of Pittsburgh staged a full length duel, the Cubs winning their second straight 6 to 5. Manager Rogers Hornsby provided the winning run with a homer.

Continuing the surprises of the opening day, the Boston Braves and St. Louis Browns each won a second successive game and joined the Cubs, Cardinals and New York Yankees in the top positions of the two leagues. Effective pitching with good hitting behind it told the tale in each case.

Although both were hit rather freely Sammy Gray of St. Louis bested Waite Hoyt of Detroit to gain a 6 to 4 triumph. Both hurled the full game. Selbold held the Brooklyn Robins to 8 hits to give the Braves a 9 to 3 triumph. The Braves hit safely 17 times and the Robins contributed seven errors. Their infield work, with Thompson and Wright both on the sick list, was especially weak.

Gehrig Gets First

The two New York teams figured in the leading slugging contests With Lou Gehrig's first home run as the big blow, the Yanks scored five runs in the first inning then barely outlasted the Boston Red Sox, putting over a run in the ninth to win 8-7. Henry Johnson failed to last after fanning 12 Boston batters. The Phillies used five Giant pitchers and scored eight runs in the second inning to triumph 10-7. Chuck Klein's third homer in two days was the feature.

In the remaining game, the Chicago White Sox squared their series with Cleveland by a 7 to 6, ten inning victory. The Sox were outhit 16-10.

SOFTBALL MEETING CALLED FOR MONDAY

C.G.E. Inter-department Softball Loop Meeting Will Be Held Next Week.

The boys down at the Canadian General Electric plant will be given an opportunity of airing their ideas with regards the Inter-Department Softball League on Monday next when the first meeting of the season will be held in the Employment Bureau, for the purpose of reorganizing for the season.

For several days now, the "mush ball" pastime has been the chief topic during the noon hour huddles and rumour has it that the number of entries this year will be as large as ever. Last season ten teams lined up at the starting post and all through the season the competition was keen and the games very close with few exceptions.

This league was capably piloted to a successful finale last year by Jack Cameron and Darrell Allen who were also able to have the two diamonds at the rear of the plant greatly improved with the result that this season the grounds will not require much attention and at the present time appear to be in splendid shape.

Monday's meeting will be held after five o'clock and every department which intends to enter the league should have at least one delegate present, as teams may be entered at this time.

FRED SCATES IS RETURNED HEAD BY ACCLAMATION

League Will Operate as Intermediate Body in Affiliation O. S. B. A.

AT ANNUAL MEETING.

Committee Appointed to Interview Council Regarding Playing Field.

Five teams were entered last night at the annual meeting of the Men's City Softball League held at the Duffus Bowling Academy. The league will probably operate with six or eight teams this year, as other companies around town have indicated they may enter a team. The league is affiliated with the Ontario Amateur Softball Association, and will likely function as an intermediate loop.

There was a good turnout for the session last night and quite a bit of business was pushed through. The financial statement was read, report of the delegates to the Paris convention was passed upon, officers were elected the question of a playing field was discussed and a number of other details occupied the attention of those present. President Fred Scates acted as chairman.

The financial report was satisfactory, and after a little discussion was passed. Dave Leether, secretary-treasurer, and Fred Scates, president outlined their trip to Paris where the annual Ontario Softball Association convened this year. They pointed out the changes in the rules made this year, and advised the league to send three or four delegates to the next convention, so that their votes might help Peterborough softball.

Officers Elected

Officers elected for the year has four honorary presidents—W. H. Taylor, Walter Oke, J. E. Sullivan and R. M. Glover. Fred Scates is again president, this time by acclamation. Ted Lebarr was chosen vice-president. Dave Leether will continue as secretary-treasurer, also by acclamation. The new league executive voted in, consists of W. Bennett, J. Beckerman, W. Firth and G. Dormer. Scates, Beckerman and Leether were voted delegates to the next annual convention, which will be held in Toronto.

Field Committee

The honorary presidents, the president and the secretary will compose the committee which is to see the council and the Board of Education concerning the playing field this summer. They will find out about it shortly, and an effort will be made to secure the Central School Grounds if possible.

The league will likely have either have six or eight teams in it when the season begins. Last night, five entries were made, namely: Sugar Bowl, Imperial Oil Company, All Saints' Club, Brintons and Westclox. It is not thought there will be any difficulty getting more entries if desired. There are about two weeks yet before the time for entering teams expires.

Another meeting of the league will probably completed arrangements as to number of entries, playing field and opening date of the league. The next meeting is called for 7.30 at the same place next Wednesday night. The meeting was then adjourned.

CASUAL COMMENT

Tonight, the Girls' City Softball League meets to organize for the summer. The meeting is called for 7.30 in the Board Room at Duffus Bowling Academy. It is hoped there will be a large attendance.

* * * * * *

It looks like there will be another intermediate baseball league in Central Ontario. At a meeting in Belleville recently, Deloro, Corbyville, Point Anne, Belleville Victorias and an ama'gamation of Tweed and Sulphide promised to enter, and Madoc, Napanee and Trenton are likely to join as well.

* * * * * *

The league will be affiliated with the O.B.A.A. and will be classed as Intermediate "B" baseball. Another meeting is likely to be called shortly.

* * * * * *

If the East Peterborough League has five teams entered this year, there ought to be a bunch of good games down at the south end diamond. The county league wanted Bailieboro to play with that outfit, but the latter team preferred to join the E.P.L.

* * * * * *

And now there's a chance that Kingston won't be in the Central Ontario League this summer. Not unless the team gets backing somewhere. Oh, well, there's always plenty of difficulties before this league ever gets started.

* * * * * *

If the Ponies don't go senior, maybe the Kingston intermediate team will step up and play in faster company. Anyway, if Oshawa joins the C.O.B.L. again this year, the three Central Ontario teams can operate okay, and save those long jumps to the Limestone city.

* * * * * *

Wonder what's the matter with "Hank" Cohen down there in the Motor City. Haven't heard any baseball talk from him so far and that's not like "Hank" at this time of year. Maybe, he'll be heard from at the annual league meeting, April 25th.

* * * * * *

The annual bowling tournament at Duffus' begins Saturday and lasts about two weeks. There will be a number of cash prizes for single, double and team high scores. This tournament is the biggest one annually in Eastern Ontario.

* * * * * *

The Inter-department Softball League at the C.G.E. is holding its first meeting of the year on Monday in the Employment Bureau after five o'clock. There'll likely be plenty of entries in this league.

* * * * * *

We hear the Church League will run either a baseball or a softball loop this summer, and that entries must be in by April 27th. However, we haven't heard definitely which it will be. Ron Payne is president of the Church League this year.

* * * * * *

There was a good turnout at the Men's City Softball League meeting last night, and a lot of business was cleaned up in the two-hour session.

* * * * * *

Dave Leether and Freddie Scates didn't have a chance of stepping out of office at all. No one would hear of it, and they were returned by acclamation. Other officers were voted in.

* * * * * *

The playing field for the league this summer was the subject of some hot arguments. The Brinton team representative wanted some of the games staged at Brinton Field, while the others preferred a more centrally located place, such as Central School grounds.

* * * * * *

After much heated debate, the question was put to a vote and the majority favored grounds closer to the business section of the town. A committee will interview the Council and the Board of Education and find out just where they can play their games for the summer.

* * * * * *

Sugar Bowl, Imperial Oil Company, All Saints' Club, Brintons, and Westclox all entered teams, and there will be more entries shortly.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

SIAMESE TWINS AT CAPITOL TO-MORROW

Everyone knows that a berth in a steamer stateroom will hold but one person comfortably. Hence is is reasonable to suppose that one fare only can be charged for a berth.

This has always been the accepted ruling but when arrangements were being completed in the United States for the transportation of the Godino Siamese Twins from Manila to Vancouver, B.C., they also brought their brides, a strong effort was made to book the joined-together twins as one individual. "They certainly are not two separate persons," contended A. M. Uggen, manager of the boys who are the only male Siamese twins in the world. "And what is more", the impresario added, "it is still likely that the courts will rule that Siamese twins are legally but one person."

The steamship line won out, however, when its representative pointed out the fact that the twins eat as would two separate individuals and that, the liners having no double berths or standard beds, a special berth would have to be built for the Godinos. That argument proved too much for the alert manager, who took solace in the comment that the argument at least would make the basis of a good story.

The Godino boy Siamese twins, born on the Island of Samar, P.I. and educated on the estate of their bbenefactor, Teodore Yanco, near Manila, Luzon, P.I., have arrived in the United States.

The boys, Lucio and Cimpliclo, are 23 years of age, are splendidly educated, handsome and of engaging personalities, and they do amazing specialties and a breath-taking gymnastic routine.

They will be seen at Capitol three times to-morrow, 2.30, 7.00 and 9.00. No increase in prices.

"THE MAN WHO CAME BACK"

The stars of "Seventh Heaven" are together again. Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrel, who starred in that wonderful picture of the silent screen, and whose ways parted some time ago, have created a comeback in a picture of somewhat the same title.

Miss Gaynor is just as dainty and sweet as ever, but there seems to be some change in Farrell. He has not the same careless and carefree vigor that distinguished him in the "Seventh Heaven" picture. He apparently has not improved with the inclusion of the speaking voice. But they are soft and attractive voices in this production. They are remarkably good.

Stephen Randolph is the pampered son of a wealthy father who is thrown out on his own and told to earn his living without any previous training. He immediately drinks more than ever and then the girl comes into his life and starts to reform him. Just how she did it and what peculiar methods she used, are part of a story that progresses from New York to San Francisco, then to Shanghai and finally to Honolulu and back to New York again.

The last few minutes of this picture are the most striking, probably. The interest and action peps up extraordinarily.—Jeanette.

AT THE REGENT

'LIGHTNIN'' WITH WILL ROGERS

The lank, ungainly figure of Will Rogers dominates this picture in the role which has become famous. And Louise Dressler makes a wonderful foil for him in the role of his wife, Mrs. Bill Jones, who becomes a real virago when her anger strikes Bill, and then later turns back again to the mild old figure with the Yankee accent and the drawling tones.

Bill and his wife and daughter, Millie, have a hotel, part in Nevada and part in California, and the peculiar state line forms a good part of the picture's funny setting. It affords an opportunity for all sorts of sliding back and forth of the characters who are trying to escape from the sheriff, while the divorce-seeking wives of the alimony mill come there for a short three months of waiting.

Bill is the central figure, with his funny sayings and his mild demeanor. He refuses to sign the paper which would transfer the deed of the hotel to a couple of sharks and his wife and daughter drive him out. Then he proves his point, in a law court scene in which everyone, from the judge down, appears to be haywire at odd moments. This is a hilarious bit of traversity of justice, but Bill saves the day.

The short reels which accompany the feature include an interesting portrayal of the Prince of Wales at the Buenos Aires exhibition, addressing his listeners first in Spanish, then in English.—Jeanette.

CANADIAN PRO HOCKEY TEAMS BRING THREE TITLES HOME

Canadiens, Windsor Bulldogs and Vancouver Lions Winners in Respective Leagues.

WEST DOMINATES AMATEUR.

TORONTO, Ont., April 16 (C.P.).—Canadian professional hockey teams hung up a perfect record during the 1930-31 season so fittingly closed on Tuesday night by winning of the Stanley Cup, world's professional hockey emblem, by Montreal Canadiens.

Teams from the Dominion competed in three leagues with squads from the United States. Canada's supremacy in the popular winter states section, in a five-game series to determine the Calder loop monarchs. They then proceeded to down Chicago's well-balanced collection of Western Canada stars for the Stanley Cup.

Windsor Bulldogs brought further honor to Canada by winning the International League crown, following a hard six-game round rob'n championship series with Cleveland, Buffalo, and Pittsburgh.

Vancouver Lions, only Canadian team operating in the Pacific Coast League, won the title by defeating Seattle in the play-offs.

No Canadian teams play in the Canadian-American or American Leagues.

West Dominates.

Western Canada—or rather Winnipeg—dominated the amateur spotlight. The red-shirted senior team of that city swept through a decisive two-game victory over Hamilton Tigers, Eastern Canada titlists, to win the Allan Cup, senior amateur hockey supreme emblem, and also earn the right to rep. sent Canada at the 1932 Winter Olympiad.

Elmwoods, flashy junior squad of the Manitoba city, came to Eastern Canada to defend the Memorial Cup for Western Canada. They succeeded by downing Ottawa Primroses in a hard three-game series, winning the cup and retaining the Dominion junior championship for the West.

PEARCE PREPARES FOR OCEAN TRIP

Sails on Saturday for Diamond Sculls Bid in England.

ST. CATHARINES, April 16—Bobby Pearce, world's champion single sculler, said adieu to St. Catharines and the Canadian Henley course yesterday afternoon after a tri-weekly work-out on the waters of the old Welland canal at the city's upper end, and latterly from the boathouse of the St. Catharines Rowing Club. Pearce leaves Hamilton to-day for New York and sails on Saturday for England, where he will compete in the Diamond Sculls eliminations at Henley on July 2, 3, 4.

It was on Jan. 21 that the champion oarsman came down from Hamilton and inaugurated the three-a-week spins on the only open water in eastern Canada during the past Winter. It was a coincidence that he made a discovery on the anniversary of the discovery of Australia by Captain Cook, on Jan. 26, except that in this case it was to test the frigid water of the course with his first "ducking" from his shell, "Australia." While not superstitious or following hunches, it is another noticeable fact that Pearce sails on the "Empress of Australia" from America to England.

Baseball Gossip.

The Kinsmen's Bantams of the City Baseball League will hold a workout to-night at six o'clock at James Stevenson Park. Any player may try out for a place on this team. They should be on hand at six o'clock sharp.

PHILAE WINS CRAVEN STAKES AT NEWMARKET

To-day's Race Affords Track Followers Best in Three-year-olds.

WINNER HAS GOOD RECORD.

NEWMARKET, Eng., April 16. (C. P. Cable).—Philae, by Pharos out of Blue Wonder, won the Craven Stakes his afternoon by a length from truculent, with Cameronian Third only a head further back.

Twelve three-year-olds ran in the great classic trial, over the Rowley mile.

Philae started at 100 to eight, Truculent at three to one and Cameronian at 11 to 4.

Hell's Bells was left at the post and had no part in the race.

The winner ran five times last year and gained a third in the Spring Two-Year-old Stakes at Newmarket, and a second in the Moulton Stakes here last Autumn.

The Craven Stakes was first run in 1878 and affords the first opportunity each season of seeing the best of the three-year-olds though to-day the cream of last year's juveniles, so far as money-winning was concerned, were not racing.

The others that went to the post, most of whom will be running later in the Derby and other classics were: Vert (Steve Donoghue); Homer (Perryman); Sir Andrew (Childs); Oban (Gordon Richards); Wall Street (Dines); Trinidad (Cliff Richards); Primitif (Cecil Ray); Moly (Turtle); Sandwich (H. Wragg), and Hell's Bells (H. Beasley).

FENELLA BRANCH SPONSORS CLASS

Women's Institute Holds Regular Meeting at Home of Mrs. G. Montgomery.

COMMUNITY HALL REPAIRS

FENELLA, April 16.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—The regular monthly meeting of the Fenella Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. G. Montgomery on Thursday afternoon, with an attendance of thirty-five. The president, Mrs. Harrison George presided. Miss Ruby Adams, the secretary, being absent, Mrs. Clifford Leach acted as secretary pro tem.

On motion it was decided that the committees previously appointed to collect funds for repairing community hall, do so at their earliest convenience.

Correspondence was read regarding the summer coaching class for girls decided on motion to take advantage of this privilege. Correspondence regarding the girls conference at Guelph was read and laid on the table. Letters of appreciation were received from members for remembrances of fruit and flowers during their illness. It was decided on motion that all bills up-to-date be paid. During the program period many articles made from one yard of cotton were on display, and many helpful ideas were gleaned by studying this exhibit.

A piano soloe "Rendezvous" a composition by W. Aletter was well rendered by Miss Muriel Macklin. A paper, "Teaching boys and girls the management of money" was given by Mrs. W. H. Sandercock.

Part of the paper follows: "This we know is a very important and perplexing problem for parents for no two children are alike. One may have a tendency to be a spendthrift, and another a miser.

Every child likes to have a little money of his own, so I would recommend a weekly allowance according to the parents income. With this allowance they should be taught a simple system of book-keeping, and taught to lay aside one tenth for the Lord. Allow them to buy their school necessities in the way of scribblers and pencils, so they may know the value of these necessities.

"Do not pay children to do favors, teach them to give and take, not to buy and sell in family life.

"When children are given money to handle they will learn to spend wisely, and have some left to put in the bank for a rainy day.

"We do not want our next generation of men and women to be either spendthrifts or misers, but, men and women who know enjoyment in both spending and saving skinflints are odious but, spendthrifts are not much better."

A roll call "Hints for spring cleaning," completed the program.

At the close, Mrs. Montgomery assisted by the Misses Nellie, Laura and Betty Montgomery served afternoon tea and a delightful social hour was enjoyed over the tea cups.

The following item was omitted from the program, a reading "Towser shan't be tied to-night." by Miss Ruby Warner, This reading was a comic parody on "Curfew shall not ring to-night."

Germany now has 3,500,000 radios.

Miss Pearl Spence of Fort Coulonge, Quebec, is accompanied on her daily strolls by this timber wolf, captured last fall in the Black River district by J. Corbeille, of North Bay, Ont. Although now apparently gentle and tame, the wolf is kept on a chain at all times.

'PEG O' MY HEART' TO BE PRESENTED

Mrs. James Webb Hostess to Members of Roseneath Women's Institute.

ROSENEATH, April 16.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—Mrs. James Webb was hostess to the ladies of the Women's Institute on Thursday afternoon and was well attended, onsidering the bad condition of the roads.

The committee having decided to accept the play "Peg O' My Heart," given by Mrs. McKee Bingham and players, of Millbrook. A report given on the circulating library was very satisfactory and is expected to be started in the near future.

The program for the meeting was most interesting. Mrs. Leslie Sherwin gave a splendid paper on "The Home Makers Task."

Other numbers on the program, was a reading by Mrs. M. Davey, entitled, "Less work for women." A vehicle contest put on by Mrs. L. Sherwin, caused much merriment and laughter.

Current events by Mrs. Lottie Nichol, was very interesting. A vote of thanks was tendered the hostess for her kind hospitality after which the roll call was responded to by giving "Spring cleaning hints," and the meeting closed by singing the National Anthem.

Spring— and thoughts of the country! Martha's "gang" could hardly wait to select their little camp by the lake. They scanned the advertisements, and a few Long Distance calls to the various owners brought great results. They were ever so pleased with their new home. And it was all arranged so easily—so satisfactorily!

EFFICIENCY LEAGUE.

Talk, Readings, Music and Contest Make Up Interesting Night at Rush Point.

HAVELOCK, April 16 (Examiner Correspondence). — The weekly meeting of Rush Point Efficiency League was held in the White church on Thursday evening and was featured by an extra good attendance. The meeting was opened by singing "I Can Hear My Saviour Calling." Rev. Mr. Archer then led the devotional exercises, followed by singing "When Immortal Souls are Dying." The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted as read. Mr. Archer then gave a short but very interesting talk. "The "Golden Slippers" by Mr. Archer, Robert and Una, made a real hit, and the trio responded to an encore. Miss Jones then gave a very humorous recitation, followed by "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder" by the Archer trio. This last number received a great deal of applause. Mrs. Cora McArthur then took charge of the meeting. The Scripture reading was read by Mrs. Earl Pollock, the topic taken by Mrs. McArthur, and the collection taken. Mr. Archer then closed the meeting with an interesting contest and the Mizpah Benediction.

15 NEW PUPILS START SCHOOL

Seven Boys and Eight Girls Ranging Up to Six and Half Years Begin at Havelock.

HAVELOCK, Apr. 16 (Examiner Correspondence).—Fifteen young hopefuls, seven boys and eight girls, marched proudly into school on Monday morning, book and pencil held tightly in each little hand. Fifteen eager youngsters, some of them rather timid, others who had at some time or other paid a visit to the classroom with an older brother or sister, and knew the school room as a jolly place, where there was sure to be something good to eat, and perhaps a present on a Christmas tree.

The children's ages ranged all the way from five to six and a half years, and they are a promising lot, starting out to master the three R's—reading, writing and arithmetic.

Twilight M. C. Girls Holds April Meeting

The girls of the Twilight Mission Circle of George Street United Church met around the supper table last evening for their regular April meeting. The table was pretty with Spring flowers and a splendid meal was served by Miss Grace Burns group.

After singing "The Way of the Cross Leads Home," a splendid report of the last meeting was given by the secretary, Miss Evelyn Miller, followed by the Roll Call. The scripture lesson was read by Miss Margaret Taylor. Miss Vera Squire read some very interesting letters from missionaries in Japan, whom she corresponds with. Their customs and habits were very intimately described, and of special interest was their love of chrysanthemums. They even have them growing in airplanes and ships, and train them so that they provide very beautiful decorations. Miss Dorothy Wiman also gave a very interesting reading entitled "Japan."

The meeting closed by repeating the Mizpah Benediction in unison.

Upper Lakes Shipping Is Under Way To-Day

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 16.—(C)—Lake cargo steamers were under way to-day upon reports routes were fairly clear of ice. However, the movement was slow and shipping men expected little traffic or several weeks.

The season's first cargo was brought into Milwaukee yesterday. The Nicholson-Universal line's crescent City arrived from Detroit with a load of automobiles. Captain W. L. McDougall said no difficulty was experienced in pushing through ice in the straits of Mackinac.

Trinity Y.W.A. Holds Thank Offering Meeting

Trinity Young Woman's Auxiliary held its annual thankoffering meeting in the form of a supper meeting in Reid St. hall Monday night with Mrs. A. Parker, the president, presiding. There were 41 members and friends present.

The meeting opened by singing "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. Miss Edith Preston led in repeating Psalm 23.

Mrs. Ray Brown read a verse on the Easter thankoffering. A very satisfactory offering was received.

The minutes were read and approved, and the treasurer's report given.

Mrs. R. G. Lawlor, of Norwood, was the speaker of the evening and chose as her topic the Indian Mission Schools on the Pacific Coast. As Mrs. Lawlor visited this field last summer, her talk proved most interesting.

She mentioned particularly the Coqualeetza Institute, a government owned school with an attendance of 250 boys and girls from kindergarten to 18 years of age. The Indians who have attended these schools have taken rapid strides and when they graduate are readily distinguished from those who have not, having developed habits of personal cleanliness as well as book learning.

Mrs. Lawlor concluded with, "We need not hesitate to help the Indians. They are worth it."

A vote of thanks to Mrs. Lawlor was moved by Miss Ila Giles and seconded by Mrs. N. Moncrief.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction.

CHURCH MEMORIAL

TORONTO, April 16 (By The Canadian Press).—One of the pioneer churches in "Muddy York" is commemorated by a bronze tablet at one of the newest of the towering temples of finance in modern Toronto.

The church, a structure of primitive type, stood at the west corner of King and Jordan streets on land now forming part of the site of the steel and stone building of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. The tablet is on the wall of the new building on Jordan street, just south of King.

Designed by W. W. Stallworthy, it states: "The first Methodist Church in Toronto was built upon this sit in A.D. 1818." The memorial is embellished with a charming bas-relief showing a small, low log building set in a grove of fir rees.

THE SON OF TARZAN No. 40 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Like most youths of his age, Korak held girls in a species of contempt. But could he leave this one here perhaps to be murdered by the villainous old Sheik? No! Yet how could he take her into the jungle with him? She would probbaly scream at her own shadow. Several minutes he stood lost in thought. Wistfully the girl watched her new friend, then laid her slim, brown hand on his arm. Korak looked down and saw the tears upon her lashes.

"Come," he said. "The jungle is kinder than man. You shall live in the jungle. Korak and Akut will protect you.' She did not understand his words, but as he led her from the prostrate Sheik, trustfully her little arm crept about his waist. Beneath the great tree he lifted her, threw her lightly across his shoulders and leaped nimbly into its branches. Her arms clung about his neck and Geeka, the doll, dangled down his straight, young back.

And so Meriem entered the jungle with Korak, trusting this stranger who had befriended her, but knowing nothing of the future. The two "the Killer has taken a mate." The youth the great ape and pointed toward him with a half-stifled scream. "Ah," thought Akut, "the Killer has taken a mate." The youht deposited his burden upon a large limb, where she clung desperately. "She will go with us," he said. "Do not harm her. We will protect her."

Akut did not want to be burdened by the young of man, and this one looked hopeeasly unfit. She couldn't even sit in a tree! But if the Killer wanted her—all right. Akut certainly didn't want her. Her skin was too smooth and hairless, her face most unattractive. Not at all like a certain lovely he had seen at the Dum-Dum dance. There was beauty for one! A generous mouth, such lovely yellow fangs, and the cutest sofest side whiskers! Akut sighed!

QUALIFIES FOR CLUB

40 FIRE CALLS THIS MONTH

Another call for a grass fire was answered by the Fire Department at 319 Park street at 11.30 last night.

So far during this month some forty calls have been answered and accruing damage has amounted to only $7.00. The large number of alarms is due chiefly to grass fires which are so necessary and yet such a nuisance.

Speaking with The Examiner this morning the Fire Chief stated that he would have any one lighting a bonfire or a grass fire in the city without his permission, prosecuted. A fire prevention by-law upholds the Chief in this matter, and a summons is promised to the next violator of the by-law.

Police Make Arrest In Pension Department

FORGING NAMES OF PENSIONERS LAID TO CLERK

P. Bouskill Remanded Week on Charge of Signing 36 Cheques of $20 Each.

OUT ON $2,000 BAIL.

Irregularities Found When Elderly Men Let Out From Jail Farm Call for Pensions.

TORONTO, Ont., April 17 (C.P.). — Following the investigation into old-age pension payments being conducted throughout Western Ontario, local police to-day arrested Percy Bouskill, 50, of Fern Avenue, on a charge of forging names of pensioners to old-age pension cheques in Toronto. Bouskill has been employed as chief clerk in the local branch of the Pensions Department.

Bouskill later appeared in the Police Court on a charge of forging 36 cheques valued at $20.00 each, and was remanded a week on bail of $2,000.

Although it was at first intimated that a series of arrests would follow the investigation which was ordered by Mayor Stewart it is now understood no further arrests will be made in the matter. The Mayor announced this morning that he would give the full facts of the case at a special meeting of the Board of Control called for, later in the day.

Province-wide Check-up.

In a statement issued last night Hon. W. G. Martin, Minister of Public Welfare, announced that a province-wide check-up of old-age pension payments was being made. The check-up throughout the Province is expected to save tens of thousands of dollars, Hon. Mr. Martin said. The inspectors are making a check-up of forgeries of signatures, payments of excessive allowances, and falsification of lists of pensioners, and similar abuses which it is the intention of the Government to stamp out.

Discovery of the irregularities came about as a result of the recent decision to let out certain elderly men who had been commmitted to the jail farm for a home. When they came to the city they immediately called at the pension office and demanded their accumulated pensions. But the cheques were not there, although they had been made out and were supposed to be left in the office until they were called for.

REPORT TO DEPARTMENT.

Fish and Game Association Hears Report From J. W. Gravestock.

Describing conditions which are alleged to exist on the Trent Valley Canal in the vicinity of Burleigh Falls, and which is causing a grave menace to the fish, J. W. Gravestock, president of Peterborough Fish and Game Association, at an open meeting held at the Empress Hotel last evening made a spirited protest against the manner in which his complaints had been dealt with by A. L. Killaly, superintendent engineer of the Trent Canal.

Mr. Gravestock, who stated he was sorry that Mr. Killaly had left the meeting before he had had an opportunity of bringing the matter forward, told how, that in consequence of a complaint received from the Burleigh district, he decided to go and investigate for himself.

The complaint came to his notice two days ago, and as he failed to get in touch with Mr. Killaly beforehand he went up to Burleigh alone. Standing at the bridge in front of Burleigh Hotel he looked upstream to the dam. "There was not one log, not one stick in the dam," he exclaimed.

Water to Shallow for Canoe

He took pictures while up there and also procured an Indian guide and went up to the locks. Here he saw fish floundering in the mud. The water was so shallow that the canoe could not get through. In the rice beds occasional pools containing stagnant water. Mr. Gravestock did not see a single lunge, but he stated that there were bass. Between Lovesick Lake and Burleigh, were also numerous pools of stagnant water, and if something is not done the fish are going to die, is Mr. Gravestock's contention.

"If any complaints are received about fish or game matters, I consider it my duty to investigate," remarked Mr. Gravestock. "Mr. Killaly seems to think it an unpardonable sin."

He went on to add, "Mr. Killaly rang me up this morning and was as abusive as any man could be. I have never spoken to a man on the phone who was so unreasonable as he was. He told me that so far as he could see the only reason for the Fish and Game Association was to pick fault with him and the Trent Valley Canal."

On asking Mr. Killaly on what grounds he made that suggestion, he was informed, "There is too much Gravestock in the Association."

"If any man can say that I am running the Association as Mr. Killaly suggests," said Mr. Gravestock heatedly, "I will resign from the presidency of the club on a motion from this meeting."

He continued to speak of the enthusiasm he has for the work of the Association, adding that during the past fifteen months the local Association has put through more con-

KIWANIANS HEAR CREDIT MANAGER

M. E. Enkin Outlines Some of the Problems of Retail Merchandising.

REGARDED AS SCIENCE.

A suggestion that educational lectures be commenced in this city to advance the interests of retail merchants, was made in the course of an interesting lecture, delivered to the Kiwanis Club at the noon luncheon at the Empress Hotel to-day, by M. E. Enkin, credit manager of The Cooke Clothing Company.

Mr. Enkin, who was introduced by Al. Sharpe, termed the subject of his lecture, "Some of the Problems of Retail Merchandising."

He contended that the principal causes of business failure could be traced to incompetence, and that according to Bradstreets, thirty-five per cent of the failures last year were due to this cause.

The real need in the business world to-day, thought the speaker, was education. He proceeded to trace the start of the average merchant, stressing the handicaps under which he attempts to conduct his business. The majority of merchants, he said, just drifted along year after year, trusting to luck and hoping that a miracle would happen.

Regarded a Science

The speaker regarded retail merchandising as a science, and contended that as such merchants required education along specified lines. This need was being met in small measure in Toronto, where courses for those who are wishing to enter into the retail merchandising business, are now provided with a special course, which has been put on the curriculum.

He recommended the merchants of this city to read all the literature they could pertaining to their particular line of business, and particularly the trade papers, and concluded by suggesting that Peterborough could very well take the lead in providing some lectures for retail merchants next winter. The services of men prominent in their respective lines could be obtained, he suggested, and the scheme could be worked out in conjuction with the local Chamber of Commerce.

Harry Boyle occupied the chair in the absence of John I. Allen, who is at present in New York City. He tendered a vote of thanks to the speaker, which was moved by John R. Marshall, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Included among the guests were the only male Siamese twins in the world, who are appearing at the Capitol Theatre to-night. They were introduced by the theatre manager, J. A. Stewart.

The boys Lucio and Cimplicio, are of engaging personalities, and one of them addressed Kiwanians. He was frequently interrupted by his brother with remarks of extremely humorous nature. They related the circumstances of their birth, and the reason why no attempt had been made to perform an operation that would separate them.

"They would have only one chance in ten of surviving such an operation," said one of the brothers, "and as we are quite happy we did not feel inclined to take this chance."

Sleeping Family Has Close Escape

CHATHAM, Ont., April 17. — The lives of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Friedenberg and their two children were in peril early to-day as they slept while fire rapidly burned in the rear section of their home here. An unknown pedestrian was responsible for sending the alarm and arousing the family, occupying rooms in the front portion of the one-storey frame structure. The blaze of unknown origin occasioned a loss estimated at $2,000. The Friedenberg family escaped in their night attire.

U. S. RULES OUT MORE CANADIANS

Over 100 Must Secure New Visas at Niagara Falls After Check-up.

MORE TO FOLLOW.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., April 7.—(C.P.).—Commuting privileges have been taken away from more than 100 Canadians here because of irregularities found in their records by special investigators from Washington, headed by A. R. Archibald, of the Immigration Bureau. The Federal men checked employment records in factories and business places against the commuters' identification cards, and refused further entry to any who had been unemployed six months.

Many other rejections were based on failures to comply with technicalities of the immigration regulations disclosed by the investigators. Barred commuters must secure new visas and pay an $8 head tax before they can recover the privilege. Erin Larsen, in charge of the investigation, said today that other rejections will likely follow.

PRINCE BIBESCO IN PLANE CRASH

Craft Comes Down During Flight Between Gaya, Bengal to Allahabad.

FOUR BADLY HURT.

BOMBAY, April 17.—(AP)—Prince Bibesco, head of the ancient Bibesco family of Rumania, and president of the International Aeronautic Federation, crashed today while flying between Gaya, Bengal, and Allahabad. Details were not immediately available. The Prince was making a flight from Le Bourget, flying field outside Paris, to Saigon, French Indo China, with a view to demonstrating the archaic nature of flying regulations and instituting reforms in them at a forthcoming meeting of the federation.

The Prince is a cousin of Prince Antoine Bibesco, who was Rumanian Minister at Madrid, a former Minister at Washington, and the husband of Lady Elizabeth Asquith.

Four passengers in the airplane in which the prince was traveling escaped alive, but their names were not disclosed in sparse accounts of the accident which reached here.

All four occupants of the plane were seriously injured. Only Prince Bibesco had regained consciousness at noon. The airmen left Allahabad and the crash occurred two and a half hours later on the Bhabua Road between Moghal Sarai and Gaya.

More dogs were entered in this year's bench show in Dublin, Ireland, than in any previous event there.

Survey Is Started On 3rd Power Line Hostilities Feared

Provincial Constable David Sylvester Was Requested To-day to Accompany the Hydro Surveyors Who Are Now Operating in North Monaghan.

NOT FIRST TIME PARTY HAS NOT BEEN WELCOMED IN ITS PRESENT SURVEY FOR NEW HYDRO LINES

Bitter Feeling is Borne by Farmers Against Hydro for the Way They Have Been Used in the Past in Regards to Power Lines From the Ottawa River.

Provincial Constable D. Sylvester spent today in North Monaghan giving police protection to the Hydro-Electric Power Commission's survey party, which is surveying for a third power line between the Ottawa River and Toronto. The hostility of farmers to allowing the party to survey their lands caused the request for Constable Sylvester's presence.

One farmer swore that he would fight before the survey party would enter upon his land, it is said.

This is not the first time that the survey party has not been welcomed. They encountered similar hostility in the eastern townships.

It is but another example of the bitter feeling that many farmers in this district bear toward the Hydro as expressed at the big meeting of farmers from counties held on Saturday, at which the right-of-way association was formed to protect the farmers' interests.

The survey party apparently did not have any desire to venture out upon their duties today without Constable Sylvester. Their motor caravan stood outside the police court door until 10:30 while the party impatiently waited until the constable was through with a case in court and was free to accompany them.

GRANDEES LEAVE HOMES IN SPAIN

New Gov't Considering Closing Frontier Against Exodus of Aristocrats.

TRADING NERVOUS.

MADRID, April 17.—(A.P.)— The people of Spain are nearly speechless in their joy over the birth of the Republic.

Two days and nights of shouting "Viva La Republica" have resulted in an epidemic of sore throats and tonsilitis. Office and factories throughout the nation are crippled with absent workers and half the people cannot speak above a husky whisper.

Admitting that the Catalan problem is one of their most perplexing concerns, President Alcala and his Ministers renewed their attack on a mass of administrative details.

The Spanish peseta ranged in value around 10 to the dollar in actual transactions. Stocks with some exceptions have generally declined and trading was nervous and uncertain.

Banks continued to receive heavy demands from wealthy Spaniards seeking to have money and securities sent abroad. It was reported that the Government may take steps to prevent or limit the export of such items and possibly to close the frontiers against the exodus of the wealthy classes.

Many palaces of the grandees in Madrid and other cities have been closed and the families have departed or were preparing to leave. Outbound trains are crowded with aristocrats and wealthy persons leaving the country and others are leaving by automobile, many to France and some to Portugal.

STIMSON ISSUES GOVT'S ATTITUDE

Warns All Americans Who Do Not Feel Secure to Leave Country.

NO AID BE SENT INLAND.

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 17 (C.P. —Secretary of State Stimson to-day gave notice to United States citizens in Nicaragua that the United States Government could not undertake general protection of its citizens in that country.

The notification sent through the Legation at Managua and the Consulate at Bluefields recommended that "all Americans who do not feel secure under the protection afforded them by the Nicaraguan Government through the Nicaraguan National Guard withdraw from the country or at least to the coast towns, whence they can be protected or evacuated in case of necessity."

"Those who remain," the official notice said, "do so at their own risk and must not expect United States forces to be sent inland to their aid."

REDS OF RUSSIA CLAIM INNOCENCE

Generally Disclaim Any Connection With Spanish Revolution.

SEE FAILURE AHEAD.

MOSCOW, April 16 (A.P.)—Russian Communists generally disclaim any connection with the Spanish revolution and, according to the newspaper Investia, Russia sees little hope for any stable form of democratic government in Spain.

The Imperialists are afraid, the newspaper declared to-day, lest the bourgeois democratic revolution develop into a Socialist one. There is no doubt but that French and British are well aware that Moscow has nothing to do with the events in Spain.

It is certain that the new Spanish Government will not destroy the old Governmental apparatus; it won't dissolve the Royal Gendarmerie or touch the interests of landlords and it won't give the land to the peasants.

Should a further revolutionary movement develop the new government would undoubtedly look to the Monarchy for assistance, trying its best to shorten its own life as happened in the case of the Republic of 1873.

Garage Doors Shut Autoist Almost Dies

WINDSOR, Ont., April 17 (C.P.)—When Fred Smith, 50, of Windsor started the motor of his auto to-day he failed to open the garage doors and as a result was overcome by carbon-monoxide gas.

The Fire Department used a pulmotor on the stricken man and he was then rushed to the hospital where his condition is reported as fair.

This is the second case of gas fumes poisoning this week. Albert Le Page, 35, died on Tuesday a short time after he was overcome in his garage.

Gov't Keeps Tab On British Farmer

LONDON, April 17 (By Thomas T. Champion, C.P. Staff Correspondent). — A farmer of South Benfleet was summoned to-day for failing to fill in a Government form concerning the number of pigs he kept. He declared he would go to prison rather than pay a fine for such a paltry offence.

From Dartford, Kent, another farmer related he received a form concerning the number of fowls he kept. He replied he had eight, whereupon a Government inspector travelled 30 miles to warn him of the penalties to which he was liable for not saying how many were cocks and how many were hens.

TWENTY MILLION FOUND TO BE UNEMPLOYED THROUGHOUT WORLD

United States is Well Up With Six Millions—France Least Affected.

CANADA IS NOT BAD

(Following is the third of a series of articles on the world economic situation as seen by officials, diplomats and observers in Washington.

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 17.—(By Ken Clark, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—Figures collected here and abroad indicate there are perhaps 20,000,000 people in the world who are willing to work and have no jobs. Students of economics and politics believe this is by far the worst feature of the present depression. Mr. Magnusson of the International Labor Office says: "It is no exaggeration to say that unemployment has been the overshadowing problem."

Canada is looked upon here as suffering lightly from this economic plague. On the whole new countries and countries which depend to a considerable degree upon agriculture are happily situated in times of depression, one expert said. "There are always a few potatoes on a farm

Prince Pays Visit To Naval Academy

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 17 C. P.). — Prince Takamatsu of Japan, often termed Prince of the Sea in his own country because of his midshipman's training, chose the Annapolis Naval Academy for to-day's sightseeing trip.

From 1920 to 1924 Prince Takamatsu studied at the Naval Academy of Japan. That gave him a rich background for his interpretation of things at Annapolis.

No other event but the private dinner to-night with the Japanese Ambassador was on the program of the day, yet the Prince and Princess after a late reception last night were eager for an early morning start.

Franco In Control Of Spanish Aviation

MADRID, April 17 (A.P.)—Major Ramon Franco, Spanish aviation and revolutionary hero, who returned yesterday from asylum in France to-day, was put in charge of the military aeronautical service here.

He replaces Colonel Garcia Antunez. His first act was to call together the personnel of his force and to exhort them to continue with their work, exerting themselves to the utmost in the interests of Spanish aviation.

The Minister of War is disposed to place in command of various aviation units those aviators who accompanied Franco in the revolutionary events at Cuatro Vientos airdrome a few weeks ago, replacing those now in charge of the units.

AUSTRALIAN OPPOSITION UNITES, CHOOSES HON. J. A. LYONS LEADER

Form Great Moderate Party to Fight Labor and Extremist Forces.

PREPARE FOR ELECTION.

CANBERRA, Australia, April 17 (C. P. Cable).—The Labor Party under Prime Minister James Scullin will face a strong, consolidated opposition in the general elections that have been brought appreciably nearer by the action of the Senate in defeating the Government's Finance Bill today. If the Senate defeats the bill for a second time, as is confidently expected, dissolution of both Senate and House of Representatives, and a general election, will follow.

Nationalists Lose Identity

Hon. John Greif Latham, K.C., today resigned the leadership of the Nationalist Party, of which he had been head since the defeat and retire from politics of former Prime Minister Stanley Bruce. The Nationalist Party will probably lose its identity in a great unified party under the leadership of Hon. Joseph A. Lyons, erstwhile lieutenant of Prime Minister Scullin. Mr. Lyons resigned from the Cabinet last December in protest against extremist tendencies, and recently opened a new campaign for sound and sane government.

Mr. Lyons' campaign met with popular acclaim and in quick succession the Country Party, the Nationalist Party, the followers of the War-

Six Cars Derailed Near Cavan Station

Six cars on an extra freighr train from Havelock to Toronto left the tracks at about eight o'clock this morning at a point a short distance east of Cavan Station on the Canadian Pacific Railway. The train was in charge of Conductor Chisholm.

An auxiliary train left Havelock at 9.30 for the scene of the accident in charge of Conductor Arthur McMillan. It is expected that the line will be clear to give right of way to the noon train.

Woman Jumps From Window Of Hospital

BELLEVILLE, April 17.— Jumping from a second-storey window at the Belleville Hospital on Thursday, Mrs. Bernard Smith, wife of a local watchmaker, was instantly killed. Mrs. Smith, a middle-aged woman, had been a patient at the institution for the past week, and it is understood that she had been brooding over her illness. The nurse was absent from her room but a few minutes. An inquest was ordered by Coroner Dr. Tennent for this afternoon. Mrs. Smith had been a resident of this city for many years.

Judge Edward J. Moinet also sentenced two other pilots. Peter Kelly received the same sentence as Hosler, while William Holton was sentenced to 18 months in prison and fined $1,500. The three men were accused of participating in airplane rum running between the Canadian Border Cities and points in Michigan, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana.

General Election Draws Nearer In Australia

FINANCE BILL IS VOTED OUT IN AUSTRALIA

Defeat Spells Death-knell of Scullin Govt's Inflation Program.

GOES BACK TO SENATE.

Second Rejection Will Mean Calling of General Election.

(C. P. Cable via Reuters)

CANBERRA, Australia, April 17.—The death-knell of the Government's inflation programme was sounded when the Senate of Australia today rejected the finance bill by 21 votes to six.

The bill provides for the issue of up to $90,000,000 in fiduciary notes, designed to provide works for relief of unemployment, bonuses to wheat growers, and aid to farmers generally.

The government will immediately send the bill back to the Senate, which is allowed a statutory period of three months to again decide on it. If it is rejected for a second time, the Prime Minister will call for dissolution of both the Senate and House of Representatives, and call a general election, going to the people on the issue.

Drops Wheat Bill

As a result of the Senate's action, which had been expected, the Government was forced to immediately drop its wheat bill, which received second reading in the lower house only yesterday.

The Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. James Scullin, strongly attacked the opposition for the defeat of the government's measure, declaring the members had shown no compassion for the wheat-growers or the unemployed.

The Commonwealth Bank has decided not to honor further Government overdrafts, increasing the intensity of the financial crisis. The bank and associated trading banks had recently decided they could not give further accommodation to the Extremist Labor Government of New South Wales.

VICTORIA, B.C., April 17. King Pradajhipok was represented by Queen Rambaibarni, acclaimed as Siam's most beautiful woman, and Prince Svasti, father of the Queen and uncle of the king, and Princess Svasti.

FIRES SPREADING OVER WISCONSIN

RAIN BADLY NEEDED.

FLORENCE, Wis., Apr. 17.—Nearly 75,000 acres were burned over and several isolated farm buildings were destroyed by fire that burned uncontrolled today in slashings and small timber within four miles of Long Lake, Wis., forestry officials said.

Hundreds of acres of heavy timber and thousands of cords of cut lumber, the property of the Bay Shore Lumber Company, were in danger. Volunteers from Florence left to assist Long Lake fire fighters in attempts to control the blaze.

Rains that controlled a series of furious forest fires in Upper Michigan and Wisconsin last week-end failed to touch the Long Lake area and the tinder-dry slashings burned rapidly.

Norwood Council Wants Road Oiled

NORWOOD, April 17. — There is a possibility that the local Council will petition T. P. Lancaster, M.P.P., to present their request to the Department for the oiling of King's Highway No. 7 through the Village of Norwood.

A noticeable increase in traffic has already been drawn by the greatly improved condition of the new highway, and as a natural consequence has considerably augmented the dust nuisance.

King George Finds Salary Inadequate

KING VICTOR EMANUEL — KING CAROL — KING PRAJADHIPOK
$3,900,000 $4,000,000. $8,000,000.

Post-war conditions in England, coupled with traditions which entail vast expenditures on the part of King George and Queen Mary, so reduce his annual allowance from Parliament that strict practice of economy is necessary in the lives of Their Majesties. King George's yearly allowance is $2,100,000 and, stupendous as the sum may seem, it is much less than other less wealthy nations pay, or paid, to their monarchs. When one considers that His Majesty is monarch of the British Empire "where the sun never sets,' 'it is hard to realise that the Kings of Italy, Roumania and Siam get a much large allowance than our beloved King.

LIBERAL PARTY COMES TO RESCUE OF THE MACDONALD GOVERNMENT IN CONSERVATIVE CENSURE VOTE

Government is Upheld 305 Votes to 251 in British House of Commons.

ELECTION NOT LIKELY.

Laborite Victory is Credited to Lloyd George, Liberal Leader.

LONDON, April 17.—(By George Hambleton, C. P. Staff Correspondent). — The general elections have again slipped into the background. The government's easy victory in the House of Commons last night, when the Conservative censure motion was defeated by 305 to 251—a majority larger than the Labor optimists expected—has put out of court, any likelihood of an early dissolution. The government's safe until the Autumn session, at least, is the common belief.

The close association between Prime Minister Macdonald's government and the section of Liberals led by Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George was further revealed during the proceedings of yesterday, but the dominating fact of the situation is that probably nobody really wants an election at the present time. The Conservatives now feel that time is on their side. The tide of recent by-elections has run strongly against the Liberals. Under present conditions, dissolution would mean a reduction in the Liberal parliamentary strength. The Liberals see in the alternative vote a means to parliamentary representation more in keeping with their popular vote. And they will not put Labor out to put the Conservatives in.

MOB HALTS TRAIN ON WAY TO CAIRO

Police Kill One, Wound Twenty Before Control of Situation Gained.

NOTABLES STONED.

CAIRO, Egypt, April 17 (AP)—One person was killed and twenty wounded in serious rioting which occurred yesterday at Dokernesa, upper Egypt.

The trouble occurred when a train carrying notables for a reception in honor of the Premier reached the place and was stoned and held up by a mob passengers being compelled to leave the coaches.

The crowd unhooked the engine, but scattered when police arrived and fired a volley into the air. The locomotive was reattached to the train which proceeded but before it could get well under way the mob reassembled and stoned it again.

Police then opened fire, wounding seven of the rioters and killing one. Thirteen olice were injured.

Macaulay Acting In Education Post

TORONTO, April 17.—During the absence on vacation of Premier George S. Henry, Hon. Leopold Macaulay, Provincial Secretary, will act as Minister of Education. Announcement to this effect was made yesterday by Attorney-General Price, acting Prime Minister.

It is now taken for granted in well informed quarters that Mr. Macaulay will be Minister of Education before long. The fact that he has been appointed acting minister in charge of the department is regarded as significant.

Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests, carries the additional burden of the Highways Department until the return of the Premier. There is also a distinct possibility of Mr. Finlayson being transferred from Lands and Forests Department to that of Highways under the reshuffle which it is understood is contemplated.

BRIGADE CALLED SAW MILL FIRE

Serious Conflagration Narrowly Averted on W. G. Russell Property.

AT MILLBROOK.

MILLBROOK, April 17 (Examiner Correspondence).—A fire, apparently started from a burning brush-heap in the garden of Shenley House, the residence of Mrs. (Rev.) W. C. Allen, and spreading rapidly through the dried-out grass in the adjoining fields until the saw mill of W. G. Russell and Sons had taken fire also, led to the calling out of the local brigade about two-thirty on Thursday afternoon.

Chemicals were used to extinguish the flames that had broken out in a dozen places on the roof of the mil, and prompt carrying of buckets of water checked the fires in the posts, of the fence dividing the Allen and Russell property, also putting out the blaze in the trees and hedge on Mrs. Allen's lawn.

H. C. Lord and W. Hilton had been burning brush on the Allen property in the morning, and had apparently left all fire safely out when they went to dinner; Mr. Hilton returned after one o'clock and saw no sign of flame anywhere, yet within a very short time Mrs. Allen and Mrs. McIvor, who were at some task in the front of the house detected the spreading blaze in the grass and trees nearby, the former promptly giving the alarm by telephone.

A serious confragration was only narrowly averted, as the dried grass provided a ready medium for the fire, which was fanned by a rising wind from the east, and there were a number of buildings in close proximity that might easily have fallen a prey to the flames had these gained too much headway before being noticed.

GREAT OVATION IS GIVEN EXILES BY PARIS CROWD

Thousands Jam Railway Station and Throng Streets to Alfonso's Apartment.

KING FORCED TO SPEAK.

Still Has Hopes He May Return to Rule With Unimpaired Popularity.

PARIS, April 7.—(AP)—Alfonso de Bourbon, deposed King of Spain, and Victoria his British Queen, today faced together in France an exile which Alfonso is confident will end in his return to the throne at Madrid.

To both Victoria and Alfonso, and the five of their six children who are here with them, the people of Paris extended a welcome which was more like that of conquering heroes than exiles.

Alfonso was visibly startled to see the huge crowd awaiting him as he stepped from his train. He doffed a green fedora, and attempted to slip out a side door of the railway station to a waiting car, but found another cheering crowd awaiting him there.

Speaks From Balcony

At his hotel police had to make a way for him through a throng which stood outside, and finally upon their insistent demands he appeared with Victoria upon a balcony opening on their rooms. Both struggling to master their emotions smiled and bowed and withdrew. But the shouting continued and they had to appear again.

Not until two hours later, when the lights in their apartment were turned out did the crowd disperse police breaking it up with complaints that they were blocking traffic, even though it was 2 a.m. and a few cars were about.

The acclaim to Alfonso and Victoria was mingled French and Spanish. The shouts were both "Vive Le Roi" and the Spanish, "Vivael Rey." Many of the French cheering him were those of Monarchist belief, who see in Alfonso a descendant of their own dethroned royal house.

Prefect of Police Calls.

One of the last callers at the royal apartment was Jean Chiappe, Paris Prefect of Police, who so often during the last few years greeted the royal pair when there was no shadow across their throne. Alfonso

Body Is Discovered In Halifax Swamp

HALIFAX, N.S., April 17 (C.P.).—The body of a middle-aged man, on which a notebook containing the name T. Kawiuk, P.O. Box 183, Calgary, was found, was discovered by mayflower pickers, on the outskirts of the city yesterday. The body, clothed only in boots, socks, and underwear, and lying by the side of a swamp in the woods, was turned over to the medical examiner.

The dead man's coat lay nearby but trousers were not found. In the coat pocket was a booklet in Polish, descriptive of Canada, issued by a steamship line, and a box of headache tablets purchased from an Edmonton drug store.

SIR A. CURRIE SEES CHINA, JAPAN ONE OF GREATEST EXPORT MARTS

McGill Principal Returns to Canada After Fours Months in Far East.

HAS HOPES FOR INDIA.

VICTORIA, B.C., April 17 (C.P.) — After a four-months' tour in which he encircled the world and officiated as the representative of Canada at the unveiling of the Dominion column at New Delhi, General Sir Arthur Currie, Canada's leader in the Great War and now Principal of McGill University, Montreal, arrived back in Canada last night on board the Empress of Japan at the City of Victoria, where from a school teacher he rose to world fame.

With Sir Arthur is Lady Currie. They were greeted by a host of military men, war veterans and old-time personal friends.

Sir Arthur is in excellent health and spirits after his journey. He discussed political conditions i the Far East.

"While it was my good fortune to spend six weeks in India and Ceylon and almost another four weeks in China and Japan I am very diffident about giving publicity to any impressions I may have formed.

"We in Canada are principally interested from a commercial as well as a political standpoint. I think there can be no doubt but that more stable conditions prevail now in China than at any time in the past ten years.

Government Must Gain Control

"Conditions win not be completely staple until the Government is militarily strong enough to enforce everywhere it wishes. To my mind the greatest obstacle to the early fruition of that desired end is the opium traffic.

"China is the world's greatest virgin market and may become one of our

The Used Cars offered for sale by Ford dealers have been taken in trade for new Fords. Because there was no over-allowance at that time, there is no overcharge in the price you pay.

The Ford dealer bases his allowance on the true worth of the Used Car. It is resold to you on the same basis.

The Used Cars sold by Ford dealers include many makes and many types—open and closed. Some are relatively new—some have seen a great deal of service. There is a wide range of prices, depending on the make and condition of the car.

Before the Ford dealer offers a Used Car for sale it is gone over carefully by experienced mechanics and put in good serviceable condition.

The Ford dealer's business grows in accordance with the service he renders motorists in his territory. He knows that giving good honest value in Used Cars will lead to more sales of new Fords. He wants your business, your friendship and your respect.

See him, therefore, when you want a good Used Car. You can be confident of receiving good value for your money.

EDITORS GATHER IN WASHINGTON

Friendly Greeting Sent Out to Fellow Workers Throughout World.

WILL MEET PRESIDENT.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 17. — (A.P.)— Friendly greetings to their fellow workers throughout the world were ready to go out when members of the American Society of Newspaper Editors met here in the first session of their three-day convention.

Fred Fuller Shedd, editor of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin and President of the Society, had prepared the messages for dispatch by telegraph, radio and cable to newspaper heads in capitals of the principal nations. Arrangements had been made to receive the expected answers within 30 minutes.

A feature of the convention will be a visit the editors pay to President Hoover. Only Society members will be present and nothing will be published concerning subjects the President discusses. It is said to be the first time the President ever has received and talked with newspaper editors in such an informal manner.

TWENTY MILLIONS ARE UNEMPLOYED

and there is undoubtedly not the actual want in Canada that may be found in highly industrialized countries," he added.

United States Leads

It came as a shock to the people of the United States when the official figure of 6,050,000 unemployed was recently announced despite the fact previous unofficial estimates had run as high as 7,000,000. These figures place the United States well up in the international unemployment list. The enumeration of unemployed is made on different bases in different nations and as a consequence it is impossible to make accurate comparison. The latest official statistics available for the principal countries are as follows:

Germany	4,383,843
Great Britain	2,044,209
Italy	642,169
Japan	386,398
Australia	331,239
Australia	102,900
Netherlands	103,728
Sweden	80,578
Denmark	70,961
Belgium	63,540
France	28,536

These figures represent registered unemployed, wholly unemployed, and those receiving benefits. There is no doubt they do not reflect the situation in any adequate degree.

It is noted France which is well balanced as between agriculture and manufacture, stands at the bottom of this list as the least affected country in Europe.

Reports received here this spring are generally optimistic indivating a turn in the tide, anticipating the seasonal increase in employment. None the less there is an undertone of doubt in some of them.

Radicals and conservative economists in Washington maintain their respective attitudes in considering the problem of unemployment. The radical school asserts present unemployment is not due to stagnation in business but is to a great degree a result of the use of improved methods of production and machinery over a period of years; that these poor the world will continue to have with it until readjustment of working hours and provision for those displaced is made.

Luxury Industries

It is pointed out a considerable number of those who lose their jobs when a new machine is introduced in the industrial structure, find work in the service or luxury industries. Some get jobs at gasoline filling-stations, others become taxi-drivers or theatre ushers, and the rising standard of life absorbs them in other ways. However, it is admitted such activities take in but a small proportion of cast off workers. It is therefore necessary, they suggest, that some part of the profit which accrues to corporations as the result of the use of machinery and modern methods should be set aside for the security of those who lose their jobs.

Radical economists, of course, admit world unemployment has been increased to its present appalling proportions by the depression, financial and political troubles, as well as increasing supplies and diminishing markets. The conservative school things the world has enjoyed an era of extravagance for which it is now paying and that when people begin saving again, the credit structure is rehabilitated, markets expand, there is a readjustment of international trade, and prosperous times return, unemployemnt will again be a small worry. There is always a certain amount of unemployment, perhaps a million people in the United States are temporarily without work even in boom days, and economists do not think this is a bad thing inasmuch as it offers a supply of labor for new or expanding industry.

TO CONNECT NORTH AND SOUTH DEPOTS

Mass. Legislature Considering Bill Providing for Construction of Terminal.

BOSTON, Mass., April 17—Travellers destined to points on either side of Boston who have been forced to make a quick dash across the city from North to South Station or the other way around, may find relief under a bill now being considered by the Transportation Committee of the state legislature. The measure provides for the building of a tunnel under Boston from North to South, connecting the Boston Maine with the New York, New Haven and Hartford and Boston and Albany railroads.

The idea of a connecting tunnel under Boston has been gathering support as unofficial studies have been made of the problem, and the committee are convinced that justification exists for moving toward electrification of the railroads serving the city, connecting the roads by means of an electrified tunnel.

Another matter on which the committee has been working is that of trackless trolley lines. The trackless trolley can be made to use former street railway lines where the overhead wires have not been removed, though the rails are gone, and has a promising element of economy.

American manufacturers are establishing branch factories in Australia to avoid the country's high tariff rates.

Mrs. Melville Handley Hostess to Members of Society.

SERIES DATE SET

MOUNT PLEASANT, April 17 (Examiner Correspondence).—Mrs. Melville Handley was hostess for the April meeting of the Mount Pleasant branch of Women's Institute held at her home on Wednesday afternoon.

The president, Mrs. Garnet Shield, was in the chair, and conducted the meeting. Numerous letters of correspondence was read by the secretary, Mrs. A. Tully. A letter from the department announcing the summer series meeting to be held in Cavanville on June 30, the local branch having accepted an invitation from the Cavan ladies to meet with them. The president asked all the members to try to attend this meeting. A letter was also read from the department announcing a "Girls Conference" to be held in the O.A.C., Guelph, in May. A display of articles made at the "Arts and Crafts" classes was exhibited for the benefit of those members who were unable to attend owing to the bad roads caused by the heavy snow storm at that particular time.

The program was in charge of Mrs. W. H. Lowes and Mrs. Hannah Rutherford, the latter giving a splendid reading appropriate to the topics of the day. Mrs. W. H. Lowes read a poem on "Keeping Down the Weeds." Mrs. Thomas Graham and Mrs. Ira Lowe each gave papers on the subject "How to Control Household Waste."

An Anglican in religion, Mr. Bradley held the position of vestry clerk in Saint Thomas' Church for several yeras, failing health compelling the relinquishing of these duties within recent months. He was a member of J. B. Hall Lodge, A.F. and A.M., No. 145, and also of Millbrook Lodge I.O. O.F., No. 208.

Nineteen years ago deceased was united in marriage to Mina Bateson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Bateson, who survives her husband; the other immediate surviving relatives include one brother, Joseph, and one sister, Mrs. Sanderson (Lillian), both of whom reside at Long Beach, California.

WILLIAM WARREN.

MARMORA, April 17 (Examiner Correspondence).— A former highly-esteemed resident of Marmora Village passed away at his home in Lake Township on Tuesday evening in the person of William Warren. Deceased was in his seventy-seventh year. Many years ago he came to Marmora from Colborne with his brother, the late Joseph Warren, and opened a carriage and blacksmith shop in the village.

William Warren was a fine woodworker. Later the deceased worked as millwright for the Pearce Company for quite a number of years. The late William Warren was of a quiet, easy-going disposition, and made many friends. In recent years he had resided on a farm in Lake Township, near Vansickle Post Office. His wife predeceased him some years ago.

He is survived by two sons and one daughter, Frank of Calgary and Bert of Lake Township, and Mrs. George Morton of Hamilton.

Two brothers, Robert of Port Hope and John of Toronto also survive.

The funeral took place on Thursday afternoon, service being conducted in Marmora United Church, and interment being made in Marmora Protestant Cemetery. Rev. F. H. Howard officiated. Pall-bearers were: S. Vanvolkenberg, M. Ellis, G. Palmateer, F. Cole, C. Sopha, and D. McGregor.

MRS. ROBERT WEIR.

MADOC, April 17 (Examiner Correspondent). — The funeral of the late Mrs. Robert Weir, who passed away on Tuesday morning at Belleville General Hospital, was held from her home to Trinity United Church on Thursday afternoon, where her pastor, Rev. G. W. Rivers, conducted the funeral services, choosing as his text, "She hath done what she could" (Mark 14, 8).

Referring to the deceased, Mr. Rivers spoke of the great loss to her home, to the community, and to the church, in which she had been ever busy. The hymns chosen were "Forever with the Lord" and "My faith looks up to Thee," with Scripture readings from Psalm 23, John 14, Romans, and Revelations. During the service Mrs. Hulin sang "He'll wipe the tear from every eye."

Proceeding to Lakeview Cemetery, the burial service of the Rebekah Lodge was used, the members of the Lodge having attended the church in a body.

The pall-bearers were nephews of the deceased, and the flower-bearers Messrs. Reid, A. Smith, McBain, F. Smith, Bristol, and Wellman.

The late Mrs. Weir was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Conley, and leaves, besides her sorrowing husband, two sisters, Mrs. T. Bailey, Madoc, and Mrs. John McMullen, Port Arthur, and two brothers, Charley Conley, Madoc, and Peter Conley, Valor, Sask. CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, April 17.—A two cent drop in butter prices and a decline in cheese quotations featured the produce and dairy market here yesterday. Egg prices were irregular and potato quotations remained unchanged.

Due to large stock, butter prices have slumped three to three and a half cents so far this week, with indications of going still lower before the week is over. Yesterday fresh No. 1 finest lost 1¾c to 2c and regraded declined 2 cents, both being quoted at 28c per pound. To retailers, quotations were also lower, solids and prints dropping 1c to 32c and 33c a pound, respectively. Receipts were 409 boxes.

In sympathy with the butter decline cheese lost fractionally, Ontario colored being off ¼c to ½c at 11c a pound. Receipts were 289 boxes.

On the egg market Ontario and Prairie fresh eggs, in carlots, were unchanged, extras being quoted at 23c to 24c, firsts at 21c to 22c and seconds at 18c to 19c a dozen Carlot prices of British Columbia fresh extras and firsts ranged a cent higher at 24½c to 25c and 22½c to 23c, respectively, while seconds were unchanged at 18½c to 20c a dozen. Extras lost a cent at 28c and 26c a dozen and fresh firsts and seconds were unchanged at 24c to 20c. Receipts 1,665 cases.

New Brunswick Green Mountain potatoes, in carlots, were unchanged at 90c per 80-pound bag and to retailers $1.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, April 17.—Cheese prices reached lower levels yesterday on the local market, brokers quoting new large at 12c, twins 12¼c, and triplets 12½c, colored, paraffined. Government graded, a decrease of ¾c from Wednesday's quotations, and 1¼c to 1½c lower for the week. Retailers also reduced their prices, and were offering new large at 13½c, twins 13¾c, and triplets 14c, ½c less than asked on Wednesday.

Butter

The butter market continued to be a dull affair, and though brokers were offering finest makes at prices steady with the week's decline, there were no buyers. There was very little trading of any kind this week, but yesterday was, perhaps, the slowest day of all, with only nominal values at 31c for No. 1 creamery solids and 30c for No. 2.

Eggs

Prices to country shippers were reduced 1c per dozen yesterday, and brokers were offering fresh supplies at ½c less. Receipts were slightly heavier than previously, and the demand was not quite up to former marks, which resulted in country shippers being quoted 19c for extras, 17c for firsts, and 15c for seconds, ungraded, delivered, cases returned. Brokers offered graded eggs, in free cases, at 22c for extras, 20c for firsts, and 17½c to 18c for seconds. Retailers were quoted unchanged prices at 28c for extras in cartons, 24c for extra loose, 22c for firsts loose, 19c for seconds loose.

Poultry

Poultry buyers decided to leave their prices unchanged this week, that is, level with the increases made last week. One of the largest buyers was of the opinion that the future looked fairly good for poultry He though marketing on the present basis was about right, but pointed out that sudden overloading would send the prices downward again.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 17.—Reports that Argentina had deluged trans-Atlantic countries with wheat offering unsettled grain prices yesterday. Exchange rates on Argentina suffered a break, and Buenos Aires wheat quotations dropped 2¾c per bushel. These results were attributed to disturbed political conditions in South America and Europe. Late speculative trading, however, in which Chicago September and December deliveries of wheat were bought against sales of July helped to bring about rallies.

Wheat closed irregular, ranging from ¾c setback to ⅞c advance; corn, ¾c off to ¼c up; oats, ¼c to ¼c down to ¼c gain, and provisions unchanged to 15c decline.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, April 17. — Influenced by weak overseas cables, together with a lull in the export demand for wheat, prices in the wheat pit here yesterday eased fractionally, closing ¼c to ¾c lower than Wednesday.

Pit trade was fairly active and support was on a good scale, coming chiefly from seaboard connections. Only a few odd loads of Canadian wheat were worked for export.

GIRL GUIDES MEET.

Marmora Troop Reviews Work and Put on Contest.

MARMORA, April 17 (Examiner Correspondence)—The regular weekly meeting opened on Monday evening with prayer. Capt. Mrs. F. S. Pearce then read two letters, the one from Mrs. Warren, Dominion Commissioner and the other from Mrs. R. D. Ponton, Divisional Commissioner, both thanking the company and praising the girls for the lovely Easter cards which had been sent them. These cards had been painted by the girls in a competition. The winners were Grace Prentice whose card went to Mrs. Warren, Edith Phillips whose card went to Mrs. Routledge, Provincial Commissioner, Muriel Leonard whose card went to Mrs. Ponton, Marjories Loveless whose card went to Mrs. H. R. Haacke, District Commissioner and Grace Hemphill whose card went to Capt. Mrs. F. S. Pearce.

After patrol corners, the girls received all the work up to date. Marching and a game came next in which the winners were the Honesty and L of the Valley patrols.

Discussion, the conclusion of the story and "taps" concluded the evening. The girls concluded the evening. The girls felt greatly encouraged by the support given them at last week's concert. The posters advertising this were designed by the girls as entries in a closely contested competition. The winners were Rose Auger, Grace Hemphill, Barbara Wright and Grace Hemphill (tied).

About twenty-five of the Marmora and Deloro Girl Guides expect to attend a church parade at Stirling next Sunday leaving their headquarters, the White Hall at 9.30 a.m.

"Say! Brandram-Henderson, you're queering my game"

Yes, B-H "English" Paint is interfering with this cheap paint business — very seriously.

B-H "English" Paint, you see, is an exceptionally good paint. The 70% Genuine B.B. White Lead and 30% Pure Oxide of Zinc that form its base give it a tough, durable body — once it goes on to a job it doesn't, like cheap paint, have to be renewed every year.

B-H "English" Paint is easy to apply as it flows freely from the brush—its colors are lasting—it won't scale, crack or chalk—it covers every surface thoroughly — you can wash it safely—it wears more than twice as long as any cheaper paint.

MADE IN CANADA

Really, there is more genuine economy in paying the little extra for a can of B-H "English" Paint than there is in anything you might save on the original price of cheap paint. It's worth thinking about!

You'll like this!
There's no long waiting when you use B-H "Fast Drying" Stain — it DRIES IN FOUR HOURS!
And another thing! . . . it stains and varnishes in one operation — that's for economy!
Why not try it?

FRIDAY, APRIL 17, 1931

THE RANGERS CARRY ON.

The decision of the Peterborough Rangers to carry on as usual despite the fact that there has been a very marked decrease in the appropriations for militia training is typical of the very fine spirit that has always distinguished the regiment.

The Rangers propose to have a very active season, regardless of the bad news from Ottawa, and their determination under the circumstances is to be commended.

The spirit shown by all concerned should make it easy for the regiment to secure the recruits it requires.

When such patriotism and zeal to serve are to be found among the officers and non-commissioned officers of a militia unit, there are surely enough red-blooded young men in the community to more than fill up the ranks.

In addition to the most important of all, which is the satisfaction of performing a public service, there are other advantages associated with membership in a corps such as the Rangers.

Recruits are sure of good treatment, enjoyable comradeship, interesting drill and worth-while recreation, and these, in conjunction with the realization that their patriotic duty is being fulfilled, should result in a flood of applications for membership in the Peterborough unit.

A CHECK-UP NEEDED.

The newspapers carried a story yesterday of a fatal street accident in which the victim was hit by a car driven by a woman motorist who had no operator's license and who was driving a car with defective brakes.

These two circumstances may not have been in any way contributory factors to the accident, but they reveal a condition that is altogether too common.

We have strict laws in regard to licenses, headlights, brakes, etc., but the weakness in the system is that the check-up of these things is so spasmodic and indifferent that many people are inclined to take a chance, trusting to luck to keep them out of accidents and confident that they are safe from official attention so long as they avoid being involved in a mix-up.

And so people drive around without licenses, with their car carrying glare headlights or with defective brakes and nobody bothers a great deal about them until there is an accident.

More frequent check-ups would do away with a lot of this carelessness and teach the offenders that there are teeth in the traffic regulations, something that does not impress itself very firmly at the present time upon the public notice.

OBSERVING YPRES DAY.

The Examiner is glad to note that the anniversary of the Second Battle of Ypres is to be observed in the usual manner in Peterborough on Sunday by a church parade of the Canadian Legion and of the local garrison.

It was surprising to read a despatch from London, Ont., a day or so ago to the effect that the celebration of war anniversaries was not considered in keeping with the movement for world peace, and that the observance of the anniversary of the Second Battle of Ypres was likely to be discontinued after this year.

No body of men in Canada are more sincere in their anxiety that there should be permanent peace in the world than the members of the Legion; they know full well the horrors of war, and they have the intelligence to realize that ghastly as was the last war in many of its aspects it would seem like child's play alongside the horrors that would develop in another world conflict.

But the members of the Legion can see nothing inconsistent with a desire for world peace in the observance of an anniversary that should always be remembered by Canadians as that of an occasion upon which the Canadian army had its first real baptism of fire and met the test in a manner that electrified the world.

They believe it their duty—and The Examiner is heartily in accord with them—to see that the anniversary of the Second Battle of Ypres should be fittingly marked, and that the sacrifice of the Canadians who gave their lives there should be gratefully recalled.

If the world's peace is so delicately balanced that it can be seriously disturbed by such ceremonies as have been planned for next Sunday, Canada should be increasing rather than slashing her expenditures for defense.

NO SUPPORT FOR THE DOLE.

Not only from Premier Bennett but also from Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Opposition, and from Premier Bracken of Manitoba, did spokesmen for the Red element in Canada receive the definite answer on Wednesday that unemployment insurance on a non-contributory basis could not be considered as a possibility.

The deputation which waited upon the Premier at Ottawa afterward presented their views to Mr. King; at the same time a Winnipeg delegation interviewed Premier Bracken to seek his support for their plan of a system of unemployment insurance to which the worker would not be called upon to contribute.

The Opposition leader declared that Liberal consideration of unemployment insurance involved contributions by the worker, the employer and the state, and a similar reply was given by the Manitoba Premier to the Communist leaders who presented their case to him.

Mr. Bennett, Mr. King and Mr. Bracken were unanimous in their view that a non-contributory plan deserved no consideration.

As a matter of fact, the impossible demands of the Reds have done the cause of unemployment insurance a great deal of harm, intensifying the already strong opposition there is in this country to unemployment aid of the nature suggested.

Were unemployment insurance on a strict acturial basis to be proposed it is certain that it would be bitterly opposed in many quarters, especially by the farmers of the country.

What chance then is there for any great measure of approval for the dole system?

CADET TRAINING.

It will take something more than the resolution adopted by the trustees' and ratepayers' section of the Ontario Educational Association to abolish cadet training from the schools of Ontario. The demand for abolition is by no means as widespread as the noise created by some of the abolitionists would seem to indicate. People in general do not regard cadet training as a menace to the young. They do not believe that it engenders the military spirit or that it sows the seed for further wars. There were wars before cadet training was ever thought of and its abolition would be no guarantee against future wars. Hostilities are not declared by school children, but by Governments and peoples the majority of whom have long forgotten their cadet training if indeed they ever had any.

A member of the trustees- and ratepayers' section during the discussion which preceded the adoption of the resolution asked: "If we're going to frame the Kellogg pact and hang it upon our walls and say we support world peace, how can we train cadets at the same time? How can we teach no war and yet train soldiers?" It seems to us that this is an absurd attitude. Take the signatories of this pact. No one questions the sincerity of their desire for peace. Yet they continue training their soldiers and their sailors and maintaining their defenses on land and sea. But there is nothing inconsistent in this. These preparations are not for attack but for defence. Until the world gets much nearer the millennium a country must be prepared to defend itself should its safety be threatened. Disarmament undoubtedly would lessen the chances for conflict, but if all the navies and all the armies were abolished that would be no absolute assurance that there would be no more war. Armies and navies do not provoke conflict, but the spirit of the people. If this spirit is for peace there will be peace regardless of armed forces.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

PLAYING HOOKEY.

E. T. How of Windsor told delegates at the Ontario Educational Conference at Toronto that truancy was the first step toward a criminal tendency in later years. Rev. Hugh Ferguson, school attendance officer in Stratford, shakes his head at that, and Principal Sprung of the Collegiate also says nay, nay.

If all the boys who have skipped school turned out to be criminals, then there would be a bad outlook for the country. There would be no safety in any section.

They did not use to refer to it as truancy; it was called playing hookey. We never could understand why that word "hookey" was not given a place in the dictionary. All the boys and girls who used to attend school would understand it, and it was very commonly used.

There is nothing of a criminal instinct in playing hookey. It is merely following the call of outdoors. We have read of bright little lads who created records by going to school without interruption for years in a row. One might imagine that here was real strength of character, and that the boy had simply turned his back on the urge to skip an afternoon. It may have been that such a lad had no reason for wanting to get away; he may have had no desire to explore.

* * * *

About this time of year we imagine truancy used to run higher than in other seasons. We can recall that not far from the school there was a creek, and suckers used to run there in spring. Not much of a chance to catch one, but the very fact that the suckers used to rise to a torch at night and receive the business end of a spear lent a certain charm to the locality.

There were places in that creek, too, where, with a decent run, some of the boys could jump over. That was an accomplishment; it would give a lad more standing around school than heading the class in arithmetic or being last to go down in the Friday afternoon spelling bee.

Then farther along there was a dam where a few logs used to float around. They were slippery things, too, and standing on one of them and poling the way across to the other bank was a mark that stood as high as any honor roll could afford elevation. Not far off was the sawmill, and there were logs there in plenty, and some of them yielded in season slippery elm bark, a choice thing in itself, and also rather good for the health.

It was a fact that there were many such things to do. The day did not seem long enough in the ordinary course of events to fully attend them. There may have been a little speck of defiance against authority and regulation that sought expression, and playing hookey seemed to be a capital way to let this voice of rebellion speak its piece.

* * * *

Surely it was not a criminal instinct. Its worst feature was the manner of excuses it produced on the following day when it became necessary to explain why the seat was vacant the previous afternoon. We believe most hookey was played in the afternoon. The feeling may have been coming on during the morning, but it never reached irresistible proportions until after dinner.

There were no truant officers then; the pupil had to deal directly with the teacher, and then the teacher dealt directly with the pupil.

All that was known in advance. Many times the class had seen the fate of the lad who played hookey. He got strapped right up in front of the room where all could behold and learn the lesson of what happened to bad boys.

In this way the boys who played hookey was dealing in known quantities all the way through. He did not have recourse to the mysterious and unknown X of algebra. He knew that the pleasures of hookey meant the sure arrival of the strap, and he had to juggle with these known facts and make his decision accordingly.

Criminal instinct? No, not even if Mr. How of Windsor says so. Of course, we approve of regularity at school; it is one of those things about which the promptings of duty and our sense of responsibility to our readers cause us to sing sweetly.

And yet—and yet—and yet—with this season of the year coming on once more, we can't help saying that the boy who never played hookey and got strapped for it missed quite a good deal.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

TANAR OF PELLUCIDAR

BY

Tanar flushed. In all his life he had never been in so embarrassing a position. All eyes were turned upon him and among them were the eyes of Stellara.

"Well?" demanded Fedol, looking at Tanar.

"The girl is mad," said the Sarian. "She cannot love me for she scarcely knows me. She never spoke to me but once before and that was when she brought food to Stellara and me when we were prisoners in the village of Lar."

"I am not mad," said Letari. "I love you."

"Will you have her?" asked Fedol.

"I do not love her," said Tanar.

"We will take her back to the village of Lar with us when we go," said one of the warriors.

"I shall not go," cried Lesri. "I love him and I shall stay here forever."

The girl's declaration of love for Tanar seemed not to surprise any one but the Sarian. It aroused little comment and no ridicule. The Amiocapians, with the possible exception of Stellara, took it as a matter of course. It was the most natural thing in the world for the people of this island of love to declare themselves publicly in matters pertaining to their hearts.

That the general effect of such a policy was not nor never had been detrimental to the people as a race was evident by their high intelligence, the perfection of their physique, their great beauty and their unquestioned courage.

But with such matters the mind of Letari was not concerned. It was not troubled by any consideration of posterity. All she thought of was that she loved the handsome stranger from Sari and that she wanted to be near him. She came close to him and looked up into his face.

"Why do you not love me?" she asked. "Am I not beautiful?"

"Yes, you are very beautiful," he said; "but no one can explain love, least of all I. Perhaps there are qualities of mind and character — things that we can neither see nor feel nor hear — that draw one heart forever to another."

"But I am drawn to you," said the girl. "Why are not you attracted to me?"

Tanar shook his head for he did not know. He wished that the girl would go away and leave him alone for she made him feel uneasy and restless and entirely uncomfortable, but Letari had no idea of leaving him alone. She was near him and there she intended to stay until they dragged her away and took her back to Lar, if they were successful in so doing, but she had determined in her little head that she should run away from them at the first opportunity and hide in the jungle until she could return to Parapt and Tanar.

"Will you talk to me?" she asked. "Perhaps if you talk to me you will love me."

"I will talk to you," said Tanar, "but I shall not love you."

"Let us walk a little way from these people where we may talk," she said.

"Very well," said Tanar. He was only too anxious himself to get away where he might hide his embarrassment.

Letari led the way down the village street, her soft arm brushing his. "I should be a good mate," she said, "for I should love only you, and if, after a while, you did not like me you could send me away for that is one of the customs of Amiocap — that when one of two people ceases to love they shall no longer be mates."

"But they do not become mates unless they both love," insisted Tanar.

"That is true," admitted Letari, "but presently you shall love me. I know that, for all men love me. I could have for my mate any man in Lar that I choose."

"You do not feel unkindly towards yourself," said Tanar with a grin.

"Why should I?" asked Letari. "Am I not beautiful and young?"

Stellara watched Tanar and Letari walking down the village street. She saw how close together they walked and it seemed that Tanar was very much interested in what Letari had to say to him. Doval was standing at her side. She turned to him.

"It is noisy here," she said. "There are too many people. Walk with me to the end of the village."

It was the first time that Stellara had ever indicated a desire to be alone with him and Doval felt a strange thrill of elation. "I will walk with you to the end of the village, Stellara, or to the end of Pellucidar, forever, because I love you," he said.

The girl sighed and shook her head. "Do not talk about love," she begged. "I merely wish to walk and there is no one else here to walk with me."

"Why will you not love me?" asked Doval, as they left the house of the chief and entered the main street of the village. "Is it because you love another?"

"No," cried Stellara, vehemently, "I love no one. I hate all men."

Doval shook his head in perplexity. "I cannot understand you," he said. "Many girls have told me that they loved me. I think that I could have almost any girl in Amiocap as my mate if I asked her; but you, the only one that I love, will not have me."

For a few minutes Stellara was silent in thought. Then she turned to the handsome youth at her side. "You are very sure of yourself, Doval," she said, "but I do not believe that you are right. I would be willing to bet that I could name a girl who would not have you; who, no matter how hard you tried to make her, would not love you."

"If you mean yourself, then there is one," he said, "but there is no other."

"Oh, yes, there is," insisted Stellara.

"Who is she?" demanded Doval.

"Letari, the girl from Lar," said Stellara.

Doval laughed. "She throws her love at the first stranger that comes to Amiocap," he said. "She would be too easy."

"Nevertheless you cannot make her love you," insisted Stellara.

"I do not intend to try," said Doval. "I do not love her. I love only you, and if I made her love me of what good would that be toward making you love me? No, I shall spend my time trying to win you."

"You are afraid," said Stellara. "You know that you would fail."

"It would do me no good if I succeeded," insisted Doval.

"It would make me like you very much better than I do now," said Stellara.

"You mean that?" asked Doval.

"I most certainly do," said Stellara.

"Then I shall make the girl love me," said Doval. "And if I do, you promise to be mine?"

"I said nothing of the kind," said Stellara. "I only said that I should like you very much better than I do now."

"Well, that is something," said Doval. "If you will like me very much better than you do now that is at least a step in the right direction."

"However, there is no danger of that," said Stellara, "for you cannot make her love you."

"Wait and see," said Doval.

As Letari turned to come back along the village street they passed Doval and Stellara, and Tanar saw that they were walking very close together and whispering in low tones. The Sarian scowled; and suddenly he discovered that he did not like Doval and he wondered why because always he had thought Doval a very fine fellow. Presently it occurred to him that the reason was that Doval was not good enough for Stellara, but then if Stellara loved him that was all there was to it and with the thought that perhaps Stellara loved him Tanar became angry with Stellara. What could she see in this Doval, he wondered, and what business had Doval to walk alone with her in the village streets? Had not he, Tanar, always had Stellara to himself. Never before had any one interfered, although all the men liked Stellara. Well, if Stellara liked Doval better than she did him, he would show her that he did not care. He, Tanar the Sarian, son of Ghak, king of Sari, would not let any woman make a fool of him and so he ostentatiously put his arm around the slim shoulders of Letari and walked thus slowly the length of the village street; nor did Stellara fail to see.

At the feast that was given in honor of the messengers sent by Zural, Stellara sat by Doval and Tanar had Letari at his side, and Doval and Letari were happy.

After the feast was over most of the villagers returned to their houses and slept, but Tanar was restless and unhappy and could not sleep so he took his weapons, his heavy spear shod with bone, his bow and his arrows, and his stone knife with the ivory handle, that Fedol the chief had given him, and went alone into the forest to hunt.

If the villagers slep an hour or a day is a matter of no moment, since there was no way of measuring the time. When they awoke — some sooner, some later — they went about the various duties of their life. Letari sought for Tanar, but she could not find him; instead she came upon Doval.

"You are very beautiful," said the man.

"I know it," replied Letari.

"You are the most beautiful girl that I have ever seen," insisted Doval.

Letari looked at him steadily for a few moments. "I never noticed you before," she said, "You are very handsome. You are quite the handsomest man that I ever saw."

UNDERSTANDING AND FAITH

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear sir:

The great mass of the people still believe that the source of all power comes direct from God through man to the Bible and like many who teach and lead them they are still in the stone age of reason ethics and science.

Believing in commandments written on tablets of stone, burning bushes, dreams and visions and failing to realize that God has now given men the microscope, spectroscope and telescope; the chemists test tubes and the statisticians curve in order to enable men to make their own revelations, neither science nor any mortal will ever be able to get at. (A first cause).

It is unthinkable. In the evolution of thought one looks for philosophic rather than dogmatic treatment. The growth of an idea, its influence on the different races of men and on their religious views is just such an evolution as cannot be traced with any degree of certainty. We are naturally in a different atmosphere from that of the scientist in the region of matter. The spirit of a religion, while a very real thing, influencing the minds of men as nothing else can do, is still an elusive and intangible thing, coming as it often does through channels that are biased if not utterly antagonist, spreading and taking with it the thought of different ages and of different religions.

To-day modern thought is used as synonymous with physical and biological science and it is time people were sitting up and taking an unbiased view of the present day situation and scrubbing up what knowledge they read in print every day. It would save some of us from what was termed The Great War.

A Thought

SELF-MASTERY

I imagine that we all wish to enjoy our bodies and the world to which they give us access; and I am sure that we were meant to. They are among the best of the good things of life. But we cannot enjoy them; and it has been truly said that "nothing is evil if a man have the mastery over it, and nothing is good if it have the mastery over man." To keep the mastery of your own life in your own hands is the secret of happiness.

The driver of a motor-car, if he be a wise man, will occasionally try his brakes in order to see that they are in full use should the need arise; and the knowledge that they are available for full use gives him confidence. A well-known writer has told us that he forces himself to write a certain number of words each day in order to keep himself in trim, with a view to the moment when the real inspiration shall come. And although an athlete will go into special training for a special occasion, he will, even while the great event is still far off, exercise himself less strenuously and at odd times in order to keep himself on the threshold (as it were) of his form.

We need not always be exercising mastery; indeed I think the lighter we keep our hold on life the better; but the mastery should always be available, ready on call.—Philemon, in From My Window.

What To-day Means To You

"ARIES"

If April 17th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:15 a.m. to 11:50 a.m., from 3:15 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. and from 9 p.m. to 10:45 p.m. The danger hours are from noon to 2:30 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

According to astrological signs, April 17th will prove to be a day rich in opportunity. Something unexpected and from an unexpected quarter, will materialize, and future success depends on the character of its reception. Everyone should be alert, so that the occasion be not lost.

Children born on this April 17th will, owing to the inherent weakness of their characters, never accomplish very much if left to their own resources. They will need to be associated with those of a strong self-assertive nature. They will then give proofs of conscientiousness and steady application.

If you were born on April 17th, you are extremely active and possess a great capacity for work. Even when you are apparently idling, your brain is not at rest, and you have formulated many a successful plan while—or so it seems to others—you were wasting time. Any task you essay is tackled with such concentration and so much enthusiasm that the final result of your efforts is never in doubt.

Your nature is a generous one, and your sympathies are wide. High ideals too, form part of your equipment, and, if in business, your will be a hard road to travel, as you will never sacrifice conviction for expediency. In spite of your strength of character, you are rather too trustful of others. The signs denote that, on more than one occasion, you will be sadly let down by those in whom you placed your confidence.

You are rather impatient of those who do not attach the same importance to work as you do, and you will never learn to rest on your oars. Until the grim end, you will always be in harness.

You are not bumptious, and, in your family circle, you reign supreme through sweetness of disposition and amiability of character.

BRAZILIAN TRACTION.

A considerable amount of discussion is heard on the Street these daysas to the amount of money earned by Brazilian Traction Light and Power Company in gold and also whether it would not be better under present conditions to publish the monthly earnings in milreis as well as in dollars. In this connection it is pointed out that although such statements for the months of January and February revealed a net decrease compared with the published figures for the same period in 1930, a different picture is made when one calculates these earnings in milreis. Basing such a statement on the average exchange value of the milreis of approximately 8.82 as compared with 11.11 for the same month of 1930, the gross earnings in milreis actually showed an increase of 4,792,000 milreis and the net earnings an increase of 5,138,000 milreis in 1931 over the earnings of similar months last year.

In view of the general business conditions in Brazil it is very gratifying to note that the company has been able to show a substantial increase in both gross and net earnings in the national currency of the country in which it operate for the first two months of this year. Although no official information is available, Financial Service understands that approximately $13,000,000 of the company's earnings are payable in gold and are believed to be sufficient to offset the disbursements in gold chargeable against income.

MILLIONS MINED FROM HOLLINGER

Over Hundred and Sixty Million Bullion Produced Since 1911.

AT PORCUPINE CAMP.

For many years the Hollinger Mine has been the greatest gold producer on the American continent. Over one hundred and sixty million dollars in gold bullion has been produced since commencement of milling operations in 1911. Over twenty million tons of ore have been treated. The company has an impressive dividend record, also, having paid out almost fifty-five million dollars in dividends to shareholders. The company is now paying at the rate of 65c per share per annum, plus occasional bonuses.

The property is located in the Porcupine camp, Ontario, and has been developed to a depth of 4,000 feet. The management intends to continue the workings down to at least 6,000 feet in the near future. The mill is now treating between 4,500 and 5,000 tons of ore daily. Ore reserves have been increasing recently and now at least ten years' supply at the present rate of production has been developed.

The company is in a strong cash position. Investments are handled by a subsidiary company, the International Bond and Share Corporation, and at last report these investments were valued at almost twelve million dollars. Current assets exceeded current liabilities by over four hundred thousand dollars. The company has about eight thousand shareholders, the vast majority of whom are resident in Canada. The stock is traded in on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange Toronto.

Old Country Market For Trinidad Sugar

Yellow Crystallized Sugar Sold to England and "Grey" to Canada.

PORT-OF-SPAIN, Trinidad, B.W.I., April 17. — (By the Canadian Press.)— Trinidad needs to tell the world about her sugar, according to a prominent sugar broker of London, who says there is a good time coming for sugar and Trinidad should advertise if she would be ready to take the tide on the turn and rise with it. Trinidad, he says, produces economically a high grade of sugar which is finding favor on the market, and when prices rise she will be in a favorable position to recoup herself for the present lean times.

"West Indian sugar is mostly sold in the Mother Country in the form of yellow crystallized and it is gratifying to know that of all the West Indies it is Trinidad that ships the best kind," said the London broker in an interview with The Trinidad Guardian. "The consuming public are showing an ever-growing appreciation of its merits and although after the war there was a tendency to use white granulated in preference to anything else, there is now a revival of the vogue for 'yellows' and some of the foremost doctors have come forward and definitely stated that it contains vitamins and propertier which are not to be found in other sugars.

"In future the demand ought to expand further and it is essential meanwhile that the quality should be kept up and that the very efficacious propaganda that has been carried on in the United Kingdom should not be continued but increased.

"A quantity of 'Grey' sugar is sold every year to Canada and in this respect it is just possible a little more co-operation among sellers and some kind of agreed selling policy among the various West Indian Islands might result in better prices being secured, but the question is a delicate one because Canadian refiners are on the alert and if they thought prices were being held up against them they might adopt retaliatory measures."

INDUSTRIAL RESEARCH IS INVESTMENT INSURANCE

One of the largest investment trust organizations on the continent has established ten tests to which it submits all investments considered for its fund. These tests have been applied to one thousand or more leading investment securities of the continent, and their application has reduced the number of stocks considered for investment to approximately 50.

Among the ten tests is one that is of the utmost significance when it is considered that the investment trust in question is a fixed trust and that the securities selected by it are purchased for a 30-year hold. This test, according to The Financial Post, Toronto, simply is that the corporation in question must have a well-established and progressive research department. It is felt that no corporation lacking in fundamental research activities can hope to maintain its strength and dominance over a term of years. On the other hand, the company that pays due attention to research will be able, in the ordinary course of events, it is thought, to meet new competition, new developemnts, obsolescence in its plant or products, and to stay in the van of successful companies.

The establishment of such a test for industrial securities by a leading financial organization indicates the important role that scientific research has come to play in modern industry. It shows that research is a factor in successful investment.

TECHNICAL POSITION IMPROVES.

Further absorption of the common stock of Montreal Power by investors, has reduced the floating supply in the market still further and this undoubtedly has been a great factor in steadying the price of the stock during the recent setback in the market. The movement of Power shares out of margin accounts into investors' strong boxes has been going on for a year.

Two With One Shot Costs City $2,500

MONTREAL Que., April 17. — Bringing down two birds with one stone may be good marksmanship but it may also prove to be bad business. Because a city constable in shooting a condemned dog wounded with the same bullet a pedestrian on a nearby sidewalk, the City of Montreal will be obliged to pay damages of $2,500, according to a judgment handed down in Superior Court to-day by Mr. Justice Martineau.

Base Metals Irregular and Oils Quiet on Standard Exchange To-day.

IN LIGHT TRADING.

TORONTO, April 17 (CP).—Though relatively dull from the opening, the mining list had a somewhat stronger appearance to-day with small gains in the majority among the golds, base metals being irregular and oils quiet.

Nordon was a cent or so higher while other oils were steady.

Welland Tube Plant Ready For Production

WELLAND, April 17 (By The Canadian Press).—The main buildings and plant of the Page-Hersey Tubes, Limited, for the manufacture of seamless tubing have been completed and placed into operation. It is expected that these works will go into full time production upon receipt of the necessary raw materials of steel now on order.

These works will give employment at the outset to some two hundred operators but this number will be largely increased as soon as busin ss conditions warrant. The mill was erected and equipped at a cost said to be in the neighborhood of two million dollars.

Winnipeg Review

Special Service to The Examiner through the courtesy of E. J. Bawlf Company, Grain and Stock Brokers, of Toronto

The wheat market was quiet yesterday with very little of interest going on. There was only a small export business worked overnight, about 200,000 bushels and the weakness in Liverpool, Buenos Aires and also the stock market was responsible for some selling and prices fell away to 1 1-8 under the close Wednesday night. On the decline there was some good buying for seaboard accounts which absrobed the offerings that were not heavy at any time. Shorts covered later and most of the earlier losses were regained, the market showing a healthy tone. There was only a quiet demand for cash wheat but there was no pressure from holders and spreads were all unchanged. Lake navigation was opened Wednesday at midnight but only a small amount has gone out so far and shippers appear to have their requirements well in hand. There was no rain over spring wheat territory the past 24 hours, and there was no moisture promised in the weather forecast. Complaints are reaching this market that the wind storms and soil drifting have caused damage to seeded wheat in North Western States. Black sea shipments this week are 1,200,000 bushels of which Russia shipped 586,000 bushels. Liverpool closed ½ to ¾ lower and Buenos Aires was 2¼ lower at mid-day, that country again having trouble with its exchange. Country marketings in the west on Wednesday totalled 287,000 bushels; last year 100,000 bushels. There was another 300,000 bushels of barley worked for export since the close of the market yesterday but otherwise the coarse grains were quiet and featureless.

MANNING HAD CLOSE CALL

Paul Manning, 45, of Port Dalhousie, an electrical engineer in the employment of the Department of Railways and Canals, had a narrow escape from electrocution recently when his head came in contact with a high voltage wire, sending 22,000 volts through his body and throwing him to the ground a distance of 20 feet.

Manning, who was formerly employed with the Engineering Department of the Canadian General Electric Company in this city, was seriously burned on the head and hands. For almost two hours doctors, with others, worked over the apparently lifeless man, being successful in their efforts.

TORONTO LIST HOLDS STEADY

Trading Almost at Standstill During Opening Hours—Small Point Changes.

P. H. TUBES DECLINE.

TORONTO, April 17 (CP).—Trading was almost at a standstill on Toronto Stock Exchange this morning; in the first couple of hours only the usual leaders made an appearance with several of these experiencing only nominal turnover. Prices were graded lower, though losses were generally so small as to be of no importance other than to show that the tenor of the market still is still.

Page-Hersey Tubes came in for a short splurge of liquidation which forced the price down 2 points to 85. But it was a lone exception. Nickel, Bell Telephone, Ford of Canada, Brazilian Traction, Dominion Stores, Canada Cement were off less than ¼ point with the exception of the last named, which eased ¾, off a point. Walkers sold uniformly at 7.

B. A. Oil was still moderately active but the remainder of the group were quiet. At mid-day all were selling unchanged from where they had left off last night.

WHEAT SPECULATION DOESN'T FIX PRICE

Wall Street Journal is of Opinion Aids Marketing.

NEW YORK, April 17.—Arguing that speculation does not affect prices so much as merely register them, the Wall Street Journal says editorially:

"If the farmers of Canada, as well as of the United States, could talk with the consumers of wheat in England, they would be surprised to find that while they look upon speculation as lowering prices the consumers are positive that it raises them. Both opinions cannot be correct, and in fact neither of them is. Speculation is no more a factor in registering prices, and those prices represent an equation of supply and demand. When the weight of opinion is that there is more wheat than can be consumed the price will fall, and when the supply appears to be short it will rise.

"Since November 17, 1930, the market in the United States for the current crop has been non-speculative, owing to the Grain Corporation having pegged a price about 35 cents above the world parity. But the corporation has kept out of the new crop, therefore July and September futures are in a free speculative market. On a world basis they should sell from 17 to 20 cents under the Liverpool price, but they do not. Wheat for July delivery at Chicago is actually higher than at Liverpool. Those who assert that speculation depresses prices will h ve difficulty explaining this maintenance of price in an exporting market higher than in the importing place.

U.S. Steel To Vote New Pension Plan

NEW YORK, N.Y., April 17 (CP).—Stockholders of the United States Steel Corporation will vote Monday on a revised pension plan which would retire their president, James A. Farrell, in February, 1933. Executives of a number of subsidiaries also would be retired in a comparatively few years.

The plan prepared by Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the finance committee, calls for compulsory retirement at the age of 70. Officers may retire voluntarily, or at the request of their superiors, at 65.

Among officers of subsidiaries who would be affected most quickly by the program is Ward B. Perley, president of the Canadian Steel Corporation, Ltd., December 7, 1933.

The pension plan provides that the pensioner shall receive one per cent. of the average annual salary for the ten years before retirement, multiplied by the number of years of service.

National Steel Covers First Period Dividend

NEW YORK, April 17.—The first steel company to make public its earnings for the initial quarter of 1931 is National Steel Corporation, which yesterday stated that it had earned substantially more than its common dividends in that period. National Steel was also the only major steel company to earn its common dividend in the last quarter of 1930.

"Net earnings after depreciation and depletion, available for interest, were approximately $2,620,000 for the first quarter of 1931, or more than 4.8 times the interest requirement on the company's funded indebtedness presently to be outstanding, including the $40,000,000 of first mortgage 5 per cent. bonds just offered by the National City Company and the Bankers Trust Company. Net for the same period of approximately $1,926,000 after all charges and Federal tax was equivalent to 89 cents a share on the common stock, compared with the 50-cent quarterly dividend requirement," Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the board informed the directors.

BANK RESERVE SUGGESTED TO COVER BOND DECLINES

Moody Official Tells Bankers How to Market—Adequate Buying of New Issues, But Not All Passed On, Says Standard Statistics.

TORONTO, April 17.—The relationship of banks to the bond market, by a coincidence, was discussed yesterday by two statistical and advisory organizations. They spoke chiefly from the United States point of view; but, inasmuch as the most active demand for Canadian Government and municipal issues is currently from the United States, their remarks are of moment to Canadians.

In the midst of the current bull market for high-grades, Russel Leavitt, vice-president of Moody's Investors Service, advocated creation of special reserves by banks to protect their bond accounts. He said that a great deal of the recent decline in bonds was attributable to liquidation by banks which, faced with a loss on some issues, immediately dumped their holdings into the New York market.

To prevent recurrence of such a condition, when there is need for it, he advocated establishment of reserves ranging from 6 to 8 per cent. for first grade issues, to as high as 30 per cent. for certain foreigns and other less stable issues.

Such a fund, he said, could easily be built up from all capital profits accruing from the sale of appreciated securities in the various banks' bond accounts. Part of the trouble, he pointed out, has been bad judgment on the part of buyers in selection issues to be held. But even is these errors were more numerous than might have been expected, existance of a reserve as suggested, would have prevented undue selling down of sound issues.

Banks, as well as individuals, he told a group of bankers at Glen Cove, N.Y., should realize that everything which goes up often comes down, bonds being no exception, although they move in long-time swings. He suggested that the size of a bank's reserve for this purpose should be determined by the character of its portfolio.

From the standpoint of funds available just now for taking up bond offerings, Standard Statistics Co., also discussed the part played by banks in making a bond market. "Savings banks and insurance companies are responsible for a substantial part of total purchases of new bond issues, and provide an indication of the relative scarcity of abundance of potential capital," says this company.

It is added that while demand from these sources is good, there is an increasing tendency to discriminate in the matter of yields degree of security, etc. Recently there has been a gradual decline in the volume of new deposits available to take up new bond offering. The company's comment concludes:

"On the whole, there exists a buyer's market so far as most bond offerings are concerned. There appears to be an adequate amount of purchasing power for the highest type of security, commensurate with relatively attractive yield, although it is evident that not all of these best issues have found lodgment with ultimate consumers."

FARMERS' STORY TOLD AT PROBE

First Witness Opposes Futures Market as Bringing Wider Fluctuations.

STEADY MART IS AIM.

(By Gills Purcell, C.P. Staff Writer)

REGINA, Sask., April 17.—Farmers from the Prairie wheatlands of Canada told their story to-day before the Royal Commission enquiring into the effect of grain future sales on the price received by the producer. For the first time since the enquiry, under the chairmanship of Sir Josiah Stamp, opened its session last Monday, agrarian testimony was preponderant. During the four days at Winnipeg all but one of 21 witnesses were called by the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Proposed earlier opening of the hearings was cancelled when the commission was forced to move from the court house to the city hall, to gain seating capacity for 200 persons. Eleven witnesses were listed to appear.

"This commission has nothing to do with the Grain Market Act or compulsory pools," stated Sir Josiah Stamp, chairman, in opening the session. He conceded that all witnesses would be permitted the widest possible latitude, providing they restricted their statements within the inquiry's scope.

First witness of the day was Harry Marsh, of, Herschel, Sask., pool director speaking as a producer. He opposed the futures market as bringing wider price fluctuations which are disadvantageous to producers and as bringing lower average prices.

The great thing for the farmer is a steady market, the witness believed, claiming the farmer is not interested in fluctations but in actual price received. He thought there should be some system of marketing to keep the price levels the same as much as possible, but admitted that abolition of the futures market at Winnipeg would not remedy the situation since the other futures markets would continue their influence on world prices.

PORTRAIT OF PRINCE OF WALES

Visitors to the Officers' Mess of the Prince of Wales Dragoons in the Armories will notice a large portrait of the Prince done in natural coloring. The masterpiece is the work of Van Dyke, London, England, whose photographic firm has done many portraits for the Royalty. The picture measures 24 by 34 inches, and is set in a becoming light oak frame.

The portrait itself is an original photograph tinted in lifelike colors. The Prince is in a standing position, and is dressed in a khaki uniform. The picture was procured at a cost of approximately $25 and is a rare achievement.

A similar photograph, that of the King, was also sent on approval, and though well worth the money will most likely be returned to the London agent on his visit to Peterborough this summer.

LIST CONTINUES LOWER TREND

Share Prices Drift Lower For Fourth Successive Session at New York.

NEW YORK, N.Y., April 17 (C.P.)—Wall Street still groped in a fog of pessimism today.

For the fourth successive session, share prices drifted lower. The decline has not had an important interruption in four weeks. And while the feeling persists in brokerage circles that one of those explosive technical rebounds that normally punctuate declining markets must appear soon, no able signs of such a development fail to appear. An effort was made to rally the list in the early trading, but the upturn was short-lived and was quickly lost.

U. S. Steel sank slightly below yesterday's minimum to record a new bottom since 1927. Auburn added a little life to the proceedings, advancing 4 points, then dropping more than 20 from the top, getting more than 40 points under its recent peak of 295½. Electric Autolite lost 6 points and Dupont and Corn Products half as much. International Telephone, which has a large investment in Spain, lost 2. Continental shares dropped 2 points to a new low at 5, compared to the year's high of 12. Oils were heavy. Atlantic Refining dropped into new low ground on reporting a loss of more than $2,000,000 for the first quarter. Other shares off a point or two included American Telephone, North American, Borden, Goodyear American Tobacco B, Royal Dutch and American Smelting.

Trading continued at a listless pace.

The money market remains fairly firm at current low levels, largely attributable to government withdrawals of funds on deposit with banks.

AUSTRALIAN

time Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. William Morris Hughes, and a few right wingers of the Labor Party have flocked to his banner to form one great moderate party pledged to fight Labor and the extremist forces.

Mr. Lyons later to-day accepted leadership of the new United party.

Mr. Latham's resignation followed the disclosure that Hon. E. G. Theodore, Commonwealth Treasurer, had challenged the right of the Commonwealth Bank to cut off money supplies to the Government. (The bank had declined to honor any further overdrafts.) The Treasurer's attitude convinced Mr. Latham that the national situation had become desperate, necessitating the unity of the opposition forces at any cost. He, therefore, stepped out himself.

Went Into Power 1929.

The Labor Government went into power in October, 1929. The general elections of the previous year had given Labor, under Mr. Scullin, who had just assumed the leadership, the largest group in the House, but Prime Minister Bruce was enabled to carry on by combination of the Nationalist and Country parties. In October of 1929, however, the Labor party assumed a clear-cut majority and went into office.

Since then, defections of right-wingers and the ousting by Prime Minister Scullin of the more radical Extremists, have placed the government in an embarrassing position. Within the last few weeks, the Government was saved on several occasions only by the support of the Extremists whom the Prime Minister had repudiated. Earlier this week the Government was saved by only two Extremist votes.

C.N.R. BUSINESS ON UPGRADE IN THE LINDSAY DIVISION

Grain Boats From Upper Lakes Expected to Arrive at Midland About April 20th.

NEWS OF THE TOWN.

LINDSAY, April 17.—(Special to The Examiner).—According to the statement of local C.N.R. officials, indications greatly strengthen the belief that business now on the upgrade on this division. Grain boats are expected to arrive at Midland from the upper lakes about April 20, and the grain will undoubtedly be hauled to the East via Lindsay, Peterborough and Belleville. Boat freight has also started to move over the line, and stone trains are also in evidence.

Alex Magee, who resides near the village of Janetville, lost his entire maple syrup plant by fire a few days ago. The loss, which is estimated at about $200.00, included a modern equipment, as well as the building in which it was housed.

A shipment of German "Roller" canaries, together with a couple of parrots, arrived in Lindsay today from Germany for Mr. H. Wendt. The birds were in good condition when they reached here. They were crated in four inch square cases, and were nine days in coming from Liverpool.

Seven farmers in Victoria County are applying to the Provincial Government for bonuses which would amount to $200.00. These farmers belong to the Victoria County Live Stock Improvement Association, and will be allowed bonuses for having pure bred bulls. The bonus price amounts to 20 per cent of the purchase price of the animal.

A rather interesting real estate deal was pulled off in a local law office a few days ago, when a large vacant town lot was sold for $1.00. On investigation, it was surmised that the lot had been disposed of with the idea of avoiding taxes, as Town Treasurer Aldred claims there is some $600.00 back taxes against it. The town will take steps to collect this amount.

Mr. John Gaynor, of Beaverton, is authority for the statement that he recently saw a pure black gull flying with a flock of white gulls over the edge of Lake Simcoe. It is doubtful if a black gull has ever before been noticed in this section.

Mr. Arthur Welch, of Victoria Road, who has been employed at the stone quarry at Uthoff, fell off the crusher a few days ago and broke his leg in two places. He was removed to Lindsay hospital.

Death came suddenly to Conductor Coker of the C.P.R. Burketon-Bobcaygeon train Wednesday. Deceased, who had retired from service, has been spending a week's holidays at Bobcaygeon with his son-in-law, Mr. B. Wolley, of Lindsay, and has just returned to his home in Toronto when the summons came.

Mr. A. L. Killaly of Peterborough, superintendent of the Trent Valley Canal, was present at the opening of the two-way bridge at Fenelon Falls on Wednesday. This bridge replaces the old narrow wooden bridge across the canal and built many years ago.

According to reports received from different sections of Victoria county, fall wheat is in better condition than it has been for many years. The crops have wintered well. The clover is reported to be in good condition, although it has suffered more than the wheat from frost. Seeding, it is thought, will be general by the end of the week.

Receipts of radio stations in Manchuria last year were nearly double those of 1929.

GREAT OVATION

thanked him for his courtesies and said:

"I am deeply touched by the Paris reception. I shall try to be an agreeable exile."

One of Alfonso's first inquiries upon reaching Paris, it is understood, was for the welfare of his third son, the 17-year-old Infante Don Juan, who was taken to Gibraltar from the Naval Academy at Cadiz sortly after proclamation of the Spanish Republic.

He appeared greatly relieved upon being told that arrangements had been made for Juan, to take the Roma to-day from Gibraltar to Naples, from where he may proceed to Paris. In view of the physical deficiencies of the Infantes Alfonso and Jaime, Juan's two older brothers, it is he who probably would be picked as Alfonso's successor to the throne.

Never Gives Up Hope

It is Alfonso's position, as made clear by the Duke of Miranda, who accompanied him on his trip into exile, that he has not abdicated, but has merely suspended the royal prerogative until elections in June, when the people will decide whether they want him back or wish a republic.

In days gone by in discussions with friends the possibility of revolutionary upheaval in Spain country, he has commented that his people are volatile, and change their favorites quickly. Those to whom he talked thus believe he is convinced that he may return to Spain some time with unimpaired popularity.

Elizabeth, Queen of the Belgians who came here yesterday from Brussels to be at the side of Queen Victoria in her hour of need, had a brief chat with Alfonso and Victoria this morning and then departed for Brussels. She found the Spanish royalties in their dining room at breakfast.

SALESMEN NEEDED

WINNIPEG, Man., April 17 (By The Canadian Press)—Expert salesmen for farm products is a dire need at the present moment. In an address recently J. H. Evans, deputy minister of agriculture, declared that a "crying need of the day is expert salesmanship for farm produce."

Other lines of business, he said, had their expert salesmen. Mr. Evans asked his listeners if they knew "how much more money is spent on advertising and expert selling of toilet articles in Canada than is spent on advertising or selling farm products."

The producer, the produce trade, and the consumer, he declared, should work in closer co-operation for the benefit of all three. Working together, these three phases of trade would then be able to eliminate sudden market fluctuations and other factors which distributed business.

STEMMING PROGRESS

WINNIPEG, Man., April 17 (By The Canadian Press) — There are three important factors threatening agriculture in Manitoba according to R. D. Colquette, associate editor of the County Guide, farm journal. Mr. Colquetee told the agricultural bureau members of the Board of Trade recently that weeds, rust epidemics and reduction of fertility of the soil is stemming the forward march to prosperous agriculture.

Manitoba has reached the end of the pioneering stage in agriculture, he added, and it is now in the same stage reached in Ontario 40 or 50 years ago. The three drawbacks he referred to must be eliminated before a prosperous agricultural income can be reached.

LABRADOR COMING INTO HER OWN NOW

To-day it is Country Much Talked About With a Real Future.

As Britain's oldest colony and an integral part of the British Empire, Labrador is fast coming into its own. For many long decades only explorers, the Hudson's Bay Company, and the fisherfolk knew it intimately. To-day is is a country much talked about, having a future in which the general public takes a deep interest. One evidence of its value was found in the settlement of the boundary dispute between the Canadian and Newfoundland Labrador, and the awarding of the northern water-shed, by decision of the Privy Council of England, to the Colony of Newfoundland. Time was when none knew, and few cared, where this boundary lay but the interest exhibited by Great Britain, Canada and Newfoundland in the award has testified to a radical change of attitude toward Labrador. One consolation for Canada was found in the fact that none of this territory has gone outside the British Empire.

This putting of Labrador on the map and finding for these sturdy fisherfolk friends in the outside world has been largely due to the hospital and humanitarian work established by Dr. (now Sir Wilfred) Grenfell and his associates since 1892. Nor could he and his helpers have accomplished what has been done without the interest and generous aid of Mission friends and the public in general. When Dr. Grenfell arrived in Labrador he found an honest, hard-working people, totally lacking medical and surgical care, uneducated and without adequate schools, earning by diligence a precarious living through fishing, furring and sealing, and carrying on trade mostly through a system of bartering. At the present time our northern fishermen are reclaiming their economic freedom, their hope and courage, in a chance to develop their invaluable talents, almost lost in the hard struggle of life on the northern frontier. The question is sometimes asked whether this population — resident and transient — is worthy of the effort and money expended on it. The answer seems to be that here is a sturdy, self-reliant people who are unhappy when taken from their natural environment and who contribute, all out of proportion to their number, to the wealth of the world in fish and fur.

As to the promise which this work holds out for the future, it may be stated that already a marked change for the better has taken place. Schools have been established, the contribution of the people themselves to Grenfell hospitals has increased, and the foundation for further industrial development and better social conditions, laid. When the trend as at present, is toward centralization in cities, it would seem that any enterprise which tends to keep people in a country where their sturdy qualities and personal resourcefulness is developed, is worthy of consideration and support. The object of the Grenfell Mission from the beginning, and its policy throughout, has been and is to help those people to help themselves.

Frankford Woman Succumbs Suddenly

TRENTON, April 17.—Overstrain in trying to extinguish a grass fire she had started in front of her home just north of Tabernacle, five miles west of Frankford, caused the death of Mrs. Frank Wrightman on Tuesday.

Ernest Hubble, of the ninth concession of Murray, was driving by and saw her body in the front yard of the Wrightman home and immediately summoned Dr. McMullen, of Frankford.

The woman was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Casement, of Frankford. There were no children, but an adopted son survives.

ALBERTA COAL TO ENTER U.S. FREE.

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 17. — (C.P.).—Decision of the United States Treasury that lignite or sub-bituminous coal imported from Alberta was not coal under the meaning of the tariff law and so might enter free of duty has been confirmed after the collector of Customs at Pembina, N.D., had asked for a ruling. The Treasury also reaffirmed its regulation that briquets imported from Canada were dutiable as manufactured or partly manufactured mineral at 30 per cent. ad valorem.

HAVELOCK TAKES DEFINITE ACTION ON SCHOOL WATER FLUSH SYSTEM

School Board Order Tile and Appoints Foreman to Start Excavation.

LENGTHY DISCUSSION.

HAVELOCK, April 17 (Examiner Correspondence).—After working on plans for a proposed new water flush system in the Continuation School for the past two years, and having gone over in this time many alternative plans and had estimates submitted for same, the local school board took four definite steps toward solving a problem that has puzzled other board members for a long time.

At the regular April meeting of this body, held in the school Thursday evening, they arranged to have the village council make the necessary tile for the system, appointed foremen to look after the excavation and carpenter work, discussed the question from almost every angle, and decided to call a special meeting to make final arrangements for the installation.

F. J. Squires occupied the chair and opened the meeting shortly after seven-thirty. Mr. Yuill, principal of the Public School, reported that fifteen children had started at Easter, which is about the average number. Also that he had not yet discovered who was responsible for the broken windows, but was still investigating in the hopes of making the pupil pay for same. Meanwhile, the caretaker will replace the broken panes. G. F. Coates of the Continuation School asked for and obtained leave, on Tuesday morning next, when he will write on mathematics in Peterborough. The caretaker, Robert Buchanan, reported that the toilets had been cleaned a short time ago and were now in a much better conditions. The correspondence as follows was ordered filed: Hornsby and Allan, re newspaper publication; T. G. Griffith, re water pressure system; Carbo Engineering Co., re mechanical draft for the furnace. The following accounts were ordered paid: G. W. Chiles, light bill, $7.65; Joseph Newton, sanitation, $15; teachers' and caretakers' salary, $1,128.06.

Guides to Use Room

A delegation of Mrs. Jean Moore and Mrs. (Rev.) Lennox waited on the board to obtain use of the schoolroom for the Girl Guide meetings once a week. This request was granted and the Guides will have the use of Form I. room, the only one that has removable desks. They will have a key and will see that everything is in order before leaving, which is one of the Guide rules.

A lengthy report was then heard from Mr. Squires, chairman of the property committee. He told of Mr. Ball, the sanitary engineer from the department being in the village recently, when he went over the ground with the property committee, the district officer of health, Dr. Sutton; Mr. Hornsby, architect, and Reeve Sanderson. A great deal of time was spent and the alternative plans dealt with fully and the best plan favored having the toilets in the south-east corner of the school basement, and the sewage will be run down a six-inch tile to a tank near the town hall on Oak street. The tile for the remainder of the way will be the ordinary cement tile that is used in the town drains. It is understood the tile used will be the best procurable and will last for many years. All those who have taken an interest in the proposed plan say that the physical features of the land lend themselves perfectly to the system, and it will be a very simple matter with the straight gravity feed. Mechanical devices such as the slush pump, as recommended in one plan, will be entirely lacking. One electric pump will be capable of pumping the water from the town drain to the town hall; then forcing it to the school.

For a very small sum of money, the village could tap into the system and use it for the town hall toilet system, that will likely be installed at the same time. This was recommended by the engineer. It is understood that an extra tank will be needed to slow up the sewage, after its quick descent from the school to the hall.

Mr. Hornsby was in the village a few days ago and proposes taking the plans to the department for their approval before submitting them to the board; this will save time and will hurry up a job that has long been hanging over the local board. As soon as the plans are submitted to the board, they will call a special meeting and make final arrangements, including a requisition to the town council for the necessary sum with which to carry on the work.

Order Tiles at Once

The tile to be used will be made by Bert Wannamaker for the town council. These were ordered to be made at once so that they will have been properly seasoned when the work commences. The board decided to have Tom Forsythe as foreman for any carpenter work that will be required. David Vansickel will be the foreman in charge of the excavation work. These men were chosen after a great deal of discussion. It was decided that in hiring men to work on the installation, that ratepayers and tenants with families would be given jobs first. The secretary was instructed to write the Goldie Construction Company and obtained the price of the brick tile they offered the board some time ago, for partitions in the basement. Hornsby and Allan, architects from Peterborough, will look after things until the work on the system commences and have been hired to do this at the cost of $75. The board adjourned shortly after nine p.m.

FIRE LOSS HEAVY

WINNIPEG, Man., April 17 (By The Canadian Press)—The yearly fire loss in Canada is greater per capita than the whole of Europe, according to T. W. McKay, civil engineer of Winnipeg. Thirty-three per cent of the people in Canada who suffered from fire were unable to re-establish themselves, he declared in an address recently.

Total loss yearly in Canada, statistics showed, amounted to about $100,000,000. The greatest fire menace, Mr. McKay said, was on farms in Western Canada where buildings were constructed without much thought to fire safety.

KEEP MINISTERS ON THE PRAIRIES

United Church Home Mission Board Figure on Maintaining Work in West.

OPENING NEW FIELDS.

TORONTO, Ont., April 17 (By The Canadian Press).—The centre of interest in the United Church's activities throughout Canada, including its relief projects for the West, shifts from the prairies to central offices here for the week commencing April 15, when the Board of Home Missions holds its annual meeting. Representatives will be present from every province to consider regular and emergency grants to maintain religious ordinances in 4,200 Canadian communities.

Advance reports from presbyteries show that practically every minister in the dried-out areas is at his post and the concern of the Board of Home Missions will be to keep them there throughout 1931. Outlay of $1,303,000 for 1930 will be reported to the Board, which passes upon all requests for regular and special aid during the present year. The outlay was $1,448,000 in 1929.

Home mission committees of conferences have already met to check up on requests from presbyteries and approve amounts to be submitted to the approaching board meeting. For two days before the board convenes its appropriations committee will be in session here, scrutinizing the amounts submitted by conference committees.

The secretary of the home mission board, Rev. Robert B. Cochrane, D.D., strongly emphasizes that the financial stringency is still affecting church income on mission fields and even seriously hampering some self-sustaining charges in all parts of Canada. This is specially the case in grain-growing areas and pioneer districts. For example, of 132 formerly self-sustaining charges in southern Saskatchewan, 45 are this year asking for aid.

A few very strong pleas for the opening of new fields and the building of churches are being received for presentation to the board, notably from the end of steel in the Peace River country and from northern Saskatchewan.

At present, there are 1,423 fields, comprised of approximately 4,200 preaching places, in which local givings must be supplemented in some measure by funds allotted to home mission work Maintenance Fund and administered by the home mission board. More than half of these preaching places are west of the Great Lakes, about 1,850 of them in the three prairie provinces.

SEAMEN RETURN FOR BACK WAGES

Saved From Almost Certain Death on Reefs Off Turk Island. Sailors Return From Dead.

BROKE BUT HAPPY.

SAINT JOHN, N.B., April 17.—Saved from almost certain death by a hairbreadth twist of destiny, five seamen have returned to Saint John to claim back wages. They were the mate and crew of the three-masted schooner Leo LeBlanc, which sailed from here November 23, on a doomed voyage. The ship fell victim to the jagged reefs of Grand Turk, in the Turk Islands.

Broke but philosophically happy, the men were Leo Romain, of Tusket N.S., mate; J. W. Grant of Parrsboro, cook; J. Warden of Truro N.S.; E. Burton, of Weymouth, N.S., and H. Jensen, of Denmark, all seamen.

As distressed British seamen they were brought from Kingston by the Government. They applied to B. S. Purdy, shipping master here, for their wages, as Saint John had been fixed as the paying-off port where the ship sailed from here. Mr Purdy immediately sent out wires in this matter and the men were informed that the matter would be cleared up as soon as possible.

The master of the ill-fated ship, Captain Henry Burke, had previously returned to Canada via New York.

"It's no use crying over spilt milk," said Cook Grant as he and other members of the crew reviewed the disaster. "A sailor's life is always a gamble.

Sometimes the dice are loaded against us and sometimes we throw a big winner. In this case, we would have been very much richer men if the ship had completed the trip."

They were very fortunate to be alive, declared Chief Mate Romain, as they would have had to swim for their lives if the vessel had drifted on the northwest ledges of Grand Turk, instead of the pilot heading the ship inshore and taking the chance of having the bottom ripped out by protruding ledges. They were wrecked on his wife's birthday, he added, smilingly.

HOUSE CAT FURS LISTED

When "Cat, House" appeared as one of the items in the British Public Sales Report recently all who had lost feline pets in the last year began to ask questions. A prominent fur dealer came forward with the announcement that the skins of ordinary domestic cats were used, but they came from Holland, where cat farms breed house pussies solely for their fur. The dealer had just sold a large quantity of cat skins to a European silk manufacturer, who used them in some way in making silk.

CANADIAN AUTHORS MEET AT TORONTO

Will Discuss Incorporation Under Dominion Charter at Meeting in June.

TORONTO, Ont., April 17 (By The Canadian Press).—A proposal to seek incorporation under the laws of the Dominion will be under discussion when the Canadian Authors' Association meets in annual convention here from June 24 to 26. This was recommended at a recent meeting of the National Executive.

The head office of the association, under the constitution as at present, moves every second year in rotation between Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and Winnipeg and repeated proposals to establish the headquarters permanently with Ottawa favored, have so far been rejected because of the expense involved.

The recent meeting of the National Executive—including Dr. W. D. Lighthall, president; Mr. Justice Surveyer, vice-president; Prof. Pelham Edgar, Toronto, John M. Elson, Toronto, M. O. Hammond, Toronto, and Dr. E. A. Hardy, Toronto—again discussed this matter. It was pointed out that Ottawa would be the seat of the head office for the next two years under the rotation system, so it was not thought advisable to specify that place for permanent headquarters. The annual convention, however, should be empowered to choose any Canadian city as headquarters for two years, the executive recommended.

Another matter up for discussion will be the safeguarding of authors' rights in the legislation contemplated by the Dominion Government next session, a new Dominion Act being necessary to ratify Canada's signature of the Berne International Copyright Agreement as revised at Rome. The association's reconstituted copyright committee is now acting on this matter. On the eve of the annual convention there will be a drive with a reception at the Art Gallery. On June 27, after the conference closes, the delegates will be offered an excursion to Niagara Falls.

A good attendance is expected, for the interest and loyalty shown in the association is maintained at a high mark. A considerable number of members have already announced their intention to join in the voyage to England in 1932 if the convention of that year is held there, as suggested.

Many Missing Works Of Great Rembrandt

Cape Town Said to Have a Genuine Old Master But Number Missing Placed at 70.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, April 17 (By The Canadian Press).—Cape Town has a genuine work of Rembrandt, "The Taxidermist," according to a writer in The Cape Argus, Eric Rosenthal, who quotes the late Dr. C. Hofstede de Groot, whose name had been a household word for a generation among experts on Netherlands art, as his authority. Dr. de Groot was the managing editor of the monumental "Catalogue Raisonne of Works of the Most Eminent Dutch Painters of the Seventeenth Century," a learned index of thousands of pictures at which an international group of specialists worked for a number of years.

Rosenthal says: "There are several dozen missing Rembrandts waiting to be accounted for; 650 oil paintings, according to the most exhaustive compilations, came from Rembrandt's brush. No fewer than 70 are missing. How many have been rediscovered even in modern times is seen from the fact that in the eighties of last century the total list only amounted to about 500, so that the South African find would be by no means unprecedented.

"The most dramatic revelation of a missing Rembrandt was probably that of the 'Young Polish Rider.' From documents which had once belonged to the artist's family it was known that the painting existed; yet for more than 200 years it could not be traced. About 40 years ago the report somehow got around that a certain Austrian nobleman was reputedly in possession of the masterpiece. Like a set of detectives the European experts got to work to find who that retiring grandee might be. In the end they were successful. Count Tarnowski, of Dzikow, in Galicia, admitted that he owned the 'Young Polish Rider.' At first he felt very loath to let anybody see it, in his obscure ancestral gallery in a castle amid the Carpathians.

"A great deal of correspondence resulted in the Count sending an invitation to Dr. Bredius, the most notable Rembrandt authority of his day. This Dutch expert visited the almost inaccessible private gallery and at once pronounced the 'Young Polish Rider' to be the missing portrait. Notwithstanding his immense wealth Count Tarnowski could not resist the offer made to him by Messrs. Knoedler, of London. The picture was sold to an American millionaire, H. C. Frick, of New York, and it was made a condition that the price should never be disclosed. It is, however, believed to be the biggest sum ever paid for any picture—$1,250,000."

SALARIES SUBJECT TO QUESTIONNAIRE

Average Wage of Yale Men Four Years After Graduation Found to be $3,000.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 17.—The average salary of a Yale man four years after graduation is about $3,000. This figure has been established by a questionnaire sent out to determine salaries, reasons for changing jobs, and the occupational history of the graduate after obtaining his degree.

The inquiry included a searching investigation of the 1926 class of Yale, and disclosed that such commercial pursuits as advertising, merchandizing, commercial transportation and general office work led in salary returns by producing a yearly average of $4,000 for the college man four years out. After these are financial occupations, banking, investment securities, real estate, and insurance with about $3,600, and close behind these come manufacturing and engineering. The average return from teaching is about $2,100.

The best paid form of work was shown to be salesmanship, with an average return of $4,200 to those engaged in it. Professional workers who have utilized most of their spare time since graduation in continued study, average about $2,000.

Nearly sixty per cent of the cases reported show that positions have not been changed since graduation. The graduates who have changed have held from two to seven jobs and their reports show that they are averaging $200 a year less than those who are still with their first firm.

According to census figures just released Java has 821 people per square mile.

NEW DIRECTOR OF CHRISTIES

Former Errand Boy of Famous Company of Auctioneers Admitted to Firm.

FASHIONS IN PICTURES.

LONDON, April 17.—(By Thos. T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—Alec Martin has just become a partner in the famous firm of Christie's auctioneers of art treasures, whose history goes back over a century and a half. Thirty-five years ago Mr. Martin worked for the firm as an errand boy, but only served them, in those days, during the season of the sales. At last he was taken on permanently as a clerk, and devoted himself to the valuation of pictures.

"I remember the time when Landseer pictures and Meissonier prints fetched tremendous prices," said Mr. Martin. "Now, nobody wants them. Pictures have their fashion like everything else, but I feel that quality in art will be justified in the long run, and that people who take the trouble to collect a few works of real merit are bound to profit in the double sense."

In Christie's sale-room there is still the mahogany rostrum made by Chippendale in the early days of the firm. There is also the ivory hammer (minus the original handle) with which lots were "knocked down" more than 100 years ago. It is probably that Dr. Johnson knew the inside of these famous sale-rooms; certainly Lord Chesterfield did, for he rode there in State in order to give his friend, James Christie, the benefit of such an advertisement.

James Christie started as a book auctioneer, and numbered among his intimate friends David Garrick, Reynold and Gainsborough. Christie was called upon to sell off Garrick's effects. From his auction rostrum he told with emotion how the great actor upon hearing on one occasion that he (Christie) had lost $100,000 by becoming security for a miner, rushed around to aid him with a loan of $50,000.

The Dickens sale in 1870 was another notable auction, and then came those of the Prince Napoleon's art collection, Landseer's pictures, Gladstone's fine collection of Wedgwood, and the Duke of Marlborough's gems and cameos.

Leeds' Big Festival Of Wonderful Music

Triennial Musical Festival Next October Will Feature Many Choral Works.

LEEDS, Eng., April 17.—(By the Canadian Press)—The main interest in the Leeds Triennial Musical Festival, which will be held in Leeds Town Hall from October 7 to October 10 next, will be in large-scale choral works, according to the prospectus recently issued, though there is to be no dearth of orchestral music nor lack of variety in the choice of periods, composers, and styles.

Four Masses, but as unlike in character as things bearing the same name well could be, are to be given, one on each day of the festival—Cherubini's Mass in F minor, Deliu 's Mass of Life, Bach's Mass in B minor, and Berlioz's Messe des Morts. Handel will be represented by Solomon in Sir Thomas Beecham's version, which will begin the festival. Bach has besides the Mass the double concerto for violins, which will be played by Albert Sammons and Miss Isolde Menges, the well-known "Jesu, joy of man's desiring," and Wachet auf. Three new choral works will be heard for the first time—Frederick Austin's Pervigilium Veneris, Eric Gogg's The Seasons, and William Walton's Belshazzar's Feast. The unaccompanied choral music consists of Brahms' Fest and Gedenkspruche, a series of three motets written for performance at Hamburg in 1889 on the occasion of his receiving the honorary citizenship of his native city, and four of Parry's great cycle "Songs of Farewell." No choral work of Elgar's is included, presumably in order to avoid poaching on the preserves of the Three Choirs Festival, but his violoncello concerto is to be played by Antoni Sala. Vaughan Williams' Toward the Unknown Region, which was written for the Leeds Festival of 1907, is to be revived.

Postpone Appointment Of Athabasca Bishop

It was really the first time Dorothy had ever been away from home alone. She was happy as could be at Aunty's, and romped and played the whole day long — till bedtime came — then a terrible fit of homesickness came over her.

Aunty was at her wits' end . . . till she thought of Long Distance. In just a few seconds Dorothy's mother was talking to her little girl . . . quietly, firmly, cheerily . . . then she told her to let Aunty tuck her away in bed.

Everything was all right after that. Dorothy felt that her mother really wasn't far away after all. And the telephone had saved Aunty from an awkward predicament — at a cost of just 35 cents.

UTILITIES SHOW LARGER SURPLUS

First Three Months of 1931 Ahead of Those in 1930, Statement Reveals.

LOSS IN GAS DEPARTMENT

Peterborough's utilities show an even better position for the first three months of this year than for the same period in 1930, as shown by the financial statement of the Utilities Commission. Revenue has increased in the electrict department and expenses decreased to show a net profit of $10,365 as against $5,414.75 for the first three months last year. In the water department expenses have been cut with the result that profits are $4,374.63 as against $3,296.38 in 1930.

Loss In Gas Department

A loss naturally shows in the operations of the gas department for the first three months of the year, since the use of gas does not come into its own until the summer months. However, the net loss for the gas department which was $1,337 for January, February and March last year was reduced to $1,015.10 this year. The gas department for the year 1930 showed a profit and the Commission is confident that its showing will be even better this year.

The statement is as follows:

Electric Department.

Revenue: 1930—$79,435.99; 1931—$81,613.13.

Expenses, including interest, sinking fund and depreciation: 1930—$73,971.24; 1931—$71,248.13.

Net operating profit: 1930—$5,464.75; 1931—$10,365.

Water Department

Revenue: 1930—$33,802.68; 1931—$33,100.55.

Expenses, including interest, sinking fund and depreciation: 1930—$30,506.30; 1931—$26,725.92.

Net operating profit: 1930—$3,295.38; 1931—$4,374.63.

Gas Department.

Amount of gas sold: 1930—10,517,700 feet; 1931—10,927,500 feet.

Net loss: 1930—$1,331.00; 1931—$1,015.10.

The Commission yesterday afternoon inspected the dam at the water works and decided to have the dam re-surfaced. It is estimated that the work will cost about $1,500 and will be done under contract.

ACADIANS VISIT CAJUN COUSINS

Tread Trail Evangeline Trod in Her Exile in Louisiana Oak Forests.

WILL UNVEIL STATUE.

ABBEVILLE, La., April 17.— The trail Evangeline trod in exile from the forest primeval of her native Acadie was followed to-day by 150 pilgrim descendants of the folks she left behind. They are here to return last year's visit of their "Cajun" cousins and participate in the unveiling Sunday of a statue in St. Martinsville of Longfellow's heroine.

The visitors from Grand Pre, N.S., including girls, clergy and officials, enjoyed a feast of barbecued crawfish—a famous "Cajun" delicacy — last night and gathere this morining for mass with the natives in the quaint and aged Acadian church here. To-day's journey led through the Spanish moss hung lanes of live oaks of the Bayou Teche country into a dozen villages where receptions had been prepared. To-night will be spent in Lafayette.

The statue Evangeline is in the shadow of the tall, Gothic spires of the St. Martinsville church which was built in 1765 by the Capuchisn priest Rev. Jean Francois and is the oldest house of worship in Louisiana. Monsignor J. A. Richard Acadian Catholic Bishop of Verdun, Que., will be in charge of the dedication.

Uncertain of Grave Site.

St. Martinsville "Cajuns" claim that Evngeline's grave is by this church, but her grave also is pointed out elsewhere, and of course there is no certainy that the ethereal maid ever existed save in Longellow's fancy.

However, the exile of Evangeline's people is no mere legend. The story of how upwards of 14,000 of them were mowed down from Nova Scotia tgo Louisiana during the contest between France and Great Britain over the North Amereican continent is one of the most moving chapters in this State's history. To-day there are several thousands of the Acadians in this section of the State and their name has been colloquially corrupted to "Cajuns." At the time of the wholesale deportation about 4,000 of the Acadians remained around Grand Pre. Though no visit was exchanged between the Canadian and Louisianan groups until last year they have remained very similar in customs and language to each other and their common ancestors of two centuries ago.

To Be Premier

Following the resignation of Premier Mamaguchi as a result of wounds sustained when an attack was made on his life some months ago, Reijiro Wakatsyki, above, former Premier and Japaneses representative at the London Naval Conference, is mentioned as Emperor Hirohito's choice to fill the vacant post as pilot of the ship of state.

VARIETIES OF GLADIOLUS

The small backlot gladiolus fan who is already puttering around his flower beds and entertaining the idea in the back of his mind that he would enjoy showing some of his blooms at one of the annual flower shows in fall will in all probability be glad to see that this paper is publishing a list if the various types of "glads" with the number of growing days which will elapse before the flowers are in full bloom.

The following suggestions which mention some of the types of gladiolus best suited for exhibition purposes may also be of value to the grower who is a little doubtful as to which blooms are ideal for show. There is a great deal of difference between a utility flower and the exhibition type and such flowers as Evelyn Kirkland, E. J. Shaylor, Niagara, Halley, and Scarlet Princeps are largely grown for bloom or florist trade, but for the exhibition class one should favor some of the newer well formed varieties which will give wonderful satisfaction and are usually in the winning class. The following are a few of this type: Berty Snow (mauve pink), Captain Boynton (rich lavender), Catherine Coleman (salmon pink), Dr. Bennett (flame scarlet), Giant Nymph (salmon), King George (crimson with white blotch), Marietta (salmon pink), Marmora (silvery grey lavender), Minuet (finest mauve), Pfitzer's Triumph (world's finest red), Velchen Bleu (deep violet). The variety mentioned above as Marmora is a real sensation, and one of the most recent developments of Errey, the outstanding Australian gladiolus fancier, who has several new blooms to his credit.

Monday next has been the date se for the delegates from the C G.E. Horticultural Society and the Peterborough Horticultural organization to meet and discuss the advisability of combining the flower shows of these two societies into one large flower exhibition which would be held in August.

This plan was followed last season and was a convenient arrangement for both parties, besides giving the flower loving public an opportunity of seeing an unusually large and gorgeous floral display.

TALLEST MANNEQUIN A HIT

Miss Joan Sasselle, the world's tallest mannequin, recently appeared in a London style parade, and created a sensation. She is six feet, one inc tall and weighs only 122 pounds, so that her demonstration of the slim, willowy figure was the envy o the short and the stout. She buys abnormally long coats and wears them as three-quarter length garments. All other clothes must be made to order. Miss Sasselle is 20, and does not enjoy being so tall, especially when boys on the street call her "Carnera," she says.

IRISH SCENES ARE DEPICTED BY REV. TEBBS

Irish Wit and Humor is Subject of Address in St. John's Parish Hall.

LECTURE ILLUSTRATED.

"Irish Wit and Humor" was the subject of an interesting travelogue given by Rev. G. W. Tebbs of Burlington, Ontario, before a capacity audience in St. John's Parish Hall last evening. The lecture was under the auspices of the Churchwomen's Association. Commenting on a slide depicting a typical Irishman with protruding mouth, the speaker said "That is because their brains are near their mouths, so impromptu and so clever are their humorous sayings. Nevertheless, the Irish people are very hospitable; their greeting to you is "Daed Mile Failthe'—'a hundred thousand welcomes'."

A large selection of slides aided the lecturer in taking his audience on a tour of the country. Beautiful Dublin Bay was portrayed in a natural manner. This was followed by views of the city itself. "The city ought to be a wealthy place" said Mr Tebbs, "as the capital is always doublin'" Pictures were shown of Sackville street one of the main thoroughfares of the city. The great and sombre Post Office was crowned with three images, which one Irishman said were "the Twelve Apostles—the other nine were in the basement sorting out dead letters." A narrow street was also shown; the houses were those built by the Hugenots who came to Ireland after the Edict of Nantes. These dwellings were overcrowded. Often enough there were four families to a room—one in each corner—and trouble only arose when a family in the middle commenced to take in boarders.

The speaker then took his audience to the graveyard "to cheer up a bit." Most noteworthy of all was the beautiful carven tomb of Cardinal McCabe. Outside of Trinity College, Dublin, were shown the monuments of Goldsmith and Burke. The picture turned to St. Patrick's Cathedral, the one held three hundred years previously by the famous Dean Swift. A view of Christ Church Cathedral, the seat of the Dublin-Dedeagh Diocese, was included. The typical cul-de-sac streets behind the cathedrals were interesting to the visitor.

The scheme then shifted to Lismore Castle, the country seat of the Duke of Devonshire. Nearby was the village of Kilkenny with its prominent Anglican Cathedral. Within this edifice was a seat on which a Roman Catholic bishop had to sit before he could be consecrated in his own cathedral. Views of Cork included the beautiful old cathedral. Blarney Castle, nestled in the trees, was shown and mention made of the custom of "kissing the Blarney Stone."

The scenes along the River Lee on the way to Kerry were enchanting. At Youghal, an old-time residence, the first potatoes were grown and the first tobacco was smoked by Raleigh, when the maid threw a pail of water over him, thinking he was on fire. The Kerry Mountains and the Killarney Lakes were also lovely in their native grandeur. Vast stretches of useless land were shown, and on this ground were grown two crops "rocks and thistles."

The sleepiest town in Ireland was depicted in Galway. Mr. Tebbs then took his audience around the west coast of Ireland, showing the natural bridges worn out into their present phenomena by the tidal forces. At this point a typical thatched cottage was shown. The Shannon river was pictured as being one from which such large salmon were caught "that their eyes were used as headlights for cars. A panoramic view of Derry revealed the Cathedral, Victoria Bridge and the guns on the fortifications.

The great natural phenomenon the Giant's Causeway, was well depicted with its immense crystals of basaltic formation. On the steps of the causeway were seated "old biddies who made pre-historic arrow heads while you waited." A few views were shown of Belfast, the seat of the Ulster Government. The linen loom and the shipyards were pictured as the chief industries of this city. Very interesting were the tall "round towers" reminiscent of the ancient days when every section of Ireland had its king who watched from the top of his tower to spy out the advance of a frequent enemy host.

Warren Point, the nearest part of the country to Scotland, was a very pretty spot. An old man of 86 was seated outside of his cottage, and when he was asked how long his father had been dead he replied, "Why, bedad an' he's still alive. He's in thur now puttin' grandpa to bed," referring to the ripe old age to which the Irish folk live. Cashel, where the Irish kings used to be crowned, proved to be a romantic little place in its lovely seclusion. The final view of Ireland was the beautiful sea coast which faces the Atlantic.

The lecture was preceeded by prayers conducted by Rev. E. R. James, who also introduced the speaker of the evening with interesting and witty remarks suitable to the occasion. As a prelude to the travelogue, Orville Wainman sang "Daddy" and "Smilin' Through" in his pure and clear soprano voice. The address was concluded by the singing of the National Anthem.

Grain Growers Will Start In Exporting

WINNIPEG, Man., April 17 (C. P.). — United Grain Growers Limited, farmer-co-operative, is re-entering the business of exporting Canadian grain, R. W. Law, president of the company, announces.

The export business will be under the direction of J. J. O'Donohue as manager of the Grain Growers' Export Company, Inc., a subsidiary company with headquarters, has reopened in the New York Produce Exchange.

Prior to 1926, when the exporting department was discontinued, the company, with 450 elevators in the country and terminals at Port Arthur and Vancouver, was a large exporter of grain from the Prairies.

SOVIET NEEDS OF TRADESMEN

Moscow Forms Special Section for Foreign Delegates Chosen at Last Election.

MORE ARE COMING

MOSCOW, April 17.— The Soviet Union is beginning to realize the possibilities of labor immigration. The Orgburo (organization department) of the Moscow Soviet has just decided to form a special section to take care of its foreign delegates and alternates, who number about forty, and more than 100 foreign delegates of borough Soviets.

In this country the Orgburo is a highly important department, the Communist party central Orgburo ranking second to the better known Poli (Political Bureau) and the new section will have a wide and increasing scope. The highest authorities are keenly interested in the question of foreign workers, many of whom, including some Americans, were elected to Soviets all over the country during the recent elections, although they were not members of the Communist party, and the Moscow Soviet's decision may be regarded as the first step toward an immigration commission, the formation of which has bene contemplated by far-sightedest minds here.

Skilled Workers Welcomed.

Newspapers announced to-day that a group of 200 Finns, mostly lumber workers in Canada, have applied to come to Russia at their own expense and that many other foreign-born Canadians will follow their example if permission is given, as doubtless will be the case. It was announced here recently that no employment would be given to "unqualified" foreigners entering Russia on tourist visas, but that a warm welcome would be received by skilled workers irrespective of race or color.

The Bosheviki probably don't believe the current depression in the capitalist world is permanent, although they think it will take longer to overcome than is hoped abroad. Nor do they suigest that conditions here are such as to offer satisfactory living conditions to any but young or enthusiastic immigrants. On the other hand, it is believed conditions here will materially improve after next Autumn, before the capitalist depression is ended. If the Bolsheviki's hopes are realized, it is expected there will be an influx of foreign workers to the "proletarian fatherland where there is no unemployment.

MACHINE GUN MEN MEET AT HALIFAX

Fifth Annual Convention of "Suicide Corps" Opens on August 27.

HALIFAX, N.S., April 17—Eight hundred officers of the famous Canadian Machine Gun "Suicide Corps" will gather in Halifav August 27 for a three-day reunion, and their fifth annual convention.

There are 1,200 members of this unit—one of Canada's youngest wartime fighting outfits—mostly resident in Canada, but a few scattered to various parts of the world.

Highlights of the convention will be a forty-five mile sea cruise; a 200 mile sight seeing trip through the famed Annapolis Valley, and their annual reunion dinner to be held here. A luncheon will be tendered the officers by the United Service Association.

Lieut-Col. Cyril Colwell, officer commanding the 6th Battalion, with companies at Halifax, Truro and Kentville, is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

FISHERMEN VIEW C.P.R. PICTURES

Members of the Fish and Game Association See Splendid Outdoor Pictures.

SOME FINE CATCHES.

Numerous members of Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association, and prospective members were last evening afforded the unique opportunity of viewing a series of motion pictures of special interest to fishermen, through the courtesy of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

One picture of particular interest entitled, "Kawartha Muskys," and filmed in the Lovesick Lake region gave a pictorial narrative of a fishing trip undertaken by Ozark Ripley and Indian Al two ardent disciples of Izaak Walton, while glimpses were also afforded of several of the guides in that district familiar to all sportsmen, and including "Scotty."

Ozark Ripley with his wife and party were also shown in another film taken on the Gatineau, that region of alluring and romantic waters, teeming with bass.

"Hook, Line and Sinker," the title of another of the films took the audience a little further afield into the salmon waters of New Brunswick. In this film as in all the others some splendid fishing and camping scenes were shown.

Scenes on the French River were depicted in "The Fishing Parson," a reel dealing with the fishing exploits of Rev. William Travis, D.D., and his little daughter Mary. Judging by the pictures of catches made by the "sporting parson," the French River abounds in lunge, bass and pike.

"Fish and Medicine Men," while dealing with fishing, touched upon that fishing which is one of Canada's leading industries; namely the salmon fishing in British Columbia. It was an intensely interesting reel filmed on the Pacific Coast on the Nass north of Vancouver, and provided some interesting sidelights on how the advent of civilization exemplified in the machines and industries of the white man is playing its part in the gradual extinction of the Red Race.

President J. W. Gravestock was in the chair, and on the motion of Fred L. Roy seconded by Mr. Black tendered a vote of thanks to C. Patten, travelling passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company for having shown the films. Thanks was also tendered to the secretary of the Association Chris Graham, for the use of the club dining room at the Empress Hotel.

Estate Of $500,000 Left By Bennett

LONDON, Apr. 17.—The Herald said today that Arnold Bennett probably made the largest fortune during his life of any modern British writer. The newspaper estimated the value of the estate at more than $500,000.

Mr. Bennett's will, which probably will not be fyled for probate for several weeks, consists of about 100 words in the author's familiar small handwriting on a single sheet of note paper, the Herald said.

The article recalled that the largest literary fortunes hitherto recorded were those of Stanley Weyman, who left about $497,000; Dickens, about $400,000, and Trollope, about $350,000.

THINK DOUKHOBORS HAVE CORRECT IDEA

Clothes and Morality Not Always Synonymous, Evangelist Kahrs Believes.

(Special to The Examiner—Copyright, 1931)

LONDON, Ont., April 17—Doukhobor women, who snap their fingers at convention's taunts, find defenders in fresh-air evangelists, Rev. Edward Kahrs, and his wife, of Tillsonburg, Ontario.

Like her husband, Mrs. Kahrs is an ordained minister of a Disciples sect, with headquarters in Ohio. Also, like her husband, she is a advocate of simplicity in dress and attracted all eyes on the streets of London the other day by appearing in the crowds wearing only a short skirt and sandals.

Both believe that the world would be a better place if everybody wore no more than a lion-cloth. Mr. Kahrs hopes to see the day when civilization will achieve the "100 per cent morality" of the naked heathen.

Mr. Kahrs is Now York born. He says that 27 years ago he was given a year and three months for operating a swindle racket.

It was the age-old stunt, in which a bustling customer buys something from a busy clerk, presents a $20 bill, takes it back again, gives a $5 bill instead, and eventually, in a confusing shuffle, gets out with the storekeeper's money.

"Several of us used to work together," he said, "and we made usually from $80 to $90 each, every Saturday. I was converted in prison, and when I got out I made restitution to everyone I could find whom I had swindled. Since then my wife and I have been evangelists."

England may have night football.

Sheffield, England, razor blade manufacturers are worried over the recent offering in London, at 42 cents a gross, of 25,000,000 blades made in Moscow, Russia.

PLAN ATLANTIC AIR MAIL LINE

Proposed Route is From Charleston Via Bermudas, Azores to London.

OPEN INSIDE MONTH.

DETROIT, Mich., Apr. 17. — W. Irving Glover, Assistant Postmaster General in charge of air mail, announced last night that bids on the first Trans-Atlantic air mail line will be opened within 30 days.

In his announcement made at the National Aircraft Show, he said the proposed line will take off at Charleston, S. C., for London, via Bermuda nd the Azores a span of approximately 4,000 miles.

Mr. Glover said the only company yet to make a bid on the route is Pan-American airways. Amphibian planes, each equipped with four 575-horsepower Hornet engines, probably will be used, he said.

LOOK TO MARINES FOR PROTECTION

U. S. Undecided About Sending Material Force Into Nicaragua.

MANY PROTEST.

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 17. — (CP)—It seemed less probable today that the United States would send a material force to Nicaragua to protect United States property.

The Government had indicated, however, it would make every effort to prevent loss of lives among its citizens. The gunboat Asheville, with her nearly three-score marines, was under orders to remain at Puerto Cabezas to guard American citizens. Officials here, however, expressed the opinion attempts might not be made to protect property unless more urgent circumstances develop.

The department had under consideration repeated requests from the Standard Fruit and Steamship Company of New Orleans for steps which would offer additional protection for its $13,000,000 worth of holdings in Northeastern Nicaragua.

No official statement of policy was made, but it was indicated the State Department is inclined to the belief that the job of maintaining order is that of the native guardia. It was added that marines there are supposed to fight only to defend lives.

TWO ARRESTED IN FORGERY CASE

Old Age Pension Check Affair Leads Police Into Oxford County.

LONDON, Ont., April 16.—Continuing their investigation into alleged forgery of Old Age Pensions cheques, County Police to-day made a second arrest, extending their operations into Oxford County. Benjamin Kellestine, 39, married, West Missouri Township farmer, was placed under arrest by High Constable A. J. Wharton and taken to Oxford County Jail by Provincial Constable Markle on a charge of uttering a forged document.

Crown Attorney A. M. Judd announced in Police Court on Tuesday, that a widespread investigation into the swindling of Old Age pensioners is underway in Middlesex County. It has already resulted in two arrests; the first having been made on Monday night by High Constable Wharton.

Ronald Tiltz, 21, of Carodoc Township, who had been working recently in Lambeth, is the other man being held. He is in the county jail here.

Kellestine is alleged to have forged the name of an old age pensioner named Harris, who had lived at the Kellestine farmhouse in West Missouri, some days after the elderly man had died.

VISIT MILITARY CAMP.

LONDON, April 16 (By The Canadian Press).—Aldershot has heard with considerable gratification that the King and Queen will spend four days at the Royal Pavilion during May. It will be the second time since 1924 that their Majesties have made a prolonged visit to Aldershot and the second time that they will be welcomed by General Sir David Campbell as Commander-in-Chief. In previous visits before the war the King spent long hours in the saddle but will now be content to motor round the many barracks. In these visits the King likes to see the soldiers both at work and at play, and rarely misses a chance of visiting the married quarter to make sure that the men's families are happy and comfortable.

If their Majesties are here on a Sunday they attend "The Soldier's Church," All Saints, and half the population of Aldershot will gather to greet them as they leave. There will be a Royal Retreat on one evening of their visit, performed by the massed bands of all units, including drum and fife, pipes and bugles.

CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

FINE CLOTHES LIKED BY NATIVE AFRICANS

Natives No Longer Are Satisfied With Truck, Even Crepe-de-chine in Wardrobes.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, April 17 (By the Canadian Press).—Under the head of "Social Service in South Africa" Dr. Reimholt Jones, of Johannesburg, giving an address in Cape Town, spoke of the changing conditions among the natives and stated that the conditions were being made more difficult as a result of the steady flow of rural people to the towns.

One of the marked changes, Dr. Jones said, was that rural people to-day demanded payment in cash. Some years ago they did not need cash, but to-day their children had to be educated and that meant more money was needed for dressing them. They had also grown more ambitious about their homes and wanted more facilities for which they had to pay in cash.

This factor was also an important cause of the flow of natives to the towns. "During the last five years there has been a complete revolution in the character of the stocks which stores in native areas carry," he said. "Where formerly they stocked what was known as native stock, they now carry shirts and collars and ties. The natives are very particular about the quality of the clothing they buy, and crepe-de-chine underwear is often sold in native areas." What happened to-day was that natives ran up large debts and then went to the towns to earn the money to pay them.

The only way in which the flow of rural people to the towns could be stopped, he said, was to bring about a complete revolution in agrarian life. Even then there would always be some people who would come to the towns. There were many boys in the country who might be quite useless at agriculture but were brilliant at carpentering or similar trades, and they would always seek the towns.

"Social work is not mere charity," he said. "Some charity leads nowhere. Social work should mean the building up of a people, and whatever social service you provide it should be definitely aimed in that direction. Our work should be to help these country people to apply themselves to town conditions."

EACH ACTRESS FINDS HEDDA PROBLEM

Miss Jean Forbes-Robertson in "Hedda Gabler" Meets Problems to Times Liking.

LONDON, April 17.—(By the Canadian Press)—Writing of the appearance of Miss Jean Forbes-Robertson, daughter of Sir Johnson Forbes-Robertson as Hedda Tesman in Ibsen's play "Hedda Gabler" recently produced at the Arts Theatre, London, The Times theatre critic says: "Hedda is a problem as new as life itself for each actress who approaches her," and he deals at some length with Miss Fobes-Robertson's interpretation of the character, mostly in very favorable terms. He says:

"Miss Forbes-Robertson's performance, as all her performances are, is a surprise. What she has seen in the play is a terrible and ruinous spiritual experience. She traces all the evident motives for Hedda's behavior—her jealousy of Mrs. Elvsted, her poisoned longing to possess Lovborg, her contempt of Tesman, her lust for power. Then, perceiving that they need some deeper force to give them the unity of a masterpiece and to save them from being tinged with ridicule by Ibsen's emphasis on his tedious vine-leaves, she reveals in Hedda an evil spirit that dominates and possesses her. This is not a perverse blue-stocking, but a woman whose genius is to be bored, to torment herself, to move always in the tracks of an obsession. The movement is never violent. Determined on the earthly plane but helpless and fated on the spiritual, it has the cold and unswerving deliberation of one who walks in her sleep with open eyes, avoiding obstacles, choosing her path, yet driven by her dream.

"To those who see in Hedda an opportunity for a display of fireworks it may appear that Miss Forbes-Robertson's treatment of the part is too quiet. Certainly she misses opportunities for theatrical effect which almost any other actress would have welcomed, and which, it must be added, Ibsen probably intended to receive more emphasis than she gives them. Her conclusion of the third act, the burning of Lovborg's manuscript, is too hurried, and would be improved, within her own interpretation of the part, if she gave the audience time to enter into the darkness of her thought. But, with this exception, she justifies all her restraints. The woman she has imagined carries her own hell in her eyes; it is not for her to make spectacular proclamation of it."

Safe, Secure sanitary protection —that's Kotex

Only in Kotex can you secure the lasting softness Kotex provides

YOU should make certain—when you buy sanitary pads—that you are getting the safest protection possible. Protect your health. Assure your comfort. Feel well groomed, at ease. Be sure you ask for Kotex.

Kotex is soft, gentle, easy. And it stays soft. It absorbs laterally—that means greater efficiency—a greater area of protection than other types of pad give you. It gives equal protection, worn on either side. Of course, Kotex is disposable, too. That's why millions of women have abandoned old-fashioned makeshifts.

Canada's leading hospitals use both Kotex and the delicate, efficient absorbent of which it is made. That should certainly recommend it for your use. Kotex Company of Canada, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WHY WOMEN SPECIFY KOTEX

1. Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.
2. Safe, secure . . . keeps your mind at ease.

LAKEFIELD, April 17.—(Examiner Correspondence).—A very enjoyable miscellaneous shower was given to Mrs. David McCulloch of Peterborough (nee Madeline Junkin of Lakefield) at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Braden Blewett, Chippewa avenue, on Tuesday evening. The affair was arranged by a group of the bride's friends and the response was hearty and generous and the pretty and popular bride received a large number of beautiful gifts for her new home. The gifts were arranged in a beautifully decorated basket set on the dining table directly under the chandelier, the color scheme being pale green and white and silver. The basket was crowned by two dolls arrayed also in green and silver, beautifully dressed in crepe paper as boudoir ornaments.

About sixty were present and good wishes were expressed by everyone to the youthful bride, who has grown up in the village and has made many warm friends.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Those of you readers who have small children will be interested in the discussion to-day and those whose children are grown up will be interested too, perhaps.

• • • • • • •

Recently I visited a home where there was a small child and really I felt sorry for that little one because its mother wouldn't let it be up and about like a normal, healthy child, but was made to sit down quietly, during the time I was a visitor, at any rate.

• • • • • • •

This, to my mind, is a very wrong idea. Activity is very essential for children and unless a child is permitted to play about it will not grow up a normal, healthy, man or woman.

• • • • • • •

Because a child is quiet and will sit still whenever you make it or command it to, does not, for any reason, signify that the child is a good child.

• • • • • • •

Of course it will be satisfactory to the mother to have the child mind her bidding, but in the majority of cases, it will be at the sacrifice of the child's healthful, physical development.

• • • • • • •

It may also create within the child's mind a resentment toward the parents who expect the child to be inactive when his little legs and arms fairly ache to be in motion.

• • • • • • •

Just watch a little child and see how long he can keep still unless made to do so by sheer force. A child's mind, too, is anything but peaceful.

• • • • • •
• • • • • •

Older folks take calisthenics to keep themselves in a healthy condition. They force themselves to do exercises to stimulate certain muscles.

• • • • • •

But little children do not need this enforced exercise. Nature gives them the correct and natural instincts to activity. It is through them that the body stretches and grows, that each muscle and nerve does its proper duty.

• • • • • •

Now that Spring weather tempts the little ones out-of-doors, the activities can have fuller scope in a wider area than during the winter months when out-of-door play is more restricted.

• • • • • •

Happy shouting and laughter games that keep little feet flying and make inhaling of lungfuls of pure, fresh air necessary, are aids to good health and sound, mental growth.

• • • • • •

Then after this activity, it is well to see that the child gets sufficient rest and a short nap in the open air and sunshine will do wonders in promoting the growth of the child.

DISCOLORED BRUISES

If ice is rubbed immediately upon bruises the children get in their play, little discoloration follows. The cold keeps the blood from congealing in the sensitive spot and thus prevents it turning black and blue afterwards.

FRUIT CARRIERS

If takink plums, apricots or other crushable small fruits along on picnics you can keep them in perfect condition by carrying them in egg cartons.

Vegetable Pills Routed Miner's Rheumatism

Evidently Sluggish Liver was Largely to Blame

Mr. Arthur P., of Barnsley, pays glowing tribute to Carter's Little Liver Pills: "For the last few years I have suffered with Rheumatism, also severe attacks of Indigestion. I suffered great pain in the back and tried various remedies without relief. A friend advised me to try Carter's Little Liver Pills. This I did and received immediate relief. The quicker you remedy this by taking a reliable liver tonic the better for you. Vegetables, as everyone knows, promote health. Dr. Carter's Little Liver Pills are entirely vegetable . . . and should not be confused with ordinary laxatives. These wonderful little pills will tone up your liver, invigorate your digestive tract and keep you in the best of health. Sold by druggists for over 60 years. 25c and 75c red packages.

WOMEN REVERT TO PETTICOATS

Relic of Days When Modesty Was in Flower Figures Importantly in Fashion Shows.

SKIRTS EVEN LONGER.

(By Janes Eads)

NEW YORK, N.Y., April 17.—The "petticoat influence" may be taken literally as far as feminine costuming is concerned this season.

For that relic of the days when modesty was indeed in flower figured importantly in showings of summer fashion at the Hotel Astor by the garment retailers of America.

And along with this strongly feminine garment there appeared numerous other accessories to aid and abet the "womanly woman" in her seasonable metamorphosis from the athletic or flapper type.

Little false curls to cover the shaven neck; cobwebby scarfs to disguise a brawny sun-tan; long trailing skirts to hide an audacious ankle, with fans and kerchiefs and parasols to add charm were featured.

Pyjamas and shorts for sports wear, however, are still in vogue, but even these are becoming more feminine in design. In a parade of Pyjamed mannequins the trouser garments were so wide as to give the semblance of skirts. Fashioned from soft silks, pleated chiffon, satins and velvets, most of these were shown with chic little jackets.

Even the strictly tailored street costumes are on the wane, suits and coats having more of the dressmaker touch.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

PREVENTING GALL STONES.

So common is a certain ailment with a certain type of individual, that it was customary for some teachers and writers to tell their readers or students that they should look for it in a "female, fair, fat and forty."

This ailment is gall stones.

And as a matter of fact 75 per cent of the gall stones observed are in persons over forty years of age. And of this number there have been until recently four times as many women as men. Since women have thrown away the high tight corset their proportion is practically the same as in men.

Now what causes gall stones?

It would appear that the above statement tells the story, that is that anything holds the liver and gall bladder tightly thus interfering with their free movement is a real cause of gall stones.

It has been pretty well proven that gall stones do not form where the liver and gall bladder are active, just as some one has well said that grass doesn't grow on a busy street.

And it isn't altogether the lack of movement about the liver and gall bladder that causes the gall stones in some cases. Food, very rich food, especially fats, is often about as much to blame as the lack of movement or exercise on the part of the individual.

Infections are also responsible for some cases.

I do not wish to talk about the symptoms of gall stone colic. The pain is very severe and calls for immediate treatment by pain relieving drugs.

However I do want to say a word as to the prevention of the formation of stones and the painful colic that often occurs.

First:—A reasonable amount of exercise that will bend the body—golfing, bowling, curling, any athletic game, or the simple bending exercises with knees straight.

Second:—Avoiding tight clothing over the region of the liver and gall bladder.

Third:—Cutting down on the food intake, particularly if you are overweight. And cutting down greatly on fat-foods—cream, butter, fat meats.

Fourth:—In elderly people the use of mineral waters, or the occasional use of small doses of our old friend epsom salts.

Remember gall stones may be avoided if you observe the above simple rules.

SOCIAL EVENING.

Queensboro Friends of Mr. and Mrs. C. Tanner Present Them With Cabinet of Silverware.

QUEENSBORO, April 17 (Examiner Correspondence).—A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. Ernest Tanner on Tuesday, when a large number of friends and neighbors from the village and community gathered to extend congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Tanner, who had just returned from a honeymoon trip in Toronto Niagara and other points.

During the evening the bride and groom were presented with a cabinet of silver table ware and an address. The address was read by Miss Jennie Thompson and the presentation was made by Mr. William Glover. Several members of the company gave expression to the high esteem in which the bride and groom are held.

Mr. Tanner thanked those present for their congratulations and gifts. A delicious lunch was served by the ladies.

FLOWER ARRANGEMENT

If a flower holder is placed in the center of a bowl to hold the first few blooms in a house bouquet, the remainder can be placed loosely and easily and a delightful informality in arrangement can be achieved.

A BEDTIME STORY

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S HAT CANNON.

"There is only one thing left for me to do," mewed the Bob Cat as he sat on his silly little tail, no bigger than your thumb, in the den of the Fuzzy fox. "Only one thing left for me to do!"

"What is that?" asked the Fox, rubbing his tongue over his sharp teeth, for he was very hungry.

"I must catch Uncle Wiggily, that's all!" snapped the Bob Cat. "It is the only thing left for me to do!"

"Why?" asked the Fox. "What has Uncle Wiggily done now?"

"He insulted me and was very impolite," the Bob Cat said.

"Insulted you? Impolite? How?" asked the Fox.

"Yesterday," the Bob Cat answered, "I climbed up the honeysuckle vine on the side of Uncle Wiggily's bungalow and I crawled in his bathroom window when he was shaving. And what do you suppose he did?"

"He jumped out of the window!" guessed the Fox.

"No, you're wrong! I jumped out of the window!" said the Bob Cat, who wasn't at all proud of himself.

"Why ever did you do such a silly thing as that!?" asked the Fox. "There you were, right in the room with Uncle Wiggily while he was lathering his face for a shave and you turn around and jump out of the window when you might have caught and nibbled him, and, maybe, you could have saved some nibbles for me. Why did you jump out?"

The wind lifted the silk hat.

"Because Uncle Wiggily lathered my face with his soapy whiskers brush before he lathered his own!" howled the Bob Cat. "He brushed soap in my eyes, nose and mouth and I had to jump out. That's the reason."

"Oh," said the Fox, "I see."

"I'm glad you didn't see me with my face covered with Uncle Wiggily's shaving lather," mewed the Bob Cat, "I must have looked silly."

"You did!" barked the Fox.

"How do you know?" asked the Bob Cat. "Did you see me.

"No, but I can guess how you looked!" chuckled the Fox.

"What are you laughing at?" snarled the Bob Cat.

"Oh, nothing," said the Fox, looking straight at the Bob Cat. "But you were saying there is only one thing left for you to do and that is to catch Uncle Wiggily. How are you going to do it?"

"I am going out now, look for him and when I see him I will jump at him and catch him!"

"Atta a boy, Bob Cat!" howled the Fox. "And save some nibbles for me."

'Maybe," was all the Bob Cat would promise. So away he ran with his silly little tail, no bigger than a baby's thumb.

Now it happened about this same time that Uncle Wiggily hopped out from his hollow stump bungalow to look for an adventure and he wore his tall, silk hat that looked like a piece of shiny, black stove pipe with a hole in one end like a cannon. The hole was where Uncle Wiggily put his head so he could wear his hat.

The rabbit gentleman hopped along and pretty soon he saw a big tree with a hole in one side. It was a large hole and when he saw it Mr. Longears knew the tree was a hollow one.

"Maybe there's an adventure in that hollow tree," said the rabbit gentleman to himself. "I'll go look." He hopped closer and then, all of a sudden, the wind blew very hard, lifted the rabbit gentleman's tall, silk stove pipe hat from his head and tossed it into the hole in the side of the hollow tree. There the hat stuck with the top part sticking out, round and shiny and black.

"Ha! Ha! That's funny! My hat sticking in the hole of a tree and pointing at me just like a cannon!" thought Mr. Longears. "My hat certainly looks like a shooting cannon sticking out of that hole in the tree. If I were a boy I would pretend that tree was a fort with a cannon in it all ready to shoot. It's funny!"

"Maybe you think I am funny!" suddenly howled a voice and out from behind a big stone jumped the Bob Cat.

"No you aren't at all funny, Mr. Bob Cat," said the rabbit. "What are you doing here?"

"I came to get you for soaping my face!" snarled the Bob Cat. "What are you looking at?" he suddenly asked seeing that Uncle Wiggily was staring at something. "What is it you see?"

"Look for yourself!" cried Uncle Wiggily, pointing back of the Bob Cat. The Bob Cat turned around quickly, and, seeing Uncle Wiggily's tall, silk hat sticking out of the hole in the hollow tree the Bob Cat was afraid. "What is it?" he howled.

"A cannon!" cried Uncle Wiggily. And just then there was a loud: "Boom!" A lot of dust puffed out around Uncle Wiggily's cannon hat and the Bob Cat howled: "Don't shoot! Don't shoot! I'll be good!" So away he ran, Uncle Wiggily picked up his hat which had popped out of the tree in a cloud of dust like smoke, and the rabbit said:

"I wonder what made my hat pop out like a cannon?"

WEEK END SHOWS NOT FOR JUNIORS WOMEN DECLARE

Ladies Find Local Theatre Managers Doing All They Can to Get Good Shows.

PROVINCIAL MATTER.

Agreeing unanimously that a large proportion of the week-end pictures offered for entertainment in local theatres were not fit for junior eyes and ears, the Local Council of Women yesterday passed a resolution to write to the convenor of the National committee on Films and Printed Matter and ask her to bring the matter to the attention of the National Council of Women at their annual meeting at the end of April.

The discussion of the Cinema question was led by the convenor of the local committee on Films and Printed Matter, Mrs. N. D. Seaton. The ladies a reed that the local theatre managers did all they could to provide suitable pictures and were courteous at all times when approached, but they considered that the censorship of such productions was not all it should be.

They also thought that the new regulations with regard to the marking of films as suitable for adult or junior use did not fully cover the ground. The many complaints received as to the quality of week-end pictures, when the children patronized the movies more extensively than at other times, led them to believe that too much emphasis was being laid on thrilling situations and sex entanglements.

Miss Lancaster presided yesterday, in the absence of the president, Mrs. C. H. Edwards. The latter, who has been ill for some time, wrote, asking the society to accept her resignation, as her condition of health prevents her from attending the meetings. The ladies decided to ask the first vice president, Miss Lancaster, to carry on for the next two meetings, which will be the last until Fall, and to write a letter to Mrs. Edwards, asking her to resume her duties then, if possible.

JACK MINER'S BIRD SANCTUARY HAS BEEN FILMED BY FRED ROY

Making of Maple Syrup in Smith Township is Also Included in a Reel.

GIVES PRIVATE SHOWING.

As further additions to his rapidly growing library of interesting motion picture subjects, Fred L. Roy of the Roy Studios has recently produced an interesting news reel depicting the bird life conservation which is being carried on at Jack Miner's Bird Sanctuary at Kingsville, also a picture showing the making of Maple Syrup and taken at William Fleming's sugar bush in Smith Township at the head of Mud Lake.

Mr. Roy gave a private showing of his films at his studios this morning, and intends in the near future to show them before members of Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Associaton. They are also available for hire to churches, lodges and for all entertainment purposes.

Opening scenes in the Jack Miner film, gave a remarkable view of 10,000 geese flying in the early morning from the waters of Lake Erie to the back ponds of the sanctuary, and it was stated by Mr. Roy that Jack Miner feeds the geese from 8,000 to 10,000 bushels of corn each season.

Wild white whistling swans, rescued by Jack Miner after having been injured when washed by the heavy current over Niagara Falls, were also to be seen in the pictures gracefully gliding over the still surface of the sanctuary ponds, and receiving food from the hands of their benefactor and friend.

The pictures of the geese in flight were taken from the observation tower in the spacious grounds, and views were also afforded of the tower itself, a structure architecturally in keeping with the other surroundings.

Another very interesting scene was that of a great solid mass of geese and wild swans, which stretched out in the waters skirting the shores of Lake Erie for a distance of five miles.

The pictures were taken on March 31st, and on the way back to this city, Mr. Roy with his little son, secured pictures of the Cream of Barley zoo at Bowmanville.

The other film showing the manufacture of maple syrup at William Fleming's bush, was interesting in so much as the process employed by Mr Fleming is still that of boiling down. He uses no evaporator, but nevertheless he holds the reputation throughout his district of being one of the most expert sugar boilers.

He has a bush of some 65-70 trees which he taps each season, unaided. On an average he calculates to get three buckets of sap from each tree, each day.

Some pictures of Mr. Fleming in characteristic attitude, "telling Peter Nicholls just how it is done" were particularly fine, also those of Mrs. Fleming.

Two Drivers Charged With Reckless Driving

Charges of reckless driving were laid this morning by Patrol Officer Ted Hornick against Robert Conlan, city, and Percy Houser of Lindsay. Officer Hornick stated that at 9.20 last night he caught Conlan and Houser racing their cars, neck-and-neck, south on the Chemong Road. Their speed was 65 miles an hour, Hornick said. The cases will be tried before Magistrate Langley in Wednesday's traffic court.

Collections Taken To Meet Two Appeals

At the monthly devotional and business meeting of St. John's Women's Auxiliary, with the president, Mrs. H. A. Morrow, in the chair, a collection was taken up, to be extended also to next month's meeting, after two appeals had been read; one from the Upper Canada Tract Society and the other for hospital equipment for a recently opened hospital in Baffins Land in the Arctic Circle.

The devotional exercises were conducted by the rector, the Rev. Dr. Blagrave.

Delegates chosen for the forthcoming annual convention in Toronto were Mrs. D. Eldred and Mrs. Cooper, with substitutes in Mrs. J. Rigden and Mrs. McBrien. The president was asked to accept the invitation from St. Andrew's Missionary Society to convey the greetings of the W.A. at their conference on April 30th. The meeting closed with the service of dainty refreshments by Mrs. H. A. Lemmings and her committee.

Dr. J. C. Green Speaker Association Meeting

At the regular meeting of the Queen Mary Home and School Association this week, Dr. J. C. Green spoke on the subject of "Baby Teeth," giving a very interesting review of the care needed for these teeth and the evils which follow neglect of them and any troubles that may arise through them.

The program also included a reading by Barbara Miller and a vocal solo by Miss Olga Huffman, accompanied by Miss Beulah Huffman.

Mrs. R. Parnall, who represented the Queen Mary and Queen Alexandra Schools at the recent convention in Toronto, gave a very interesting account of the proceedings. The president, Mrs. W. H. Lytle, was in the chair.

Baseball Gossip.

The Cogs intermediate baseball team will hold their first workout of the season on Saturday afternoon at the Exhibition Grounds, starting at one o'clock sharp. Any players wanting to try out with this team should be on hand.

The initial baseball practise of the season for the C.G.E. intermediates held last night at the Exhibition Park attracted a large number of ball tossers including several new players and a few of last year's juniors who will this season step up into the intermediate ranks.

Manager Art Primeau whose piloting ability steered the C.G.E. team into the Ontario finals last year is confident that he can assemble a dangerous outfit from the material available this season. The next practise will be held in the Exhibition Park on Saturday afternoon starting at two o'clock, and every ball player aspiring to a place on this team should be on hand.

COUNCIL IS ASKED TO PROTECT BEDS

C. G. E. Horticulturists Ask Council to Enforce Protection By-law.

FOR BETTER CITY.

In the interests of a cleaner and better city, a resolution was unanimously passed at a recent meeting of the Canadian General Electric Company Social and Athletic Association Horticultural Society petitioning the Mayor and City Council to consider the enforcement of a by-law which would remove the causes at present responsible for damage to flower beds, borders, lawns and shrubs.

The communication forwarded to the Mayor and City Council, is as follows: "Resolved that this assembly representing some five hundred or more members who desire to improve and maintain the appearance of their home surroundings and to contribute materially to the beautifying of our city, and who feel that to a great extent our labours and planning are for naught, to say nothing of the additional expense incurred by replacements of damaged flower beds, borders, lawns, shrubs etc. caused mainly by the nuisance of dogs roaming at large at the present time and over which we believe you have at you pleasure, a by-law or by-laws which, if enforced, would remove the cause for these depredations. Therefore be it resolved that we place ourselves on record as having petitioned the Mayor and City Council of the City of Peterborough to consider the immediate enforcement of such by-laws as would assist the citizens in their efforts to create and maintain a cleaner and better city."

structive work than any other similar association in the Province. He mentioned a case in point the booklets which were printed last season, and which are this year being duplicated by other Fish and Game Associations.

Mr. Gravestock admitted the possibility that the person who brought the complaint to him was probably concerned with muskrat trapping, but he also contended that is no reason why he should not be privileged to investigate such complaints, and no reason why he should receive such discourteous treatment from Mr. Killaly.

He also realized that construction work is being undertaken by the Department near Burleigh, and that navigation on the waterway must come before fishing.

"All I asked of Mr. Killaly was if we could have one foot of water at Burleigh dam. How long the construction job was going to last and if there was any possibility of having water soon. I would not like to repeat the answer he gave to me. I have since reported the matter to the Provincial Government."

In conclusion Mr. Gravestock suggested that a committee be formed to meet Mr. Killaly on the question, although he said he would absolutely decline to serve on the committee as Mr. Killaly is convinced that he (Gravestock) is prejudiced.

On Mr. Killaly's instructions W. E. T. Shewen, lockmaster at Burleigh and another of the Trent Canal employees were in attendance at the meeting.

In answer to Mr. Gravestock, as to whether there were any logs in the Burleigh dam to-day, Mr. Shewen said there were.

"Not Enough Serious Thought Given to Health"

---- Says NU-ERB MAN

AT BOND'S DRUG STORE

Declares That Most Ailing People Worry Continually But Usually Do Nothing About It Until Their Ills Become Serious —Urges Immediate Action.

THE NU-ERB SPECIALIST

"If there is anything that one cannot afford to be careless or negligent with, it is one's health. Yet in my work with Dr. French's NU-ERB, I meet many persons every day who, although deeply worried over some distressing ailment and perhaps having good intentions, yet man and woman alike will suffer along from day to day and year to year without really doing anything about it.

"Usually such persons realize that almost any organic ailment, if neglected, will lead to dangerous complications and often a complete breakdown of the entire system. They promise themselves that 'some time' they are going to take something for it, but that is about all they do about it until suddenly they are faced with the necessity of resorting to long, expensive treatments which are often disappointing, for the condition has been allowed to become so chronic that there is little hope of their ever being really well again.

"Indigestion, gas, dizziness, spots before the eyes, backache, headaches, constipation, nervousness, rheumatism or neuritis, are almost always warnings that some organ is not functioning properly and should be attended to without delay. It is amazing how many people will fret and worry to heal a sore finger and yet an internal pain is allowed to continue indefinitely, whereas if they could actually see what is causing the trouble they would know just what to expect if they neglected it.

"It is probably just that inability to see inside that causes most people to not consider seriously enough internal pain and distress. But it's wrong, all wrong, and if you recognize any of the symptoms named in the preceding paragraph, do not hesitate any longer—place full confidence in Dr. French's NU-ERB to dispel the dangers to your health which lurk in deranged vital organs.

"Because of the natural source of its herbal ingredients, Dr. French's Nu-Erb is absolutely safe to take. It is a splendid tonic and remedy for anyone. You are invited to inspect the herbs and roots now on display at J. P. Bond's Drug Store any day from 9 a.m. until the store is closed at night. Don't wait—further delay may be dangerous. Come to see me now. I will gladly tell you all about this new wonder medicine and tell you of the many hundreds of cases where it has restored new health and vigor to rundown, sickly men and women, and what it has done for them is surely should do for you."

Remember, Dr. French's NU-ERB is being especially introduced in Peterborough by the NU-ERB Specialist located at J. P. Bond's Drug Store, and that he is in this city for the special purpose of pointing out the way to new health to all those who seek his valuable advice.

NOW IN HIS 106th YEAR HE STILL SAWS WOOD

JOHN MINARD, in the township of West Oxford, near Ingersoll, now in his 106th year, complains that he has been compelled to give up work. No longer does his axe cleft the wood near his home as it did not later than a year ago. No longer does he climb ladders with the agility of a man half his age, as he did a year or more ago. No longer does he turn his hand to the many outdoor chores that he did a year or two years ago about the little five-acre country home where he and his son dwell.

John Minard

On Thursday, April 2nd, Minard celebrated his 105th birth anniversary. Married sons and daughters from Ingersoll and surrounding districts spent part of the day with him, as has been the annual custom for some time back. The above picture was taken on his 105th birthday, shortly before the members of the family arrived. Minard was just ready to sit down to dinner when the camera man called.

Two years ago, he was photographed while cutting wood in the backyard. Jokingly, his son Jack suggested this year that he should get out in front of the wood pile again.

"No, sir!" said he. "I am done with the wood pile, and it is done with me. I am having no picture taken there just for a picture's sake. Pictures must be truthful, and there should be no lie. My working days, I'm afraid, are over. I cannot cut wood any more. Why, I have got now so that if I carry a pail of water in from the well I have to lay down. I am weak. I get dizzy."

Yet, Minard is without an ache or a pain. He is very proud of that fact. He does not use glasses—and is proud of that fact. A steely gray eye, hidden beneath a shaggy brow, appears as keen as ever, even to his oldest friends. His stride is as firm and as steady as that of a man of 50 years. His mind is as keen as his eye. He eats well, sleeps well—enjoys life in every way. Smokes—helps prepare the meals—and does a lot of the housework. There are no women in the Minard home.

Minard was a section hand with the Canadian Pacific Railway for many years. It was the Canadian Pacific company which pensioned him off at the age of 73 years, 32 years ago. He had told them that he was 72 years of age. He states that when they looked up his birth and other details, they came back and told him he was a year older than he thought.

But he saw railway work before the Canadian Pacific ever touched Ingersoll. He helped to lay the right of way for the Great Western Railway, and has a distinct recollection of all the pioneer work for that great undertaking.

Minard has been a hard-working man. Small of stature and wiry, he seldom tired. He has no suggestion as to how a healthful old age may be attained. He has no prescriptions to enable one to go past the century mark. He always smoked. Liked a drink and took it when he wanted it. Raised a family of eleven—had his ups and downs. Just a normal man in every way all his life, with no set themes about this or that. He took life as it came and tried to face it squarely. Nine of his children are still living.

Two years ago, when some second-growth wood was to be cut and some ground cleared on the premises, Minard remonstrated with his son when the latter spoke of bringing in a power saw.

"We'll do it ourselves and save that money—and what is more we can do it," said he He was 103 years of age then.

And now, he complains that his working days are over "for all time to come," as he puts it. He dislikes that thought very much.

Author of Great Film Mixed Pulpit With Law

FEW men ever mix law with the pulpit. But only once in a decade does a man become a successful lawyer, minister, legislator, lecturer and an author. Yet that is what Thomas Dixon, the man who wrote the story behind the motion picture, "The Birth of a Nation," has accomplished.

Everyone knows the story of the most successful photoplay ever produced. Few know about the man who wrote it.

The story of this man is one of meteoric success. It needs no embellishment to make it interesting.

He was born in Cleveland county, North Carolina. His father was a Baptist minister. He was in the heart of the fight between the black and the white.

At nineteen he graduated from his local college and a scholarship admitted him to Johns Hopkins University.

When just twenty-two Dixon graduated from law school, was admitted to the state and United States courts and also to the bar of the supreme court of the United States at Washington.

Politics called him and he was elected to the North Carolina legislature. Success in two renowned murder cases brought him to the forefront as a lawyer and his future was assured.

All this seemed too easy, so at twenty-four he became a Baptist minister. Success came quickly here also, as he was called to a Boston church, then to New York city, where he drew tremendous congregations. He was much talked of and his sermons were published over several years. One of his books of sermons was entitled "The Failure of Protestantism in New York."

Then came the "Clansman," brought to the great public as the picture, "The Birth of a Nation." He followed this up with "The Fall of a Nation," showing the invasion of the United States and the results. Mr. Dixon is now 67.

In view of Mahatma Gandhi's actions of late, many people are wondering what will become of Miss Madeleine Slade, the Englishwoman who gave up everything to serve the little Indian leader. Miss Slade is the daughter of the late Admiral Sir Edmond Slade, and she renounced, five years ago, her position in English society in order to follow Gandhi. She took the vows of mental and physical celibacy for life, embraced Hinduism and allowed her long black hair to be cropped close to her head. Later, she took the Indian name of Mira Bei. She is now thirty-eight years old and says she is happy. "My reward," she says, "has been found in my work. I am here because of my absolute belief in Mahatma Gandhi and his message to humanity."

Professional Golfer Sold Shoes to Royalty

GEORGE CUMMING, veteran Canadian golf professional of the Toronto Club, recently sold the Prince of Wales a pair of shoes. He ordered a pair also for Prince George. The sale was not made in a shoe-store. There were no footrests, no hovering salesclerks. The event took place on Mr. Cumming's stamping ground, the golf course.

It was on the occasion of the recent visit of the Prince of Wales and his brother to Jamaica, where George Cumming is wintering as professional at the new Canadian Pacific Club.

The veteran pro and his assistant caddied for the Prince and Prince George, Cumming giving the royal visitors some useful hints on their game.

During a breathing spell the Prince became interested in the golf shoes the professional was wearing.

"That's an unusual set of brogues," he remarked. "Could I get a pair like them?"

Prince George, overhearing the remark, echoed his brother's request. Cumming stated they were very comfortable and hard-wearing, and as he knew they were not sold in England he promised to have the manufacturers send two pairs C.O.D. to St. James Palace, London.

Next day, prior to their departure, he went down to their hotel and measured the royal feet, sending the measurements in a letter to the makers. And believe me, not every firm ships to the Palace of St. James.

Pictures and Porkers Don't Run Together

TO the undoubted courage, by which King Alfonso has maintained himself more or less securely on a throne which has rocked beneath him many times during the past decade, must be added considerable native shrewdness, enabling him to deal successfully with ministers and military men of diverse political creeds. This shrewdness was well illustrated several years ago in his bargaining with a wealthy American who had in his possession a painting which at one time had hung in the Royal Palace at Madrid. It became a point of honor among rich Spanish connoisseurs to regain this picture for Spain, but the owner could not be tempted to sell. King Alfonso took on the job himself.

When he learned that the American was a retired hog king, with little genuine interest in art, the Spanish king called on him personally during a visit to Paris and offered him for the picture, not any of the large sums mentioned by previous bidders, but another picture, highly colored and twice the size of the one that Spain sought to recover. The little experiment in applied psychology worked like a charm and the king went home with the coveted picture.

PEARL: Several of the men whom I refused when I married you are richer than you are now.

Xerxes: That's why.

NURSIE NELL: What's Dr. Slicem in such a grouch about?

Nursie Sue: He's lost his best shears and can't remember which patient he was using them on last.

R.E. LOUGHEED

Viscountess Astor.

"Nancy" Took the Limelight And Has Held it Ever Since

AMONG the women members of the British House of Commons, Nancy, Viscountess Astor, stands out above all the others. She has drawn to herself a full share of the limelight ever since she entered parliament in 1919, limelight of the kind that picks out men like Lloyd George and Winston Churchill. To the usually sedate atmosphere of Westminster she brings personality, wit, the gift of repartee and the colorful imagination of a Virginian. She has two all-absorbing subjects, social work and the liquor question. After she divorced her first husband, Robert G. Shaw of Boston, in 1903 she took up the serious study of both these questions, and it was while engaged in this work in England in 1906 that she married the Hon. William Waldorf Astor, M.P. Her knowledge proved to be of real help to him in his House of Common days, and when he became the second Viscount in 1919 she was elected in his place as Coalition member for the Sutton division of Plymouth.

The entry of Lady Astor into parliament was an epoch-making event. She was the first woman M.P. ever to be elected in Britain, and the importance of the occasion was emphasized by the fact that she was introduced into the House of Commons by Arthur James Balfour and Lloyd George. The well-known black and white artist, F. Matania, R.I., has perpetuated the scene in a picture that shows her taking the oath before the Speaker with her distinguished sponsors in the background. Having been Britain's first woman member, Lady Astor has made it her business to see that she has remained the foremost woman member ever since.

Right from the start, Lady Astor has had a grip on British politics, although she was born in the United States. In debate she is a human punching machine hitting out right and left, but more often than not she argues from the heart rather than from the mind. With her social questions and drink are almost, if not quite, obsessions. She is a total abstainer herself under all circumstances, although she voted against a bill introduced by a Scottish "dry" member to prohibit the manufacture of liquor in the old country. This was because her observations in the United States have convinced her that temperance is the cure for the drink evil and not prohibition. Cricket fans took her severely to task recently for stating that the Australians won back the "ashes" last summer because they did not drink, the obvious implication being that the English team lost because they did. Irrespective of the fact that her husband is a peer, she frequently refers to the peerage as the "beerage," although it was that great humorist, Sir Wilfrid Lawson, who originally coined the rather ugly word.

Lady Astor has crossed swords with practically every prominent member of the House of Commons irrespective of party with varying degrees of success. Trying to drive home a point recently with some vehemence, she said, "There is seldom a pill without a silver lining." This struck the House as being an extraordinary statement, and loud laughter broke out on all sides. What she probably meant was "cloud" instead of "pill," although she may have intended to refer to a pill as being sugar-coated. Speaking of the "dole," she told parliament, "I would rather see my son in prison than have him hanging about the streets doing nothing." On another occasion she tackled Philip Snowden who had made a sly dig at her expense. Up she jumped, anxious for the last word, but another member had caught the Speaker's eye. Disappointed, she seized him by the shoulders in an attempt to push him down into his seat. Shouts of "order" however, forced her to give way, leaving the honors of the round to the chancellor.

Lieutenant-Governor of Saskatchewan Quit Doctor's Office to Assume Duties

LIEUTENANT Colonel Hugh Edwin Munroe, Saskatchewan's new lieutenant-governor, is known as Eddie by the folks where he was born near Cornwall, Ontario. His father was a second generation Scot born in Canada, and his mother a McEwan. The family was Presbyterian and the younger Munroes received the shorter catechism in Gordon church, named after Rev. Daniel Gordon, father of Rev. C. W. Gordon, "Ralph Connor."

Lieut.-Gov. Munroe

Like other lads of his age, he attended public school barefoot and fished in Scotch river, sometimes played hookey. This river is mentioned in Ralph Connor's Glengarry stories. More than likely he threw apple cores at a big financial mogul, now known as Edward R. Peacock, head of Baring Bros. bank in London's "the city" and director of the Canadian Pacific Railway. History does not record this fact, but they were raised close together.

Eddie attended school at St. Elmo East. Then he worked on the farm and "drove milk to the cheese factory." He lived not far from the cross-roads on the Indian Lands where Gordon church, a blacksmith shop and a cheese factory stood as landmarks.

Seeking wider knowledge, he attended Alexandria high school in a district where MacDonalds and MacDowells abound. Then he journeyed to McGill where in 1902 he completed a medical course. Crossing the sea to the land of his forefathers, he graduated in 1904 from the Royal Edinburgh College of Surgeons and promptly hied westward until he reached Saskatoon where he settled down to "pill-rolling."

Civic politics interested him so he became a member of the city council and assisted the first hospital in that city on its feet. Then provincial politics took his eye. It took two defeats to cure him. First W. C. Sutherland trimmed him by 14 votes; then Archie McNab, another of Glengarry's sons made it final by 180 votes. Ever since he has remained in the background, venturing as far as the presidency of the Saskatchewan Provincial Conservative Association.

The war did not find him wanting. He journeyed to Flanders in 1915, served six months there and was transferred to the Dardanelles. After that show was over he was moved to Egypt where he caught fever. Back in Canada he organized a Saskatchewan medical unit and took it to France. Later he was appointed A.D.M.S. to the Independent Air Force, then he found that, although it took one paper to get a man into the army that 14 were necessary before he was declared demobilized.

Since the war Dr. Munroe has practised his profession diligently and sat in various political conclaves and was one of the men who urged Premier J. T. M. Anderson to accept the leadership of the Conservative party in Saskatchewan.

The new lieutenant-governor is 53 years old, is married and has two children, William, an aviation enthusiast, and Maxine. Mrs. Munroe is an ardent horsewoman and gracious hostess.

No Doubt Mr. Speaker Thought of the Closure

IT is often said that British M.P.'s who have been elevated to the peerage find themselves oppressed by the rarefied atmosphere of the Upper House and long to return to the greater bustle and exciting debates and divisions to which they have been accustomer, but Lord Ullswater, who was Speaker of the House of Commons from 1905 till 1921, is an exception to the rule. He declares that when he has a nightmare he always fancies himself back in the Commons.

Lord Ullswater, or Mr. Speaker James William Lowther as he was known to parliamentarians of ten years ago, had the unhappy experience of presiding over the passing into law of the Old Age Pensions Bill in 1908, embodying principles against which, when a private member, he had delivered innumerable speeches. Holding the view that the measure was Socialism, to all forms of which he was bitterly opposed, he had to listen for days on end to speeches for and against a proposal on which he held the most tenacious convictions, and yet by virtue of his office he was the only member of the House who had to hold his peace. Nevertheless, he presided over the debates with unruffled impartiality that won for him the respect of all parties. For years, by tacit agreement, his seat in Penrith in the north-east of England was uncontested.

So frequent were his extended absences from his home in Suffolk that it was only the older among his servants who knew him by sight. On one occasion he arrived unexpectedly and finding no one to meet him at the station accepted the offer of a lift from a man in charge of a spring cart. Getting into conversation with the man, he asked who was his employer.

"Oh, I am working for old Jimmy Lowther," was the reply.

"Like the job?"

"Not too bad. Not much money around here, but we are not hard pressed. Old Jimmy is pretty easy-going."

When they arrived at the main entrance the Speaker asked the man to stop.

"Getting out here?" asked the driver in surprise.

"Yes, I live here," chuckled the mentor of the House of Commons. "You see, I'm old Jimmy himself."

Sir George May, the secretary of the Prudential Assurance Company of Great Britain, has retired and it is understood that he will become a sort of unofficial chancellor, advising Philip Snowden with regard to sweeping economies.

Sir George is sixty years old, and he has spent the best part of his life with the Prudential. It is largely as a result of his cautious financing that the company has a surplus of $50,000,000 to-day. Not long ago he concluded a big deal involving a loan of $15,000,000. He signed the cheque, and then went to lunch at a restaurant where he was not known. When he came to settle up he found he had no money and he had quite a time squaring the waiter.

His Trip to South Pole Was Quickly Decided

A. INNES-TAYLOR, the only Canadian in the Byrd expedition to the Antarctic, is a miner and a writer when he's not heading for undiscovered parts of the world. Recently he has written a book on whaling which is now in the hands of the publishers.

Innes-Taylor, who was a dog-driver with the Byrd party, is looking forward to another voyage of exploration in the near future. This is at present shrowded in mystery, for no information is being given out as to whether it will be to the North or South Pole or even as to who will head the expedition.

"I have been instructed not to give out information to the press," Mr. Innes-Taylor says when questioned about the forthcoming trip.

"Just luck," is the way he explains his inclusion in the Byrd party.

"Byrd needed more dogs, as some of his had died on the way south. He cabled New York and they wired Vancouver. I happened to be on the spot when the wire was received and was asked if I knew where some huskies could be obtained.

"There was very short notice as they had to sail the next day on the Niagara. Fortunately Pa. Hardy on Grouse mountain had some and I was able to get 15. A second wire asked if I would take them to Byrd."

It meant making a decision in a few minutes that would take him from civilization for two years, but Mr. Innes-Taylor didn't hesitate.

"It was a wonderful opportunity and of course I took it," he explains simply.

Five years with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in the sub-aretic made a valuable background of experience for the trip.

An Englishman by birth, Mr. Innes-Taylor has spent practically all of his life in Canada. He makes Whitehorse, Yukon, his headquarters.

Personally he doesn't believe the world at large will be any better off once the Antarctic is thoroughly explored.

"But as long as there are undiscovered parts of the world men will never rest content until they are discovered," he declared.

TRY AGAIN

"THERE!" said the plumber. "In spite of all the silly jokes about us, we've not forgotten a single tool. My mate's here with me we've not got to go back for anything and——"

"You've come to the wrong address," said the maid.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

"I HEAR you contemplate going abroad?"

"Yes, travelling is an education."

"Then I recommend a world tour."

MEN & WOMEN in the public eye

WELL-KNOWN NOVELIST PRESIDES OVER MANSE

SOME Canadian novelists are doing valuable work by setting down in permanent form a picture of the life and the people of bygone days. Among these writers Marian Keith is the recognized historian of "Glenoro"—a type of community to be found in many parts of Canada and particularly common in older Ontario, a community originally settled by Scottish Presbyterians and afterwards leavened with just enough English and Irish to throw into relief the chief characteristics of each nationality.

Marian Keith

Marian Keith's novels of the rural community and the country town reflect her own intimate and personal knowledge and experience of childhood days spent in the country, and afterwards as teacher in the rural village and country town, and later as minister's wife, mistress of the manse. Keenly observant, with a retentive memory for details and a rich sense of humor, she has presented a veracious and faithful picture of the country community.

When her novel, "Duncan Polite," was published, the news filtered through to some of the inhabitants of "Glenoro" (the township of Oro, in Simcoe county) that their erstwhile teacher had written a book about them. So the next Saturday when Sandy McAllister (which was not his name, but which, for reasons to be recognized, fits the sitvation) went to market in the neighboring town, Orillia, he dropped into Cooke's, the department drug store, where one could purchase anything from a belladonna plaster to a Bible. Going over to the book counter he asked the young lady in charge: "Have ye got the buik?"

Fully aware of the literary origin of "Duncan Polite," but wanting to have a bit of fun, she handed over a copy of the Bible. "Is it one like this you want, Mr. McAllister?"

"No! No!" was the impatient reply. "I want the buik—ye know—her buik."

"Oh, yes, Mr. McAllister," simulating an expression of sudden comprehension. "You mean this?" giving him a copy of "Duncan Polite."

"Yess! Yess! That's it. That's it," and he fingered over the pages, while a pleased and almost possessive smile spread over the tense, weather-beaten Scottish face. "That's it. That's it How much?"

"A dollar and a quarter, Mr. McAllister."

The smile was gone with the swiftness of the lightning's flash. Followed an expression of pain, then scorn, rising quickly to a climax of disgust.

"A dollar and a quarter? Huh! She'll think a lot of herself," and, tossing the book on the counter, he stalked indignantly out of the store.

Another of her books, "The Gentleman Adventure," a story of the Hudson's Bay Company, owed its origin to her friendship with the late William Thompson Smith of London, Ontario, retired Hudson Bay factor. The original idea had been to write a biography of Mr. Smith and much material regarding his experiences had been set down in notes. The stories he had to tell were many and interesting, but his prospective biographer was hampered by frequent restrictions. Her narrator would tell some particularly thrilling tale of early commercial intrigue, or trickery, or even cruelty, and would then stop and say: "But, no, we can't put that into the book. You see So-and-so is the nephew of——(the villain of the story), or Somebody-or-other is married to a grandson of——(another more or less reprehensible character). No, I don't think we can put that in the book."

Known to her readers as "Marian Keith," a pen-name said to have originated from the combination of the names of a favorite niece and a favorite nephew; known to her schoolmates as "Essie" (Esther) Miller, she to-day presides over St. Andrew's Manse, London, Ontario—Mrs. D. C. MacGregor.

Leafs Defeat Skeeters For Secona Victory

PESTS AGAIN FALL BEFORE TORONTO 9-2

Mills, Formerly of Buffalo Bisons, Holds Skeeters to 6 Hits.

TOPORCER GETS HOMER.

Shevlin, Rabbit and Strong Also Hit For the Circuit—Making Hits Count.

JERSEY CITY, N.J., April 17.—Arthur Mills, last season with Buffalo, made an encouraging and successful debut with the Leafs yesterday and Toronto took the second game of the set from the Skeeters 9 to 2. The former Bison, permitting six hits, allowed no two to be grouped, and the home forces really earned only one run off him. A good relay by Morehart in the seventh would have doubled Morrow at first, but Ray's peg was bad and Selkirk crossed the plate for the first home tally.

The one untainted run the local forces got was when Toporcer hit into the right field bleachers in the eighth. Previous to this four-masted drive by "Specs," two Leafs had broken into the home run division, and after it another member of Steve O'Neill's troupe hit the ball out of the playing area.

Jim Shevlin released a four-bagger in the sixth with two aboard for his first International League safety, and Joe Rabbitt smote a homer in the eighth with no one on the runway. In the ninth, Ken Strong, author of forty-one four-baggers for Hazelton last year, parked one in the open-faced seats in right when Richardson and Rogell were on the bags.

Making Them Count

The Leafs certainly are not wasting their hits in this series, for their 21 blows have netted them 18 tallies. Yesterday they batted against only one pitcher—Berley Horne, once of the Michigan-Ontario League—and for a long time it looked as if the game was destined to go down in history as a 1 to 0 affair.

In gaining their first run, the Leafs lost an athlete; Joe Rabbitt, thus living up to his reputation of being a poisonous performer, so far as the local team is concerned.

Joe replaced McHenry in the line-up after the latter had brought in the first score of the contest. McHenry opened the second inning by reaching first on Pittenger's error. Ruble's slam past Clancy put him on third, and he elected to score on Shevlin's short fly to Young.

The centrefielder made a good throw to Morrow, but Bob dropped the ball, McHenry being hurt when he bumped into the 185-pound catcher. Thereafter Rabbitt patrolled centre, absorbing four flies and making two hits, one of which was good for all four bases.

Leafs eGt Four

The big sixth, in which the Leafs made four runs, found Rabbitt among those present. Rogell led off by walking. Strong skied out, but Poison Joe singled, and so did Ruble, Arthur's welt bringing Rogell home. Shevlin propelled the ball into the stands in right field, and the Leafs had their second win of the year. They may get their third to-day, with "Curly" Ogden due to start, and drawing Bob Walsh as his opponent.

Toronto's lone error was recorded when Richardson dropped West's foul in the eighth. It didn't hurt, for MAX "fanned" soon after having his time at bat prolonged.

Mills lived up to his reputation of watching the bases closely by picking Young off first in the fourth.

Yesterday's Stars.

George Grantham, Pirates—Clouted homer with one on in eighth to beat Cubs, 4-3.

Herb. Pennock, Yankees—Held Red Sox to eight scattered hits and beat them, 2-1.

Clint Brown, Indians,—Held White Sox to six hits and blanked them, 7-0.

Charley Wilson, Braves—His homer with two on beat Robins, 7-4.

Wally Roettger, Reds — Clouted Cardinal pitching for double and four singles.

Lesser Teams Showing Sting In Majors

WILL TOUR WORLD BY CAR AND BOAT

H. F. Needham, Who Failed to Cross Canada Last Year, Has More Ambitious Plan.

HALIFAX, N.S., April 17—Undaunted by the unsuccessful termination of his attempted all-Canada continental crossing—Halifax to Vancouver—which had its finish near Winnipeg when his car rolled over a river bank, Healy F. Needham, at present in this city, now plans a round the world sea and land trip in August by automobile and boat. A "tuning-up" test trip across the continent, will be started from here on or about May 15.

"Miss Canada" will be painted in scarlet on the side of the car, which incidentally will be the first all-nickel car ever made. It will have a metal body, chromium painted, and upholstered in red leather. Built after the style of a torpedo racer, the machine will weigh two tons when loaded with full equipment.

He lacks one thing—a travelling companion. Needham has received many offers from wealthy Americans to accompany him, but he states he is waiting for a Nova Scotian to volunteer.

His itinerary will include Africa, the European continent, the British Isles, Siberia and Australia.

Mickey Roach Likely Pilot Tecumseh Club

LONDON, Ont., April 17 (C.P.).—Tecumsehs, local representatives in the International Hockey League, will probably have one of the best coaches in minor league hockey league before next season rolls around.

M. R. "Mickey" Roach, one time National League star, and for the last two seasons coach of the Buffalo Bisons, who finished in the play-off finals twice, has opened negotiations with Tecumseh club officials for the position left vacant by the resignation of Manager Roy Brothers.

It is considered almost certain Roach will get the job. However, Frank Carroll, Toronto, who has coached the Springfield Indians of the Canadian-American League during the last five years, may be offered the position. Carrol has severed connections with the New York Ranger operated club. Springfield won the championship of the Canadian-American circuit three times with Carrol at the helm.

YANKEES WIN 3RD STRAIGHT IN AMERICAN

New Yorkers Come Out Ahead 2-1 in Pitching Duel Between Pennock and Lisenbee.

MACKMEN LOSE AGAIN.

Nineteen Year Old Recruit, Hank McDonald, Puts Up Great Battle for A's.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.)

The big fellows of the big leagues are getting an early lesson this season in just how tough some of the other teams can be. Only three of the 16 major league teams have been able to win their first three games, and of these only the St. Louis Cardinals have had even a fairly easy time.

The other two are the Boston Braves, who have disturbed the peace of the experts considerably by upsetting the highly-rated Brooklyn Robins thrice, and the New York Yankees, who have taken three tough ones from the Boston Red Sox.

The Braves won No. 3 yesterday by a 7 to 4 count as Ed Brandt allowed Brooklyn only five hits and Dazzy Vance contributed to his downfall by throwing to the wrong base just before young Charley Wilson clouted a homer with two on. The Yanks came out ahead 2 to 1 in a pitching duel between Herb Pennock and Rod Lisenbee that was not decided until the ninth inning. Giving only seven hits and striking out seven, Lisenbee lost the game by making a wild throw in an attempt to nip the winning run at the plate.

Washington's Senators regained their edge over the champion Philadelphia Athletics, taking a close scrap by a 5-4 count. The A's barely missed tying the score as they tallied twice in the ninth inning and found some consolation for the defeat in the pitching of Hank McDonald, their 19-year-old recruit.

Clint Brown of Cleveland turned in a neat pitching job as he shut out the Chicago White Sox with six hits to win 7 to 0. The Indians touched Faber, Moore and Lyons for 14 blows. Although he allowed nine hits, Clarence Mitchell's spitball was more than good to enable the New York Giants to beat the Phillies. The Giants made 20 hits, most of them bunched in two big innings, and won by a 14 to 4 count.

SURVEY IS URGED

WINNIPEG, Man., April 17 (By The Canadian Press)—Fact-finding economic survey of the province is urged by S. J. Farmer, Labor member for Winnipeg in the Manitoba legislature recently, Mr. Farmer asks the government to ascertain the actual economic condition of the people in Manitoba.

The survey would learn the amount of money actually invested in the province; its wealth production and the basic cost of living. The survey would be under the direction of experienced technologists and sociologists.

JACK PURCELL TO GIVE EXHIBITION

Local Badminton Plyaers to Take Part in Lindsay Club Tournament.

LINDSAY, April 17.—(Special to Examiner). — Announcement was made today by the officials of the Garrison Badminton Club here that as a special feature of the first district tournament which is being staged in Lindsay on Saturday, Jack Purcell, of the Carlton Club, Toronto, and one of the outstanding stars of the badminton world, will play an exhibitionn match here with Mr. Cook, pro of the Carlton Club, in conjunction with the finals on Saturday night. Purcell was Canadian champion in 1930 and this year was unable to defend his title being in England at the world championship matches at the time of the Dominion finals.

During the tour taken by several outstanding British players last year, in the interests of the game in Canada, Purcell defeated all comers and was invited by Sir George Thomas to pair up with him in the world's campionship matches being held in London. He accepted and in the doubles the team reached the semi-finals and in the singles competition Purcell was runner-up to the champion. He has been a star player for several years and is considered one of the greatest Canadian exponents at batting the birdies about.

His exhibition will just cap the most complete program arranged by the local club. Excellent prizes have been donated and entries have been received from Orillia, Port Hope, Oshawa, Lindsay, Claremont and the strong Peterborough club. The tourney will start at eight in the morning and run throughout the afternoon with all the finals and Purcell's exhibition at night. The organization meeting for the district will be held before play starts.

Toilers Lose 1st Game To Vancouver Quintet

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 17 (C.P.). — Champions of the Prairies, the famed Toilers of Winnipeg met a surprise defeat last night when they lost the first match of the Western Canada basketball finals to the British Columbia Varsity squad The score was 29 to 14.

Piling up an early lead, the Varsity boys swarmed all over the Winnipeggers, and at half-time had increased their tally to 13 as the Toilers gained six.

Varsity just could not miss the hoop, and its tight-zone defence system had the Toilers puzzled all the way. The Toilers, twice Dominion champions and four times finalists, battled gamely all the way, but were up against a team playing the best basketball seen in Vancouver all season.

Bob Osborne, black-haired Varsity guard, was the star of the play, ably aided by blonde "Pi" Campbell and diminutive Cy Lee.

The teams play again on Saturday night, with total points to count. The winner meets Grads of St. Catharines or Nalacs of Montreal in the Canadian final.

Led by Poland and Rumania the principal European countries are carrying out a campaign for the coordination of agricultural production, stabilizationo f grain prices and the furnishing of credit for agriculture.

FEW PLAYERS HAVE SIGNED ON THE LINE

Ball Tossers Waiting Definite Action Out of Present Local Scramble.

MOST UNSATIFACTORY.

E. P. L. Executive Waiting For Proposed Senior Team to Show Hand.

Baseball here is passing through a queer situation, and yet one not wholly unexpected by the course of events. It is a period of waiting and watching by the players, and one of anxiety, restlessness, and activity by the team managers.

Although O. B. A. A. certificates have been in the hands of the executive of the proposed senior club for more than a week, and the East Peterborough League distributed their certificates to their clubs last Saturday night, few, if any, ball tossers have signed on the dotted line. It seems that the most any of the clubs are getting for their careful solicitation of players are promises. Players appear loath to take the step that will hook them up definitely with any one club.

The same scramble for players existed at this stage of the season other years, but the hesitation and caution now being exhibited by the players never previously reached such a degree.

Most Unsatisfactory.

Conversation with one of the E.P.L. executive this morning drew out the information that the situation is most unsatisfactory. The managers, who are striving to garner players, will not be able to get down to hard pan until the executive of the proposed senior team show their hand, he said.

"Most of our clubs are holding off until they learn just who are going to cast in their lot with the seniors," he commented. "When the senior outfit do something and declare their position, then we can begin work. But until that time when things are definite, the whole situation will be at a standstill.

Several Rumors.

Of course rumors are flying thick and fast. It was heard that Al Heckman and Jimmy Hall will play with Raybestos in the E.P.L. and the word that Jeff Hardill will also locate with the Rays is beginning to gain belief.

Harry Ranger, who with his father, has promised to place Peterborough back in senior ball, admitted to-day that he had been able to get nothing but verbal promises from many of the players. "We hope to get them to sign up at the practice we are planning for this Saturday," he stated.

That the tangle will smooth itself out and that fans are assured of smart exhibitions of the summer pastime can be taken for granted. These difficulties are always ironed out before the teams take the diamond for the first game. But this year there seems to be an extra quantity of hold-outs.

Davis To Pilot Cogs

Meanwhile the Cognawagas, one of the steadiest clubs in the E.P.L., has elected Al Davis manager of the team for this season. Al has had experience on the manager's bench having performed in that job with success in 1925-26-27. The Cogs will bear watching as they are a canny crew, tight-lipped, and continually occupied in strengthening their outfit.

If the warm weather holds, Saturday will likely see many of the players out on Exhibition Park to take their first dip into the season.

FORMER LEAFS WIN FOR CATS

Hits By Gehringer and Alexander Break Up Duel in Twelfth Inning.

DEFEAT BROWNS 6-5.

ST. LOUIS, April 17. — Three extra innings were required by the Detroit Tigers to win their initial victory of the season yesterday, but after suffering two defeats during this series they defeated the Browns by 6 to 5.

H. Walker, Tiger rookie, dropped a fly in the ninth and enabled St. Louis to tie the score. Waddey scored the tying run when Kress's long fly slipped from the Detroiter.

n the tenth John Stone knocked a home run to put the Tigers in the lead again, Schulte barely missing the drive to deep centre.

The Browns came back to even the count when Ferrell was walked, and McNeeley, who ran for him, went to third on Kimsey's single, and then scored on Levey's long fly.

Gehringer doubled in the twelfth, and scored on Alexander's single.

READING, Pa., April 17.—Buffalo defeated Reading for the second straight time, 9 to 4. The Bisons pounded two Reading hurlers for 12 hits, knocking Ken Jones off the hill in the first inning during a five-run barrage.

Red Wings Blank Bears

NEWARK, N.J., April 17—The Rochester Red Wings shut out the Newark Bears 3 to 0, here yesterday, behind the splendid pitching of Herman Bell. The Bruins were held to four scattered hits.

Al Harvin, husky right-hander, worked all but the ninth inning for the Bears, and allowed five hits; two of them came in the fourth inning along with a pass to produce one run. An error by Bobbie Stevens at short let the other two in.

THE GARAGE MARATHON

Commencing a marathon race in a garage may be a hot idea to a lot of sport fans but it was a cold one to the participants of the Detroit Marathon of 1926. Weather conditions on the day of the race were so bad and traffic was demoralized to such an extent that the contestants were forced to trudge through snow drifts from Pontiac for a distance of two miles to the starting point. There, their troubles were only beginning, there was such a snowstorm and blizzard blowing that it was found necessary to line up the runners inside a garage. The starting gun was fired, out they went into the storm, thus for the first time starting a marathon from the inside of a building.

PITTSBURG CLUB HALTS CHICAGO

Grantham's Homer With Waner on Base Gives Pirates 4-3 Victory.

GIANTS RUN AWAY.

CHICAGO, April 17. — George Grantham's home run with Lloyd Waner on base in the eighth inning yesterday gave Pittsburg a 4-to-3 victory over the Cubs, their first triumph of the season.

The Cubs outhit the Pirates, 9 to 6, but 12 men were left stranded on the bases. Sheriff Fred Blake started for the Cubs, and, although wild, did well until the eighth, when the game was lost. Bud Teachout and Pat Malone finished, with Heinie Meine and Glenn Spencer dividing the work for Pittsburg.

"Hack" Wilson came to bat three times with men on, but failed to hit safely. Woody English, Cub shortstop, handled eleven chances without a misplay.

Giants Run Away

PHILADELPHIA, April 17. — The New York Giants massacred four Philadelphia pitchers yesterday, touching the quartet for 20 hits to beat the Phillies 14 to 4. "Jumbo" Jim Elliott started for the Phils, but went out after yielding five runs in the fifth inning. He was followed by Dutch Schesler, Ben Shields and Ed. Fallenstein, none of whom was effective.

The Giants put over seven more runs in the eighth inning on a walk, eight hits and a Philly error. Ott and Lindstrom led the clouting.

Clarence Mitchell, veteran spitball pitcher, held the Phillies in check throughout, allowing nine hits.

BISHOP-BOLEY START TENTH YEAR AS INFIELD PARTNERS

Star Keystone Pair Were Chums at Baltimore Before Joining A's.

GREAT COMBINATION

By FRANK TURBYVILLE
(Special to The Examiner—Copyright, 1931)

BALTIMORE, April 17—The start of the 1931 American League baseball season was the start of the tenth season of the famous Bishop and Boley team of keystone stars

It is the fifth season the BB's' of the A's have worked side by side in Philadelphia.

Previously they had paired up for five years during the time the Baltimore Orioles were winning seven straight pennants in the International league

And the end is not in sight. Connie Mack has brought in several reinforcements in the last few years but no young infielder will supplant either Max or Joe until one or both of the veterans start slipping.

Mack values the teamwork record of his BB's' and realizes that a pair working so long together has something on a new combination even though a newcomer might show greater individual brilliance.

There is no combination in baseball that has such a record, and when the day arrives for the breaking up of the combination it will be done with considerable reluctance.

No two men of a baseball team need the co-ordination that is required of a keystone pair. Their smoothness of functioning in infield play is comparable to that of a basketball quintet that has worked together for several seasons.

Little To Choose;

Joe Boley will be 33 years old July 26, while Max Bishop will be 32 on October 5—about the time the A's hope to have another world's championship on the fire.

But though Joe is the older of the pair hasn't been in baseball as long. Max started a year ealier, in 1918, and at once became the regular second baseman of the Baltimore Club.

Joe came along the next year, 1919, and was a regular from the start. That is the year the 'BB's' started their long association.

Through the seasons of 1919, 1920, 1921, and 1923 they played side by side—with seldom a substitution.

And in each of those years the Orioles won a pennant. In fact, the start of their teaming up was the start of Jack Dunn's winning.

As Max beat Joe into the minor leagues, so did he beat him into the majors. But that wasn't because Max was a greater player. Jack Dunn wouldn't sell Boley—kept him three years after he had let Bishop advance to the Athletics.

At one time Dunn refused $125,000 for Boley's release—saying he would keep Joe as the Orioles were winning pennants. After failing to win in 1926 Dunn let Boley advance but he didn't get any amount such as he had been offered a few years previous.

Thus Bishop and Boley were apart three years. And by the time Joe arrived, Max was a fixture. It wasn't long before Joe was a fixture, too. They took up where they had left off in Baltimore in 1923 and gave Mack the best keystone combination he'd had in many seasons

Fifth Year with A's

They have played together four years in Philadelphia. This is the fifth.

Neither has batted as well as he did in Baltimore, for with the Orioles both Max and Joe were stickmen.

Max has batted .268 in seven years and Joe has hit .269 in four years. Each has had one standout season—Max in 1928 with a mark of .316 and Joe in 1927 with a mark of .311.

Boley batted well over .300 in each of the eight years he was with the Orioles. Bishop was twice over the .300 mark.

They certainly are veterans in baseball earnings, for both of them were well paid in Baltimore. Boley received as high as $9,000 a year from Jack Dunn. And they have had two big series cuts and hope for another one this fall.

Montreal 'Cage Champs Ready For Title Battle

TORONTO, Ont., April 17. — (By the Canadian Press.)—Victors over Glebe Collegiate, Ottawa, last season's Eastern Canada champions, the Central Young Men's Christian Association basketball team of Montreal, arirved here this morning in fine fettle for the Dominion junior championship series with the local West End "Y" quintette.

The teams meet in the first of the two gae series to-night. The deciding tilt will be played to-morrow night, total points on the round deciding the new Canadian titlists.

The Giant players say that if Cecil Pat Caraway of the White Sox had a little more smoke, he would be another Bob Grove. He's a rather good pitcher as he stands.

THREE DISTRICT TEAMS TO ENTER SOFTBALL LOOP

Entries Considered and Officers Elected at Last Night's Meeting.

WEAR NEW UNIFORMS.

Question of Playing Field to be Decided at April 28th Meeting.

A large and enthusiastic turnout at the Duffus' Bowling Alleys last night started the Girls' Softball League off in good style. It was a mixed crowd, fellows and girls, and little time was lost in getting the meeting going. Entries were considered, officers elected and plans arranged to be carried through before the next meeting which will start the new league on its schedule.

The teams which will form the loop are Brintons, Westclox Warsaw, Dominion Woollens, Sixth Line, C.G.E. and Keene. One more team will be invited in to make it an eight-team league. However, if several other outfits wished to join, the league could arrange to operate in two sections and so take care of as many entries as there were. At the next meeting, it will be known definitely how many entries there are.

The officers elected last night were: President, Russ Kitchen; vice-president, O. McCarthy; secretary-treasurer, W. Bennett (who agreed to take it only for the time being). The executive is Helen Nelson, Keene; Hannah Shearer, Warsaw; J. Hall, Sixth Line; and Fred Scates of Peterborough.

The honorary presidents are G. N. Gordon, J. J. Duffus and Percy Bond.

The question of a playing field was talked over and will be decided on at the meeting on Tuesday, April 28th. And it was decided the teams should wear snappy, distinctive uniforms. The games will be home and home affairs, with the out-of-town teams playing home games on their own grounds instead of all in Peterborough. Fred Scates, representing the Men's City Softball League, spoke to the gathering on various aspects of the game.

After the date of the next get-together was agreed upon, and since nothing more could be done for the time being, the meeting was adjourned.

Soccer Match On Saturday Afternoon

"Selects" Play Brinton on the Brinton Ground—Kick-off at Three.

The formal opening of the local soccer season takes place to-morrow afternoon on the Brinton ground where the "Association Select" will play, against the Brinton Athletic in an exhibition game. Kick off at three o'clock. Referee Jack Hodson. Linesmen—Tom Stewart and James Liddell.

All the players chosen are requested to be at the pavilion not later than two thirty, so as to facilitate arrangements to complete the teams. Any person that has been selected who desires to be relieved of the privilege, please communicate with the local secretary by phone immediately.

A Double Schedule

For many seasons the P. and D.F.A. have always insisted on the teams playing a double scheduled because the purpose of the game is to provide relaxation to the participants. The question will be settled on Monday evening at the meeting of the association. All clubs must notify the executive the dates that they wish no games to be played so as to complete the schedule.

English Team Game

A very enthusiastic soccer person approached the association with the object in view to make arrangements that they approach public officials on the financial question to bring the English touring team to the city. He emphasized the question with many excellent arguments to substantiate his faith in the proposition but he failed to impress the executive because they have always gone in the "great big hole" in previous games in the Ontario Cup. At any rate, the local secretary was instructed to get full information from the O.F.A. secretary.

CASUAL COMMENTS

Frank Whitehouse was in town yesterday calling on a few of his friends. Frank, it will be remembered, was the star southpaw hurler for the Lakeviews of some seven or eight years ago, later pitching for the senior team here. Then he turned pro.

* * * * * * *

But Frank has quit baseball now and devotes all his time to business. He is travelling for a firm in New York State. Too bad he left the game, as he could sure push them up from the port side.

* * * * * * *

Rotary Juveniles are working out tonight at Stevenson Park at six bells, and again Saturday afternoon at two on the same diamond. All juvenile players are welcome to try out for a place with this outfit.

* * * * * * *

And Pat Calladine is having his Maple Leafs, juvenile entry, work out tomorrow afternoon at the Stevenson Park. Pat has a Maple Leaf bantam team, too

* * * * * * *

This is ideal weather for the harness-racers working out daily at the track in the Exhibition Grounds. There is a large number of pacers and trotters stabled here, many of them coming from some distance away as this is considered one of the best tracks in Eastern Ontario.

* * * * * * *

The smaller softball, which the local delegates to the Paris convention voted against, will change the game quite a bit. The pitcher's mound is moved back two feet, the playing field must be made longer and first-basemen are permitted to wear a glove.

* * * * * * *

And speaking of softball, aren't those girls enthusiastic? There was a number of them at the meeting last night, and every one was strong for the revival of the game for girls around this district.

* * * * * * *

There are seven teams which have signified their intention of entering the Girls' Softball League to date, and probably one more entry will round out the loop. Although, if there was a real large number of entries, the league could operate in a couple of sections.

* * * * * * *

Russ Kitchen, elected president last night, has done a lot toward organizing this league. He got the Westclox interested first, then approached a number of other shops around Peterborough, and did everything possible to bring in other teams.

* * * * * * *

The teams who will enter are Brintons, Westclox, Warsaw, Dominion Woollens, Six Line, C.G.E., and Keene. Those three out-of-town teams will mean outside trips, as the latter will play their games on the home field. That ought to be good.

* * * * * * *

Keene and Warsaw are red hot for girls' softball. They'll likely field strong contenders and lend their fair representatives plenty of support. Final arrangements to get the league going will be made on April 28, the next meeting. Entries should all be in at this time.

* * * * * * *

The Peterborough Carpet Ball Association brought a very successful year to a close last night with a fine spread at the W.O.W. Hall. A big crowd was on hand, and they all seemed to be having a whale of a time.

* * * * * * *

The winning teams of the leagues were presented with prizes, and that outfit knows how to pick prizes! Silverware in various forms candlesticks, fruit bowls, carving sets, etc. They certainly spared no expense.

* * * * * * *

The Athletic Club in Lindsay is working to put on a return boxing tournament, in which a lot of the Peterborough boxers will take part. The show will probably be held there in the Armouries next Thursday.

SENIORS WILL HOLD WORKOUT

IN STEVENSON PARK.

The first workout for the senior baseball team, entries in the Central Ontario League, will take place to-morrow afternoon at 3.30 o'clock in the Exhibition Park, weather permitting.

A likely looking bunch of ball tossers has promised to try out with the Rangers' senior outfit and all are expected to attend this first practise. "Shiner" Johnston will be there looking over his material and getting a line on the younger recruits. Any one wanting a tryout is invited to come out and show his stuff, as it is expected there will be a battle for practically every position on the team. No player is yet assured of a place, neither veterans or youngsters.

If the weather continues good, "Shiner" intends putting the players through a stiff practise and in this way get a line on players of senior baseball calibre. More workouts will follow regularly.

PINEHURST, N.C., April 17. (CP) Miss Marian Jessup, of Wilmington Del., to-day won the United States women's singles title of the North and South tennis tournament, defeating Mrs. John Van Ryan, of Philadelphia, in the finals 7-5, 6-2.

EIGHTY GUESTS ATTEND CARPET LEAGUE BANQUET

Prizes For Season's Competition Presented at Annual Banquet.

CLEVER PROGRAM.

St. John's No. 13 Team Presented With Cup Awarded By Mr. Hope.

Approximately eighty guests attended the annual banquet of the Peterborough Carpet Ball League last night in the Woodmen's Hall. It was prepared and served in an excellent manner by the ladies of the association. The prize-winning teams were presented with the trophies following the dinner, with congratulatory speeches and the singing of "For they are jolly good fellows" to the music supplied by the orchestra.

The tables were nicely arranged and little time was lost by the company in getting started. H. Hotston played lively numbers on the piano while the dinner was going on. Then the opening address was given by President C. W. Wiggins, followed by the presentation of the cup by the donor, Mr. Hope, and the first prize to St. John's, No. 13, by the Rev. Mr. Patterson. He gave a brief and interesting outline of the association and said he was pleased to see a number of the ladies present. The winning team is composed of Matthews, Davis, Hocking and Pammett.

The Rev. Mr. Hughes presented the second prize to All Saints No. 15, with a humorous and congratulatory address. He also pointed out the value of this league in the way of binding friendships and pleasant associations. The members of No. 15 are Combe, Young, J. Ridyard, Jr., and Raybould.

The third prize was presented by Mr. Richardson to St. George's No. 10, with a short talk. This team includes Sims, D. Leether, Cuff and Munn. St. George's No. 1 which received the fourth prize from Mr. Cheverill, has on it Harrington, Thomas, Cole and Knott.

All Saints' No. 6 were handed the fifth prize by W. H. Ashby. On this team are Lucas, Price, Hope and F. Leether. K.O.P. No. 8 were presented the sixth prize by Mr. Hope, and this team is composed of Guppy, Thomas, Gimblett and Sloan. The consolation prize went to St. James No. 16.

As a token of appreciation for his zealous work throughout the year G. Groombridge, secretary, was presented with a beautiful silver set. President Wiggins made the presentation.

Frank Clark, banjo, H. Hotston, piano, and W. Farr, violin, played many snappy pieces, a number of which everyone sang. Mr. Clark gave two solo selections on his banjo and received a big hand.

Votes of thanks were unanimously passed to the ladies, the press and the Woodmen of the World, the latter for use of their hall.

W. McDermid entertained the gathering with some interesting tricks, sleight-of-hand and magical. The crowd enjoyed them a great deal.

The majority of the guests remained for a time to dance or to watch the others dance, and those leaving expressed their pleasure at having been present at such an enjoyable gathering.

LOCAL MARKSMEN DEFEAT LAKEFIELD

Northern Village Well Represented at Indoor Rifle Shoot Here.

Thursday night Lakefield was represented by a team of five marksmen who gave a good account of themselves considering the fact that they had not done much indoor work. The Rangers put in two different teams and the scores were fairly close. Lakefield has promised a different result when they get some of the local boys out on the open ranges. It was rumored last night that Campbellford is looking for a match; if such be the case communicate with Lt. James Parsons, who will make any arrangement. Saturday will be the opening day on the outdoor ranges, weather permitting, and a full turn-out is looked for. Standing:—

TORIES' ATTITUDE RAISES TROUBLE

Chamberlain Claims Norfolk Farmers Party Head Misquoted Him.

CUSTOM DUTIES TOPIC.

LONDON, April 17 (By Thomas T. Champion, C.P. Staff Correspondent). — That the new pact between Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born newspaper magnate, and Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative Leader, does not rest on such a secure foundation, is shown in developments to-day. And the trouble is still over the Conservative Party's attitude towards protection for domestic and Empire agriculture against imports of food from foreign countries.

Yesterday J. F. Wright, leader of the Norfolk Farmers' Party, which was recently organized by Lord Beaverbrook, declared he had been informed by Right Hon. Neville Chamberlain, while Mr. Chamberlain was still chairman of the Conservative Party organization, that the Conservatives were prepared to put customs duties on foreign foodstuffs.

Now Mr. Chamberlain protests against Mr. Wright's revelation, which he says is a complete misrepresentation of a private conversation.

Taxes on imported foodstuffs, continues Mr. Chamberlain, are not excluded, but whether such are used to protect the British farmer from foreign dumping, or whether the method of a quota or prohibition is preferred, will depend on the circumstances of each case.

Old folks use it to bring youthfulness to joints that creak and ache and get troublesome.

It's good for many other ailments also: Neuritis for instance, and Sciatica, Lumbago and lame, aching back—Rub it in good. Made in Canada and sold everywhere for 60 cents a generous tube.

LAUNCH YACHT AT COWES.

LONDON, April 17 (By The Canadian Press).—The King's famous racing yacht Britannia, which is being converted to Bermudian rig similar to Shamrock and five other modern cutters forming a new J class, will be launched at Cowes early next month and be completed at Gosport, where her new mast will be stepped. Her first race in her new rig will be at the Royal Yacht Squadron's regatta at Cowes on June 1, which opens a special week's racing on the Solent.

"Electric Finer" Detects Thinness

PITTSBURGH, April 17 — "An "electric finger" that "feels" the thinness of the thinnest piece of material has been developed in the Westinghouse Research Laboratories. Its purpose is the detection of imperfections in workmanship or fraudulent reproductions of articles.

It can tell instantly whether a doubtful document, stock certificate or cheque is printed on paper of the same thickness as the genuine or pick out faked historical documents, costly tapestry, and silks by comparing their thickness with the original. Also it can be used to find thin spots in airplane wings.

TWO PRISONERS GIVEN REMAND

Pair Captured in Swamp Near Stratford Have Previous Record.

STOLE CAR, BICYCLES.

STRATFORD, Ont., April 17. (CP) Charles Mullen 21, and James Arno, 24, captured after an exciting chase by police and farmers in a swamp near St. Pauls late yesterday afternoon, pleaded guilty in police court to-day to a charge of the theft of a motor cycle. They were remanded to jail by Magistrate Makins. They are wanted by the city police on charges of theft of two bicycles and are also wanted in London for the theft of an automobile.

Mullen has served time at Burwash prison, having been released from that institution in January, while Arno also served time in Burwash, but escaped from there. He was captured and instead of being sent back to Burwash was given a term at the Fort William Industrial Farm from which place he escaped last September. Arno has been at large since that time.

Flyers With Photos Take Animal Census

Count Buffalo in Big Western Park With View to Proving the Scheme Feasible.

WINNIPEG, Man., April 17 (C.P.) —Taking a census of animals in the big open spaces by aerial photography is a new thing and, according to an interview with Flight-Lieut. J. C. Uhlman by The Winnipeg Evening Tribune, was successfully demonstrated recently at Woods' national buffalo park by an expedition of which Flight-Lieut. Uhlman was in charge. Two airplanes carried the party, one being piloted by Lieut. Uhlman and the other by Sergt. W. F. Tourgis.

The Tribune says: "The party spent a month in the park, which is situated at the junction of the boundaries of Alberta, Saskatchewan and North-West Territories. Slightly less than 1,500 buffalo were photographed. No attempt was made to cover the whole area, as the expedition was simply an experiment to determine if the method was satisfactory. It was quite impossible, he said, to take a census in any other way. Previously, in determining the number of animals in this and other parks, the numbers were arrived at by estimating the percentage of increase in the herds since they were originally placed in the parks.

"Describing the methods used, Flight-Lieut. Uhlman said that in each plane a park ranger accompanied the pilot and the photographer. In addition to the photographs, the ranger counted as many animals as was possible with the naked eye. In this way, a sort of double check was made, and the two results could be compared.

"Before any photography was done at all, a reconnaisance was made by air to determine the areas in which the buffalo were most numerous. Park rangers were greatly impressed with the speed with which these reconnoitres were made. One such trip was done in four hours, which formerly took the rangers three weeks hard travelling by dog team. Frequently, the animals were seen in clumps of trees, which it was impossible either to photograph or count them accurately. In such cases, the pilot would swoop down upon them in such a direction as to drive them out into the open where they could be photographed. It is expected that a complete survey may be made of the park next winter."

Women In Germany Turn Election Tide

Feminist Voters Turn Out in Large Numbers and Rob Extremi sts of 25 Seats.

MONTREAL, April 17 (By The Canadian Press)—Decidedly conservative was the temper of the women's vote in the last general elections in Germany, and their excercise of the francnise in that highly uncertain and exciting political contest militated strongly against the radical movements in that country. This is no "hit-or-miss" estimate, but is based upon the actual figures as to the party affiliations of the women voters and shown by their ballots.

Speaking recently of the interest taken in elections and the franchise by German women, H. Schafhausen, German Consul in Montreal, stated that from the very first they turned out in large numbers to cast their ballots. There was no necessity to make any effort to get out the feminine electorate, as from the earliest days of the Republic a large proportion voted.

An interesting feature of the last election, from the point of view of the use made of the privilege of the franchise, was the much larger vote cast by women than that of the men. Over fifty-six per cent of the total vote was cast by the women.

Figures indicate that the relative strength of the various parties would have been very different had there been no feminine vote. The radical opposition parties, right and left, Nationalsocialist and Kommunist—the former the Hitler party—lost in no less than twenty-three contests because of the women's vote. One or the other of these extreme groups would have won these, had it not been for the women's ballots. The importance of such a difference made in the political situation to-day, it was pointed out, may easily be appreciated. The middle group of parties gained many contests through the political convictions of the newly-enfranchised sex.

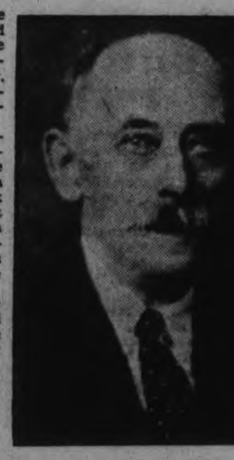
Honored By Fellow-Workers In De Laval



GEORGE K. THROOP

Who was yesterday afternoon the recipient of a Morris chair and smoker's stand, presented by George Lowe on behalf of the Creamery Department of the DeLaval Company, and to mark the termination of nineteen years service in that department.

Mr. Lowe in making the presentation, spoke in high terms of his fellow employee, adding that at the age of 76 years he had now reached a time of life when he could look back over the years with a certain amount of pride, knowing that he had won a reputation for industry, and the esteem of those he had worked with during his period of service with the DeLaval Company.

Surrounded by every member of the department, Mr. Throop was invited to sit in the chair, while three cheers were given in his honor, and "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" was sung.

The old gentleman rising to tender his thanks, smiled through tears. He was deeply touched by the demonstration of real comradeship, and doubtless felt the wrench of parting from his former place of employment very keenly.

THE SON OF TARZAN No. 41 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Meriem spent an evening and a night of terror. Once they hid her while they hunted. Her natural terror at being left alone in the awful jungle was submerged in a greater horror as she saw the man and beast spring upon their prey and saw the handsome face of her preserver contort in a bestial snarl. Nor could she eat the meat the two so evidently relished and offered her. So Korak brought her some luscious fruit.

The sleeping problem vexed Korak. He knew she could not balance herself in the crotch of a tree and sleep as he and the ape did. To sleep on the ground would make her a prey for prowling beasts. There was but one solution—he cut some boughs and made a bed for her to sleep in. With Akut on one side of her and the boy upon the other, she was guarded by two faithful sentries. But even with her faith in Korak, terror of the jungle kept her awake half the night.

The sun was well up when she awoke. At sight of the ape's hairy back she shrank away, then realized some one was holding her, and turning her head she saws the smiling eyes of the youth regarding her. Akut saw she was afraid of him. He rather enjoyed that fact. He extended his huge hand, as though to seize her. She shrank still farther away. Akut's eyes were busy drinking in the humor of the situation. He did not see the narrowing eyes of Korak.

The ape's fingers were about to close on the girl's arms when the youth rose suddenly with a short, vicious growl. His fist flew out, landing on the snout of the astonished ape. With an explosive bellow, Akut reeled backward and tumbled from the tree. Korak glared down upon him. As the brute scrambled to his feet, there came a sudden swish in the bushes, then a mass of spotted fur shot straight for Akut's back. It was a leopard.

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR

The reviving of plants, shrubs, and trees in spring time, is in no sense typical of the resurrection of man. A man must be dead before he can be resurrected. When a man dies, the whole man dies, all that goes to make up the man. The reason that resurrection is not now preached is because the majority of preachers repeat Satan's lie, and brazenly contradict God's word, by saying that death is not death, that it is merely a transition from one state of existence to another. Jesus, the Son of God, procured for Adam and all his posterity release from death, by paying the full ransom price of the perfect life lost by Adam through disobedience. Jesus is risen from the dead and become the firstfruits of them that sleep in death, after which in due time comes the great harvest of mankind resurrected from death. Jesus (not God) was dead but is now alive for evermore. The death of the perfect man Jesus secured for humanity life independent of character. The resurrection of Christ was necessary for the deliverance of man from sin. In the day of judgment or trial, while it will be more tolerable for some than for others, yet all will have a favorable opportunity of salvation from sin and obtaining eternal life. Only the wilfully wicked who refuse to come under the government of Jesus, will be returned into the death conditions, shall die the second death. Jesus and the resurrection is the hope of the living and the dead of the whole world. —M. T. Butcher. 1d.91.1185

OBITUARY

MRS. T. H. STINSON.

LINDSAY, Ont., April 17 (Special to The Examiner).—The death took place at noon to-day, following a lingering illness of Ella Robson, wife of T. H. Stinson, K.C., M.P., for Victoria and Haliburton. The deceased was born in Lindsay, being a daughter of the late W. A. Robson. She is survived by her husband, one sister, residing in Lindsay, and a brother at present in Europe. The late Mrs. Stinson was a member of First United Church, a past Regent of Kawartha Chapter I.O.D.E., and a past president of the Women's Liberal-Conservative Association. The funeral takes place Sunday afternoon.

MRS. MARY WILGAR.

Mrs. Mary Wilgar passed away yesterday in the City General Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio, after only a few hours' illness. Mrs. Wilgar, formerly Mary MacFarlane, was born in Peterborough on May 28, 1875, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew MacFarlane. The deceased spent most of her life in this city, and before her marriage she occupied the responsible position as private secretary to the late Hon. J. R. Stratton.

During this time she enjoyed the friendship of a large circle of friends and acquaintances, and her pleasing disposition won the respect of all with whom she associated. She was married to William D. Wilgar in 1899 and removed first to Montreal and then to Port Arthur. Mrs. Wilgar then returned to Peterborough for a short time before going to Cleveland, where she has resided for nearly two years. Surviving her are her mother, two daughters, Mrs. W. A. Jackson of Brantford, and Mrs. Robert Fox of Elmira, N.Y., a son Harold of Kingston, three brothers, Charles of this city, Bruce of Vancouver, and Ernest of Claremont, California, a sister, Mrs. George McCuish, also of Vancouver, a granddaughter, Joan Jackson, and a grandson, Robert Fox, Jr.

The funeral service will be conducted from the residence of the brother of the deceased, Charles D. MacFarlane 426 Donegal Street, at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. Rev. C. V. McLean of St. Andrew's United Church will officate, and interment will be made in Little Lake Cemetery.

"Creation's Hymn" (L. Van Beethoven); "The Lost Chord" (Sullivan-Brewer); "Laudamus," (W. Owen); "Crossing the Bar" (J. C. Marks).

The choir will be under the leadership of Thomas Phillips, organist and choirmaster of St. Andrew's United Church.

GRASS FIRES CONTINUE

Grass fires continued to keep the Firemen busy yesterday afternoon and only the rainfall last night has prevented any further fires of this nature today. At 3:32 yesterday afternoon a fire got out of control on the Monaghan Road, between King and Bolivar Streets, and caught onto the fences. The property owner was so excited that he ran all the way to Box 115, Charlotte and Park streets, to put in an alarm, instead of using the phone. He was burning the grass without the permission of the Fire Chief, but his proximity to the City Limits will probably save him from a summons.

Another call was rung in at 5:19 p.m. for a similar fire at the Corner of Gilmour Street and Monaghan Road. While this outfit was out, an alarm came in from 599 King Street at 5:25 which necessitated the using of two pieces of apparatus at once.

TO LECTURE ON BIRDS

Lovers of birds and bird life will be afforded an excellent opportunity of hearing expert discussion and reminiscences on the matter when Miss Edith L. Miss Marsh is making a lecture tour of the Province under the direction of the Department of Forests and Mines. Her visit to Peterborough has been undertaken under the auspices of the Women's Canadian Club and the local Department of Agriculture.

Earl Willingdon Takes Over Reins of Office in India

VICEROY IRWIN STEPS FROM POST HELD FIVE YEARS

Indian Princes, High Officials, Civilians Participate in Impressive Farewell.

GANDHI IS PRESENT.

Nationalist Leader, Deeply Affected, Gives Viceroy Parting Blessing.

By JAMES A MILLS
Associated Press Correspondent

BOMBAY, India, Apr. 18.—Viceroy Lord Irwin, just turned 50 years old, today relinguished his high post in India to Earl Willingdon, former Governor General of Canada.

The British of Bombay and India, aided by many Indians of all creeds and races, participated in an impressive and affecting farewell to Lord Irwin as he stepped down from five years in power and sailed for England.

Indian princes, high government officials, civilians, military and ecclesiatical dignitaries and great crowds of the rank and file assembled at the arch, sometimes called the Gateway to India, to bid the tall, kindly Viceroy bon voyage.

With most of them there was the feeling, widely expressed, that the retiring Viceroy, although possibly far from India's greatest supreme official, at least was one of the country's most human, unpretentious, transparently sincere and pious officers.

Abhorred Pomp

Unlike Lord Curzon and some of his predecessors Lord Irwin abhored pomp and lived and worked comparatively unostentatiously preferring to deal with men and affairs in terms of human values rather than on the basis of cold official conventionality.

One of the men most affected by his departure to-day was possibly his greatest political enemy, Mahatma Gandhi. The two, throughout the animosities raised by the civil disobedience campaign, remained firm personal friends. "I shall see you in London at the second Round Table Conference," Lord Irwn said to Gandhi in farewell.

Gandhi, smiling cryptically, answered: "It is in God's hands." He raised his clasped hands in front of him in the manner of a high priest as if blessing the departing Viceroy, and bowed his head reverently. Obviously deeply affected, Lord Irwin clasped his hand.

Drove in Open State Coach

Lord Irwin and Lady Irwin drove in an open State coach through the streets of Bombay to the Gateway of India, eliciting here and there cheers from Bombay's highly Nationalistic population which gathered to watch, although there was wide and full realization that the departing Viceroy had been responsible for jailing thousands of their numbers.

Earl Willingdon took the oath of office at 4.35 p.m. Although absent from India for six years, Lord Willingdon formerly was Governor of Bombay Presidency and Madras. He more recently was Governor General of Canada.

Prisoner Chooses Jail and Lashes

REGINA, Sask., April 18 (C.P.)—Given the choice of spending two years in the penitentiary or, in the alternative, one year in jail, with ten lashes, George Bien, Moose Jaw, convicted of robbing a Regina store last January, chose the jail term and the lashes in Court of King's Bench here yesterday before Mr. Justice Donald MacLean.

This is believed to be the first case in the history of Saskatchewan law courts in which such an alternative has been given, and, according to H. E. Sampson, K. C., Crown prosecutor, at least sets a precedent for Regina law courts.

31 GUN SALUTE GIVEN VICEROY AS OATH TAKEN

Ceremony in Convocation Hall at Bombay is Brief and Simple.

SIR J. BAUMONT OFFICIATES.

BY JAMES A. MILLS
Associated Press Correspondent

BOMBA, India, Apr. 18. — Earl Willingdon, former Governor General of Canada, today took over the reigns of office as Viceroy of India, and Lord Irwin, viceroy for the past five years steamed away towards England.

The ceremony in which Earl Willingdon was sworn in as the king's representative in the vast Indian Empire was as simple and dignified as it was brief and businesslike. A tremendous crescendo of 31 guns outside the university announced that inside the convocation hall Earl Willingdon had taken the oath as Viceroy. The oath was administered by Sir John Beaumont, Chief Justice of the High Court, while Countess Willingdon, the ruling Prices and high state dignitaries looked on.

Sits In Council

At the conclusion of the brief ceremony the vice-regal flag was unfurled and the new Viceroy sat in formal council with all members of the Executive Council present. Then after numerous conferences and interviews the Willingdons entrained for New Delhi.

Although India's new chief executive has been here less than 36 hours observers already have commented on the exceptional activity display-

Sleeper Angered by Melodeon Melodies Shoots Down Player, Then His Own Wife

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, April 18.—(AP)—Jazz was blamed today for a shooting affair which claimed two victims here, Mrs. Mary Mulholland, 35, and John McMullan, 20. William Mulholland, 35, the woman's husband, is under arrest charged with double murder.

McMullan was visiting in Mullholand's home last night and accompanying jazz airs on a gramophone with a melodeon. Mulholland repeatedly declared that the music disturbed him and when McMullan arose to leave and walked into the haliway Mulholland was alleged to have shot him there.

Mrs. Mulholland fled screaming, but her husband fired after her, police say and killed her. Mulhollands son had a narrow escape from his father's wrath.

WHEAT ACREAGE SHOWS BIG DROP

U. S., Australia and Argentine Plan to Cut Planting 24 to 30 Per Cent.

CANADA'S TOTAL UNKNOWN.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 18 (C.P.).—Evidences of material reductions in the wheat acreages for the 1931-32 world wheat crop are announced in the review issued to-day by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The United States' intentions to plant, report as of March 1, indicated a 24 per cent. reduction in durum acreage and a 12 per cent. reduction in the acreage of other spring wheat. Reports from Australia and Argentina mention the possibility of even larger reductions, influenced largely by the prevalent low prices. Broomhall's of March 31 estimates the Australian acreage reduction at 30 per cent. or 5½ million acres. The Argentine Ministry of Agriculture states that the reduction in that country will amount to 15 or 20 per cent. The probable Canadian acreage for 1931 will be forecasted by the intentions report of this Bureau released on May 12.

Foreign crop news shows a considerable variance, but conditions are generally satisfactory.

Bettering the friendly relations of the nations bordering on the Pacific is an announced aim.

Of the 66,717 men who applied to join the British Army last year 53.1 per cent. were rejected on physical or medical grounds.

SUPREME COURT OPENS MONDAY AT COURT HOUSE

Three Civil Actions Are Set Down to be Heard by Justice Logie.

NO CRIMINAL CASES.

Two actions, both arising from motor accidents are down for hearing at the Spring sessions of the Supreme Court of Ontario which open here on Monday, before the Hon. Justice William Alexander Logie, C. B. They are a claim for $20,000 damages and costs, in which James T. Lang is the plaintiff; and a claim for $10,000 damages and costs, which are sought by Eliza Rew widow of William Rew late of 118, Gladstone avenue, who died as the result of injuries received when knocked down by an automobile on October 1st last.

The first named action in which Frank Hooey and George Huston are the defendants, arises out of a motor accident, which occurred on November 18th, 1930, and as a result of which the plaintiff Lang received such injuries that he has since been unable to follow his occupation as an insurance agent.

Hooey was in charge of the car, which was owned by the co-defendant Huston, and was driving south on Park street near Sherbrooke street when the car collided with an automobile driven by plaintiff.

In his statement of defence, the defendant Huston denies that defendant Hooey failed to keep the automobile under control, or that he

REPUBLIC HALTS CATALAN'S FIGHT FOR SEPARATION

Col. Macia Promises to Submit Demands to Constitutional Convention.

COOPERATE WITH MADRID.

Gen. Berenguer Surrenders — Gov't Will Recognize Monarchy's Debts.

MADRID, April 18. (By Clarence Dubose, A. P. Staff Correspondent). Catalonia's battle for independence will be fought by its orators in the halls of a national constitutional convention and not by soldiers on battlefields in the sunny southern coast province.

The new Provisional Government here to-day hailed the victory of three of its ministers, who, after an aeroplane flight to Barcelona, last night wrung from the Catalonian President, Colonel Francisco Macia, a pledge to submit separatist demands and demands for political autonomy to the projected constitutional convention, meanwhile cooperating with Madrid.

Worst Problems Removed

The accord reached at Barcelona removed the most pressing of the political problems facing the Junta set up by Don Niceto Alcala Zamora, Provisional, President. Alejandro Lerroux, Minister of State, said that the other pressing separatist movement, that of the basque provinces, had not taken definite form and was causing no apprehension.

General Damaso Berenguer, who became Premier of Spain when General Primo De Rivera relinquished power, last night gave himself up to police after reading in Madrid newspapers that the Government wanted him to answer for his responsibility for execution of the two rebel leaders, Captain Fermyn Galan and Garcia Hernandez, at Jaca last December.

No Charges Laid

Miguel Maura, new Minister of Interior, told General Berenguer that no formal charges had been made against him and that he could go free until they were. General Berenguer gave him his word of honor as a gen-

BIRMINGHAM SAFE.

Lincoln City Leads Rovers in Battle For Northern Section Honors.

London, April 18 (C.P.)—In the Scottish First Division, Motherwell definitely lost their chance of winning the Scottish First Division Championship, which would have been some compensation for their defeat in the Cup series when they lost to Cowdenbeath. Celtic, who won the Scottish Cup, have a fine opportunity of winning the League Cup as well. They have already won the other prized Scottish soccer trophy, the Glasgow Cup. Rangers are leading the league by three points, but Celtic have two more matches to play. Both Celtic and Rangers won to-day.

Leeds United virtually earned relegation from the English First Division when they were beaten by Aston Villa, and Birmingham made themselves safe from the same fate. Birmingham beat Sheffield Wednesday. Blackpool are still perilously near the edge, but a draw with Huddersfield seemed to make them secure.

In the Second Division West Bromwich Albion went ahead in their race with Tottenham Hotspurs from promotion to the First Division. The Albion drew with Bradford, while the 'Spurs were beaten by Bristol City. The 'Spurs are not yet out of it as they are only behind one point.

Lincoln City still lead Tranmere Rovers in the battle for the honors in the Northern Section of the Third Division. Both lost to-day, which left Lincoln City out in front by a point with a game in hand.

POLITICAL AIDS FOR DEPRESSION ARE FOUND TO TAKE OPPOSITE PATHS

High Protection as Carried Out in the States Opposed to Economic Union.

INTRA-EMPIRE TRADE.

(Following is the last of a series of articles on the world economic situation as seen by officials, diplomats and observers in Washington).

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 18.—(By Ken Clark, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—The political attack on the world wide depression as seen from Washington has developed two diametrically opposed trends. It is also observed there enters into the present picture an entirely new factor represented by Communist Russia.

The first and most general reaction has been the emergence of economic nationalism, in vigorous form. The United States has raised about its borders the highest tariff in its history and other nations have increased the duties on their imports.

The second trend is to be seen in the suggestion put forward by Aristide Briand for an economic union of European nations and finds, outwardly at least, definite expression in the recently announced customs union between Germany and Austria. An eminent Canadian student of European affairs, lately in Washington, suggested the agricultural

Old Law Prohibits 'Plane Honeymoon

LONDON, April 18 (By Thomas T. Champion, C.P. Staff Correspondent).—In the Cistercian Abbey of Beaulieu, bordering on the New Forest of Hampshire, the wedding took place to-day of Pamela Bowes-Lyons, cousin of the Duchess of York and a daughter of Lt. Col. Hon. Malcolm Bowes-Lyons. The bridegroom was Lord Malcolm Douglas-Hamilton, son of the Duke of Hamilton and Brandon.

The bridegroom holds a commission in the Royal Air Force, and it was originally intended the couple should travel to Paris on their honeymoon in his Moth plane. Investigation, however, showed that an ancient authority governing the New Forest prohibits airplanes landing or ascending within its jurisdiction of over 90,000 acres.

GANGSTER WAR CLAIMS VICTIM

Police Claim Shooting in Brooklyn is Reprisal for Masseria's Death.

GUNMEN ESCAPE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., April 18.—Police detectives, expecting reprisals for the killing of the gangster, Joe the Boss, professed to see the first of them today in the slaying of Ernest Hoppy Rossi.

In a quiet Brooklyn street, Rossi and two other men last night drove up in front of the home of Police Captain Lewis J. Valentine. Hardly had they stopped when a volley was fired from the back seat; Rossi slumped over the wheel, and two men ran from the car. Their victim was known to police as a follower of Frankie Usle until that gangster was killed three years ago.

Giuseppe Masseria—Joe the Boss—who was shot to death in a Coney Island restaurant several days ago, is going to have an elaborate funeral. At his Manhattan apartment his body lies in a $15,000 coffin of bronze and silver, heaped over with flowers. A detail of police will guard the funeral.

By GORDON A. SINCLAIR

(Special to The Examiner, Copyright, 1931—S.S. France, of the Azores, March 26 (SNS)—The gay excitement of sailing on a Mediterranean cruise with last minute telegrams, gifts, farewells, missing luggage and that sort of thing lets the globe girdler down with one of those sick dull thuds when he awakens next morning to find it's all been a false alarm.

This is what happened to myself and a few hundred others when the "France" all decked out in bunting like a sore throat, cut loose a sepulchral whistle blast and backed shyly away from pier 57, New York, a week ago.

A passenger list of 646, which verges close to capacity, watched waving handkerchiefs and the Manhattan skyline melt into space and then adjourned to their own rooms to see what it was all about. Since I had spent a hectic day galloping around New York trying to round up stray Italian officials and get a peak at Charlie Chaplin's picture at the same time, I was fagged out and rolled under the blankets at the first chance.

Legislature Rushes To Close Session

WINNIPEG, Man., April 18. (CP) At 8.30 o'clock this morning Manitoba's Legislature was still in session. Since eight o'clock Friday evening the members have rushed through numerous bills and, in the hope of prorogation around noon, it was decided to sit right up to the final hour.

The weary legislators were spending the early morning discussing the City of Winnipeg bill, which requests the right to levy a poll tax on its citizens. Argument was long and drawn out, Government forces opposing the bill.

According to latest plans the legislature hopes to complete its work around noon at which time Lieutenant-Governor J. D. McGregor will prorogue the assembly, ending one of its longest sessions.

THREE SISTERS HURT IN CRASH

Driver and Husband of One of Injured Girls Escapes With Baby Boy Unhurt.

STRUCK TRUCK.

LONDON, Ont., April 18.—Three sisters were seriously injured when a car in which they were travelling to Toronto crashed into a truck east of Crumlin on No. 2 Highway, early today.

Miss Madaline North, 20; Mrs. Reta Tiffin, 23, both of Oak street, are in hospital with severe head injuries, while the third sister, Miss Marion North, is at home with lacerations on face and head.

Victor Tiffin, husband of one of the injured women, was driving the car. He with his baby boy, escaped unhurt.

The truck driver, Leonard Barrett, 22, of 451 Shaw Street, Toronto, is being held on a charge of criminal negligence.

Barrett appeared in County Police Court for a remand, pending the outcome of the injuries suffered by the London woman. Bail was being arranged.

CARGOES BANNED FROM MADEIRA

Many British Citizens Are Leaving Due to Difficulties on Island.

RIGOROUS CENSORSHIP.

LONDON, April 18 (A.P.)—A Funchal, Madeira dispatch to The Daily Express to-day, said that no cargoes of any kind were being landed at Madeira, where a revolutionary government has been set up.

The British liner Winchester Castle, from Capetown, was not allowed by Portuguese warships to enter port Thursday, being compelled to remain outside the three-mile limit. Persons on the islands wishing to embark on it were taken out by a launch from a British warship anchored in the harbor.

There is a rigorous censorship and the British Consul is enforcing neutrality so strictly that he has forbidden English newspapermen to go to ships outside the three-mile limit for the purpose of radioing news.

All British able to leave are sailing because life on the island is becoming increasingly difficult. There is no serious shortage of food, but scarcity of fuel oil necessitates putting out the town's lights early.

C. N. R. PROGRESS IS CHALLENGED SAYS THORNTON

Critics of Canada's Railroad Are Told to "Hop To It."

INDUSTRIAL ENMITY.

Railways Inspired By Devotion to People of Canada.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

WINNIPEG, April 18.—Sir Henry Thornton, Canadian National Railways President last night laid down a challenge to critics of the system's administration in a fighting speech to members attending the fifty-third annual meeting of the Winnipeg Board of Trade. Officers of the company, he said, are ready to meet any criticism of it.

"With respect to the Canadian National Railway system," said Sir Henry, "the moment seems to be the open season." The C.N.R. has been built into a highly efficient transportation machine in the last eight years —"one inspired by devotion to the people of Canada."

"Hop to It"

"Let those who would attack us, hop to it," observed Sir Henry, quoting figures from financial statements of the company. In 1930 gross revenues were the same as in 1922, but expenses were less by $17,000,000, "If allowance is made for reductions in freight rates and for increased wages paid, we can say we have handled the same amount of business with $22,000,000 less expenses," he added.

Critics of the Canadian National the rail chief asserted, had not watched the steady progress made by the system in recent years.

The world's current financial ailments he attributed to the mechanization of industry, commenced in the days when invention harnessed steam for the development of power and the "frontiers of industry were pushed back to a vast extent." Conditions which confront Canada and the rest of the world have been mounting for decades, he said. Hands in industry have been eliminated until a crisis was necessarily reached.

"These circumstances," Sir Henry remarked, "produced an atmosphere of enmity between those who employed and those who worked. It led to warfare as stupid as military warfare. This condition was followed by a period when both parties tried to set their disputes by co-operation rather than by foolish conflict."

The next step which he termed "the most important economically" of the present time, is for capital to invite the partnership and co-operation of labor. Canadian National Railways, he said, had been a leader in this regard.

Doings In Commons.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 18 (C.P.).—Yesterday in Parliament:

The Senate did not sit.

The House of Commons gave first reading to a Bill to amend the Bankruptcy Act and a Bill to amend the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Act, then continued the debate on the Address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

Before the orders of the day the Speaker's ruling was sustained by a vote of 82 to 56 when he ruled Hon. Peter Heenan (Lib., Kenora) out of order on a motion to adjourn the House. Mr. Heenan wanted to discuss the riots of the unemployed in Winnipeg.

LABOR VETERAN STILL MAINTAINS STURDY FIGURE

John Burns Is Principal Speaker at Town Planning Celebration.

VARIED CAREER.

LONDON, April 18.— (Canadian Press Cable.)—John Burns, who fifty years ago was one of England's outstanding Labor men, and who has been practically effaced from the limelight since his resignation from Parliament at the outbreak of the Great War, came back at a dinner here last night to celebrate the 21st anniversary of his town planning legislation. His sturdy figure, still resisting the ravages of time, was just as impressive as ever as he spoke. He avoided politics entirely in his speech, but claimed the right as a man who had slept both in Pentonville and Windsor Castle to comment incisively on housing conditions, with a side shot at motorists who displayed too much mobility and insufficient nobility.

His reference to Pentonville — where one of England's largest prisons is located—reminded his hearers of the stormy days of his youth. Early in life he began the practice of outdoor speaking and his exceptional physical strength and strong voice were invaluable qualifications for a popular agitator. In 1878 he was arrested and locked up for the night for addressing an open air demonstration on Clapham Common. He was again arrested in 1896 for his share in the west end riots when the windows of several clubs were broken, but he cleared himself of the charge of inciting the mob to violence. The following year he was again arrested—this tims for resisting the police in their attempt to break up a meeting in Trafalgar Square. He was sentenced ot six weeks' imprisonment.

Inducement Of No Tory Opposition Being Offered Liberals, Says Premier

LONDON, April 18 (C.P.). — A new political squabble has developed from a statement made by Premier Ramsay MacDonald in the course of a speech in the House of Commons yeste day.

The Premier declared that the Conservatives, throughout the present Parliament, had been trying to induce Liberals to vote with them against the Government by giving them definite assurances they would not be opposed by Conservatives for election at the next polls.

Sir Neville Chamberlain, who until recently was chairman of the Conservative Party, answered to-day that the Premier's statement was absolutely baseless, and that Mr. MacDonald should have been ashamed to make it without evidence.

Mr MacDonald retorted that Sir Neville had be'ter know what he was talking about before he said anything.

DAVID JORDAN IS GIVEN CONTRACT

Flowers and Shrubs For City's Parks Provided By Local Men.

THREE TENDERS RECEIVED.

Flowers and shrubs for the city's parks this year will be secured from David Jordan, it was decided yesterday afternoon when the Parks Committee met to open tenders on Peterborough's flower needs.

Three tenders were received from local firms and one from Smith's of Winona. David Jordan's price on the large assignment was $214.50, being beneath that of the Peterborough Floral Company by thirty cents. The prices showed conclusively that flowers and shrubs can be purchased as cheaply here as any where in Ontario; something that members of the Parks Committee have constantly maintained.

35 Young Saplings.

Twenty-five shade tree saplings will be ordered also to be p'anted at points about the city where they are considered most needed

Mayor Denne urged that a hundred loads of sand be placed along the beach of Inverlea Park for the pleasure of the children, and that sand also be secured for the beach in Jackson's Park. Chairman Stocker was to obtain the sand.

King Edward Park will be used as playing field for the C.G.E. Softball League, and other athletic organizations will also be accommodated.

The $1,000 placed in the estimates for the city's musical organizations was granted—Peterborough Rangers Band getting $600, Salvation Army Band $200, and $200 for the Ma'e Voice Choir.

Woods and several relatives in the Irish Hospitals Sweepstakes will be transferred from Dublin to the Liberty Bank of Buffalo, where the five participants in the winning ticket have arranged for the creation of trust funds for their respective shares.

Mr. and Mrs. Woods have been spending much of their time in Canada to avoid a horde of salesmen and others who began importuning them soon after it became known that they would cash their Gregalach ticket on the Grand National Steeplechase. The Woods house was closed to-day and neighbors said the couple had not returned from Canada.

SUNDAY MOVIES MEASURE RAISES STORM IN LONDON

Half Million Postcards Protesting Bill Fall on Bewildered Members.

BEFORE HOUSE MONDAY.

Entertainment Interests Representing $450,000,000 Capital Fight for Passage.

LONDON, April 18 (By George Hambleton, C.P. Staff Correspondent).—Half a million postcard protests against Sunday movies have fallen on bewildered Parliamentarians like an avalanche. One member alone has received 2,500 and the post office in the House of Commons is flooded out. Members of all parties are bewildered. The bill—which seeks to legalize Sunday movies—comes before the House on Monday for second reading.

While presented by Rt. Hon. J. H. Clynes, home Secretary, it is not regarded as a Government bill. The Whips will be off. The vote will be free. If the bill is defeated—as seems not unlikely—its end will not entail defeat of the Government.

Petition 10 Miles Long

The bill has brought in its train a controversy the like of which has scarcely been seen since the battle over the Prayer Book. The Lord's Day Observance Society centres its religious crusade against the bill by presenting to Premier Ramsay MacDonald a petition ten miles long and containing 1,456,683 signatures. It was this society which printed the half million postcards.

Battling on the other side are entertainment interests representing a capital of $450,000,000. The Sunday Entertainments' Equality League is circularizing the Members of Parliament for the bill with a view to amendments later to include the theatres.

The Cinematograph Exhibitors' Association and Trades Unions in the Entertainment Industry Federation are supporting the bill.

The National Sunday League has written to every member, urging that Sunday concerts be included in the bill. On this point the bill is rather indefinite.

An Alternative

The Council of Modern Churchmen's Union has issued a statement in which, after emphasizing the claims of worship, it is submitted that cinemas might be opened on Sundays under provisions of the bill, provided the regulations with regard to profit were strictly enforced and local authorities were given power to regulate the character of films shown on Sundays.

At this meeting the ch'ef speakers will be Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Land: and Forests, and Lewis DeBlois, consulting safety engineer, New York City. The registration committee has prepared for a total registration of 1,500 delegates.

MACHINE CENSUS TAKER.

LONDON, April 18 (By The Canadian Press).—A machine has been specially designed and built by a British firm in conjunction with the Registrar General's Department for use in the work of the coming census, April 26. By means of this machine the census, after the collection of the schedules by the enumerators, will be entirely mechanized. The task o preparing the hundreds of intricate tables required will then be performed merely by running punched cards representing every individual in the country through the machine, which sorts at the rate of 20 000 an hour nto different combinations the information given on the ensus forms, counts, and finally prints the results in columns n specially prepared forms.

Snow Storm Hits The British Isles

LONDON, April 18 (C.P.). — The British spring has reverted to winter.

UNEMPLOYMENT MOVE BY HEENAN IS VOTED DOWN

Conservatives Unite Solidly to Sustain Speaker's Ruling By 26 Majority.

DONNELLY HAS PLAN.

G. B. Nicholson, M.P., Would Have Canada Lead Trade Boycott on Soviet.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 18. (CP) — Robert Gardiner, member for Acadia and leader of the United Farmers-Progressive-Labor bloc in Parliament will resume the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne when the House of Commons opens Monday. It may be the last day of the debate which has been grinding on almost from the day the session opened. When the division comes, the way will be opened for real progress, the address debate being somewhat of a preliminary to the actual work of a Parliament.

Parliament will not sit to-day. The week has witnessed several skirmishes between the Government and the opposition which were climaxed yesterday in the first division of the session. The vote took place on the ruling of Mr. Speaker Black who declared Hon. Peter Heenan, former Minister of Labor, had no right to introduce the broad subject of unemployment at this time. The member for Kenora-Rainy River appealed from the decision, the Speaker's ruling being sustained by a majority of 26. The Conservatives totalling 82, voted solidly to sustain the ruling while all but one of the Liberals, United Farmers, Progressives, Laborites and Independents were opposed. A. M. Car-

HEALTHY NERVES and GOOD DIGESTION

WORRY, anxiety and overexertion of the mental faculties very quickly exhaust the nerve force in the human body.

The vital organs are robbed of the nervous energy which is their motive power. The digestive fluids fail to flow. The muscles of the stomach become weak and sluggish. The digestive system fails to function properly.

This is nervous indigestion and relief comes only with the restoration of the nervous system by using such restorative treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

With increasing nerve force the appetite is sharpened, digestion improves, the vital organs resume their natural functions and you feel yourself again.

MUSINGS AT A MANSE WINDOW

THE musings this week should really be credited to my friend, Fendrick, whose book, "Half Baked Ideas," gave my mind something to think about and my typewriter something to write. Knowing him so well in the flesh, the perusal of his stimulating book has been like a visit and a face-to-face confab. I was just a wee bit mentally fagged. The past days had been particularly trying. The hour was late—an hour when most sensible people ought to have been in bed! But in my frame of mind I knew that sleep was still far off, and that I might spend the time more profitably in reading something not too heavy. Therefore, in looking around for such a book I picked up "Half Baked Ideas." And by the time that I had gone through part of it I felt greatly refreshed and ready for restful sleep.

Starters and Stickers.

Fendrick thinks that while it is better to start and stop than never to start at all it is like a waste of energy even to start the wheels in motion if a man cannot stick after he has started. He contends that the chap worth while is not only a good starter but he sticks well.

Most of us know lots of young fellows who have made good flying starts at various things, but like some cars on steep hills, they have not been able to keep agoing. They seem to have been short-weighted on stickatitiveness!

In life, as in baseball, many a young man starts off brilliantly amid the cheers of his friends; he hits safely and manages to reach third, but just when his friends are rooting for him to bring in a run he gets caught napping and he is out! Life to-day is far more strenuous than when rowboats were our only steamships and our transcontinental flyers were but stage coaches.

Standing the "Gaff."

While there are opportunities enough for any young chap with some ambition and courage in his make-up, the standards are higher, and competition is keener. The world is not so much interested in a man's sterling qualities as in his sticking qualities. Can he stand the "gaff"? At what pressure can he work? Is he able to keep the pace of a high-powered machine, not only to-day and to-morrow, but every day, all the time?

No matter how brilliant the start, may be a man fails if he cannot continue the pace he has set.

The Duke of Wellington is reported to have said after the battle of Waterloo that the British were no braver than the French, but that they were braver five minutes longer. And there you have the difference between success and failure in a nutshell. If you fail while the other fellow succeeds, the chances are that he is not a better man than you in any other sense than that he is good five minutes longer than you are.

He Is Not Looselipped!

With Fendrick I believe that the secret of success lies in character. The man who can stick has the moral background which enables him to last until he reaches the end of the road.

The "Oh-be-a-good-fellow, anything-to-be-agreeable," "drift-with-the-crowd" chap fails, not so much because he is tooslipped as because his will has gone lame.

Many centuries ago the carpenter's son, Jesus of Nazareth, through one of His seers, gave to mankind this message, "To him that overcometh I will give the morning star." And it must be plain to everybody that "overcome" means "finish."

Visible Virtue.

Friend, you may possess it, but I am from Missouri! To put it in plain language, you may be a "paragon of goodness," but if you systematically plot to keep your goodness hidden under a bushel you may be as cussed as the devil himself, for all I know.

If you have any real goodness, why don't you put it on the counter? In courts of law, a man is always judged innocent until he is found guilty. In society at large, a man is always a suspicious character until he shows himself to be otherwise.

It is beyond me to understand why a man will boast of his "escapades" and labor earnestly to give people the impression that he is "a devil of a fellow," and at the same time strive to repress the fine qualities in his makeup.

Goodness, son, is the only commodity that is never a drug on the market. The world is demanding it to-day, and price is no object.

Too Much of the Brute!

I am quite sure that the world at large is not interested to know how many glasses of liquor a man can hold, or how rotten he can be in his off moments. Why brag about that? Every man has enough of the brute in him to be a hog if he wants to give rein to his appetites.

The thing folks are interested in is this: How good can you be? How much of a real man are you under the skin? And, believe me, son, your word isn't enough to prove it. Most of us are from Missouri when it comes to that. If you have any goodness, take the paper off and let's see its colour.

This is being demanded in all spheres of life. Take the church, for instance. One big reason why she isn't attracting more people to-day is because she offers such a poor line of samples.

How, in the name of common sense, can the church expect to attract people when they contemplate some of the sour, musty, moist types of so-called "Christians" who are in the showcase?

When a haberdasher wants to sell you a hat he doesn't put an old, dusty sunburned derby on the sample table. He gets the finest hat he can find and puts it on a plush pole and stands it right in your eye. That's why he is able to stay in the business and make a success of selling.

How to Think of Yourself.

The more I think of it the more am I convinced that life is a business of selling one thing or another, not the least of which is personality.

What is personality? Fendrick says, "Personality is simply the skin that holds the fruit of character." Then he adds, "My friend, if you really hope to get anywhere, take my advice and dust off that personality."

Why not get it out to the light and give it a good fumigating? It might be good to spray it with something else besides alcohol, and polish it with something other than a lot of profanity and smutty stories! Give it a sunbath of clean thinking, then haul it out and place it on display. Get into the habit of thinking of yourself as a gentleman—a Christian gentleman! And the first thing you know you'll begin to feel like one. Then, as sure as you are born, other folks will find it out. In a word, son, if you are really possessed of any decent qualities, make 'em visible.

There was One who said, "Let your light shine before men." Be sure you have the light—then let it just shine.

It takes more than a long snoot and a curly tail to make a hog. And it takes more than hidden goodness to make a real man.

For Any Favor Do Something!

My friend Fendrick argues that one of the most tragic faults of humanity is indecision. The average person seems to have a peculiar knack of standing with one foot on each side of any given problem. We are continually halting "between two opinions."

It may be due to a lack of moral courage, or it may be because of a lack of mental ability to grasp the important features of a given situation, I do not know, but I do know that something is responsible for an undecided attitude on the part of many men—and it almost always makes for failure and unhappiness. Indecision, when looked at superficially, might not seem such a terrible thing,—but it has lost battles and led to the downfall of nations.

When we do nothing we oftentimes damn a situation more effectively than we would have done by making a wrong decision.

The chief thing that follows from indecision is inactivity. We would rather do nothing than risk making a courageous decision one way or another.

This is a tremendously important question when one considers that the issues of life, even the normal, everyday experiences, all call for a choice.

Help is Provided.

We are all the time being confronted with such questions as, "Shall I go there?" "Shall I do this?" "Shall I say that?" "Should I vote this way?" "Should I take sides?"

God has endowed us with a priceless gift when he gave us freedom of will. But we should not lose sight of the fact that this very freedom carries with it an incalculable responsibility.

It is not saying too much to say that the average individual cannot possibly carry on the affairs of life without spiritual help to see them through, and without spiritual guidance in life's crisis.

There comes a time in the experience of all of us when we cannot consult with friends and advisers on earth. It is then that we are thrown back absolutely upon God Himself.

I have to bear testimony to the fact that I have never known of a single instance where a man or a woman has thoroughly relied upon God to help in the making of a great choice where that person has ever made a wrong choice.

The Good Shepherd never loses a sheep. And the Good Shepherd will lead us in every time of perplexity. But we must come to the point in our lives where we realize that His decision and His verdicts are always right.

John Ploughman Says:

Do not be all sugar or the world will suck you down; but do not be all vinegar, or the world will spit you out. There is a medium in all things, only blockheads will go to extremes. We need not be all rock or all sand, all iron or all wax. We should neither fawn upon everybody like silly lapdogs, nor fly at all persons like surly mastiffs. Blacks and whites go together to make up a world, and hence on the point of temper we have all sorts of people to deal with.

Some are as easy as an old shoe, but they are hardly ever worth more than the other one of the pair; and others take fire as fast as tinder at the smallest offence, and are as dangerous as gunpowder.

To have a fellow going about the farm as cross with everybody as a bear with a sore head, with a temper as sour as verjuice and as sharp as a razor, looking as surly as a butcher's dog, is a great nuisance, and yet there may be some good points about the man, so that he may be a man for all that; but poor soft Tommy, as green as grass, and as ready to bend as a willow, is nobody's money and everybody's scorn. A man must have a backbone, or how is he to hold his head up? but that backbone must bend, or he will knock his brow against the beam.

Let's Quit Being Asses.

There is a time to do as others wish, and a time to refuse. We may make ourselves asses, and then everybody will ride us; but, if we would be respected, we must be our own masters, and not let others saddle us as they think fit. If we try to please everybody, we shall be like a toad under a harrow, and never have peace; and, if we play lacquey to all our neighbours, whether good or bad, we shall be thanked by no one, for we shall soon do as much harm as good. He that makes himself a sheep will find that the wolves are not all dead. He who lies on the ground must expect to be trodden on. He who makes himself a mouse, the cats will eat him. If you let your neighbours put the calf on your shoulder, they will soon clap on the cow. We are to please our neighbour for his good to edification, but this is quite another matter.

Yours, in debt to all who help my thinking, Allan Fairbairn.

The Hour Of Prayer

FORGIVE us, O Lord, our rebellion against the monotony of twilight, and our covetousness of the extreme. Remind us that, while we know not the mountain-tops nor the deep valleys, we do know the long plain roads of life over which all men walk and blind men must needs be led. Urge that, while we have never sailed in the frozen north nor in the far seas, we could pilot angels by rock and shoal of the nearer waters. Teach us the ministry of the middle way and the glory of the humdrum. Since our lives are commonplace, make them the commonplace where meet the light of heaven and the night of earth; make us the common folk who interpret God to men and reconcile men to God. Amen.

THE END OF LIFE

HAPPINESS is not the end of life; character is. This world is not a platform where you will hear Thalberg piano-playing. It is a piano manufactory, where are dust, and shavings, and boards, and saws, and files, and rasps, and sand-papers. The perfect instrument and the music will be hereafter.

What Think Ye Of Christ

CHRIST unites in Himself the sublimest precepts and divinest practices. He pours out a doctrine beautiful as the light, sublime as heaven, and true as God.

• • •

He was the glowing hope toward which the Hebrews turned for twenty-five hundred years, and is the inspiration of the great hopes humanity now cherishes—a righteous world, universal peace and immortality.

Every step toward Christ kills a doubt. Every thought, word and deed for Him carries you away from discouragement.

All the ills of time have their root in evil. Prosperity comes by obedience to the law of Christ. The Son of Man knows what ails the world, and He is its only possible cure. One year of universal and absolute Christianity would

Arabian Proverbs

The Proverbs of a nation are not only an epitome of its wisdom, but crystallise for us much of its national temperament and popular habits of thought.

The calamities of one nation turn to the benefit of another.

If the water comes like a deluge, place thy son under thy feet.

• • •

If an onion causes his loud rejoicing, what will he say to sugar?

• • •

A rich miser is poorer than a poor man.

• • •

The tongue is the neck's enemy.

Better Bend Than Break

WHEN God shakes men as dust from under the summer threshing-floor, the right hand of a man's strength is as powerless as the left hand of a man's weakness, and his wisdom is as folly. What avails the wisdom of the apple to make it cling to the bough when it is ripe in autumn time? or the wisdom of the leaf to hold it fast to the stem when the tempest calls? or the wisdom of the tree to make it stand secure when a rock from the cliff comes crashing down through its piny branches? When God sends storms upon men, they must imitate the humble grass, which saves itself by lying down. Therefore, it is said, "Humble yourselves before the mighty hand of God, that in due season he may raise you up."

The Man With a Lantern

THE man who carries a lantern in a dark night can have friends all around him, walking safely by the help of its rays and be not defrauded. So he who has the God-given light of hope in his breast can help on many others in this world's darkness, not to his own loss, but to their precious gain.

If a post is smeared with the mud of the river-bed, it's little use its head aspiring to the heavens.

God wants us not only to be good but happy—and that is more than most of us deserve.

• • •

Light sorrows speak, but deeper ones are dumb.

• • •

MAKING THE BEST OF IT.

The decision of the Department of National Defense to concentrate attention on the individual school training of officers, non-commissioned officers and specialists of the militia would seem to be the most sensible policy in view of the economies that have to be practised because of the substantial reduction in the appropriation for the non-permanent forces.

Obviously it is essential that there should be no interruption in the training of officers and non-coms., and that at least a skeleton force of qualified men should be available in case of need.

Unless the standard of military education is maintained, it is plain that money spent on the militia would in the main be wasted, for so long as efficient officers and experienced and capable non-commissioned officers are to be had the drilling of recruits in case of need is a simple matter.

The department then is making the best of a bad job, therefore, by continuing to maintain the militia staff course, the small arms school, the signal school at Camp Borden, the R.M.C. long course and the Royal and provisional schools—without this training Canada's militia would speedily deteriorate in efficiency and would be in no condition to meet an emergency.

EXTRAORDINARY CARE NEEDED.

It is announced that the Ontario Department of Forests has been making unusually extensive preparations for dealing with outbreaks of forest fires, realizing that the conditions caused by the absence of rain has left the timber areas in a decidedly hazardous shape.

That these fears are well founded the furious fires that have caused so much damage in Wisconsin and Northern Michigan bear eloquent testimony.

In one district of Wisconsin an area of 75,000 acres was burned over, and similar damage has been done in other sections where the conditions are similar to those found at the present time in Ontario woods.

Under the circumstances there is a very pointed warning to everybody who has occasion to be in the timber country at this season of the year to be unusually careful in the matter of fire hazards.

Rarely have the Ontario forests been in such dangerous condition in April as they are at the present, and unless every precaution is exercised it will be difficult to avoid disastrous fires.

Fishermen, lumbermen and settlers and all other people who may be in the woods at this time should watch their camp fires, be careful about their smoking habits and exercise every care.

The situation is too serious for indifference or carelessness.

TIME TO WIND IT UP.

While the people of Canada are waiting for an announcement of the Federal Government's policy in regard to unemployment and other pressing problems, Parliament continues to waste time in needlessly prolonging the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

Carried over the Easter recess the talkfest is still holding up the real business of the session, and preventing a statement from the Government as to the policies it intends to bring down.

Mr. Bennett made that clear in the House on Wednesday.

"May I further remind the committee," he said, "that under our rules, until the address has been adopted, there is never any discussion of future matters of policy. When that address has been adopted by the House there will be a declaration of the Government's policy. About that there need not be any doubt in the world. Any one who has followed parliamentary institutions knows perfectly well that until the address is adopted, in no parliament, in any country in the world where British institutions prevail, is any endeavor made to obtain during the course of a debate upon the address an enunciation of the policy of the administration."

Under the circumstances it would seem that the best service that could be rendered by the members of the various political parties would be to co-operate in bringing the present debate to a speedy conclusion and thus facilitate the reaching of worth-while business.

BEWARE THE RED AGITATORS.

Canadian newspapers are apparently unanimous in their opinion that a non-contributory system of unemployment insurance cannot be seriously entertained in this country, and the attempt made by Red agitators to line up the unemployed on behalf of such an impossible proposition has been soundly condemned on all sides.

The riots featured in the newspapers this week were occasioned by the activity of Communists who agitated among jobless men in a number of Canadian cities and persuaded them to participate in demonstrations that were designed to add weight to the "demand" made upon the Government by the Workers' Unity League.

There is every sympathy for people who, through no fault of their own, are at present without employment, and Canadians as a whole are prepared to endorse any reasonable effort to improve the condition of the unemployed.

It is necessary, however, to point out that in allowing themselves to be used by Communist leaders who are seeking to further their own ends at the expense of the workless, the latter are not helping their position, but on the contrary are doing themselves harm.

The Reds know that that when a man is without work and without money he is ready to listen to any plan, no matter how fantastic, that seems to promise relief and they are prepared to cash in on that condition.

The unemployed should be wary of such false counselors, who are merely exploiting the misery of others in the hope of upsetting the social structure of the country.

Men glance at the past—if she who passed is young and pretty.—Detroit News.

HIGHWAY SAFETY.

There has been such striking improvement during recent years in automobiles, highways, traffic control and every other factor which should make for safety in motoring that it is difficult to place responsibility for the frequency of motor accidents upon anyone other than the individual driver.

Motor manufacturers have left nothing undone to make the modern automobile more easily controlled and safer to drive. Lower centre of gravity has given motor cars more road stability, has reduced side-sway and made the car harder to upset. More power and better acceleration have made them easier to manoeuvre out of trouble. Brakes that are more powerful, better equalized and less subject to weather conditions have made braking faster and more certain. Improved clutch and transmission assemblies make gear shifting easier and faster. Metals used in motor car manufacture are stronger, bodies are more scientifically constructed to resist strain and impact. Altogether, the automobile of today is a much safer vehicle to drive than the automobile of a few years ago.

Driving conditions on highways and streets are better. Roads have better surfaces, many sharp curves have been eliminated, turns are banked, conspicuous signs mark every highway hazard. Traffic control is greatly improved at congested intersections.

Many railway level crossings have been eliminated and many more are protected by gates and warning signals, although much still remains to be done along this line.

Then, too, there should be fewer inexperienced drivers in proportion to the total number. This is evidenced by the fact that the great majority of new car purchasers are former owners. This fact, together with the practice of testing and licensing of drivers in force in several Provinces, would lead us to expect fewer accidents due to incompetent driving.

The continued operation of a host of older motor cars which are obsolete in comparison with modern standards might be regarded as increasing road hazard. The records, however, do not show that cars of this sort are responsible for a majority of accidents. On every material count, therefore, motor accidents should be fewer and fewer in relation to the number of cars in operation, and if they are not so we must look to the habits of the individual driver for a solution of the problem.

John D. Mansfield, president of the Chrysler Corporation, says from his own observations on the streets and highways he would list the following as the most common causes of accidents:

Attempting to pass where there is no clear vision of what may be approaching from the other direction—on curves and hills for instances.

Excessive speed on approaching blind intersections.

Miscalculation of the speed of approaching cars and of the driver's own car in trying to pass a car ahead.

Trying to "cut in" with too close a margin of safety in heavy highway traffic.

Speeding up when another car attempts to pass.

Lack of alertness due to fatigue.

Distraction of the driver's attention from his job of operating the car.

Trying to be first ahead at the green signal.

Disregard of signals.

All of these are mental hazards which place the problem of highway safety squarely on the shoulders of the individual driver.

The only solution is in some way to bring home to drviers the fact that the vehicles they are using as indispensable instruments of pressure or business require care and vigilance in handling.

How is this to be done? Probably by a combination of legislation, awakened public opinion and education. The first essential however, is to recognize where the responsibility belongs.—St. Catharines Standard.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

According to Dr. Mayo, the proportion of insanity is twice as great as before the motor car came. But perhaps it only shows up more when people get at the wheel.

As the Border Cities Star puts it, the melancholy days are here for the candidates who promised the fish there would be plenty of worms and they promised the worms there'd be no fish.

The Workers' Unity League has not up to the present accepted the offer of Premier Bennett of a free passage to Russia.

TANAR OF PELLUCIDAR

BY

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

"That is what every one says," replied Doval. "Many girls have told me that they loved me, but still I have no mate."

"A woman wants something beside a handsome face in her mate," said Letari.

"I am very brave," said Doval, "and I am a great hunter. I like you. Come, let us walk together," and Doval put his arm about the girl's shoulders and together they walked along the village street, while, from the doorway of her sleeping apartment in the home of her father, the chief, Stellara watched, and as she watched, a smile touched her lips.

Over the village of Paraht rested the peace of Amiocap and the calm of eternal noon. The children played at games beneath the shade of the trees that had been left dotting the village here and there when the clearing had been made. The women worked upon skins, strung beads or prepared food. The men looked to their weapons against the next hunt, or lolled idly on furs in their own living rooms — those who were not still sleeping off the effects of the heavy feast. Fedol, the chief, was bidding farewell to Zural's messengers and entrusting to them a gift for the ruler of Lar, when suddenly the peace and quiet was shattered by hoarse cries and a shattering burst of musketry.

Instantly all was pandemonium. Then women and warriors rushed from their homes; shouts, curses and screams filled the air.

"Korsars! Korsars!" rang through the village, as the bearded ruffians, taking advantage of the surprise and confusion of the villagers, rushed rapidly forward to profit by the advantage they had gained.

Tanar the Sarian hunted through the primeval forest of Amiocap. But his thoughts were not always upon the hunt. Visions of Stellara often walked in front of him, the golden sunlight on her golden hair, and then beside her he saw the handsome Doval with an arm about her shoulder. He closed his eyes and shook his head to dispel the vision, but it persisted and he tried thinking of Letari, the beautiful maiden from Lar.

Yes, Letari was beautiful. What eyes she had; and she loved him. Perhaps, after all, it would be as well to mate with her and remain forever upon Amiocap, but presently he found himself comparing Letari with Stellara and he found himself wishing that Letari possessed more of the characteristics of Stellara. She offered him none of the restful companionship that had made his association with Stellara so infinitely happy.

He wondered if Stellara loved Doval, and if Doval loved Stellara, and with these thoughts he halted in his tracks and his eyes went wide as a sudden realization burst for the first time upon his consciousness.

He exclaimed aloud. "What a fool I have been. I have loved her always and did not know it," and wheeling about he set off at a brisk trot in the direction of Paraht.

As Tanar passed through the hanging barrier of Paraht, the first people that he saw were Letari and Doval. They were walking side by side and the man's arm was about the slim shoulders of the girl.

Letari looked at Tanar in astonishment as she recognized him. "We all thought the Korsars had taken you with them," she cried.

"Korars!" exclaimed Tanar. "What Korsars?"

"They were here," said Doval, "They raided the village, but we drove them off with just a small loss. There were not many of them. Where were you?"

"After the feast I went into the forest to hunt," said Tanar. "I did not know that there was a Korsar upon the island of Amiocap."

"It is just as well that you were not here," said Letari, "for while you were away I have learned that I love Doval."

"Where is Stellara?" demanded Tanar.

"She was taken by the Korsars," said Doval. "Thank heaven that it was not you, Letari," and, stooping, he kissed the girl upon the lips.

With a cry of grief and rage Tanar ran swiftly to the house of Fedol the chief.

"Where is Stellara?" he demanded, springing unceremoniously into the center of the living room.

An old woman looked up from where she sat with her face buried in her hands.

"The Korsars took her," she said.

"Where is Fedol then?" demanded Tanar.

"He has gone with warriors to try to rescue her," said the old woman, "but it is useless. They who are taken by the Korsars never come back."

"Which way did they go?" asked Tanar.

Sobbing with grief, the old woman pointed in the direction taken by the Korsars.

Almost immediately Tanar picked up the trail of the Korsars, which he could identify by the imprints of their heeled boots, and he saw that Fedol and his warriors had not followed the same trail, evidencing the fact that they must have gone in the wrong direction to succor Stellara successfully.

Sick with anguish, maddened by hate, the Sarian plunged on through the forest. Plain to his eyes lay the spoor of his quarry. In his heart was a rage that gave him the strength of many men.

In a little glade, partially surrounded by limestone cliffs, a small company of ragged, bewhiskered men had halted to rest. Where they had halted, a tiny spring broke from the base of the cliff and trickled along its winding channel for a short distance to empty into a natural, circular opening in the surface of the ground. From deep in the bottom of this natural well the water falling from the rim could be heard splashing upon the surface of the water far below. It was dark down there — dark and mysterious, but the bearded ruffians gave no heed either to the beauty or the mystery of the spot.

One huge, fierce-visaged fellow, his countenance disfigured by an ugly scar, confronted a slim girl, who sat upon the turf, her back against a tree, her face buried in her arms.

"You thought me dead, eh?" he exclaimed. "You thought Bohar the Bloody dead? Well he is not dead. Our boat weathered the storm and passing close to Amiocap we saw the wreck of The Cids' ship lying upon the sand. Knowing that you and the prisoners had been left aboard when we quit the ship, I guessed that perhaps you might be somewhere upon Amiocap.

"We hid close to a village which they call Lar and at the first opportunity we captured one of the villagers — a woman — and from her we learned that you had indeed come ashore, that you were then in the village of Paraht and we made the woman guide us there. The rest you know and now be cheerful for at last you are to mate with Bohar the Bloody and return to Korsar."

"Rather than that I shall die," cried the girl.

"But how?" laughed Bohar. "You have no weapons."

"There is a way," cried the girl, and before he could guess what she intended, or stay her, she dodged quickly around him and ran toward the natural well that lay a few hundred feet away.

"Quick!" shouted Bohar. "Stop her!" And instantly the entire twenty sprang in pursuit. But Stellara was swift and there was likelihood that they would not overtake her in the short distance that lay before her and the edge of the abyss.

Fortune, however, was with Bohar the Bloody that day and almost at her goal Stellara's foot caught in a tangle of grasses and she stumbled forward upon her face. Before she could recover her feet the nearest Korsar had seized her, and then Bohar the Bloody ran to her side and, taking her from the grasp of the other Korsar, shook her violently.

"You she tarag!" he cried. "For this I shall fix you so that never again will you run away. When we reach the sea I shall cut off one of your feet and then I shall know that you will not run away from me again," and he continued to shake her violently.

Breaking suddenly and unexpectedly from the dense jungle into the opening of the glade a warrior came upon the scene being enacted at the edge of the well. At the moment, he thought that Stellara was being killed and he went mad with rage.

With an angry shout he leaped forward, his heavy spear ready in his hand. What mattered it that twenty men with firearms opposed him? He saw only Stellara in the cruel grip of the bestial Bohar.

At the sound of his voice the Korsar looked up and instantly Bohar recognized the Sarian.

"Look, Stellara," he said, with a sneer. "Your lover has come. It is well, for with no lover and only one foot you will have no reason at all for running away."

A dozen harquebuses had already been raised in steadiness and the men stood looking toward Bohar.

Tanar had reached the opposite edge of the well, only a few yards distant, when Bohar nodded and there was a roar of musketry and a flash of flame accompanied by so dense a pall of black smoke that for an instant the figure of the Sarian was entirely obliterated from view.

Stellara, wide-eyed and trembling with pain and horror, tried to penetrate the smoke cloud with her frightened eyes. Quickly it lifted, revealing no sign of Tanar.

"Well done," cried Bohar to his men. "Either you blew him all to pieces, or his body fell into the hole," and going to the edge of the opening he looked down, but it was very dark there and he saw nothing. "Wherever he is, at least he is dead," said Bohar. "The blow that he struck me is wiped out, as Bohar wipes out the blows of all his enemies."

As the Korsars resumed the march toward the ocean, Stellara walked among them with bent head and moist, unseeing eyes. Often she stumbled and each time she was jerked roughly to her feet. By the time they reached the seashore Stellara was sick with a high fever and she lay in the camp of the Korsars for what may have been a day or a month, too sick to move, while Bohar and his men felled timbers, hewed planks and constructed a boat to carry them to the distant shores of Kersar.

Rushing forward to rescue Stellara from the clutches of Bohar, Tanar's mind and eyes had been fixed on nothing but the figure of the girl. He had not seen the opening in the ground and at the instant that the Korsars fired their harquebuses he had stepped unwittingly into the opening and plunged to the water far below.

The fall had not hurt him. It had not even stunned him and when he came to the surface he saw before him a quiet stream moving gently through an opening in the limestone wall about him. Beyond the opening was a luminous cavern and into this Tanar swam, clambering to its rocky floor the moment that he found a low place in the bank of the stream. Looking about him he found himself in a large cavern, the walls of which shone luminously, so considerable was their content of phosphorus.

There was a great deal of rubbish on the floor of the cave — the bones of animals and men, broken weapons, bits of hide. It might have been the dumping ground of some gruesome charnal house.

The Sarian walked back to the opening through which the little stream had borne him into the grotto, but a careful investigation revealed no avenue of escape, although he re-entered the stream and swam into the bottom of the well, where he found the walls worn so smooth by the long-continued action of falling water that they gave no slightest indication of handhold or foothold.

VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE

A Column in the Interests of the Young People of Peterboro and issued under the auspices of the KIWANIS CLUB

"Richman, poorman, beggarman, thief, Doctor, lawyer, merchant, chief."

Did you ever seek your fortune thus, by counting the buttons on your coat? "Silly" you say. But is it any sillier than leaving school and taking the first job offered, whether or not you are suited to it? Is it any more foolish than jumping from one job to another until either you find the right one or you become so discouraged that you settle down to any drudgery that offers itself, however distasteful?

In every other sphere, expert advice is sought but for this, the most important decision in life, Canadian boys and girls are dependent upon what little they can learn from parents, teachers and friends. In the United States, on the other hand, there has grown up a fairly well organized science of Educational and Vocational Guidance, whereby the special abilities of boys and girls are sought out. Jobs are listed and studied so that, if he so desires, a boy may be placed in a position for which he is specially adapted. When the United States entered the Great War, she found that she had to enlist and equip a monster fighting machine and that, almost overnight. Generals, colonels, captains, sergeants and private soldiers were needed; physicians, nurses, organizers, butchers, bakers, machinists, blacksmiths, clerks and a thousand others had to be supplied. She, therefore, called together a committee of university professors and business executives who sifted the mass of men in the army and tested out each to find what he could do best. After the war was over, the system built up in this emergency, proved of such value to the teachers and the schools that many cities have established a system of Vocational Guidance to enable children to find the work for which each is best fitted.

At first sight, it may seem that this is not a very important matter, that people, like water, tend to find their own level. But surveys show that three-quarters of the boys who leave school before matriculation, get into "blind-alley" jobs from which there is no promotion, and that the average youth passes through from three to six jobs during the first two yaers after leaving school. When we consider these facts, we see that it does matter, not only to the boy but also to his employers and to society in general. For as one author says, "Transfer from school to employment includes, for most people finding a job and shifting from one job to another until somehow one of the jobs becomes a permanent occupation." Such a system or lack of system involves enormous waste and great loss to all concerned. What these boys lose through delay in reaching their maximum earning power must be comuted at the higher rate which they will receive as men. For boys, who go to college, and after graduation find that they are in the wrong line, the situation is tragic. For they have used up their available capital and must either remain mis-fits in the profession for which they have been trained or begin at the bottom of some other life work. That this does happen is proved by the survey of the graduates of 105 of the leading engineering schools of America. This shows that five years after graduation, 60% of them are not engaged in engineering.

But the loss does not stop with the boys themselves. It costs employers much money to train successive boys for various jobs. It is estimated that it costs $75 to train a telephone operator and some telephone companies have as high as 100% turnover each year among their operators. One Street Railway counts the cost at $370 for training of every employee. In the factory, the expense is greater still. For, to the cost of training, must be added the lower output from machines and wasted material. But the employer naturally passes his expense along to the public in the form of higher prices to his customers. If one could estimate the money loss alone, caused by lack of guidance, it would probably exceed the total cost of education to-day.

In an effort to eliminate some of this waste, the Vocational Guidance Committee of the Peterborough Kiwanis Club approached the manager of the "Examiner" with a view to providing the boys and girls with some information upon opportunities and occupations open to them in Ontario. Once each week during the school term an article will appear. Teachers, pupils and parents will find the information valuable and are advised to clip and save each contribution as it appears.

A Thought

ADVANCEMENT

Progress of the best kind is comparatively slow. Great results cannot be achieved at once, and we must be satisfied to advance in life, as we walk, step by step. De Maistre says that "to know how to wait is the great secret of success."

We must sow before we can reap and often have to wait long, content, meanwhile, to look patiently forward in hope, the fruit best worth waiting for often ripening the slowest; but "time and patience," says the Eastern proverb, "change the mulberry leaf to satin."

It is always a mark of short-sightedness and of weakness to be impatient of results. Thus true growth is often baffled; like little children who plant seed in their garden, and grub them up to see how they grow, and so kill them through their impatience.

INDUSTRIES IN WEST

WINNIPEG, Man., April 18 (By The Canadian Press)—In the next four or five months new industries, involving investments in excess of $500,000 will probably commence in Manitoba, according to J. M. Davidson, secretary of the Industrial Development Board of Manitoba. Mr. Davidson recently completed a visit to 22 cities in Eastern Canada and United States, interviewing 80 manufacturers.

Recent tariff increases, he said, were causing great interest in Canada as a field for United States branch plants. Many American manufacturers were making arrangements to have their products made in Canadian factories, Mr. Davidson declared. Eastern Canadian firms were considering building plants in the West.

A ewe owned by John Kiely of Ballynabanogue, Irish Free State, gave birth to five lambs recently.

AUBURN AUTO STOCK BREAKS $41 SHARE

New York Prices Recover Quickly To-day Under Week-end Short Covering.

NEW YORK, N.Y., April 18. (CP) A break of $41 a share in Auburn Auto, the stock market's most sensational performer, and weakness in a few other specialties were virtually ignored by the main body of stocks to-day and early heaviness prices recovered briskly under week-end short covering.

Auburn's low of $195 a share compared with Friday's close of $236 and with the Tuesday's high of $295.50, so that the extreme drop from the peak amounted to $100. The issue rallied with the rest of the market, however, and crossed $200 before the close.

U.S. Steel, after selling 50 cents lower to $130, a minimum since 1927 came back above $131. American Can, General Electric, Johns-Manville, Allied Chemical and American Telephone, which had been moderately heavy during the first hour, rallied $1 to $2 net.

31 GUN SALUTE

ed by the Countess in all her husband's state affairs, and have predicted that her vigorous personality and feminine determination will make her a force to be reckoned with during her husband's five-year trem as Viceroy.

Salute Stirs Queries.

British experts on state ceremonial were bombarded to-day with questions as to why both the incoming and outgoing Viceroys were honored by salutes of 31 guns. They explained such queries were natural, as the King himself, while in Great Britain, receives a royal salute of only 21 guns. Should he come to India, however, they explained, he would receive a salute of 101 guns. By a special royal dispensation both Earl Willingdon and Lord Irwin today received salutes of 31 guns. Earl Willingdon not only received a 31-gun salute from the Royal Indian Marine Battery when disembarking from the steamer, but another 31 from the Bombay Battery as he entered the Gateway of India. Similasly Lord Irwin, although divested of office, received a 31-gun salute as he departed to-day.

Stock Prices Higher On Montreal Exchange

MONTREAL, Que., Apr. 18.—(CP)—Stock prices were generally strong at the close of todays abbreviated session of the Montreal Stock Exchange. Early trading was irregularly upwards and towards the end of the session stocks showed improvement over last night's close.

At the close today Brazilian was up one at 21, Dominion Bridge 1½ at 44 and Montreal Power 1 at 60. Nickel was firm, off 1-8 at 16 1-8. Smelter was a soft spot, off 6 at 134. Lake of the Woods was also on the easy side of the list, down 1½ at 101¼.

Bell Telephone, C.P.R., Canada Cement, Gypsum, National Breweries, Power Corporation and Shawinigan, were up fractions. National Steel Car showed a late gain of 3 points at 28.

GRAIN PRICES AT CHICAGO ARE STRONGER FOR THE WEEK

Chalking Up of Quotations Follows Most Stimulating of Market News For Months.

PROVISIONS UNCHANGED.

(By John P. Boughan)

CHICAGO, Ill., April 18.—Grain trade optimists are enjoying an experience rarely met with of late, a big jump in wheat priced. Chalking up of quotations, instead of down, accompanies the most stimulating market developments encountered for months, notably the first important decrease of the United States wheat visible supply, almost 5,000,000 bushels falling-off in the amount of wheat on ocean passage, and 8,000,000 bushels shrinkage of world's available stocks. In addition there is drought northwest which some authorities fear may spread from Canadian and United States spring wheat territory into the United States winter wheat belt.

Responsive to the formidable list of bullish factors, wheat this morning compared with a week ago, varied exactly unchanged figures to 3 5-8 cents a bushel higher, with corn 3-8 off to 5-8 up, oats ¼ to 5-8 advanced, and provisions unchanged to 32 cent down.

Against the optimists, nevertheless, there is a prospective carryover of wheat in Canada and the United States on July 1st of about 450,000,000 bushels, compared with 387,000,000 at that date last year. In strong contrast with this sho wing, however, is likelihood that Government regulations abroad are almost certain to result in a very smal European carryover at the end of the season, a precarious situation in case of any severe mishap to crops.

Relative weakness of corn as compared with wheat is ascribed largely to the fact that shipping demand has not been of sufficient volume to rally much support to the market. On the other hand, shipping call for oats has been liberal, with substantial decreases in stocks.

WINNIPEG WHEAT HIGH FOR WEEK

Prices Respond to Buying Overtures By European and British Millers.

DEMAND BROADENS.

WINNIPEG, Apr. 18 (By The Canadian Press).—Precariously, and not quite sure of its ground, the wheat market to-day stood at a higher level than for many weeks. It responded last week to buying overtures by European and British millers, climbing in a steady, plodding fashion definitely above the 60 cent a bushel line. Its most distant future, wheat for October delivery, neared the 70-cent value.

Export demand broadened all along the foreign line during the week, England, France and Italy particularly buying the hard Canadian wheat. The sudden buying splurge from overseas reassured traders that Argentine and Australian wheat would not dominate the world markets this spring.

The May future closed a week of upward movement, halted only for an hour or so yesterday, at a mark of 62¾ cents. Its gain for six days of pit trade was 3 7-8 cents. July was 3¾ cents higher at 64 cents and October up 3 5-8 cents at 65¾ to 65 7-8.

Foreign news indicates that wheat supplies in Britain and several continental countries are so low that heavy purchases will continue for the next few weeks. Traders are confident that millers of these nations will quit their months-old policy of buying only immediate needs.

Demand for cash wheat continued good, exporters and shippers being prominent in the market. Durums were particularly wanted.

Barley sales were heavy on the coarse grain mart, but all commodities advanced in wheat's wake. Britain and Germany were the best barley buyers.

STOCKS ADVANCE IN LATE RALLY

Inter-Allied Issues Chiefly Benefit by Toronto Exchange Rises.

BELL TELEPHONE UP.

TORONTO, Ont., April 18 (C.P.)—The Toronto Stock Exchange Market rallied in the last fifteen minutes of trading to-day, moving upward with New York. Inter-listed stocks chiefly benefited. Brazilian, Nickel, Noranda, C.P.R., Bell Telephone were able to show small net gains.

The foods were firm and closed unchanged. Oils sank lower with Imperial and Supertest setting new lows: Imperial at 13½ and Supertest at 19. Both recovered somewhat, Imperial closing at 13⅝ and Supertest at 20. B. A. Oil left unchanged at 11, International Petroleum down slightly at 11⅝.

Service Stations hit a new low at 16, and the preferred sold at 74.

Ford of Canada lost nearly a point, as did Canadian Dredge. Page-Hersey Tubes was off one at 84.

Winnipeg Review

With a fair export business worked overnight, sales being placed close to one million bushels combined with stronger cables, the local wheat market opened firm and continued strong during the first part of the day, prices on the extreme bulge reaching 1 1-8 above the close on Thursday. May wheat reaching 63, October, 66 1-8. Most of this upturn was lost later when Chicago declined to its previous close but the market again re-acted from the extreme dip and generally displayed a strong undertone. The market was quite active during the first hour when export and seaboard houses were buying moderately. Later the market turned somewhat soft and quiet but on the decline there was again fair buying by Continental or seaboard houses. The offerings came from longs who were taking profits while Chicago was credited with some selling here on spreads. Liverpool closed ¾ to 1 penny higher and Buenos Aires was 1¾ to 2 1-8 higher at mid-day. Reports of snow falling in Alberta were construed as a little bearish but the actual precipitation amounted to very little. Lake Navigation was officially opened at 9:30 this morning although several boats had previously cleared carrying about 2,000,000 bushels. In the cash market there was a good demand for all straight grades of wheat at previous closing spreads, while offerings were not pressing. Domestic flour trade keeps fair with some broadening of demand for export, although there is no large volume of business passing. Bradstreets weekly North American shipments were 5,148,348 bushels. This is some improvement from previous weeks. Country marketings in the Canadian west on Thursday were 305,000 bushels, last year 110,000.

Coarse Grains.—There was further export business in barley overnight with sales estimated close to 300,000 bushels. Otherwise there was not much going on in the coarse grains. Some foreign demand is looked for in oats and rye later on.

Liverpool due unchanged to 1-8 lowe based on Winnipeg.

Mining Possibilities Thunder Bay District

Considerable interest attaches to a statement made by General D. M. Hogarth, Port Arthur member of the Ontario Legislature, relative to the mining possibilities of northwestern Ontario. At a meeting of the Thunder Bay Chamber of Commerce, General Hogarth declared that he believed a sum of $100,000,000 could be set aside and expended on developing the Thunder Bay and other mining districts of northwestern Ontario under some well conceived plan.

In this connection it is noted that Moss Gold Mines, Limited, has been a pioneer in the Thunder Bay field and has obtained very encouraging results. The showing made by Moss Gold Mines has directed attention to the district and has been a factor in encouraging expressions of confidence such as that made by General Hogarth.

In view of this situation the program of work being carried out at Moss Gold Mines' property will be watched with more than localized interest. The company, following recent financing, is amply supplied with adequate funds for the construction of a 100-ton mill and the prosecution of an energetic underground development program which already tends to show that ore deposits on the property become riche and more substantial at depth.

In common with other stocks the shares of Moss Gold Mines, which are listed in Toronto, Montreal and New York, have recently reacted from the peak level reached a short time ago after an extended and sustained advance.

TARIFF POLICY BROKEN DOWN

U. S. Editor Makes Claim on Basis it Failed to Protect Foreign Trade.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 18 (C. P.). — H. Parker Willis, editor of the Journal of Commerce, New York, told the American Academy of Political and Social Science to-day that there was little or no doubt that the present tariff policy of the United States had broken down.

I think, he said, it has broken down for two reasons. In the first place, it has entirely failed to protect what is possibly our largest industry—foreign trade itself. It has broken down in the second place because it is paying too much for protection. That is to say, it is losing to some industries an export market which they need and must have because of its decision to give to other industries over protection—a degree of protection which they do not need in order to maintain themselves.

This affords the clue which we must follow in tracing the desirable tariff policy of the United States in the future.

SUPREME COURT

drove at a high rate of speed over the intersection and that he did not keep a proper lookout for approaching traffic, and did not show the proper care in operating the automobilee under the circumstances at the time of the accident. And he alleges that plaintiff at the time of the accident was travelling without lights, and that he did not give Hooey the right of way accorded to drivers on the righthand.

Messrs. Gordon and Elliott for the plaintiff. J. F. Strickland, K.C., M. L.A. for defendant.

The plaintiff in the other action is Eliza Rew, executrix of the last will and testament of William Rew late of the City of Peterborough, loom fixer, deecased. George Gillespie of Otonabee Township is named as the defendant.

It is alleged in the statement of claim that on or about October 1st, 1930, the automobile owned by the defendant through acts of negligence of the driver Jean Gillespie, a daughter of the defendant, did run into and knock down plaintiffs husband at the intersection of Lock and Lansdowne streets, causing such injuries that he died the following day.

In the statement of defence, the defendant alleges that his daughter was driving the automobile at the intersection of Lock and Lansdowne streets on October 1st, 1930 in daylight, and that the car was being driven in a careful, cautious and lawful manner.

He alleges that the deceased William Rew misled the driver by walking across the road and suddenly stopping, while the driver was looking to the north and south for approaching traffic, which is very heavy at this point.

The defendant pleads contributory negligence, in so much as the negligence of the deceased consisted in his failure to keep a proper lookout; that he did not take reasonable care to avoid the accident when he should have seen the motor vehicle of the defendant.

He further alleges that, the deceased by suddenly stopping in front of the automobile misled the driver and was the direct cause of the accident.

Messrs Peck Kerr and McElderry are solicitors for the plaintiff. Messrs Gordon and Elliott for the defendant.

The only other action set down for hearing, is also a civil action, there being no criminal cases on the list.

William George Brown is the plaintiff. He was formerly a farmer residing in the township of Otonabee and is now a farm laborer. The defendants are Henry Troop and the Royal Bank of Canada.

In the statement of claim it is alleged that on April 15th, 1920, the plaintiff conveyed to William Robertson at or for the sum of $10,250.00 certain lands and premises situated in Otonabee township, and received of Robertson in part payment a mortgage dated April 15, 1920.

By assignment of the mortgage dated May 1, 1923, the plaintiff assigned or mortgaged the said William W. Robertson mortgage to one Martha Dickson.

In or about April, 1925, plaintiff attended at the office of Edward Norman, an alleged banker in business at Toronto, Norman undertook to lend plaintiff the sum of $230.00 upon plaintiff executing an assignment of the Robertson mortgage (subject to the rights of Martha Dickson) as collateral security for the repayment of the sum of $230.00, and on April 22, 1925, the said Edward Norman procured the plaintiff to execute a paper writing upon the representation that the paper writing so executed by plaintiff constituted collateral security for such advance, of $230.00, the said security being executed in favor of Minnie Norman, wife of Edward Norman, it is alleged.

Peck, Kerr and McElderry are the plaintiff's solicitors, while Waldon Lawr, Bank of Hamilton Building, Toronto, is solicitor for the defendants.

LOWER MARKS ARE REACHED LEAD ISSUES

Declines Recorded By Industrial, Oil, Power, Steel and Utility Shares.

SELLING IN C.P.R.

Week's Trading Proves Line of Least Resistance at Present is Down.

(By Thomas C. Thompson.)

TORONTO, Ont., April 18.—Despite a sharp gain in volume of Canadian building operations, indications of improvement in Canadian car loadings, and seasona increases in sales of manufactured goods, a further slump occurred this week in prices of stocks on Canadian exchanges.

Not only were declines recorded by industrial, oil, power, base metal, steel and utility shares, but prices dropped in some instances to the lowest levels reached this year.

Without the support of active investment and speculative demand prices of stocks do not remain stationary and this week's trading in Monteal, Toronto and Vancouver once more proved that the line of east resistance in share values at present is downward. The recession was entirely orderly and without an appreciable volume of distress liquidation, yet the Canadian list had to contend with the effect of further professional short selling in New York, and the wheat situation which showed no marked improvement. Even a 2-cent rise in wheat on Wednesday failed to stem the downward trend of stocks.

If the industrial list presented a somewhat discouraging appearance, oils at present displayed some sign of resistance. A heavy selling movement directed against shares of British American oils drove the price to 10, where it established a new 1931 low point.

Little Liquidation.

The most satisfactory feature of the industrial situation was the small volume of liquidation and the minor character of many declines. Brazilian traction sold down to 20 at the close of the week, compared with 21½ last week, but International Nickel at 16 3-8 is only slightly below its last week's price of 17½ and Ford of Canada "A" at 23¾ has lost an even 2 points. Massey Harris has risen from its low points of the week, but at 6 5-8 is still below last week's price of 7 3-8, while among the steel losses occurred in Steel of Canada, common at 37 against 38¼ last week Standard Steel Construction at 7, and Page Hersey Tubes, down from 89¾ to 85. Walkers at 7 shows a loss of ¼.

C.P.R. shares bore the brunt of a selling movement that originated in New York where all classes of rails were singled out by the bear faction. The Canadian Railway leader lost 1¼ points and closed on Friday at 37¾. Smelters, down 13 points to 140, and Canadian General Electric, down 10 points to 270 recorded the largest losses of the week.

Noranda's decline from $25.95 to $23.75 was a development in striking contrast to recent advances in the shares, but the copper situation is still far from satisfactory and traders were not in a mood to add to their holdings of copper producing mines.

DOG CATCHER STARTS MONDAY

New Catcher Will Start Out Monday to Round Up Roaming Canines.

MANY APPLICATIONS.

The chase of Peterborough's roaming dogs which was abruptly suspended last summer when Jimmy Gates, canine catcher extradordinary sailed for England, will be taken up again with renewed zeal Monday morning. But the rotund Jimmy will not be wearing the badge. He can not be enticed away from Old Albion's attractions and a new man will take up the dog patrol.

Just whom the appointee will be is not known as yet, but the Parks Committee, giving ear to the pleas of citizens intent on growing lawns and flowers, decided unanimously yesterday afternoon that the city must have a dog catcher right away.

Many Applications

That no difficulty will be met in securing a man for the job could be judged by the complaints of several aldermen that they were continually being interviewed by applicants, and demonstrate their speed afoot.

Alderman Stocker read a letter from 500 members of the C.G.E. Horticultural Society urging the need for the enforcement of the city's bylaws if lawns and flower beds were to be protected from ruin by dogs. It was this letter which decided the aldermen.

So Monday is going to be "Blue Monday" and the beginning of a long string of blue days for the city's dogs.

Meanwhile, the police report that most of the dogs are mere trespassers about the city any way and not listed in "Peterborough's Who's Who in Dogdom." Which means that dog owners have not been buying tags for their pets with sufficient speed. May 1 is the last day for securing tags; after that date all dogs not wearing the metal disc of dog citizenship will be considered as interlopers, and if caught the owner will be fined.

A 20 sesterce, a Roman coin of 200 B.C., about the size of a grain of corn and containing gold valued at 40 cents, was sold recently in London for $60.

UNEASINESS IN COMMODITIES UNSETTLES NEW YORK TRADING

Bonds Although Much Less Adversely Affected Are Also Irregular.

LEADERS HOLD FIRM.

(By John L. Cooley)

NEW YORK, N.Y., April 18.—Uneasiness in the commoditics, diminished activity in steel and some other industrial lines, and a more accurate appraisal of what happened in the first quarter lowered spirits in the security market this week.

Bonds, although much less adversely affected by the speculative pessimism, declined and rallied alternately, which meant that the investment market still was contending with the lack of confidence which has persisted over the past year and a half. Highest grade issues have little trouble in holding their own, for they profit by steady institutional buying, but bonds of lower ratings are unable to show sustained strength.

However much the first quarter's results approached normal recovery—and in a few lines they exceeded it—the reaction from the peak makes many observers apprehensive of what the second three months will show. Strengthening commodity prices would be a distinctly favorable symptom; their inability to hold firm for more than a few days at a time after nearly two years of decline is one of the disturbing elements.

Steels Disappointing.

The steel industry, on which Wall Street's best hopes have been pinned, has disappointed and the drop in operations seems to be conforming to seasonal tendencies, despite earlier predictions that the top of the spring rise would not come until late April or early May. In addition, weakness of scrap prices and the near-term of the demand are negative factors.

The March gain in exports over imports was a seasonal rise, but the increase in imports as compared with February was larger than normal, which meant that there had been at least a temporary lift to the foreign business of other countries. The sharp declines in total trade volume from a year ago, amounting to 33 per cent., were of course, considered in the light of the 18 per cent. decline in prices since 1930.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter

STOP, LOOK AND LISTEN

An innovation which will add greatly towards minimising the danger of accidents at the Canadian National Railway crossing at Park and Westcott streets is the recent installation of a "stop look and listen" wagging automatic signal.

ROOF PARTIALLY DESTROYED

A fire which partially destroyed the roof of a barn in which was housed the local warehouse of the Ruddy Advertising Agency required the attention of the Fire Department at 8.04 this morning. The fire was caused by a spark from the chimney and as soon as it was noticed a general alarm was sent in. This was responded to by the No. 2 motor combination, the ladder truck and the Chief's car. No hose lines were laid because the fire was not of a serious nature. An 1½-inch hose from the large chemical tank was sufficient to extinguish the blaze. Although the roof was completely burnt through at the west end of the building, damage will not exceed $100.

FIRE IN KITCHEN

At 10.15 a fire broke out in a kitchen at 10 Inverlea street. A paper had dropped down onto the electric plate, and in a very few minutes had set fire to some papers adjacent and to the walls of the room. The firemen saved the situation by their prompt appearance, and losses were practically negligible.

CLOTHING WANTED

The Peterborough Relief Association would be glad to receive clothing for men, women and children, suitable for spring and summer wear. Heavy clothing is not needed and cannot be stored.

A lady's dress, size 40, is required also.

Please notify Mrs. W. R. Morris, 1095J, and parcels will be called for.

TALK ON THE GARDEN.

The Horticultural Society have secured the services of Rev. Geo. W. Tebbs, Government lecturer, to address an open meeting to be held in the Public Library, on the evening of Thursday, April 23. His subject will be "The Garden Glorious." Everybody interested in the beautifying of their grounds and the city are invited to be present.

A home in the city urgently needs a cook stove. If any person has a stove to give away to a good cause, please telephone The Examiner.

IS GREAT READER.

WILLIAM DAVEY

ROSENEATH, April 18 (Examiner Correspondence).—Mr. William Davey, one of our oldest residents of the village, celebrates his eighty-sixth birthday today, a number of friends calling to offer congratulations and good wishes, and relatives and friends from a distance sending letters and greetings to mark this particular occasion.

Last year Mr. Davey celebrated on Good Friday, the only time he ever remembers having a birthday so near Easter. The years have dealt kindly with him. He is up and about every day and in fine weather enjoys short walks around the village. A remarkable feature about the old gentleman is the keenness of his mind: he can recall many interesting events in pioneer days. He will follow one in a discussion of almost any subject, from bygone days to the important news to date. A great deal of his time is spent in reading; he feels it is a duty to keep his reading "caught up," as he says.

Mr. Davey was a faithful and active member of the former Methodist church and now the United Church of Canada, and although he is unable to attend service on account of his hearing being affected, is keenly interested in all that affects the welfare of his place of worship, and his Christian character is reflected in his face and in his daily conversation.

In politics he is an ardent Liberal, but very broad-minded. He believes in two sides of the House, in fact, he says, "we must have two sides to everything to make life interesting and cause a little excitement now and then."

For many years Mr. Davey was the village blacksmith at Centreton, and is spoken of to-day by many as the best "horseshoer" than ever lived; therefore, when he takes his annual visit during the summer, he is an honored guest among his friends at Centreton and community.

The characteristics of Mr. Davey's nature are an inspiration to youth. He has lived his life well and has a splendid family. Since the death of his wife he has made his home with his son, Marcena; the others in the family living are: Thomas, Craigmile, Sask.; Albert, of Oak Heights, and two daughters, Mrs. Robert Rusk of Castleton, and Mrs. William Rogers of Centreton. He is also very proud of his twenty-one grandchildren and has three great-grandchildren.

His many friends wish him many happy returns of the day and trust he may enjoy his declining years and celebrate many more birthdays.

UNEMPLOYMENT

michael. Progressive member for Kindersley, voted with the Government members.

Heenan Seeks Adjournment

Mr. Heenan sought to move the adjournment of the House to discuss a matter of urgent public importance, riots in Winnipeg and other centres of the Dominion. This, he said, was a part of the board subject of unemployment, the Winnipeg workless having been assured a Dominion-Provincial Conference would be called to discuss insurance.

The Speaker ruled this motion out of order, on the ground the subject was then under discussion in the address debate. Mr. Heenan appealed from the ruling and the vote took place.

From the Liberal side of the Chamber yesterday came two different schemes to relieve distress conditions in the country and rehabilitate Canadian trade. In making his speaking debut, Wilfred Hanbury (Lib., Vancouver-Burrard) advanced an economic policy which would make Canada the economic Russia of the capitalistic nations. More purchasing power must be provided, he said, and cheaper interest rates secured. Wages, freight rates and taxes should be reduced to lower the cost of living and, therefore the cost of production. With this achieved, Canada would be able to undersell all other nations, there would be no unemployment and trade would be revived.

Imposition of a scheme for grain prices similar to the Patterson Australian butter marketing plan was advocated by Dr. T. F. Donnelly (Lib., Willow Bunch). He would fix the domestic wheat prices at $1.50 a bushel and the export price at 70 cents a bushel on a Fort William basis. Whenever a bushel of wheat was consumed in Canada, there would be a difference of 80 cents between its selling price and the export price. This money would be paid into a central fund and, on a domestic consumption of 50,000,000 bushels, it would amount to $40,000,000 in a year. This fund then would be used to reimburse the farmers who exported their wheat and, instead of the 60 cents received on the average last year. Dr. Donnelly estimated, the mean price would be at about 75 cents under his proposed pegging scheme.

In 1918 and 1919, the Saskatchewan member proceeded, wheat prices were pegged when it was feared they would go too high. This took from the farmers between 75 and 180 million dollars and it should be paid back to them. Dr. Donnelly admitted his pegging scheme would increase prices to the consumer but higher prices to the consumer was one of the policies of the Conservative administration, he added.

Canada's Best Move

Notwithstanding the over-production of the world, the British Columbia Liberal claimed the best move for Canada was to increase her production but lower the costs.

Canada Set Example

Canada should take the lead in a world-wide trade crusade against Soviet Russia, suggested George B. Nicholson (Cons., Algoma East). No nation could maintain industry and retain a decent standard of living in competition with 150,000,000 slaves. The Dominion should endeavor to persuade other nations to follow its example in banning Soviet goods, particularly British Empire countries and the United States. Russian goods, the fruits of slavery and starvation conditions, should be barred from the markets of the world.

Negotiation of a trade treaty between Canada and Cuba, was urged by A. E. Maclean (Lib., Prince). The Prince Edward Islander charged the Dominion had lost the Cuban potato market because of the higher duties against sugar, imposed at the special session of Parliament. The Caribbean Republic, he said, was prepared to grant a preference to Canadian potatoes if a similar arrangement were made by this country on sugar, rum and other products entering this market. He quoted Cuban press reports to this effect, printed by the papers of the Republic at the time Hon. J. A. Macdonald, Minister without portfolio in the Government, was in the country on a trade mission a few weeks ago.

Other speakers were J. F. Buckley (Lib., Athabaska) and T. M. Cayley (Lib., South Oxford).

NEWTON SMALE GIVES ADDRESS

Men's Association of Omemee United Church Hold Jolly Banquet.

GOOD PROGRAM.

OMEMEE, April 18 (Examiner Correspondence). — The monthly meeting of the Men's Association of Trinity United Church was held on Wednesday evening and took the form of a banquet.

At 7.30 o'clock, eighty-five men sat down to tables prettily decorated with candles and pussy-willows and a bountiful repast was partaken of.

The guest speaker, Newton Smale, of Lindsay, gave a splendid address on "The Work of the Church—World Conditions and Its Great Expanse."

The loss the world had sustained in the twenty millions killed in the Great War and the twenty million maimed, which were the flower of the country. The destruction of monarchy was pointed out in the present day condition, as seen in the abdication of King Alfonso of Spain. The jail conditions which are appalling as they are filled with young men most under twenty-two years of age.

While this picture was portrayed, the cause given was over-production and under consumption caused by unemployment and lack of means. Yet the speaker did not see blue ruin ahead, but rather held a very optimistic attitude and saw great achievements for the present day Church, which must produce men of character and leadership to prevent war; for at the present time there are more men under arms than when war was declared, and so th Church must ever press on to achieve the mark for which it was organized.

During the evening the members were favored with several quartets rendered by the Barrison Brothers. Rev. Mr. Blanchard also delighted the gathering with a vocal selection. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Smale by H. Jackson and Dr. McPhee.

W.M.S. Thankoffering

The W.M.S. Thankoffering service of Trinity Church was held on Sunday evening when Rev. Mr. Blanchard gave a fitting discourse on Japan. The centre pews were reserved for the members of the Mission Band and the W.M.S. member which numbred more than sixty. Special music was supplied by the choir.

A.Y.P.A. Meeting

The A.Y.P.A. of Christ Church met Monday evening, when a good attendance was present to welcome the Young People of St. Paul's Church, Lindsay. Horace Hill, president, welcomed the guests and conducted the regular opening part of the service.

Howard Bent gave a reading, and Miss Mabel Thorn favored the gathering with a piano number. The rest of the evening was spent in games and contests, after which dainty refreshments were served. Rev. Mr. Goldring of Lindsay and Miss Stella Graham expressed appreciation on behalf of St. Paul's A.Y.P.A. for the very pleasant evening spent.

Trinity Y.P.S.

The Young People of Trinity Church held their regular weekly meeting on Monday evening with a large attendance of members and visitors. The meeting was conducted by Miss Race, Miss Christina Connell assisting in the opening exercises.

Arrangements were made for the coming week, when the Bethel Young People will visit the Omemee society. Miss Race then gave a very able topic on "The Missionary Spirit" with many practical illustrations, which were very applicable. Community singing led by Rev. Mr. Blanchard was next enjoyed, after which a musical contest was indulged in.

At this time Mr. and Mrs. Walter Windrim, who were invited guests, were asked to come to the platform and an address was read by Miss M. Faulkner, and a well laden table was placed before the young couple. Mr. Windrim then replied briefly, thanking the young people for their kindness, and Mrs. Windrim, a member of the society, also expressed very nicely her appreciation of the kindness of the Y.P.U. After singing, "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows," the parcels were opened and displayed a large number of very handsome and useful gifts. Refreshments were served, concluding a very happy gathering.

SIDEWALK WANTED ON HELEN STREET

Deputation Waits Upon Norwood Council—Will Beautify Corner Lot.

NORWOOD, April 18 (Examiner Correspondence). — Norwood Village Council held its monthly meeting on Wednesday evening with Reeve Montgomery in the chair and the members of the council present when a delegation was present, asking for a sidewalk on Helen street, and on motion of Councillors Parcels and McConnell, the reeve, Councillor Elliott and Councillor Brown were chosen a committee to look over the proposal.

Mr. Finlay was present in connection with the cost of electric power as affecting the village users. On motion of Councillors Elliott and Brown it was decided that the reeve take this matter up with the Hydro Commission.

Rev. Mr. Downing and J. Thompson, of the Horticultural Society, asked for some assistance to fix up the corner opposite the Metcalfe block, and on motion it was decided that the corporation furnish man and team for two days to aid the work. On motion of Councillors Farcels and Brown it was decided that the Chautauqua committee pay $20 for rent of hall for recent concerts.

The reeve, with Councillors Brown and Elliott, was appointed a committee to reorganize fire brigade and have chemical engine overhauled. Mr. Jones, of Plaxton, Hueston and Company was present with regard to public liability insurance. After some discussion it was moved by Councillor Elliott and seconded by Councillor McConnel that a policy be taken out for a three-year term at a cost of $270, payable $108 the first year, $81 second year, and $80 the third year.

The following accounts were ordered paid: W. Simpson, hauling snow, $2.10; O. Baskin, hauling snow and grading, $4.80; A. Nixon, shovelling snow, $1.05; W. H. Giffen, bond premium, $5; Jean Roxburgh, insurance premium, $15; Isaac Puffer, salary, $65: helper, 50 cents; meals for tramps, $1.50; Mr. Aldred, storage fire engine, $6; R. A. Dean, salary, $60.

states of middle Europe might be drawn into the Austro - German union. Informed circles here consider there is a possibility France might eventually join a Pan European union thus bringing to fruition, in a roundabout way, M. Briand's plan.

Schemes for British intra-imperial trade partake of both trends, it is pointed out.

The new element contained in the present situation is the entrance into the market of a national corporation trading in competition with private enterprise. Whatever success or failure may attend the Soviet experiment, there is no doubt that in its bearing on the depression it comes to be regarded as a question of primary importance in Washington as elsewhere. President Hoover, it is generally believed, would approve an embargo on Russian trade although there is no indication this is in immediate prospect. Writing in the New Statesman and Nation, Michael Farbman says, "It is obvious that we (the United Kingdom) have got to reckon with the probability of an embargo being placed in the near future upon some, if not all, Russian exports."

While most of the nations of the world suffered a falling off in trade during 1930, the foreign trade of Russia, according to the Department of Commerce, increased 17 per cent. Russia bought $534,000,000 worth of goods and sold $501,000,000. The Soviets bought machinery of production to assist in bringing to completion the five-year industrial plan. They sold raw materials, placing quantities of oil, lumber, coal, and wheat on the world market. These commodities were produced, distributed, and sold by a single governmental corporation, having complete information as to the political, economic, and financial needs of the entire Russian structure. It was possible temporarily to sell wheat, coal, or other commodities at any price necessary to support foreign credits. The charge was made that these products were sold below the cost of production, a practice known as dumping, and generally frowned upon as tending to upset the economic balance of the world.

Insofar as the political activities of the United States in combating the depression are concerned, these have been fourfold. This country has offered its manufacturers and agriculturists increased protection by raising its tariff. It has tightened immigration restrictions in order to preserve what jobs there are in the United States for residents of the country. It has artificially supported the price of wheat by the use of government funds. From time to time the Treasury has embargoed certain Russian products and then renegged. At present there is an embargo on Soviet timber and pulpwood, the strength of which will shortly be tested in the courts.

The political attack made by the United States remains to be evaluated by time. The Hawley-Smoot tariff act, it is observed, induced retaliation on the part of other nations whatever its beneficial results to domestic industry. The check in immigration undoubtedly did not assist in promoting international good feeling. The experiment of the Federal Farm Board in maintaining the price of wheat above world levels has been abandoned after a year's trial. The National Grain Corporation and the Stabilization Corporation on July 1, will have on their hands about 275,000,00 bushels of wheat and the government will be out about $118,000,000.

From the foregoing incomplete sketch of the world situation the obvious conclusion is that hard times are serving both to divide the nations and draw them together. Soviet Russia with increasing trade and no unemployment stands as a threat to stabilization of the present world economic structure. Observers here believe the movement of capitalistic nations to protect their markets against Russian dumping is gaining momentum.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 18.—Urgent need of moisture in most of the spring wheat belt northwest gave impetus to buyers yesterday, and tended to lift prices. Sudden rallies in Liverpool wheat quotations, accompanying advances in Argentine exchange rates, had a further bullish effect. Reactions, however, from the day's top levels for wheat, were reported by reports of light snowfalls in sections of Canada and by Texas advices that winter wheat condition throughout the entire southwest was almost perfect, with indications pointing to an earlier harvest than usual.

Wheat closed irregular, ⅛ cent lower to ⅞ higher; corn ⅛ to ⅜ down; oats unchanged to ⅛ off, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents decline.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, April 18. — Firmness in markets abroad and improved export sales of Canadian wheat reacted to push wheat levels higher here yesterday. At its peak, the market was more than a cent higher, and the closing showed a net gain of ⅝c to ¾c a bushel.

Prices eased about mid-session with reports that needed rain was falling in some wheat-growing sections of Alberta and Sasatchewan. Most of the gains were wiped out, but a final drive at the finish brought the market part of the way back.

May wheat was up ⅝c to 62¾c, July advanced ⅝c to 64c, and October made a ¾c gain to 65⅝c to 65⅞c.

Trading in the cash wheat market was light and barley and oats were the only commodities required by buyers in the coadse grain pit.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, April 18. — Still searching for new bottom levels, butter prices lost three cents a pound, while cheese and egg quotations were also lower and potato prices held unchanged on the produce and dairy market here yesterday.

With no indications of either continuing the downward trend of holding steady, the butter market was completely demoralized. Fresh and regraded finest No. 1 slid three cents lower at 25 cents a pound and to retailers solids and prints both dropped two cents at 30 and 31 cents a pound respectively. Receipts were 232 boxes.

Ontario cheese, the grade most traded in, declined one-half of a cent at 10½ cents a pound and receipts were 544 boxes.

Under the influence of the weakness in butter and cheese, carlot prices of fresh eggs lost one-half to one cent a dozen. Ontario and Prairie extras and first were one cent lower at 23 and 21 cents a dozen, while seconds decline one-half of a cent at 18 to 18½ cents. British Columbia extras and firsts also dropped off one cent at 23½ to 24 and 21½ to 22 cents a dozen. Seconds lost one-half at 18½ to 19½ cents a dozen. Quotations to retailers were unchanged and receipts were 3,070 cases.

New Brunswick Green Mountain potatoes, in carlots held steady at 90 cents per 80-pound bag; to retailers $1.

MANITOBA GOV'T TAKES OVER DEBT

DAYS OF HORSE DRAWN STREET CAR IN MONTREAL RECALLED BY MAN WHO SERVED C. G. E. FOR 38 YEARS

J. F. Morrison, Foreman at C. G.E., Retires at His Own Request.

WORKED FIRST AT COBOURG.

Development in the Electrical Industry is Outlined by Veteran.

At his own request, J. F. Morrison, 209 Dalhousie street, until recently a foreman with the Canadian Electric Company, has retired on pension after nearly thirty-eight years of continuous service.

"That is quite a long time to work, especially for one company," Mr. Morrison said to The Examiner today, "and as I will be 74 on April 21st I decided to take a rest while I was still able to make use of and enjoy perhaps a few remaining years of leisure. I was past the pensionable age, but I was feeling well and fit and as interested in the work as ever. Although I think I could have carried on for a while longer, there is a lot of satisfaction in quitting when all the circumstances are pleasant."

"I would like to emphasize that part," Mr. Morrison repeated "about my retirement being voluntary. There was no suggestion from the company that I should quit, and I am glad of this opportunity to say how much I appreciate my relations with the company and its officials for the conditions under which I have severed my connections with the old C.G.E. I have been treated very fairly and kindly, and I would like to add that I also appreciate the spirit which the other employees showed towards me."

For years Mr. Morrison was foreman of the armature assembly department; he then took charge of the annealing, enamelling and brazing department, and in fact has been foreman of the oxyacetylene work since its introduction. Looking back over a long period of the company's mechanical advancement, Mr. Morrison concludes that arc -welding, as applied to the manufacture of motors and generators, was the most impressive innovation. Engineers, of course, might not agree with him, but that was his own opinion.

Here's a chapter of reminiscence that harks back to days of which the young generation of to-day can have little or no knowledge.

Worked First at Cobourg

"I was working at the Crossen Car Works at Cobourg," Mr. Morrison recalled. "They put in a small electric power plant to light the shops. It was direct current machine, and was driven from the steam boiler. I got interested in it; in fact I used to have charge of it. As my interest in this dynamo grew, it occurred to me that there was going to be a great future for the electrical business. I felt sure there were going to be developments that we didn't realize at that time. That is how I got my first taste for electricity, and the work connected with it. In 1893 I got a chance to go to Montreal with the Royal Electric Company, and that was my first experience in the manufacturing end. The company was making street car motors for the Montreal Street Railway Company

When I went to Montreal the local transportation system was going through a period of transition from the old horse-drawn cars to the new electric cars.

I can see them yet as plain as if they were passing right before my eyes. The old horse cars were about the size of the hotel buses we used to see going to the stations here in Peterborough. Usually they were drawn by one team of horses, but in the winter when the snow was deep, and sometimes Montreal piles up real drifts, they put on two teams.

Straw in Street Cars

The streets would be piled up with snow and then deep ruts would be worn by the traffic, and I still can see the drivers sittting high up on the front of these buses, all wrapped up in the cold weather, trying to keep warm and to keep traffic moving. The floors inside were often strewn with pea straw to help keep the passengers' feet warm. It was almost a day's journey to get from Westmount to the east end of the city, at least it seemed that long. The horses were still in service on some of the main streets when I went there first, but the electric railway system was extending."

Mr. Morrison said that painful accidents were numerous among the employees of electrical shops and in fact among all the men who were engaged in the young industry at that time. It was not fully understood; and its methods and equipment were crude. Insulation had not been developed to the efficiency that has been since accomplished, and switch boards were a constant danger for men who worked around them.

"When I went to Montreal the direct current was used entirely," Mr. Morrison continued, "and to the best of my recollection electric power was translated from steam power. And incidentally, it may be recalled that the problems that were thrust upon the steam plants by the varying power loads forced the manufacturers of boilers and the rest of the equipment to design many important improvements. The street lighting and the consumption of power for industrial purposes caused great changes throughout the day in the power demand. If there was a sudden lightening of the load the steam plant was released to that extent from its burden and was likely to run wild until checked. And so on when the load suddenly increased. These requirements were successfully met by the manufacturers of the steam plants, but in the meantime the research men in the field of electricity were making great strides, and the alternating current at that time was a most important invention.

10,000 Bolts a Record

The Royal Electric Company obtained the contracts for the manufacture of the generators and transformers to bring power from Chambly to Montreal, a distance of twelve miles at the unheard of voltage of 10,000 volts. This necessitated a great deal of study to secure proper insulation for the generators and transformers and for the switchboard requirements. It was considered at that time that a switchboard operator took his life into his own hands, and I may say that often a street car motor was burned out in one day, because of insufficient insulation. In fact the industry lacked knowledge of the methods of insulation which were developed later.

Before the Chambly contract was completed another was obtained for the transmission of electric energy from DeCew falls to the city of Hamilton, a distance of about thirty miles, and at a voltage of 22,000. I think that was the highest voltage in the world at the time. To those who are not familiar with the details of the industry it may be pointed out that the present line across Otonabee township from Ottawa to Toronto carries 220,000 volts, ten times the force of that Hamilton line. Oil insulation in transformers was first used on that line, also transforming of the current from two-phase to three-phase and raising the voltage at the time. Canada was in the lead then in long distance transmission projects and is still a leader. With this advance, alternating current motors became an imperative necessity, and the electrical engineers were equal to the demands that confronted them. And to-day we have the a.c. motor in an endless variety of sizes and forms."

To Peterborough in 1904

In 1904 Mr. Morrison came to Peterborough. The Canadian General Electric Company had bought out the Royal Electric Company and carried on manufacture in the eastern plant for a few years, but shortly afterward transferred it to their Peterborough factory. In 1916 the process of electric welding was introduced in the local works.

"In this process," Mr. Morrison said, "an intense heat is caused by forming an arc in an electric current, and this heat is used to weld different kinds of metals. This process has been wonderfully developed, and there is almost no limit to its application. As an example of that we can recall the new C.G.E. building erected several years ago. Electric welding was used instead of the old method of riveting together the skeleton steel structure. It has revolutionized the construction of the huge generators that are now turned out. They are cheaper, more easily constructed, better ventilated, and the high speed parts are safe from the internal weakness of the old cast steel construction. Synchronous motors have been developed from elaborate appliances by new designs in brazing different materials by the oxy-acetylene process."

Present From Foremen

Mr. Morrison has cut adrift from this business to which he gave so much of his time, but it will always remain a major interest in his thoughts. Prior to his retirement at the end of March he was handsomely remembered by the Foremen's Association of the C.G.E. works. The presentation was made to him by H. T. McFadden, president of the association, and F. M. Somerville, secretary, read the address conveying the regret of the members at his severance of shop relations with them.

Mr. Morrison remarked to The Examiner that it had all been a very pleasant experience, although the breaking of old daily habits and activities and co-operation with his fellow employees caused a deep sense of loss and strangeness. For that personal transition Mr. Morrison had prepared himself as a result of his studies in psychology, a study of his later years.

"And that proved a very practical and profitable study," Mr. Morrison stated. "Of course I had to revise my ideas as I progressed, but I developed a philosphy that was a great assistance in my work, especially in my relations with other men, and it will be a strong interest and help from now on. It gave me self-control and an indifference to irritating trifles. I can't go into the subject in a few words, but I recommend it to those who seek personal efficiency and self-command."

Has Preserved Health

Mr. Morrison has led what might be called the physical culture life, and his clear complexion, bright eyes, erect body and the remarkably few lines on his face testify the value of the regime of his life. And that is another subject upon which he likes to converse with those who have interests similar to his own.

He related one incident which may be quoted as a conclusion to his interview.

"One day I was walking with my son, and I fancied that he was favoring me a little in his stride. I knew that the average length of my steps was three feet. On that occasion I suspected that my step was slowing up. Then one day after a light fall of snow I happened to look back at my steps as I came in the walk to my house. They looked shorter than I had observed before. So I got a yard measure, and sure enough the strides were just around thirty inches long. From that knowledge I decided that if my steps were shorter I could make up the deficiency by quickening them. I felt in fine health, but the yard stick told me something, and if I was going to fall behind the procession it would be my own fault. It told me also that I had to watch myself at work, to keep alert and keen.

Mental Stock-Taking

I believe this can be done, and that the usefulness of a man who is sound in mind and generally in good health can be extended if he will only check up on himself. Some men develop slow ways of handling their jobs or their machine. We know that older men are under suspicion to-day in industry; why can't they watch themselves, take stock of themselves. And leading up to that condition is the necessity for wise living. In all my married life, I can't remember ever having any medicines in our house. I don't know whether you should quote that, for I wouldn't want to offend any person. I have great respect for doctors, but I simply didn't need them."

Mr. Morrison can talk along those subjects with all the interest of a man who successfully surmounted the difficulties and ills of life. He has applied the empirical method of his own experience, and his advice rings sound. Likewise it is easy and cheap, but it involved that central thought of his, self-control. He can tell of great effects of deep breathing on colds and other ills which he has checked by that simple natural method. And through his life, also, has run the bright thread of his religion. He has been a member of Knox Church since it was built. And that attachment has broadened his philosophy, as indicated by this statement: "I believe that God intended me to use my intelligence and my physical health in the best way that I could; to preserve those gifts but especially to make good use of them. I don't believe that happiness can come from selfishness. I know it could not come to me that way. I believe that selfishness is nothing less than a thwarting of the Divine purpose by accomplishing our own ends at the expense of others. There is no harmony in that, either in a shop or in any other sphere of society."

"There are many things I want to do, and some places I want to go, and I hope I shall be spared for them," Mr. Morrison remarked, "I shall miss the pleasant affairs and work at the shop, but I expect the change will have compensating interests. They say a change is as goo as a rest. Then I shall have a two-fold rest."

TALKERS LESSEN AVERAGE INCOME

Large Casts Are Greatly Reduced—7,000 on Call List.

BUSINESS AFFECTED.

HOLLYWOOD, April 18.—Smaller casts which came with talkers, plus gradual replacement of older players by steady importations from the stage brings heavy moans from the regulars. In the last few years they've seen their annual intake gradually diminishing.

Squawks are also reaching outside the industry to business people who have been hit by the curtailed buying power of the old crowd. Kick from this section is that the old timers who settled here, invested in homes and have families, and with plentiful work in the past were good spenders.

Business men say that the newcomers from the stage are brought here only temporarily, are without families for the most part, do not entertain on the former scale of Hollywood, and return to New York after a trick in pictures taking Hollywood-earned money to spend on Broadway.

Decimated Incomes

Men and women in the $10,000 to $25,000 a year class apparently have been hardest hit. Some of these have seen their incomes almost decimated. Former silent players who were assured of almost continuous work, oftimes doubling in pictures, are now in the scratching class and spending most of their time looking into studios from the outside.

More than 7,000 former silent players are listed at the call bureau, through which organization the studios are supposed to request their talent from the free lance field. Recently the average of parts received through this bureau has dropped to as low as five a day.

POLA NEGRI COMING BACK TO PICTURES

Returns From Europe After Long Absence.

Pola Negri, dark-eyed dramatic lady, is coming back to the screen.

She had been away for more than two years and returns to try her first audible picture with the same feverish ambition she exjerienced when she was 15, waiting for her cue on the stage.

Miss Negri made her first return to the public in England, where she appeared in a one-act play called "Farewell to Love," which was enthusiastically received, and later went on tour as far north as Glasgow.

"Before starting in the films," she said, "I wanted to try the stage again. It gave me courage."

She said she saw several American talking films in England, outstanding among them being "Cimarron."

She thought Richard Dix "magnificient," and said this picture opened her eyes to the fact that talking pictures have developed tremendously in the last two years.

"This picture, too, gave me courage, great courage, and belief that talking pictures have arrived at something, that one may honestly say it is really art."

Despite her admiration of these pictures Miss Negri thinks that there is still a goal to try for—the elimination of superflous sounds and dialogue and a still further return to the action of the old days. She said there was a happy medium between the silent films and the average talker of today that seemed ideal to her.

LAROCQUE-BANKY SNUB

CHICAGO, April 18.—Rod La Rocque and Vilma Banky, former screen stars, now in legit, feel snooty about personal appearances in picture houses. At least, that's the opinion of the local Morris office, which got the run around when trying to approach the couple with an offer.

Repeated efforts to see La Rocque and his wife while they were in town with "Cherries Are Ripe" proved futile to the agency. The back stage door was as far as the representative of the Morris office got, while messages came down that Mr. La Rocque wasn't in.

La Rocque deserted the screen some time ago to fulfill a lifelong desire for legit.

GOLD FISH EATER

An auditor of one of the larger film companies, after checking up the swindle sheet of a traveling rep, called him in the office saying:

"Kid, you must eat gold fish."

SCREEN AND STAGE NOTES

Kay Francis goes heavy for pets. Two dogs, one cat, one rabbit, one frog, two canaries, one parrot and seven gold fish.

Clara Bow has a hideaway in the mountains 100 miles from Hollywood, but won't tell.

Richard Arlen and Walter Huston owned a yacht 50-50. Now it's all Arlen's.

Joan Crawford is distributing her collection of 2,000 dolls among the orphanages.

Dick Arlen gives his nine-year-old daughter her first inside look-see of a studio.

Lilyan Tashman has one of the swankiest dressing rooms on the Paramount lot.

Wallace Beery a Sunday night spectator at Ringling circus, New York. Once he was an elephant man with the Forepaugh show.

Jesse Crawford wears a different suit for each show at the Paramount, N.Y. He has 21 outfits hanging in his private room backstage.

Louis Dean, who announces at WABC and should know, recommends for embryonic announcers—adding that no one has ever spoken it correctly—"The seething sea ceaseth and thus it sufficeth us."

Lew Ayres, temporarily getting $750 a week from Universal, goes to $2,500 (guarantee $100,000) for the first year of his new five-year contract. Second year, $125,000. Weekly rate up $500 every year thereafter.

"All At Sea," by Ring Lardner and Joseph Santley, is Radio's. Wheeler and Woolsey as leads.

Radio has purchased "Law of the Night," by Samuel Ornitz and Lester Cohen, for Mary Astor.

Jeanette MacDonald has confirmed her engagement to Robert Ritchie, her business manager. Marriage will take place in June.

A wild bullet assertedly from a gun in the hands of Mrs. Eddie Gribbon, wife of the actor, perforated the ankle of John O'Brien, auto dealer, following a drinking party at the home of the actor last week. Mrs. Gribbon denied all charges.

The play must go on. What tragic meaning lines behind those simple words! Nance O'Neil beloved stage veteran, was playing an important role in "The Good Bad Girl" at the Columbia studio when her husband, Alfred Hickman, died. The devotion of Miss O'Neil and her companion of nearly twenty years has been one of the really beautiful romances of the stage and screen.

She was broken-hearted over his death, and crushed, but rather than keep the whole company idle three or four days at a tremendous expense, she insisted upon returning to the studio the day after her husband died. The company, appreciating her sacrifice, attended the funeral in a body. The picture was completed Thursday.

Will Rogers is employing his drawl at the court of King Arthur in his new film, "A Connecticut Yankee". Mark Twain's fantasy has been brought up to date at various points. Where the original Yankee was a mechanic, Mr. Rogers is a radio engineer; where the original was transported to antiquity by a blow over the head from a belligerent fellow-worker, Mr. Rogers is stunned by an electrical outburst from his new invention, and where the original was saved from the noose by the timely arrival of a motorcycle brigade, Mr. Rogers's rescuers come up in bombing planes. William Farnum is King Arthur, Brandon Hurst is Merlin and the other leading players include Myrna Loy, Maureen O'Sullivan, Frank Albertson and Mitchell Harris.

Norma Shearer marks her first appearance in more than six months as the modern young heroine of "Strangers May Kiss," her new film This is the screen translation of Ursula Parrott's novel. The story recounts the more or less romantic adventures of an unconventional girl. Robert Montgomery and Neil Hamilton are the two young men who play the most prominent roles in her escapades and sorrows. Marjorie Rambeau and Irene Rich also have important parts in the film, which was directed by George Fitzmaurice.

George Arliss is the stellar performer of "The Millionaire". The distinguished English actor appears as a wealthy American business man who retires on his physician's orders, but finds it impossible to be happy with his pills and rest cure. He takes over a garage and makes a going concer of it. He also encourages a romance between his daughter, played by Evelyn Knapp, and his young garage partner, acted by David Manners. Noah Beery, James Cagney, Mrs. Arliss, Tully Marshall, van Simpson and Bramwell Fletcher are in the case. John Aldolfi directed "The Millionaire."

Lois Moran is back at work in the Fox studios, being now employed in "Transatlantic." Two other blondes, Greta Nissen and Dixie Lee, have leading roles opposite Edmund Lowe in the film, which is unfolded aboard a liner plying beween New York and Cherbourg. Miss Moran's last talking picture before she left to play the lead in the play "This Is New York" was "The Dancers."

CHAPLIN IN MILAN.

Two Italian Theatres Get "City Lights."

MILAN, April 18.—Chaplin's "City Lights," at the Excelsior and San Carlo theatre went over big. Theatres paid 1,000,000 lire (about $52,500) for exclusive city rights and scaled their evening at $1 and $2.

Although the scale is much too high for this neighborhood, with an awful money scarcity making things worse, opening day gross was about a quarter of a million lire (about $3,125) for the two houses.

NO BEST SYSTEM, NO BEST DEVICE IN PICKING ARTIFICIAL BROODERS

Dr. Le Gear Claims All Will Give Satisfaction if Maker's Advice is Followed.

SEVERAL ARE DESCRIBED

By Dr. L. D. LeGear, V.S.

One of the penalties of being regarded as an authority on anything is having to answer all sorts of questions more or less closely related to your specialty. One of the many questions that I am called upon to answer quite frequently is, "What type of artificial brooder to you consider best?" To this I invariably reply that there is "no best system and no best device." Any of the devices and systems now in general use will give satisfaction if the manufacturer's instructions are carefully followed. A brooding system should be so arranged that it can be easily cleaned and disinfected; it should be guarded against fire; it should be able to develop high temperature and distribute heat evenly; it should be easily ventilated.

Terms Loosely Used

The terms brooder and hover are rather loosely used by many people. Strictly speaking a hover is that part of the brooding apparatus which confines the heat to a given place and to which the chicks have access for warmth. It is usually a circular metal canopy shaped to deflect heat downward onto the backs of the chicks just as it would come from the body of a hen. It is sometimes adjustable to various heights and is quite often surrounded by a slit curtain to confine more of the heat to the area beneath it.

Many types of heating plants are used. A kerosene burner is the most common form, although coal, gas, hot water and electricity are also used to furnish brooder heat. If an oil burner is used it should be so constructed that the flame cannot easily be blown out or smothered and there should be some provision for the easy escape of fumes into the open air as they are very harmful to young chicks. With coal heaters it is also necessary to have a good draft.

Small portable lamp hovers having a capacity for from 50 to 100 chicks are deservedly quite popular as they are small and are easily carried about, they are easily cleaned, simple to regulate and offer little fire hazard if ordinary precautions are observed. They are usually circular in shape. A centrally located lamp is surrounded by a metal drum which carries the heat downward. The canopy is usually surrounded by a curtain to confine the heat and allis in the latter allow the chicks to come and go as they please.

Stove Brooder

Large stove brooders are in quite general use and have much to commend them. In principle, they are much like the portable brooders mentioned above except that they omit the inner drum and the surrounding curtain. As they radiate heat over quite an extensive area gradually decreasing in intensity with the distance it travels, the chicks can find almost any degree of heat they wish. With this type of hover poultrymen can take care of 5,000 chicks or more.

A plan which offers many advantages to the poultryman is the Colony Brooder system. A large hover or brooder of from 200 to 500 chicks is placed in the center of a colony house and a temporary fence of one inch netting is put around it to keep the chicks from scattering. The size of the enclosure is increased from time to time as they grow and need more room. The advantages of this plan are obvious. If disease develops, for instance, it can be confined to one colony house, or in case of fire only one brood of chicks will be destroyed. The colony houses used are of the regular type familiar to all pracical poultrymen.

Battery System

There is a comparatively new system of brooding called the "battery brooding system" that I have seen in operation in several different states, and in mort cases is giving satisfaction for the production of early broilers, etc. These batteries are made up of compartments about 3 x 4 feet and four to six of these are usually built on top of each other. The floor of each compartment is made of ½ inch mesh wire and about 2 inches beneath the wire is a galvanized pan which catches all the droppings and is removed and cleaned every morning. About 100 chicks are put in each compartment at the start but the number is reduced as the chicks grow. When the chicks are old enough to determine the sex, the pullets are usually put out in a regular brooder room and raised for layers while the cockerels are left in the batteries and grown as rapidly as possible for broilers.

In Texas and in other Southern States, electricity is the usual heat in the batteries, while farther north hot water heating systems are usually installed. The advantages of this system are the small space required and the sanitary measures afforded by the wire floors in the battery compartments.

Britain Desires Canadian Butter

"Canadian butter would be welcomed in England," declares the chief dairy products buyer for the Co-operative Wholesale Society of England, according to advice received recently from the London, England, offices of the Canadian National Railways' department of agriculture. "If we could get Canadian butter coming on the market about June, we could handle thousands of boxes weekly." This declaration was made in a recent interview between a Canadian National official and the Co-operative Society buyer, who declared that the people especially in the north of England had been educated to appreciate the taste of Colonial butter, and there was a splendid market for the Canadian product after New Zealand and Australian butter ceased to come on the market in June.

Weekly Crop Reports In Local Districts

Despite the hard times and poor live stock prices, live stock improvement work in Peterborough County has made considerable progress this season. In all 48 approved bulls have been placed and the interest still appears to be keen.

There is a plentiful supply of good quality seed oats, barley and alfalfa in this district. There are quantities of food potatoes but of mixed varieties. Much of the surplus potato crop will not be marketed.

VALUE OF BARLEY IN HOG FEEDING NOW RECOGNIZED

Gives Better Results in Experimental Farm Test Than Corn.

PRICES VERY LOW

Opportunity to Grow More Pork With Exports to Britain Falling Off.

With exports of Canadian bacon to Britain having fallen off rapidly there is an opportunity for the production of more pork products and especially so with the western coarse grains selling at reasonable prices. Barley in particular is from the producers' standpoint in poor demand, or from the buyers' viewpoint a cheap available feed. Thus the feeling of more livestock seems the logical means and actually an opportunity for the efficient marketing of a larger amount of the available coarse grains and in particular of barley.

Recently a pamphlet was issued by the Animal Husbandry Division of the Dominion Experimental Farms in which the feeding value of barley is shown for the various classes of livestock, and suggestions made for the proper balancing of rations with this feed. It is shown that barley is at least equal to corn for growing and fattening hogs. In an experiment conducted at the Nappan Experimental Farm, a group of barley fed hogs gained 1.22 pounds per pig daily, while a similarly fed corn lot gained 1.16 pounds per pig daily. The grain mixtures fed to these hogs were evaluated at the same price, and in cost of gains the barley lot was slightly lower than the corn fed lot, the barley fed hogs costing $7.67 per hundredweight gain, while the corn fed hogs cost $7.78 per hundredweight gain.

Plays Part in Rations

In addition to the above comparison of barley and corn, there is further information on the value of barley fed as a single grain, the composition of barley, and its preparation for feeding. Rations are also included for growing and fattening hogs, which combine the necessary nutriments for the correct feeding of hogs. Barley is an important component of these rations, and is included at the rates of 25 and 50 per cent of the grain mixture for growing and fattening hogs respectively. Along with this, oats are included at the rates of 35 and 30 per cent, and thus the rations suggested are made up very largely of home-grown feeds, which at present prices of grains will make very economical rations.

Copies of the above mentioned pamphlet No. 127, "The Greater Use of Barley in Livestock Feeding," and another publication on the feeding of barley to poultry, pamphlet No. 128, "Canadian Grown Grains in Poultry Feeding" can be procured, free of charge, from the Publications Branch Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, Canada.

KEEP BIG ORCHARD BEARING STEADILY

Proper Care and Feeding Prove Sound Policy in Aurora Orchards.

Good care—which includes proper pruning spraying, fertilizing and a modified system of cultivation—is making a success of one of the largest commercial orchards in Ontario. The Aurora Orchards Limited at Aurora, Ontario, comprise 130 acres of rolling, hill land with a soil ranging from gravelly loam to fairly heavy clay. The trees were set out in 1912, 1913, and 1914, and for the most part are Spies, MacIntosh, Wealthy and Duchess.

Until recently, the orchard was largely in clover sod, with occasional periods of cultivation. It has been decided, however, that the trees demand more feeding, and to that end a cover crop, clover or buckwheat, is plowed under. Extra nitrogen in the form of Chilean nitrate of soda was found to be effective in promoting vigour and annual bearing. Tried first in an experimental way about five years ago, the practice of giving the trees a spring application of nitrate is now followed over a large section of the orchard. Profitable commercial crops have been harvested annually for the past five years.

The Aurora Orchards have found no difficulty in securing a good market, with the natural advantage of being within easy trucking distance of Toronto. The bulk of the fruit is sold to large retail stores, either in bushel hampers or in six-quart baskets, the basket proving the most popular pack for this particular demand. One of the problems has been to spread the marketing season over a longer period of time, and to this end the storage space at the orchard will be increased this year. Last season the young trees carried a crop of 10,000 barrels and indications point to a very satisfactory yield for 1931.

ANNUAL FLOWERS TO SOW OUTSIDE

Beds Should be in Well Drained Situation and Soil Made Fine.

TWELVE VARIETIES

Annual flowers are very useful in any garden. In the new one they can be used freely so as to have abundance of bloom the first season while the more permanent plants are growing. In an established garden they are needed to fill up bare spaces left by the early-flowing bulbs, and varieties that bloom late on in the summer should be chosen for this purpose. Where space permits, rows can be grown in the vegetable garden so as to provide flowers for cutting without taking them from the borders.

The seeds can be sown in specially prepared beds and transplanted into their permanent quarters, or they can be sown where they are to bloom. The beds should be made in a well-drained situation and the ground should be well dug and raked and the surface soil made fine. Shallow drills about six inches apart should be drawn across the bed and the seeds sown thinly in these. Very fine seeds, like poppies, need only a sprinkling of fine soil over them, but large seeds like sunflowers should be covered with one-half to one inch of soil, according to their size. The soil should be pressed down gently after covering the seed. If the seedlings are not too thick they can be left in the seed-bed until large enough to plant out in their permanent position. It is, however, desirable in many cases to transplant the seedlings once into rows before puting them into the flower beds. For anyone who has not time to transplant the seedlings and for the plants which resent interference after starting into growth the seed can be sown in the borders. Be sure to sow very thinly and thin out severely so that each seedling has room to grow to its full size. There are a large number of varieties of annuals that can be sown outdoors but the twelve mentioned here are amongst the easiest to grow.

A Neat Border

Alyssum is a dwarf growing plant suitable for edgings. It makes a neat border covered with clusters of small white flowers. In August, when it is beginning to look untidy, the tops should be cut off with shears and in a few days it will be full of bloom again and will keep in good condition until severe frost. Sow where is has to bloom.

Calendula. The Pot Marigold, has medium-sized, double daisy-like flowers in shades of yellow and orange.

Cornflower (Centaurea cynanus) is easily grown from seed and will thrive in quite poor soil. There are single and double varieties in various shades of blue, pink and white. Sow where it has to bloom.

Dimorphotheca is a dwarf plant with brilliant colored, daisy-like flowers in shades of lemon, yellow and orange.

Larkspur can now be obtained in many shades of pink, rose, lavender, purple and white. It grows from one to two feet and the long flower spikes are useful for cutting.

Linaria resembles a small snapdragon and comes in various colors.

Mignonette is not very brilliant in color but the fragrance is so delightful it should be in every garden. Sow where it has to bloom.

Nasturtium is too well known to need any description. Sow where it has to bloom.

Phlox Drummondii has a straggling habit of growth. It is very floriferous and blooms until severe frost. It can be obtained in many shades of pink, purple, chamois and white.

Poppy—There are the Shirleys with their beautiful silky petals in shades of red, pink and salmon and the varieties of Papaver somniferum, such as the Peony-flowered and The Mikado. Sow where it has to bloom.

Sweet Peas do best when the ground has been prepared in the fall, but if this was not done, dig the ground well and mix in some bone meal and superphosphate before sowing the seeds. They are useful for making screens and growing up fences, or they can be trained into pyramids in the flower border. Sow where it has to bloom.

Sunflowers are one of the easiest annuals to grow from seed sown in the position where they have to bloom. There are a great number of kinds, varying in height and size of flower.

WATER SYSTEM IS ARRANGED FOR

Service at International Plowing Match be Installed by R. A. Lister Co.

FROM CREEK MILE OFF

Arrangements for a water system to the tented city which will spring up over night at the forthcoming International Plowing Match to be held in North Monaghan township next October have been completed. By an arrangement between the local Plowmen's Association and the R. A. Lister & Company (Canada), Limited, distributors for Myers Pumps, water service, equal to any city service will be supplied.

As for the Provincial Plowing Match, the largest affair of its kind to be held in any place in the world and which was held at Stratford last fall, so with Peterborough. A Myers Water System for service to the grounds will be installed under the supervision of the Hydro-Commission engineers. The water supply it is calculated after a cursory survey of the location by Geo. E. Hunsinger, (Lister Company representative) will be taken from a creek about a mile distant from the grounds. Two pumps will be used, one at the source of supply pumping into a two-inch main, and the other at the display stand boosting the pressure and delivering to a secondary system which will supply taps at various locations on the grounds.

In order to safeguard the water supply, the Board of Health will be asked to supervise the installation and operation of a chlorination system, while an attendant from that department will doubtless be on duty all the time the water is being used.

The local agent for the R. A. Lister and Company Ltd., is Wilmot G. Schell, who has recently taken charge of this sales territory, having come from Markham, where he has been in the service of the company for a period of seven years.

OATMEAL RATION FOUND TO RAISE BETTER PULLETS

Deep-Bodied, Broad-Backed Birds Eat Lots of Feed, Produce Lots of Eggs.

TWO BATCHES TESTED

Pullets Given Cornmeal Fall Behind Lot Tried on Oatmeal.

There is a vast difference in the type of pullet developed, depending on what grain products are used in the ration. For example, oatmeal develops an unusually fine deep-bodied, broad-backed pullet that is capable of handling lots of feed and in turn producing lots of eggs.

In a test batch of chicks were divided into two groups. The one group received a mash built around oatmeal while the other received the identical ration with the exception that the oatmeal was replaced by cornmeal. Brooding conditions were alike.

Difference Shows Up

For the first six weeks there was no difference in the size and condition which could be readily observed. From then on, though, the oatmeal chicks grew the faster. It took the cornmeal cockerels two weeks longer to reach broiler size. The cornmeal pullets, when they were ready to be put in the laying house, were shallow-bodied, long-legged—a typical lot of low producers; while the oatmeal pullets were deep-bodied, full-breasted, well fleshed birds.

In the first two months after the pullets were put into the laying house and trap-nested the oatmeal pullets laid better than a dozen more eggs per bird than the cornmeal pullets. Their eggs were larger, enough so that almost from the start they could be sold as firsts instead of pullet eggs.

Cost Slightly More

If you want to raise the finest bunch of pullets, which will be capable of laying big eggs, try a feed built around oatmeal. While such a ration may cost slightly more, the birds actually will eat less of it because oatmeal is 95% available so that you can raise your birds just as cheaply on an oatmeal feed; and what a difference in the quality of the bird it will produce.

Too much care cannot be taken in the selection of a ration. A chick that is once stunted never fully recovers, because of the unusually rapid growth chicks make. Provide chicks with the best that money can buy—in the long run it is the cheapest.

GET MAXIMUM FROM TINY PLOT

Six or Eight Tomato Plants Will Produce Enough for Small Family.

PLANTING TIPS

It is really remarkable the amount of vegetables that can be produced in a plot twenty feet square. Sufficient tomatoes for a small family can be produced on six or eight plants. These, of course, should be staked and may be set in eighteen inches apart. The stakes are six feet long and are driven in close to the plant when the latter is set out. Pinch off all side shoots, training the single main stem along the pole and tying it about every foot. Each week during the growing season the plants should be inspected and all side shoots nipped off.

In between where the tomatoes are going to be planted we can grow lettuce, using an early and late type, and also the cos variety which will supply us during the late summer and early fall. One or two rows of beans are advisable as these yield very heavily for the amount of space taken up. Make two plantings about two or three weeks apart. Fifteen inches is sufficient space between rows.

Carrots and beets will give very good returns and should have from twelve to fifteen inches between rows. Spinach is also a heavy yielder and as it comes on early is out of the way before the later vegetables require full room. On this account it, as well as lettuce and radish, can be planted in between the rows of carrots, beans beets and tomates.

Swiss chard will supply a huge quantity of greens from ten or fifteen feet of row. The inner stalks are used like asparagus and the leaves like spinach. Onions could be included in the small garden and only need about eight inches between rows.

Corn takes up quite a lot of room but as it is never quite so good as taken fresh from the garden it is well to include it. It yields an average of three cobs to every two stalks and it may be planted in hills about a foot apart.

Along the fences one can grow melons, cucumbers, pole beans, squash and similar trailing things. Peas require rather too much room for the very small garden as at least fifty feet of row will be required to give meals for a small family.

PERTH SALE PRICES DROP

A big drop in prices was registered at the famous Perth, Scotland, spring bull sale this year, states the London office of the Canadian National Railways agricultural department. On 160 head sold, the average was only £78, compared with the £112 last year and £170 in 1929.

MARQUIS SAMPLE CAPTURES PRIZE AS MILLING WHEAT AT PEMBROKE

Wins Out on Basis of Flour Color and Loaf It Produced.

THREE VARIETIES CONTEND

(Experimental Farms Note)

In connection with the seed exhibition held by the Ottawa Valley Seed Growers' Association at Pembroke recently, a class for the best milling wheat created a great deal of interest. The judging of the wheat in this class was performed by the Cereal Division of the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, and after being awarded on the basis of the combined scores on the grain, colour of the flour and on the baked loaves. Five-pound samples were collected from each of the twenty-four competitors in this class, and after being milled at the Central Farm, were baked by the Standard Bread Company of Ottawa, under normal commercial conditions. The loaf baked from each exhibit was placed on exhibition along with a sample of the flour and a bushel of the grain itself.

Three Varieties

The varieties contending were Marquis, Reward and Huron. A beautiful sample of Reward wheat took first place on the basis of grain characters, but was forced to the third position when the flour colour and the character of the baked loaf were taken into consideration. While normally this variety produces a loaf which is hard to excel, yet in the present instance a sample of Marquis which was not quite so attractive in the grain, was able to win out on the basis of flour colour and on the loaf produced.

Three beautiful samples of Huron wheat which were placed 2nd, 3rd and 4th on the basis of grain alone, were forced to occupy a low position when the scores awarded on flour colour and on loaf were combined with those awarded on the grain.

The above exhibition demonstrated very clearly the futility of attempting to judge the inherent quality of a sample of wheat on the basis of grain characters only. Rather must the colour of the flour and the ability of the latter to produce a fine, well piled loaf of good texture be taken into consideration.

Better Fertilizers Now Being Sold

The Dominion Seed Branch reports that the volume of fertilizer sold in Canada increased from a total of 50,000 tons in 1924 to about 225,000 tons in 1929. Increased tonnage, however, is not the whole story. The average analysis of mixed fertilizer sold in 1924 showed about 14 per cent total plant food as compared with about 30 per cent in 1930, so that the actual plant food sold in mixed fertilizers in 1930 was at least eight times that of 1924. The trend seems to be toward higher analysis fertilizer containing less filler and more plant food at lower cost to the farmer. The trend in demand, also, is for the fertilizer containing the higher percentage of plant foods.

BUILDING MARKET PROVES PROBLEM

Expert Believes Flock of Pullets This Fall Will Be Paying Proposition.

FACTS ON PEN OF 300

The ever present problem with the farmer is finding a market for his products. Livestock is playing an increasingly important part in the solution of this problem, and poultry is proving its worth in this direction.

"The farmer who has a good flock of laying pullets coming into production early this fall is, in my opinion, going to benefit substantially," was the recent statement of one of the leading produce men in Western Ontario.

What will a flock of 300 laying pullets do for a farm? Here are some facts of interest based on the results of accurate records kept in connection with the official Canadian Egg Laying Contests averaged over a period of six years.

Need 12.5 Tons Grain

They will use up as feed, which will be marketed in the form of eggs, 15,570 lbs. of scratch grain; 9,510 lbs. of meal mixture; a total of 25,080 lbs. or 12.5 tons of grain feed. This is the equivalent of 510 bushels, quite a substantial market for any farm. They will also use 6.44 lbs. of green feed, all produced on the farm, and 12,360 lbs. of milk (skim milk or buttermilk), a total of 43,280 lbs. of farm grown feeds.

Here is another angle of interest. Two tons of grain will easily produce 480 dozen eggs. Sold as grain at a price of 1 per cwt. it would be worth $40; sold as eggs at 25c per dozen it would be worth $120.

The Hatchery Approval Policy of the Federal Department of Agriculture ensures an adequate supply of high quality chicks. Any farmer who wants can build up his own market for his feed by developing a poultry flock from approved chicks.

ALFRED McGUIRE KIWANIS SPEAKER

Former Mayor of Toronto Congratulates Lindsay Power Commissioners on Their Work.

HOME IS BURNED.

(Examiner Correspondence)

LINDSAY, April 18.—Ex-mayor Alfred McGuire, of Toronto, and for many years a members of the Ontario Hydro Commission, spoke to local Kiwanians yesteerday on the power question. He congratuated Lindsay Commissioners on their excellent work in the management of the local utility and stated that he held the town's achievement up before other municipalities. It had the record of having a $50,000 surplus in the past three years, of having enjoyed cuts in rates, and of having reserves of $85,000.

Home Burns

A house owned by C. A. Everson and occupied by John Ballam, was totally destroyed in an early morning fire. The loss is partly covered by insurance. The fire started in the attic, but the cause is a mystery. All the family save Mr. Ballam were away at the time. Some of the household effects were saved.

WANDERING REPORTER OUT AGAIN AND WILL WRITE FOR THE EXAMINER

I was dreaming of shieks and sultans, harem ladies and snake charmers next morning when the engines reversed, we pulled to a stop and a band blared the Star Spangled Banner. A glimpse through the port hole showed a great sign, "Commonwealth of Massachusetts" and the steward, very proud of his nine English words, said, "Boston, monsieur." So the morning was spent prowling more or less aimlessly through bean town.

The Mayor Gets Soaked.

Meahtime the band was making whoopee, flags were flying and gents in silk hats making inspections. Chief of these was the mayor very proud because this was the first French cruiser ship to visit his city. The mayor made a speech and the band got ready to play again when the skipper thought he should appropriately applaud the speech. He pulled the whistle cord and several gallons of water splashed down on his worship spoiling the topper. The mayor however stood his ground while the bandsmen scampered for cover.

There were more farewells here, the arrival of two honeymoon couples who had their car hoisted aboard, amid gales of confetti, the loss of a passenger who left her luggage on board and the sudden determination of another that she didn't want to leave her husband after all. Then we were away for Spain with half the passengers sorry. This was because we smacked into one of those rolling sideswiping seas which upset tables and chairs every now and then and play tricks with the most stalwart stomach. This lasted five days but after the second most everyone was up and about feeling just a bit sheepish.

Running Away From Hubby.

One of the surprising things of the trip was the flock of married women travelling alone. I, for instance, drew three of them as meal mates and at least once a day I heard what kind-hearted but foolish husband they had picked. Scarcely a table was clear of these globe girdling matrons and when it came time for the ship's concert they supplied the complete list of talent while one of the honeymooning males acted as master of ceremonies.

Cruise ships may be different or perhaps the French have more finesse about these things but anyway there were few of those signs which read, "First-class only, no admission here" and the goats and sheep mingled more or less freely.

Canadian Girl Prett'est

Canada captured her share of the championships during the voyage too. Miss J. Dow of Toronto was branded the prettiest girl aboard, Joe McCully of the Bank of Montreal was unofficial tennis champion and I walked away with the ping-pong prize which, strange to say, was neither a red tie nor a male lipstick. McCully would have been official deep sea champion except that he was busy debating whether to play the deck horse races or not when the play-offs were announced. Miss Dow, the darling of the passage list, drew one major disappointment. She had seen my picture in the paper, knew I was to be aboard and grown curious. She was having coffee with the purser and some others when I was introduced. She missed the name as most people do but caught the word Toronto. Did I know Athol Gow? Sure I knew Athol Gow. Well did I know Gordon Sinclair who was coming on this trip? It was a shame to let Miss Dow down that way. The picture really was a good one.

Hard Luck Champion.

The hard luck championship of the voyage was shared by a group of disconsolate Spaniards who were deported from the United States and by a German woman who broke her arm and got herself arrested after wrestling with sea sickness for nerve testing days. She had come on deck pale and empty after those three groaning days. She drank bouillion and wine to bring back her color. She felt better and got into a shuffle board game but as the ship lurched in a sort of tail spin she was draped along the deck in a pot pourri of arms and legs. Men hurried to pick her up and she tried to keep playing but her wrist swelled and the doctor decided it was broken. With this in a sling she attempted to eat next day but in a comparatively calm and sunny sea one great roller smacked up amidships upsetting the fraulein's table and dosin her frock in wine. Arrived at Vigo, in Galicia, she was taken ashore to have the arm x-rayed. The driver roared up the hill toward medical aid just as a pig, driven by an old peasant, stepped into the road and was crushed. The pig screamed in agony and the peasant screamed in sympathy.

Crows gathered and added to the chatter. Five sorts of gendarmes hove into view. Green cops and brown cops. Cops with hats like the tail of a peacock. They took notes and solemnly viewed with alarm. They each wrote down the pig's obituary. They thought the senora should come with them somewhere and then help arrived in the person of a very smooth, very efficient Frenchman. The cops saluted and vanished. The Frenchman offered his carriage and the day was saved for Germany.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to be meet
In Friendship's circle bright.
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet
Or dims the radiant light.
No unkind word our lips shall pass
No envy sour the mind
But each shall seek the common weal.
The good of all mankind

Women's Institute Meets

On Wednesday evening about twenty-five ladies of the Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. J. Eggleson, King street west. The usual opening exercises were conducted by the president, Mrs. Rea.

The roll call was answered by conundrums which brightened the evening's entertainment.

The unfinished business from the March meeting was discussed, with the result that the sum of $10 was voted the Public Library and ordered paid. Letters were read from the department concerning the summer's work, also the summer class for girls and will be decided on next meeting, which is to meet at the home of Mrs. W. McQuade Jr. A musical contest, arranged by Mrs. A. McConnel was enjoyed, followed by refreshments served by Mrs. A. Fee and Mrs. R. James.

CAVAN.

One Branch Institute gives an interesting out of its activities which may contain interesting suggestions for other branches. Their programs are stated to be most interesting and helpful. Two instructive papers are given each month; one paper being the long one on such subjects as: (a) Pioneer Life in Peel County; (b) Co-operation of Parents and Teachers; (c) Armistice; (d) Canada in the 1930's; (e) Laws Affecting Women and Children; (f) Life Extension; (g) The Great Danger of Luxury in Modern Life.

The short papers are on such subjects as: (a) Music; (b) My Favorite Biography; (c) Christmas; (d) Birds in Relation to Agriculture.

They aimed to have a demonstration each month on such as: (a) Rug Making; (b) Chocolate Dipping; (c) Table Setting; (d) Changing a Patient's Bed; (e) First Aid in the Home; (f) Crepe Paper Articles for Decoration; (g) The Daily Dozen Exercises for Good Health.

Frequently a contest is held giving a small prize to the winner. This branch states that since the organization of the W.I. there has been greater friendliness in the neighborhood, and it was much needed.

Their first step along this line was a corn roast for the community, held on the school grounds. The program was entirely local, sandwiches and coffee were also served and a most enjoyable evening spent. Their next attempt to promote sociability was a Hallowe'en party for the Institute members and their families. Many came in costume. Hallowe'en games of all kinds were played followed by group community singing. (The winning group receiving a prize) and ending with a lunch of sandwiches, cookies and pumpkin pies.

Euchre parties were given in the winter, a small fee of 25c a family was charged and lunch was served and they were much pleased with the friendly spirit shown.

They also remembered sick and shut-in persons in the neighborhood, assisted families in need, sent bales to the North country, and provided a treat of apples, home-made candy and cookies for the tubercular ward in the Christie street hospital for returned soldiers.

Surely an Institute in each community is a very great benefit.

WARSAW.

The subject of World Peace and the League of Nations is a live one in the Women's Institute as a whole, and should be in each and every branch.

The eague is not trying, as many think, to build from the roof down, an utter impossibility, but rom the bottom of the foundation.

Since the Great War it has stopped eleven wars, and the nations are under their own sovereignty. Had as sometimes has been the case either or both parties appealed to some other power to help them out, in some way they would have been under the control of that nation. The league when asked, steps in, arbitrates, and settles (generally) the dispute, and then does no interfering with the government unless asked.

In countries where needed, it is undertaking social and child welfare work, helping in finance problems, transportation, and other national economic problems.

It is considered desirable that institute branches link up with the league. This will only be accentuated, if you do not maintain poise.

Children born on this April 19th will have great determination of character, without wilfulness. They will never allow their spirits to be conquered, and will be at their best when their backs are to the wall. They will be careful, thrifty, and painstaking. Their love natures will be strong and constant.

Born on April 19th, you are rigid and stern, and a strong sense of justice, not diluted by mercy, animates you actions and thoughts. Your characater does not inspire affection. It does, however, command respect. You resent impulsiveness, and only form or express an opinion after careful consideration of all the "pros" and "cons." Once you have reached a decision you ar inflexible, and, even though there may be extenuating circumstances, you do not change your view. In your philosophy of life, there is no half way house between right and wrong.

By the same standards that you judge others, so you judge yourself. You are no hypocrite and, without fear or favor, say and do what you conceive to be your duty. Intolerant of your own shortcomings, you are unsparing of criticism of others who fail to toe the line.

Your integrity is unquestioned: your uprightness cannot be gainsaid. Your life as a slave to duty pleases you, while, with others, it has earned for you the reputation of being hard and unforgiving. If you could only assimilate a little of the milk of human kindness, what a different story your life would tell! Your home life will be eminently proper, but its permanent atmosphere will not be that of sunshine: it may be a resting place, but it will never be a refuge.

RHEUMATISM?

Neuritis? Neuralgia?

"About 20 years ago," Mr. Geo. McDew, Halifax, N.S., writes, "I had rheumatic fever. Sunday it came back on me. My head felt as if it were locked on my shoulders. After 4 or 5 doses of T-R-C's I began to feel relief. By the middle of the week I was well enough to be back at work." Equally good for Sciatica, Lame Back, Neuritis, Neuralgia. ing away all stones and plant bulbs at proper distances. The hyacinths should be planted about six inches deep, and a space of seven inches between plants; tulips five inches deep and six inches apart.

A two inch layer of manure should be applied to protect the bulbs against the alternate freezing and thawing during and at the end of winter. This should be raked off when April comes. For house planting commence with Roman hyacinths and narcissus both of which may be had in bloom for Christmas. Place the pots in a cool, dark, airy cellar or cupboard, giving them a very little water occasionally. After five or six weeks remove them to the full light of the sitting room window away from draughts, and as the growth proceeds give them plenty of water. Garden roses must not be forgotten because I think they are the most loved flowers, and the words garden roses cover an enormous family of plants of different habits, forms and characters.

July and August is the best time to propogate roses. This is done by taking slips from six to nine inches long, with a piece of the old wood or 'heel" at the bottom. Much care is necessary or the operation will not be a success. These slips may be placed in water; in about six weeks small white rootlets will have developed. The cuttings are then taken out and planted in small pots, of very light soil. A sealer or glass jar should be set over each slip, and then removed to allow the plants to harden. If the weather is very cold it may be necessary to keep the plants indoors all winter.

MILLBROOK

What was termed the "housecleaning meeting" of an Institute brought out many helpful hints in regard to this "unsettling time," each member being expected to respond to the roll-call with one item, time being given for discussion before the secretary passed on to the next name.

Naturally this meant that all names were not called at that meeting, the list being continued at the next gathering, when the same plan was followed. So there were actually three meetings in which the program was provided in this manner, and they were counted among the most practical and helpful of the whole year. Other branches might try this scheme with interest and profit—but there must be insistance that no member come unprepared to answer to her name with one practical suggestion, preferably one she has learned the value of by actual experience.

A few of the suggestions given might be noted. One member whose name was the first called, told of her new plan in housecleaning that meant not trying to crowd the 'whole unpleasant experience into two weeks, leaving me all tired out, and my family cross and ill-fed because of the foolish effort," but beginning early in March and doing a little at a time, thus avoiding the "upheaval" that had formerly been an apparently indispensable feature of the spring season.

Another explained her plan of beginning on the drawers, chests, and clothes closets, doing these in her up-stairs rooms first, and then when all winter clothing had been aired and put away for the summer month, going on to do a bedroom a day until this section of the house was finished. 'I am not nearly so tired, and I get proper meals for my family, and none of us are so irritated, nor do we dread the housecleaning days as we once did," she finished.

"Do not take all your curtains down at once," was the president's contribution. "I used to do that, and it would be so long before I could have them all washed, mended, and ironed once more, ready for re-hanging, that I, myself, and my whole family would be so tired of the bare look of the rooms, and the poor appearance from outside, our tempers suffered, and that did really affect our happy relation hip and our health.

"Now I take the curtains from just the rooms I am going to do in one week, finish those with the cleaning of those one, two, or three rooms, as the case may be, then follow the same plan the next week until my cleaning is finished. It has proved a great improvement on former days, and my husband and family are more contented, while I have more ease of mind, as well."

That five weeks should be taken for housecleaning was acceded by one member to be the time she was 'at the job," the plan of doing gradually the extra work having been proved the least trying on temper family happiness and health. "I do my cellar last, going through my fruit cupboard, setting aside the jars for early use, and placing the others on the back of the shelves on one day. Then the next morning I clean the cellar itself, 'hubby,' of course, having carried out ashes, or any rubbish too heavy for my arms and back the previous day. I have learned also that if I am using electrical equipment while standing on a cement floor, for safety's sake it is best to stand on a rubber mat, or a board, thus avoiding any danger of a shock should the apparatus happen to be defective in even a small particular."

PLEASING PROGRAM C.G.I.T. MEETING

Miss Eva Howson Welcomed Back After Long Absence From Illness.

MILLBROOK, April 18. (Examiner Correspondence).—The Wide Awakes group Canadian Girls in Training held its weekly meeting on Wednesday evening at the leader's home, with eighteen girls in attendance, including one visitor, Miss Eva Howson, whom the girls were glad to welcome back after an extended period of ill-health, and four new members voted on, received, and enrolled.

During the business period, which was in charge of the president, Miss Marian O'Brian, a committee of two members was appointed to provide a musical number, either vocal or instrumental, at each meeting, not however including the evening each alternate week when the first aid work is taken up. Misses Mary Burnham and Dorothy McDowell were the two chosen at Wednesday's gathering.

Madeline McDowell was appointed to give the current event at the next meeting when the regular program is followed, and the prize for the best 'group yell' was won by Eleanor Ferren and Bonna Clarke, who submitted a slogan that appealed strongly to the other members. The award was a package of C.G.I.T. correspondence cards with envelopes and one dozen sheets of note paper, also monogramed, with matching envelopes.

A piano solo, "Trinity Chimes" by Miss Phyllis Kidd was much enjoyed and concluded the business period, the usual ritual opening the devotional session, together with the hymn, "He Leadeth Me" Miss Dorothy McDowell presiding at the piano.

A number of girls read slips with appropriate quotations and all repeated in unison Psalm 23, while from the Old Testament the lesson was read alternately from Joshua 9, the story of the craft of the Gibeonites.

The leader's talk on "Guidance" based on the words, "He Leadeth me" was preceded by the reading of the poem, "If" (Evelyn Duffield) by Dorothy, and also by a period of prayer.

A social hour was enjoyed at the close. Next week's meeting will be at the church on Wednesday evening when the fifth lesson in the first aid course will be taken.

What To-day Means To You

"ARIES"

If April 18th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 6:30 a.m. to 8 a.m., from 1 p.m. to 2:15 p.m. and from 6 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 1:30 a.m. to noon, and from 8 p.m. to 9:10 p.m.

Astrological influences on April 18th will quicken your spirits, clarify your vision, lighten your heart, and energise your physical make-up. Problems will shrink underneath the weight of your optimism and enthusiasm, and you will tackle things with a "do or die" spirit, which is bound to bring you success.

The child born on this April 18th will have energy and pride for its best qualities. It will be a good student, very ambitious, and capable of excelling in most of its studies. There will be much jealousy in its nature which will cause useless worries for it all through life.

You have a very restless nature, and are driven by a super-abundance of nervous energy to constant activity. Your hands or your mind are seldom relaxed, and you are a very unhappy loafer. If you had more continuity of purpose, you would accomplish more, but you flit blindly from one thing to another, with no set goal in mind. Nothing holds your interest for long, and you are a person who very easily becomes bored, and you are a determined hunter for new enjoyments. If you think life has disappointed you, you must realize that you have disappointed life, for you have not made the most of your talents or opportunities. By needlessly using up your strength, you are squandering your natural reserves, and you are headed for a breakdown of some kind, unless you give your human engine that care that you would give to any valuable machine.

You have much vivacity, a clever tongue, a generous and forgiving spirit, and are a born entertainer. You make friends easily, and because of your desire for change, you will frequently change your "bosom pals." People stick to you better than you stick to them, for you have a fascinating personality, and you know how to give others a good time. You are very fond of children, and you will never be too grown up to be one of them. You would be happier as a rover than settled down in a home. A marriage late in life, perhaps a second marriage, promises you happiness.

If April 19th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a.m. to noon, and from 3 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. The danger hours are from 1:15 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

The planetary aspects of April 19th reveal a rather unsatisfactory outlook and much individual trouble will eventuate, if you yield to impulse. The date will be productive of many disturbing factors, both inside and outside the home:

WEDDINGS

HUNTER—BEBEE

MILLBROOK, April 18 (Examiner Correspondence).—A quiet April wedding took place at the residence of the bridegroom, King street west, on Wednesday evening, April 15, when Mrs. E Bebee of Port Hope was united in marriage to Alexander Hunter; Rev. John Riddell, minister of Grace Presbyterian Church, performing the ceremony.

The bride was becomingly gowned in black silk velvet, with trimmings of crepe in peach color, and carried mauve sweet peas. A reception immediately followed the wedding ceremony and buffet luncheon was served; the bride's daughter, Mrs. Austin, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ira Bebee, being in charge. Following the time-honored custom, the bride inserted the silver knife in the beautifully-decorated wedding cake before it was cut and served to the guests.

Among the guests present were: Mrs. W. Austen and son, Lorne; Mr. and Mrs. Ire Beebe, Toronto; Mr. Leonard Bebee, Port Hope; Mrs. Samuel Hunter and son, Roy; Mr. and Mrs. William Wilkinson; Rev. Mr. and Mrs. J. Riddell.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunter will continue to reside at Millbrook.

McMULLEN—LANDER

STIRLING, April 18 (Examiner Correspondence).—A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. N. J. Lander, 63 Lonsdale Road, Toronto, when Mabel Lander became the bride of Mr. James Edward McMullen of Rawdon. Rev. S. Lambert of Toronto officiated.

The bride looked charming in a gown of brown georgette with hat to match. After a buffet luncheon they left by motor for Toronto. They will live near Campbellford.

Favorite Recipe

BEET AND HORSE-RADISH RELISH.

1½ cups solidly packed sliced beets
¼ cup prepared horse-radish
1½ cups apple vinegar
6½ cups sugar
1 bottle pectin.

Cook beets until tender and remove skins. Slice beets very thin. Measure beets in large kettle, using only enough juice to flood level. Add horse-radish, sugar and vinegar. Mix. Bring to a full rolling boil. Boil hard 2 minutes. Remove from fire and stir in pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for just 8 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating. Pour quickly. Cover hot relish with film of hot paraffin; when relish is cold, cover with 1-8 inch of hot paraffin. Roll glass to spread paraffin on sides. Requires about 1 pound beets. Makes about 9 eight-ounce glasses.

Suffered From Heart Trouble Became Weak and Run Down

Mrs. Wm. Diotte, Glenarnfield, Ont., writes:—"For a long period I suffered from heart trouble, and became very weak and run down. I tried various remedies, but they did me no good. One day I met a friend and told her of my trouble. She said she had had heart trouble for two years too, but after using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for a short time she had been relieved of her trouble, so I got two boxes and after taking them I was again feeling fine, and always recommend H. & N. Pills to anyone complaining of heart trouble."

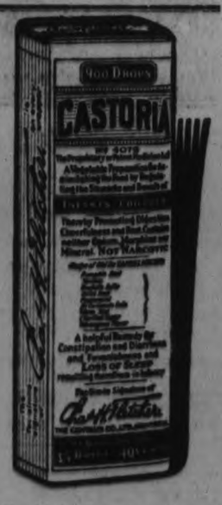
Castoria... for CHILDREN'S ailments



ARE you prepared to render first aid and quick comfort the moment your youngster has an upset of any sort? Could you do the right thing—immediately—though the emergency came without warning—perhaps tonight? Castoria is a mother's standby at such times. There is nothing like it in emergencies, and nothing better for everyday use. For a sudden attack of colic, or for the gentle relief of constipation: to allay a feverish spell, or to soothe a fretful baby that can't sleep. This pure vegetable preparation is always ready to ease an ailing youngster. It is just as harmless as the recipe on the wrapper reads. If you see Chas. H. Fletcher's signature, it is geniune Castoria. It is harmless to the smallest infant; doctors will tell you so.

You can tell from the formula on the wrapper how mild it is, and how good for little systems. But continue with Castoria until a child is grown.

MRS. STRINGER TELLS OF LIFE IN FAR NORTH

Wife of Archbishop of Rupert's Territory Has Spent 25 Years in Arctic.

RAISED FAMILY.

Went as Bride to Herschel Island—Has Had Many Adventures.

(Special to The Examiner.)

KINGSTON, April 18.—Mrs. I. O. Stringer, of Dawson, Yukon Territory, was sitting at the dinner table at Bishop's Court, Kingston, the guest of Right Rev. C. A. Seager, Bishop of Ontario, and Mrs. Seager, when she received he news that her husband had been elected Archbishop of Rupert's Land. Mrs. Stringer had come to Kingston to attend the meeting of the Dominion executive of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Church of England in Canada and her first speech as the wife of an archbishop was made in St. George's hall at the open meeting of the executive on Wednesday night, after Bishop Seager had announced the good news that the election which had been held at Winnipeg had resulted in her husband's election to the archbishopric.

"I know that Mr. Stringer is always equal to the occasion," said his lordship, "so I will ask her to come to the platform now to receive your congratulations."

"Thank you very much," said Mrs. Stringer, "I have been married to him for thirty-five years, and, though he would not like me to say so, I think they showed their good sense."

"It doesn't seem possible that that young woman could have been married for so long," was the exclamation that was heard through the applause that greeted Mrs. Stringer.

In a conversation with the wife of the archbishop-elect, we heard of her life in the far north where she went as a bride to Herschel Island, two hundred and fifty miles from another white woman. "In fact I have been farther east in that region than any other white woman.

"My eldest daughter and son were born there, beautiful healthy children, and we were six years at the post before we went out to the mouth of the Mackenzie River to meet the yearly boat and Bishop Reeve. We went eighty miles in dog sleigh and slept in it all night, the baby in my arms and Rowena in a sleeping-bag lined with eiderdown. There was no night. We made the journey of the eighty miles on Arctic Ocean ice. The rivers open first and the ice was safe. No one sleeps when the boat came in for there is so much to do, letters to get and answer, for then there was only one mail a year. I tell you we were almost asleep on our feet by the time the boat went. Then we had to go back again the two hundred and fifty miles. We were pretty tired, I can tell you.

25 Years at Dawson.

"We have been twenty-five years at Dawson and I am going back there now. I can hardly realize that it is not going to be our home in the future. I think they will really miss us. My husband takes such an interest in everything, and what he is interested in I am too. He was president of the Yukon Order of Pioneers and last year he received the past president's jewel, of which we are proud."

Mrs. Stringer shows no signs of the hardships through which she has passed. Her bright dark eyes flash with humor as she talks, and, sitting there, smartly frocked, it seems hard to believe that in 1921 she walked many miles to Cambridge Bay, where the R. C. fliers landed, and that in 1924 she went with the Bishop on foot across the northern Rocky Mountains, a distance of one hundred miles.

"I was the only white woman who ever did that," said she, "but my husband had not been well and I just insisted on going to take care of him. We crossed Nigger Head Swamp and I will admit it was awful."

"What did you wear on your feet," we asked. "Eskimo boots, padded with grass and wound with blanket. Clumsy but not heavy, and they saved my feet. The bishop has a snapshot of me being carried across a rapid river on the back of the Indian chief. He generally walks along with them but they said they were wet and he was not, and, as he stayed behind to get a picture of me, they went back for him and I called out to him that he must let them fetch him across. You see, if I hadn't been there he would have got wet. But I only wish I had had the camera to get a snap of him too," said Mrs. Stringer, laughing.

"I was desperately tired but I am glad to say the Indians shot three caribou and stopped for twenty-nine hours to cut them up, to feed us all well, including the dogs, and prepare the meat so that it could be carried.

"We had queer experiences but we have always been happy; that is why people say I look young.

"You know I am a grandmother; my eldest daughter married Rev. C. R. H. Wilkinson, M.A., LD.H., and five years ago went out to Kangra, India, with him. They are on their way home now with their baby of three years, Ruth Rowena. We are looking forward to having them with us."

"And your other children?" we asked. "Well, you know Herschell is a doctor; he was with Dr. Antle on the Columbia Coast mission but now is taking a special course at the Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal; Alexander is twenty-two and is a B.A. of Varsity, Toronto, and is now a first year student at Osgoode Hall, Toronto; Wilfred Isaac Bompas, commonly called 'Bomp,' is my twenty-one year old baby. He is taking his second year in electrical engineering at Varsity. Alexander is going out to the Yukon this summer in charge of a mission.

"Our people came from King's County, Ireland, and my husband and I were born and brought up in the neighborhood of Kincardine, Ont., where we went to school."

"And now you will live in Winnipeg?" we said, "Yes, and we shall be able to have the children there more often than in Dawson, but we shall miss our old friends. I followed Mrs. Bompas and I thought I should try to be like her. But my husband said, 'Never mind, just be yourself,' so I have done my best in my own way ever since," said Mrs. Stringer with a merry laugh.

To celebrate the fifteenth anniversary of the founding of their branch of the Order, the members of the Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E. had a grand flourish last night in the huge bridge party which was held under their auspices in the Empress Hotel, when the rotunda, the grill room and the dining room were utilized to accommodate the seventy-four tables of cards which were played. The party was a real success and arrangements were carried out in the best possible fashion, with the regent, Mrs. Fred Hooper, in charge, the first vice regent, Mrs. C. E. Graham, looking after the bridge tables, Miss Daisy Davidson in charge of refreshments and Miss Mayme Montgomery arranging the decorations. Members of Mrs. Graham's committee were Mrs. E. M. Turner, Mrs. C. V. Elliott, Mrs. J. K. Hughes, the Misses Meta Meredith, Ethel Cooper, H. Tremain, Caroline Littlefield, May Jory, Mabel Watson and Helen Anderson. Miss Davidson's committee included Mrs. J. McNabb, Mrs. N. C. Staples, Mrs. James Matthews, Mrs. G. Hill, Mrs. F. Stinson, Mrs. A. W. Belleghem, Mrs. H. H. P. Johnston, Mrs. F. C. Webber, Miss Hazel Buller, Miss Bertha Hill, Miss Olga Johnston. The guests were received by Mrs. F. Hooper and Mrs. C. E. Graham. Prizes for cards were won by Mrs. E. M. Turner and Dr. D. W. Clark (first), Mrs. W. Harris and Mr. Ford Turner (second) and Mrs. C. L. Brewer, winner of the lucky prize whose total came nearest to 1916, the year when the Chapter was organized. At the conclusion of the games, the remaining cakes from the refreshment supply were auctioned by Mr. James Matthews. Decorations were extremely effective. In the rotunda, a long table covered with a cloth of filet lace bore a framed copy of the Chapter's charter. It was centered by a circular silver tray whose four silver figures upheld a large birthday cake, iced in white and bearing fifteen small lighted pink candles. There were four tall green lighted tapers in crystal holders and two large crystal bowls held pink sweet peas, pussy willows, pink snapdragon and claria and delicate green fern. Tiny sweetmeat boxes of green crepe paper, edged with petalled rims of pale pink and mauve, were on the long table and on the individual card tables, which held also tally cards emblazoned with the crest of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire. The spring pastel shades of pale green, pink and orchid were repeated in the candles in the little table baskets, in the lace paper serviettes, the wrappings of the dainty favors of four tally cards which went to the winner at each table, and the covers of the prizes, which were adorned with artificial bouquets in the three pale, pretty shades. The whole effect was attractive in the extreme. Among those present were the following: Dr. and Mrs. D. W. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Elms, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. P. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Steggles, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gravestock, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Fair, Mr. and Mrs. J. Irwin, Dr. and Mrs. H. Young, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Crowe, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. And we are back to housecleaning again!

* * * * * *

This seems to be a subject of interest to every housewife in Peterborough and district at this time of the year.

* * * * * *

You will find that in cleaning the rooms of your home, the walls must receive attention or the appearance of the whole room, no matter how beautifully and expensively it is furnished, is spoiled.

* * * * * *

It may not always be convenient to have walls repapered as often as the homemaker could wish, but they can be doctored to keep them in the best condition possible.

* * * * * *

I believe there are a number of commercial wall paper cleaning agents which may be purchased. If you cannot get any, a good substitute is dough. It must be of the smooth consistency found in raised bread dough when it is ready to be formed into loaves.

* * * * * *

Take a small portion of the cleaner about as much as a small biscuit and roll it gently downward on the wall, using the palm of the hand.

* * * * * *

Never let the hand touch the wall because every finger print will leave a mark, small to be sure, but readily discernible. Do not go over a surface more than once or unevenness will result.

* * * * * *

Keep folding the cleanser or dough as you work to have the freshest part always against the paper and change wads when they are very dirty.

* * * * * *

It is wise to clean all four walls from ceiling to baseboard as thus only will an uneven cleanliness result. To clean one part, even though it be the worst, will not be successful.

* * * * * *

If the paper is unfaded behind pictures, be careful to hang the pictures exactly where they were before the wall was cleaned. If near some sunny window the colors are faded, use water colors and retint the design to conform to the rest of the paper.

* * * * * *

This is quickly done and well repays if the faded place is not too large.

* * * * * *

When the finish-surface is worn off a paper, very little, if anything can be done to restore it, but the work of cleansing and retinting good paper that is soiled and faded is well worth your while.

FATHERS GUESTS OF SCOUT TROOP AT BIG BANQUET

Frank C. Irwin, of Toronto, is Guest Speaker at Scouts' Banquet.

MOULDER OF THE BOY.

That the Boy Scout idea has a strong grip upon the boys of Ontario, Canada and the whole world, and that the Scouts should not only get the support of the citizens but should also deserve it, was the opinion of Frank C. Irwin, Assistant Provincial Commissioner, in an address at the annual Father and Son banquet of the First St. John's Troop in St. John's Parish Hall last evening.

Following the sumptuous meal given by the mothers and sisters of Scouts and Cubs, several songs were sung under the leadership of Warren Turner, Assistant Scoutmaster, with Jack Marshall at the piano. Dr. Murray Fraser acted in the capacity of chairman and toastmaster, and commenced the evening by proposing a toast to "The King." Garry Johnson, Scoutmaster of the Troop, in a few well chosen words welcomed the fathers and visitors to the banquet.

John Sullivan, president of the Peterborough Boy Scouts Association, spoke of the movement as being a great help in the moulding of a boy's character through his studies of nature, woodcraft, and many other things. The boy appreciates what is done for him, but he must also do his part through courtesy, appreciation for what is done for him, and respect for his elders. He must, by honest efforts, seek to improve himself. Mr. Sullivan concluded his speech by quoting the closing words of the last address ever given by Sir Wilfred Laurier: "Many problems rise up before you, and for their solution you must have faith and love; your souls must be open to these. You must be gentle, and kind to the weak. You must live and strive and serve in order to make higher the standard of living."

In proposing the toast to "The Church' patrol leader B. Coleman laid emphasis on the first phrase of the Scout law, duty to God and the King. Rev. E. R. James responded to this and likened the church to a family. In the family there must be traditions and hence a loyalty; there must be comradeship to rub off the rough corners. This, said Mr. James, is the reason for the existence of the Boy Scout movement.

The toast to Baden Powell was proposed by Patrol leader F. Ford, who stated that every scout was taught the great essentials of discipline, self-sacrifice and self-control. In responding to this, J. Hornsby said that were Baden Powell there at that time, he would undoubtedly be pleased with the First St. John's Troop. He recounted the story of the formation movement, when Powell took a group of boys to camp as an experiment. The press managed to slip in and in a few years the idea spread rapidly. At present it is a great world force; only two countries have seceded from the idea—Russia and Italy.

Patrol leade Reginald Perks gave the toast to "Our Fathers" in a praiseworthy manner. His father, S. H. Perks, in reply stated that it was the duty of the father to become acquainted with the work of the scouts, his sons, and to be interested in their work.

The toast to "Our Sons" was proposed by C. Coleman who outlined the Scout movement as being anti-militaristic, and who expressed the hope that "our sons will be better than their fathers." Jack Wemp, patrol leader, ably responded to this toast in a modest manner.

Frank C. Irwin, the guest of honor, stated that he was pleased to be back in Peterborough again, as he had spent four years of his boyhood days in this city. He said that troops were rapidly being formed before Powell could finish publishing his six installments on the organization of the movement. The several branches of the Boy Scouts were enumerated: the Boy Scouts proper whose Scout law is their code of honor; the Cubs who are the scouts' little brothers; the Sea Scouts; the Rover Scouts; the Lone Scouts who did so well in passing the tests for their badges last year; and the Past Scouts, notably the troop in the Sick Childrens' Hospital in Toronto where the bright things of life were brought to those in confinement by their being given something else to think about. The ideal of service is ever a prominent one with the boys, said the speaker. The Scout movement has shown to other boys that there is a great deal of good in their organization. The popular expression, "He's a good scout," has originated from the Scout idea. Mr. Irwin stated that there were some 20,000 Scouts in the Province of Ontario, and about 1,200 leaders.

Rev. Dr. Blagrave spoke a few words in appreciation of the work of the Boy Scouts. The banquet was closed with the singing of "God Save the King."

That Body of Yours

COMMITTEE FOR THE CONTROL OF RHEUMATISM

Some years ago the medical profession throughout the world attacked tuberculosis, and today tuberculosis no longer heads the list as a cause of death.

Similarly a few years ago, in England, Germany and the United States societies were organized to try and solve the problem of heart disease which with diseases of the arteries, hardening of the arteries, heads the list as the cause of death.

And now in different countries we find organizations formed for the control of rheumatism.

Rheumatism, as you know, is one of the oldest of diseases known. Evidences of rheumatism have been discovered in skeletons of the earliest known man.

Its ravages on the health of the community, the tremendous loss of time from the work of its sufferers, the distressing crippling effects left in its wake have so aroused communities everywhere that whereas ten years ago there were only two or three clinics in North America studying rheumatism, today there are clinics in nearly every medical centre.

Now that infection from some part of the body—teeth, tonsils, intestine—was the active cause of rheumatism has been known for some years, but that this is not the whole story, is now being recognized.

It has been definitely shown in thousands of cases that the removal of infected teeth and tonsils has cleared up the rheumatism in from a few days to a few weeks. The cures have been almost astounding.

However, it has been shown also that there are cases where the teeth are badly infected, tonsils badly broken down and pouring out pus, and yet these individuals have no rheumatism.

Why do these people not have rheumatism?

Ralph Pemberton points out, that rheumatism—arthritis— is really a disease of the entire system, not just of any particular part, such as a joint. That heredity enters into the cause; that a certain type of individual—the nervous type—is more subject to rheumatism than the non- nervous type; that the circulation in some individuals is poor, and prevents proper nourishment of the part; the blood vessels do not open as wide as they should.

It is when an infection of somekind—teeth, tonsils, and intestine—attacks this type of individual that rheumatism so frequently follows.

Eating too much starchy food which distends the large intestine is a cause of rheumatism, rather than the eating of meat, has been shown by Dr A. Fletcher, Toronto.

Now that rheumatism is being studied so carefully, and the above points already discovered, there will likely be a better knowledge of this distressing ailment, and earlier and more efficient treatment.

Sweden will complete electrification of the Stockholm-Trelleborg railway line within three years.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Alice Michaelis

GROWING SMALLER

The world is growing smaller year by year
And as it shrinks far places are brought near;
What once was but a fable, vague and dim,
A storied realm upon the wide Earth's rim,
Looms now so close an outstretched hand can reach
The sacred mountain, the exotic beach.

As conquerors of time and space, we know
More truly how once-distant lives must flow;
All that was veiled, uncertain and obscure
Becomes known land, whereon our steps are sure;
And with increasing continents revealed
Increasing treasures do the swift years yield

The world is growing smaller and we find
As it has dwindled, hearts have grown more kind.
Greater man's grasp of all his brother's deeds,
And quicker his response to all their needs;
Until bright promise shows the Earth, one land
Whereupon all peoples love and understand.

SAVED IMPORTED DRESS

"After a little wearing a lovely green voile—an imported dress—lost color so completely that it was not wearable. A friend who had admired it asked me why I wasn't wearing it any more. On hearing the reason, she advised dyeing it and recommended Diamond Dyes. To make a long story short, it turned out beautifully. I have a lovely new dress that really cost just 15c—the price of one package of Diamond Dyes

"I have since used Diamond Dyes for both tinting and dyeing. They do either equally well. I am not an expert dyer but I never have a failure with Diamond Dyes. They seem to be made so they always go on smoothly and evenly. They never spot, streak or run; and friends never know the things I dye with Diamond Dyes are redyed at all!'

Syrup Season Is Over Quality Was Good

Adam Humphries, reeve of Asphodel, whose farm near Hastings includes a maple woods, told The Examiner this morning that the syrup season is over. It has been generally satisfactory, with a good flow of sap and an excellent quality of maple syrup and sugar. Mr. Humphries drew the apples from the trees this week, and filled the holes with pine plugs, which by next Spring will be overgrown with this year's growth of bark.

Ogden Twirls Leafs To Third Straight Win

TORONTO NINE DEFEATS CATS BY 6-2 COUNT

Leafs Get Eleven Hits Off Opposing Jersey City Moundsman.

OGDEN ALLOWS 7 HITS.

Richardson Hits Homer in Eighth While Strong Connects for 3 Singles.

JERSEY CITY, N.J., April 18. — Consecutive victory No. 3 for the 1931 Leafs came along on scheduled time yesterday afternoon, when "Curly" Ogden outpitched Charles Sullivan Perkins, a left-hander who was with the Athletics last year. The score was 6 to 2, and Toronto made enough scores in the third inning to maintain its position at the top of the ladder and to give Ogden his fourteenth consecutive International League win, for "Curly" won thirteen in a row for Bill Cylmer at Buffalo in 1926 before being peddled to the Giants.

Ogden got perfect support, and Perkins did not, two manual mistakes and one mental blunder meaning three runs for the Leafs.

Errors Help Leafs.

The "boots" that can be found in the box score came in the third, and let in what turned out to be the winning runs. There were two gone in that spasm when Richardson singled, Rogell doubled, and Strong singled to earn two runs for the O'Neill-directed troupe. Following Ken's blow, Pittenger messed up Rabbitt's grounder. The New York "U" graduate, trying to steal third, not only made his goal, but the plate as well, when Morrow threw wildly past Brown.

The home team's first three hits off Ogden brought nothing, but the fourth — a single by West in the fourth — led to a tally. Max got wild, pitched to third, and registered at the plate when Pittenger doubled. Pittenger had fallen down in the second with two on and then wanged into a double play.

Last business at the plate and in the base hit line done by the Skeeters was in the sixth. Selkirk doubled then and Clancy singled, after West had grounded out, to earn a run off Ogden. The next eleven batters were retired in one-two-three order.

Surplus Runs.

The runs the Leafs picked up in the eighth and ninth they did not need. In the penultimate period, there was much action, but only one score. Richardson hit into the right field seats for a home run, Rogell walked, and Strong singled and Rabbitt grounded out. Tom Daly, clubbing for Ruble, was purposely passed, and O'Neill, taking Shevlin's place at bat, drove into double play.

The ninth saw Ogden singling and Morehart making his first 1931 safety when Toporcer missed tagging "Curly" on the line and on the back, and was held up long enough so that Ray made first. Richardson grounded out and Rogell scored the two with a slash to centre.

JOE LEBLANC IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Became Multi-millionaire as Father of Cut-rate Theatre Seats.

STARTED ON BROADWAY.

NEW YORK, N.Y., April 18 (C.P.). — Joe Leblanc, who built a multi-millionaire dollar fortune upthe discovery that the law of supply and demand worked both ways in the theatre ticket business, is dead.

The father of cut-rate seats, who came from Budapest to Broadway by way of a tenderloin cigar store, and lived to own an entire block front at the crossroads of the world, expired at 57, after a winter of ill-health.

Years ago, as a tobacconist dabbling in any sideline which promised an extra penny, he pondered thoughtfully the circumstance that people would pay brokers' premiums of 50 cents to $5.00 for seats to Broadway hits.

If demand sent the price of the theatre seats up, he reasoned why should not lack of demand bring it down.

Joe bicycled around town buying up and selling at half-price theatre passes which producers gave barbers, saloon-keepers, and others in return for placing advertising placards in windows. Finally he persuaded the producer of a mildly popular show that it would be better business for him to fill his house at $1.50 a seat than to have a third of the seats filled at $2.00 a seat.

Joe bought at a bargain the seats which were empty night after night, and set himself up in a Broadway basement to sell them and profit.

WHAT HAPPENS TO THE VETERANS OF THE RING

WHERE IS THE OLD GUARD NOW?

Did you ever read a book in which the retired pugilist wasnt just scraping along on nothing per year dreaming about the dough he once slung around so freely and wishing he had the interest in about one tenth of it? What happens in actual life? Most of the boys have shown that the fighting spirit is just as good in business as it is in the ring. Look at Tunney travelling around the world on his well salted millions. Then of course he picked a million dollar lady as a life escort, so he should worry for a long time to come. But what of the others, the old guard? Jess Willard is a wealthy real estate operator in Los Angeles. Louis Angelo Firpo sells American automobiles by the dozen at a crack, in Buenos Aires, Argentina. J. J. Corbett is an actor. Tommy Burns who was heavyweight champion before Johnston and lost to the negro in Sydney, Australia, in 1908 is managing a stable of boxers in Montreal and is rich. Jack Britton, former welterweight champion who fought twenty-two years, is running a successful gymnasium in New York Benny Leonard is coining gold writing for the sporting papers in New York. Carpentier had a big movie contract in Los Angeles.

Here's the minority side to the picture. Battling Levinsky, former lightweight champion, is broke and is selling gymnasium training devices. Joe Wolcott is scrubbing floors, etc., in Madison Square Garden. Tom Flynn, the old "Pueblo Fireman," is driving a taxi after fighting twenty-two years in the ring. Kid McCoy is in San Quentin penitentiary serving a sentence for manslaughter.

HORNSBY'S HOMER IN SEVENTH WINS 5-4 DECISION FOR CUBS

Only One Major League Game Played in Majors—Card-Reds Postponed.

NO GAMES IN AMERICAN.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., Associated Press Sport Writer)

After three days of almost perfect baseball weather, it looks more like the old days of the past season or two when one game makes up a full day's complement of major league ball. But for the fans who like their double headers in May and June, there was a catch in yesterday's program that saw the Chicago Cubs beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 5 to 4 in the only big league contest.

There were only two games scheduled yesterday as the entire American League and half the National took a day off before the first big week-end. The St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds were forced to postpone their clash at Cincinnati on account of wet grounds.

The one game that was played saw Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Cubs put his team into undisputed possession of third place in the National League after young Charley Wood's pitching had almost stopped the Chicago sluggers. After shutting out the Cubs with two hits in five innings and fanning five, Wood weakened in the sixth and gave two runs. Then with two on base in the seventh, the Rajah clouted his second home run of the season. This proved to be the winning tally as Pittsburgh got to Guy Bush in the closing innings for three runs, and Sweetland and Bob Smith were called in to stop them.

Hack Wilson finally broke his hitting slump, but twice in the early innings he failed to connect when runners were on base.

All the big league teams are due to go into action to-day. Pittsburgh moves to Cincinnati and St. Louis to Chicago in the only changes of the previous schedules.

Billy Rogell Leading International Hitters

TORONTO, April 18.—Billy Rogell is setting a merry pace for the rest of the Leafs in batting. In the three games played in Jersey City to date, the clever Toronto shortstop is hitting at a .556 clip. Art McHenry has an even .500 mark for the two games he has been in to date, while Ken Strong, in three games, has compiled a healthy average of .429. Joe Rabbitt fell off considerable yesterday when he went to bat five times without getting a safety. However, the previous day's work kept him over the .300 mark. Ruble has been in three games and has averaged one hit in every three appearances at the plate.

In runs batted in, Strong is leading his teammates with seven, while Rogell has driven in four. Strangely enough, in their thirty-two hits, the Leafs have made only one double and no triples, but they have accounted for home runs.

FIGHT RESULTS

New York — Joe Banovic, Binghampton, N.Y., outpointed Willard Dix, Los Angeles (10). Harry Smith, New York, knocked out Chief Wilbur, Missouri (7).

Clinton, Ia.—Battling Burner, Lost Nation, Ia., outpointed Johnny Moran, Jackson, Mich. (8).

Greenbay, Wis.—Harry Dublinsky, Chicago, knocked out Benny Burke, Detroit (5).

Ottumwa, Ia.—Glen Camp, Kewanee, Ill., outpointed Slick Jesnick, Newton, Ia. (8).

TORONTO 'CAGE TEAM WINS OUT

Montreal Quintette Defeated in First Game of Dominion Junior Finals.

BASKETBALL HONORS.

TORONTO, Ont., April 18 (C.P.). —A desperate closing rally failed by 6 points to give Montreal Central "Y" an even break in the first of a two-game series with Toronto West-End "Y" for the Domininnon junior basketball championship here last night. The locals won 32 to 26, but if Ken Grant of the Montrealers can manage to relieve his regulars at all there is a strong possibility of the Quebec titlists reversing the decision in the second contest tonight.

The teams left the floor at the conclusion of the first 20 minutes with the home quintette enjoying a slim three-point lead, the score standing at 14 to 11 in their favor. The second period was not many minutes old, however, before the Easterners tired from lack of relief and West-End quickly consolidated their lead, stretching it at one stage to 14 points.

Led by the fiery, carrot-topped Buster Allan, the best shooting forward in action, the Montrealers rallied brilliantly near the finish to slice eight points off their opponents' margin. They were still going strong when the final whistle sounded.

Allan Mills, brilliant checking guard of the visiting team, was not in the line-up last night. He will be in action in the second game, as it is understood he will leave Montreal by airplane for this city to-day. His presence is expected to make a noticeable difference in the Quebec champions' defensive play, and if this proves the case the future destiny of the junior crown is a toss-up.

CANADA HAS BIG MEN IN SPORTS

Frank and Lester Patrick Have Done Much to Increase Popularity of Hockey.

LOOK ON RESULTS

They say, newspaper chroniclers and figures of the sports world who knew Rockne, Ban Johnston and Tex Rickard, that they were tremendous factors in the development, the general betterment of football, baseball and box fighting.

Rockne took the game of football and opened it wider. He made shifty plays shiftier. He fashioned rules that improved the play.

Johnson was baseball's first crusader for cleaner baseball, decent environment and a courteous public appeal. He had wisdom, vision and the will to fight for what was right.

Rickard, a different type again, was yet largely responsible for washing the knobby ears of a sport that was ravelling in a welter of hoodlumism. He polished it and set it before the nice people as a thrilling spectacle.

Rickard took fighting out of the alleys and made it a business venture of gigantic proportions with a strong social sideline. That the game has dropped back into the alleys and the slums was probably inevitable with the chiselers once more in control.

Rickard, Rockne and Johnson were the names to conjure with in American sports. Their qualities are being "pedestaled" and glorified after their deaths, which is a way we have of worshipping after the heroes have gone forever into the shadows.

And Two In Canada

Yet, after all, what these three accomplished in their respective lines of endeavor has been duplicated in hockey by Frank and Lester Patrick.

Over a period of twenty years they were prime factors in the development of Canada's greatest game.

They took it from the frozen ponds and displayed it in palatial buildings for the entertainment of the multitudes. They took players out of obscurity and made them nationally famous.

Their instance on clean play had more to do with removing rowdiness from the game than anything ever attempted by the National League managements.

Stalwart figures themselves in play for years, their words carried conviction as they fought shoulder to shoulder for clean play and the elimination of rules that irked the patrons and did nothing to speed up the performances.

Year after year Frank Patrick saw his modifications or elaborations of the playing rules ridiculed by the eastern experts.

Season after season he watched the jeering followed by imitation as the N.H.L. injected the "Patrickisms" they had derided in the springs, into they playing codes in the autumn.

What Rockne was to football, Ban Johnson to baseball and Rickard to boxing the elder Patricks have meant to ice hockey in Canada and to-day both look backward o'er the years with few regrets, their integrity unimpeached, their friends legion and the game, in whose development they played so large a part, now challenging football and baseball for supremacy as an established and highly popular undertaking with millions involved in its operation.

Bailey's Aces Banqueted By National League Star

BRACEBRIDGE, April 18. — On Thursday night Irvin (Ace) Bailey of the Toronto Maple Leafs, gave a banquet at the Queen's Hotel here in honor of Bailey's Aces, a hockey team outfitted by him and which won the championship of the Bracebridge Town League and then defeated the Huntsville Town League champions in the Interurban playoff.

All officers, players, and mascots of the team were presented by "Ace" Bailey with fountain pens with their names on them in gold letters, and were presented with sweater coats by Edward Elliott of the National Life, Toronto. They were also presented with silver medals by J. J. Thomasson, secretary of the Bracebridge Hockey Club, which operates the league. Mr. Elliott presented a prize for proficiency in studies to Jack Elliott, and F. Keaney, Toronto, presented Lorne White with a special prize for the most valuable player.

HEWITT BEATEN BY EX-CHAMPION

Sonnenberg, Though Injured, Wins in Straight Falls.

IN TORONTO MATCH.

TORONTO, April 18.—Gus Sonnenberg, remains dynamic, dynamic as a wrestler, and the same as an attraction. Last night thousands turned out to see him in action at the Arena Gardens, little caring if "Whitey" Hewitt, the courageous grappler from Philadelphia, was apparently no match for the former champion of the world. The fans went there to see the flying tackle expert show his wares and he came through with a decisive victory.

The bout was not as thrilling as others in which Sonnenberg has appeared here, but there were reasons. In the first place he was injured when his head collided with Hewitt's hip about twelve minutes after the bout began, and after that he had to be careful in regard to use of the dangerous flying tackle. Then again Hewitt failed to show championship ability even if he gave his best.

LETTERS FOR LON CHANEY

Although Lon Chaney passed away over six months ago, Metro still receives several hundred fan letters weekly addressed to the late star.

Most are requests for fan pictures, but in a number of cases are of personal nature, seeking advice and often mfinancial aid. These letters are returned to the sender with the notation that the player has been dead for some time.

Same condition exists at both Radio and United Artists, where Louis Wolheim worked prior to his death two months ago.

If Riggs Stephenson is in good health, the Cubs will once again have one of the best outfields in the business: Stephenson, Hack Wilson and Kiki Cuyler. If you ask the ball players, Cuyler is the star of the trio.

ORIOLES BEAT ROYALS 3 TO 2

Winners Get Only Four Hits—Newark and Buffalo Are Victorious.

WINGS LOSE OUT IN 9TH.

BALTIMORE, April 18.—The Orioles captured the third game of the series from the Montreal Royals here yesterday by a score of 3 to 2. Luther Roy allowed the visitors only five hits, while Claset and Loftus held the Flock to four.

Boyle's home run in the third inning accounted for two Bird runs. Urbanski hit a four-bagger for Montreal, with no one on base.

THREE STRAIGHT FOR BISONS

READING, Pa., April 18.—Bill Gould, a rookie from Selma of the Southeastern League, defeated the veteran, George Kirsch in a pitchers' battle here yesterday, when Buffalo won a third straight decision from Reading, 4 to 1. Reading outhit its rival 11 to 10, but was unable to connect safely in the pinches.

Rus Wrightstone hit a home run for Buffalo in the third, with one man on base.

BEARS BEAT WINGS IN NINTH

NEWARK, N.J., April 18—The Newark Bears scored their first victory of the International League season here yesterday, winning 3—2 over the Rochester Red Wings, by pushing over two runs in the ninth.

Carmen Hill, who had relieved Ira Smith on the mound for the Red Wings at the start of the eighth, walked Stevens and Layne, the last named going in for Hargreaves to fill the bases. April, in for Mangum, fanned, Loepp lifted to the outfield, but Cohen drove in the decided runs by slashing a single to centre field.

SEEDS DISTRIBUTED TO COUNTY PUPILS

Two Thousand Students Recipients of Seeds From Department of Agriculture.

During the past few days some four thousand packages of seeds have been given away free of charge to schools of the county by the Department of Agriculture for the annual school fairs this fall. Each pupil may choose one of the following: early oats, barley, wheat, field corn, sweet corn, mangels, turnips, beets, carrots, onions, and parsnips; and one of the following flowers: asters, sweet peas, phlox, zinnia, cosmos, African marigolds and verbena. Thus every pupil may select tow packages of seed which he takes home, plants, cultivates and finally brings to the fair.

Some two thousand pupils have been recipients of these seeds and represent 81 schools of the country. This number is eight more than last year, due to the adopting of the school fair plan by schools in the northern part of the county. At present there are only 5 schools in the south and very few in the north part of the county not taking part. The 81 schools will combine into 11 school fairs this autumn.

There are rumors that the Royal Rajah and Hack Wilson have been arguing about one thing and another. There are always rumors surrounding Hornsby. For the past six years he had been the centre of rapidly revolving riots.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, Tues. of this week was taken by and large 1 of the most enjoyable days from my viewpoint I can remember in the sporting world. How come? Well, I'll tell you. In the 1st place, the Athaletics, which I consider the greatest team in baseball, opened up the A.L. doings by coming from behind in the p.m. to beat the Washington Senators in the 1st clash of the season, and then that nite the Montreal Canadiens, which I calls the greatest team in hockey, copped the Stanley Cup by blanking the Chicago Hawks, and then to make it perfect, Howie Morenz, which I claim is the greatest player in the fastest game in the world, broke his Stanley Cup scoreless jinx and whanged home the goal that cinched the old mug. That's enough to make anybody happy.

Well, Mac, these Stanley Cup playoffs was a great serious. The Canadiens took a terrific gruelling in beating the Boston Bruins, all of which plays according to the code of the Mounties, "Get your man," and while they limped to victory, the task of walloping the fresh young Hawks with no less than 11 sprightly forwards to toss in in waves at the battered Canucks looked like quite some job, believe you me. Them Flying Frenchmen, however, turned the trick, broke even in Chicago, and after losing the 1st game at home and putting themselves in a tough hole, fought their way out by grabbing the last 2 fixtures like the clever game team they is. By the way, Mac, did you stop to figger that if the 5 Chicago-Canadien games had been played on the regular N.H.L. basis the Canadiens would have outscored the Hawks 8 points to 2? The three games won by the Frenchmen was won within the regular period. On the other hand, the Chicago victories were scored after a lotta overtime, so that if the thing had been doped out according to the rules followed all season the Canadiens woulda had three wins and two ties for 8 points, while the best the losers would have done woulda been 2 points for 2 tie games. In other words, Mac, if the 5-game series hadda been played as regular league games the Chicago lads wouldn't of scored a win in 5 starts.

They ain't nothing striking about the opening ball games, Mac, except the Boston Braves started out by copping themselves a coupla ball games, which is one for the book, and the Toronto Maple Leaves fooled themselves and everybody else by taking the curtain-raiser from the Skeeters. The lack of recruits in the big show is the outstanding feature, Mac, with the Athaletics leading them all as stand-patters, Connie Mack opening the season with exactly the same line-up as win the world's serious for him last year.

In the local arena, old-timer, the ball players is said to be unusually coy about signing on the dotted line, but they'll all light somewhere before long.

Well, Mac, they won't be much but baseball from now on, so here's hoping for some real action in these parts. I'll be seeing ya',

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

THE SIAMESE TWINS AND "TEN CENTS A DANCE"

It's a good bill at the Capitol Theatre for the week-end. What with a real pair of Siamese twins (they hail from the Philippine Islands), and a feature picture that is really interesting from start to finish, the entertainment program is a fine one. Even the news reels are snappier than usual. The "Curiosities," in particular, offer some telling bits: pretty tabby cats catching fish, a desert scorpion stinging itself to death to escape the rigors of fire; a spook house built by an eccentric millionairess.

The Twins are curious products of humanity. When one walks forward with the left foot, for instance, the other follows in the rear, walking backward with his right foot. Lucio and Simplicio with their brides, a couple of pretty Philippine maidens who do a high caste island dance, travel with their manager and pianist, who does some of the talking for them. They play saxaphones, dance with their wives and roller skate, all with amazing ease and dexterity. They appear to be very good natured and happy, these small men who have made an asset out of a liability in the game of life. "United we stand, divided we fall—a couple of real union men," they proclaim themselves.

"Ten Cents a Dance," with its rather unfortunate title that might pre-suppose a burlesque atmosphere, is one of those pictures that seem to take a slice from life and hold it out for inspection. It is the life of a big city and the ending is distinctly modern. The fact that Barbara has a husband does not prevent her from agreeing instantly to take on another mate, but doubtless, when she feels love slipping, she decided that the game won't do any longer.

Barbara Stanwyck is one of those unusual players who seem to be the character portrayed, rather than just the person who is acting it. Set gets into the role of Barbara, the "ten cents a dance" girl of the Palais de Dance, with a vigor that makes it live and breathe. Even her rather husky low voice seems to be eminently suited to the role.

She falls in love with a man who later turns out to be little good—a weakling and a craven, while the man she might have had, the rich and prosperous one, stands in the background and waits. He gets what he waited for, finally, and everything is fine—except for the discarded husband. The action strides along in rapid tempo, through the mazes of a modern dance hall and a poor home, to the episode of the five thousand dollars.

It is good entertainment, with Richard Cortes as the stellar masculine character, and a splendid supporting cast.—Jeanette.

KAY FRANCIS' SALARY

Whether Kay Francis will come out financially ahead after her first year at Warners, although at an increased salary over that she received at Paramount, is reported doubtful.

Miss Francis first lost a $15,000 bonus Paramount had promised her if she re-signed with it. Then she had to pay Joyce & Selznick the agent's 10 per cent. for the run of the Warner contract. Paramount had offered her at 52-week contract, while at Warners she received a 40-week ticket. The layoff of 12 weeks cannot be turned to advantage, either, as the Warner contract does not permit her to work for another studio except on loan.

DE MAR CONFIDENT OF WINNING AGAIN

Seven Times Winner of Boston Marathon is Ready for Monday.

BOSTON, Mass., April 18.—Clarence De Mar, the 42-year-old school teacher who has won the Boston marathon seven times and is the popular favorite for next Monday's race, left his Keene, N.H., class room yesterday and came to Boston to "rest," Several addresses, including speeches before various church audiences, Legionnaire and Boy Scout listeners on his health and running rules, with perhaps eight hours sleep on Sunday night, constitute De Mar's idea of relaxing for the classic grind.

The entry list totals 202 marathoners, Boston Athletic Association officials reported to-day, including Johnny Miles, of Hamilton, Ont., winner in 1926 and 1929 and considered a serious contender; Percy Wyer, Toronto; Harold Webster, Hamilton, Ont.; Roland O'Toole, of St. John's, Nfld.; Gabriel Routsalinen of Montreal and Johnny McLeod, former Nova Scotian, who moved here recently and scored a sensational 10-mile victory last week, are among those entered. Among "others" are five or six good pace setters and two or three veterans who have any kind of a chance for victory.

C.G.E. Softball Loop Needs Playing Field

The C.G.E. employees who last year enjoyed the favorite softball game on the two diamonds at the rear of the big plant will this season be forced to search for new grounds, it was learned recently, due to the fact that instructions have been issued to put the grounds in question in first-class condition, which would imply that the space will be available for ball next year.

The problem of finding a new playing field for this season is one which will have to be thoroughly threshed out at Monday night's meeting when the league will be reorganized, but it is understood that last year's league officials have been busy during the week securing options on several desirable locations which should help materially in solving the problem.

CRACKED NUTS

Wheeler and Woolsey in "Cracked Nuts," their latest picture, which includes in the cast Dorothy Lee and Edna May Oliver, provide a lot of amusement with their humor that never fails to arouse chuckles.

Speaking to one Carlotta, Woolsey says:

Attractive? Why, your eyes are like heavens, your hair a golden cascade, your cheeks like luscious peaches and your lips like ripened cherries. If you had money, you'd be beautiful.

Another of his bits of jocularity runs:

And he says, "Waiter, take this fly out of my soup." And the waiter says, "Take it out yourself; I'm no lifeguard."

When Wheeler and Woolsey go below to the royal cellar, in which are casks of wines and brandies, Wheeler asks his pal whether it is a brewery, and Woolsey replies:

You said it—one of our six best cellars.

CASUAL COMMENT

The next meeting of the City Baseball League is on Tuesday night at 7:30 at Duffus' and everybody interested is urged to attend. The election of officers will take place at this time.

• • • • • • •

Those who nominated officers at the last meeting are asked to bring their nominees to this session. In this way, there should be little difficulty in voting in a good governing body.

• • • • • • •

To date, the league has three bantam teams, two juveniles and one junior. When the final entries are all in, it is hoped there will be four teams in each division. That would make a nice city league.

• • • • • • •

tinctive uniforms will please the players, no doubt, and will make show this summer. The fair ones generally wear snappy outfits and this league will likely prove no exception. And that's the way it should be.

• • • • • • •

Fans expect to see the girls smartly attired when they're out there on the diamond, and not dressed like the men. Snappy, dis-show this summer. The fair ones generally wear snappy outfits and the game more attractive to the majority of the fans.

• • • • • • •

Tonight at Duffus', the East Peterborough Baseball League will meet at 7:30 to consider entries and arrange opening dates for the games. There will likely be five teams entered in this league, Raybeatos, Cogs, C. G. E., Bailleboro and Crescents.

• • • • • • •

At the last meeting, last year's officers were all returned to office, showing the confidence the league has in their ability to make this another successful year.

• • • • • • •

Well, with five good teams playing on the improved diamond at the Exhibition Grounds, the E. P. L. ought to do all right again this summer. Tonight's meeting will get them off to a start.

• • • • • • •

Plenty of baseball workouts around the town to-day. Over at the Stevenson Park there's Rotary, and there's the Maple Leafs, both of the City League, practising at different times this afternoon.

• • • • • • •

Down at the Exhibition Grounds, Cogs are working out first on the diamond, then C.G.E., both of the East Peterborough loop, and finally Shiner Johnston's senior squad. That's getting started early.

• • • • • • •

The Arabs' Ball Club met in Oshawa the other night, and still haven't decided where to play this summer. They may play in the Lakeshore League, but this is unlikely since the Rays left that circuit.

• • • • • • •

And they are thinking seriously of throwing in their lot with a Toronto league. However, Toronto may not care to take them in, as it would mean more travelling expenses for the Queen City loop. Members of the club executive are going to investigate this angle and report back at another meeting.

• • • • • • •

Meantime, they are considering entering the C.O.B.L. again. The team is practising to-day, so whatever league they are in, they will be ready to go by the 24th of May. They will hardly declare themselves for another week or so when their next meeting is.

• • • • • • •

The 21st Battalion Club, which operated Kingston's senior team last year will not have a team in the Central League this summer. They dropped something like five hundred berries, and don't feel like taking the chance again of losing more.

• • • • • • •

Most of the players there have signed with the Kingston Intermediate outfit, which may now seek a senior rating. But the situation in that town won't be cleared up for a week or so either.

• • • • • • •

However, we hope both Oshawa and Kingston will see their way clear to get back in the Central League again along with Belleville and the Petes. The loop can run along all right with three teams, but four would be better.

EASTERN 'CAGE TILT TO-NIGHT

Ontario Champions, the Grads, Meet Montreal Nalacs in St. Catharines.

VARSITY FAVORED TO WIN.

TORONTO, Ont., April 18. (CP)—The senior basketball spotlight centres on Vancouver and St. Catharines to-night. The western and eastern Canada finals will be decided in these cities with the winners on the series qualifying to meet in Vancouver for the Canadian championship.

Varsity, British Columbia's close checking quintette, favored by a lead of 15 points secured in the first match, are favored to topple the mighty Winnipeg Toilers for the Western Canada honors.

In the first game at Vancouver on Thursday Varsity displayed a combination of splendid defensive play and deadly shooting which the Toilers could not overcome and while they went down fighting gamely their spectacular march to the western final appears doomed to halt there.

North American Life Assurance five of Montreal, holders of the Quebec crown, and conquerors of the Ottawa and district and Maritime province representatives arrive in St. Catharines to-day where they meet the Grads, Ontario's best in the first of a two game test.

Both squads have well earned their present status. The Nalacs were forced to show their best to capture the Montreal city league title and then proceeded to beat the Ottawa and Maritime titlists. The Grads eliminated Assumption College, Windsor, one of the greatest quintettes in Ontario basketball history during the last four years before they won the right to represent Ontario in the Dominion playdowns.

Bowling
Alley Gossip
By Pin Boy

The Ladies' City League five pin circuit is breezing along at a fast clip and with only one more week of bowling to finish the schedule, some fiery struggles are due to pop. The Columbians and Quaker Oats teams finished first and second respectively in the first half of the league, while the Nashua Paper and Metropolitans tied for third position. The West Ends by consistent winning are at present leading in the second half with 56 points while the Columbians are close at their heels with 52 and the remaining teams quite a piece behind.

This week the Columbians hooked up with a disorganized Metropolitan team and won eight points in easy fashion with a margin of over 400 pins on the total score. Only three of the Chain Store team put in an appearance and these were a little below their usual form. Mrs. D. Prest and E. Drury led the winners with triples of 519 and 514.

The Brinton quintette of ladies by some classy pin spilling took the first of the three-game duel from the West Ends who recovered to stage a strong comeback in the second and third thus taking the big half of a 6-2 decision. C. Doran with 498 in three games was high for the Rug Makers and Mrs. W. Firth took the high solo with 230. F. Riley was the top-notcher for the West Ends with a single of 200.

Z. Northey's heavy hitting led the Quaker aggregation to a 6-2 win over the Nashua Paper outfit who put up a strong argument. Miss Northey's scores were 239, 233 and 139. Mac Warner was the next highest on the team with totals of 132,192 and 185. For the papermakers, Mac Hatcher was high with 176, 208 and 136 and D. Copping was next with 193, 183 and 136.

Team Standing, Ladies City League

West Ends, 56; Columbians, 52; Nashua Paper, 36; Quaker Oats, 32; Brinton Carpet, 18; Metropolitan, 14.

High singles, Mrs. Hewitt, 307; Mrs. D. Prest, 348; Lilian Campbell, 306; high three, Mrs. D. Prest, 730; high average, Lillian Campbell, 187.

Most of the talk around the alleys these days deal with the forthcoming tournament and already most of the heavy hitters are scouting around for a suitable partner for the doubles. It is understood that Vince Anthony intends to enter his champion ten pin team in the section for ten pin bowlers but a surprise may be in store for these big leaguers when some of the other aggregations strut their stuff.

KING OF SIAM LEAVES VANCOUVER ON HIS WAY TO NEW YORK CITY

Is First Reigning Monarch Ever to Set Foot on Shores of Canada.

HONORS NAVAL OFFICER.

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 18. (CP) In the brief space of a few hours yesterday Vancouver welcomed and bade Godspeed to the first reigning monarch ever to set foot on the shores of Canada.

With a dignity which his royal presence inspired, the city received Prajadhipok King of Siam, and his consort, Queen Rambai Barni; and with admiration for his courage and recognition of his charm, Vancouver sped him away with good wishes for the restoration of his now failing vision.

Their Majesties left the Empress of Japan, the vessel which brought them across the Pacific, at 5 p.m., yesterday for the special train which is to convey them to New York where the King will undergo treatment at the hands of eye specialists.

Commander Honored

To several of the officers His Majesty presented personal gifts and to Commander Samuel Robinson, C.B.E., R.N.V.R., in recognition of his seamanship and efficient kindness, the king presented the Order of the White Elephant, Siam's most coveted decoration.

To observers of the inspection, the spectacle was one of abiding pathos. Small but lithe and graceful in his movements, His Majesty moved from man to man. His quickness of movement bespoke of keeness of mind that was defeated by the advance of the cataract which is closing, slowly, inexorably the beauty and interest of the outer world for his eyes.

The king was dressed in morning clothes and wore a silk hat. Save for the defect in his vision, he appeared in perfect health, showing little evidence of the illness which has kept him confined to his stateroom on the last few days of his trip.

As soon as the inspection was over, however, and Their Majesties had retired to the special train, the king was ordered to his bed by his physician.

Smead Jolley of the White Sox is another such player. His outfielding is something to gaze at in horror, but he packs a big bat and slaps the ball lustily. Even so, some players think the White Sox are stronger when Jolley is on the bench.

The walls have been done over with a light buff muresco with stencil work of dark brown and green. The wood work including the floor has been given a coat of paint. Curtains have been purchased for the windows and will be arranged in their places before the room is re-opened.

Mrs. Wallace Kincaid has returned home after spending a week visiting friends in Belleville.

To the motorist, there is a no more welcome sight than a stretch of concrete paving. Tires grip and hold its even tractive surface in all weathers. Uphill or down, on the level, on straight roads or curves, wheels track true. Its light grey color gives better visibility at night. All of which means comfort as well as safety.

In addition, tests have proved that concrete paving means measurably reduced fuel consumption and less wear and tear on tires and vehicle.

While, to the taxpayer and municipal authority, it offers permanence and freedom from costly upkeep.

Advocate concrete paving and wider highways.

KINSMEN CLUBS HOLD CONVENTION

Ottawa is Chosen as Next Meeting Place for the Kinsmen Convention.

PETERBORO REPRESENTED.

With more than eighty delegate present, including those from Peterborough, the annual convention of Kinsmen Clubs of No. 1 District was held at Chatham.

Governor J. E. Ritchie, of Toronto, presided over the session, and commented on the fine arrangements which had been made by members of the Chatham Club for the convention.

Following the disposal of some routine business, "Education of the Kinsman dad and son," was the topic discussed by H. J Vallantyne of Toronto, following which D. B. Gillespie, of Montreal, led in the discussion. Russell Storks of Oshawa, spoke on "A uniform membership certificate," with Harry Taylor, of Sarnia, and Bruce Clouse, of Windsor, leading the discussion.

Addresses slated for the afternoon session were as follows: "Club and district bulletins" by Wilfred Reeves, of Toronto; "Better Club Meetings," by H. E. Harrison, of St. Catherines; "Inter-club Relations," by Bruce Beasley, of Hamilton. Leaders of the respective discussions were Dr. Ted Winters, of Ottawa; Alexander Sollitt, of Peterborough, and Don Waite, of Kitchener.

A civic welcome to the Kinsmen was tendered at a luncheon in the William Pitt Hotel, presided over by City Manager A. L. Thompson. Listed as speakers were R. G. Stoehr, president Chatham Rotary Club, Dr. A. A. Hicks, president Chatham Kiwanis Club, Reginald Appleyard, president Chatham Kinsmen Club; Rev. Dr. Scott Fulton and H. A. Rogers, founder of the Kinsmen service organization.

In the evening the William Pitt Hotel was again the scene of another momentus gathering. Like all such gatherings of the Kinsmen the meeting was full of enjoyment and interest was afforded from start to finish.

Reg. Appleyard, president of the local club, presided over the evening and among those present were J. E. Ritchie, district governor; M. J. MacDonald, deputy governor; E. A. Jones, secretary and C. Burgener, treasurer, Major S. H. Bantick, of Toronto, past National President, was also present.

W. B. Beardall a member of the Chatham organization introduced the guest speaker J. C. Stewart, K.C., who gave a very interesting address entitled "Some of the Sign Posts of London."

A. Douglas Bell, Chatham barrister, who has been active in the work of the Kinsman Club in that city was recommended or appointment as Government to District No. 1. While the appointment to this important office will not be made until the National Convention of Kinsmen to be held at Calgary, July 3 and 4, the recommendation of the delegates of the twelve clubs in the district is taken as a foregone conclusion that the Chatham man will be elected for the position..

Ottawa was chosen as the convention city for 1932. St. Catherines representatives made a strong bid for the honor.

J. E. Ritchie, the retiring governor of the district, at the close of the convention spoke of the success Kinsmanship has met with in this district, which extends as far east as Montreal. He referred to the splendid co-operation he had received from the various officers, and expressed pleasure at the success which had attended the convention, and the arrangements which had been made by the local club for the entertainment of the delegates.

The convention placed itself on record as favouring the publication of District Kinsman News quarterly instead of monthly. Another resolution was passed extending the length of notice to be given in respect to changes in the by-laws slated for discussion at conventions.

Peterborough Club.

The Peterborough Club submitted a resolution suggesting certain changes in internal management, but on a recommendation of the resolutions committee headed by A. Douglas Bell, it was decided that the questions involved were for the National Convention to rule upon.

Five minutes reports were given by delegates from each of the various clubs in the district, indicating that plenty of service work had been accomplished. Alex Sollitt, reported the activities of the Peterborough Club.

Britain now has 13,922 street cars and 4,204 miles of street car track.

PLEASING PROGRAM BY CALEDONIAN CLUB

"Glasgow and District" Opens Series of New Popular Entertainments.

"Glasgow and District Night" opened last evening what is likely to be a popular series of entertaining evenings in the Woodmen of the World Hall.

Caledonians and their friends turned out in a capacity audience, and every encouragement was given the folks hailing from Glasgow and its surroundings, who put on the entire program. This program was a delightful change and a great success. The artists chose popular song numbers, most of them being composed by natives of Glasgow.

R. French occupied the chair for the entire program, and congratulatory remarks were passed by the president, W. Petrie, who also thanked the various artists.

After the program the Executive served a luncheon, and dancing was engaged in for some time by music supplied by R. Gilmour (melodeon) and G. G. Low (traps).

The following program was rendered:

Vocal solos—"Loch Lomond" and "Genevieve," by Mrs. G. Nimmons.

Vocal solos—"Hame o' Mine" and "Ye Banks and Braes," by Miss J. Pattison.

"Talk on Partick," by A. Jackson.

Vocal solo—"Auld Scotch Sangs," by Mrs. Sugden.

Piano solo—Miss Pearl Smith.

"Talk on Glasgow," by R. French.

Banjo selections by T. Kieran.

Vocal duet—"Life's Dream is O'er," Miss J. Pattison and Mrs. Sugden.

Vocal solo—"At the Dusk," by Mrs. W. Howes.

Vocal solo—"Wee Cooper o' Fife," by A. D. Clark.

Vocal duet—"Whispering Hope," Mrs. W. Howes and A. Clark.

Miss Pearl Smith played the accompaniments on the piano in her usual efficient manner.

Next on the series is "Aiberdeen Awa," which ought to be entertaining.

Members are expected to support the football boys in their social evening next Friday.

Fruit shipped from Porto Rico to the United States last year was nearly twice that of the preceding twelve-month.

THE SON OF TARZAN No. 42 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

As the leopard leaped for the great ape, Meriem gasped in surprise and horror, not for the impending fate of Akut but for the boy's. A minute before he had angrily struck his strange companion. Now with drawn knife the youth leaped to out, and as the leopard was in the very act of sinking fangs into Akut's back, the Killer landed full upon the leopard's shoulders. The cat halted in mid-air, missing the ape by but a hair's breadth.

With horrid snarls it rolled on its back, clutching and clawing in an effort to dislodge the antagonist who was biting at its neck and knifing its sides. Akut had sprung into the tree with agility little short of marvelous in so heavy a beast. But when he saw what was going on below him, personal differences were forgotten and he dropped to the aid of his human companion. The result was a battle royal as the three rolled in the underbrush.

Shrieking, snarling and growlings rent the jungle air. It was the boy's knife which finally decided the fight. As the fierce feline shuddered convulsively and gave its final breath, Korak and the ape faced each other over its prostrate carcass. Korak pointed to the girl. "Leave her alone, Akut, she is mine!" The ape grunted, blinked his little eyes and turned to the body of the leopard. Standing erect on it he threw out his great chest.

Raising his face skyward, he gave voice to so horrid a scream that the girl shuddered. It was the victory cry of the bull ape that has made a kill. The boy looked on in silence; then he leaped into the tree again to the girl's side. Akut presently rejoined them and busied himself licking his wounds. For many months after this, the strange life of the three went on unmarked by any unusual occurrences.

A New Safety Service FREE to All Motorists—

WEAVER SAFETY LANE

There are three important safety factors on your car that should be checked regularly---if you are to enjoy the comfort that comes from the knowledge that your car meets every safety requirement and can be depended upon in an emergency---brakes, wheel alignment and headlights.

Your brakes must be properly equalized to insure a safe stop. Excessive braking pressure on one wheel will cause your car to veer on an emergency stop and may lead to a bad accident ---not to mention excessive wear on tires and brake lining.

If your wheels are out of line, your car will not steer as easily as it should and excessive side drag is cutting down the life of your tires and your gas mileage---and wheels get out of line so easily.

If your headlights are not properly focused and aimed, they are a menace not only to your fellow motorists, but also to yourself and your family---because they do not aid you the proper road illumination.

To enable you to check these three vital safety factors frequently we have installed our new Weaver Safety Lane---including the new Weaver Automatic Brake Tester, Wheel Alignment Indicator and Headlight Test.

Test Your Brakes and Wheels Free

INSTANTLY—NO TIME LOST!

It takes only a second to test your brakes. Simply drive on the Tester and apply your brakes. The relative braking power on each wheel is immediately shown by the rise of liquid in the four gauges, which are positioned to correspond to the four wheels. That's all there is to it. This Tester has been installed for your safety and comfort. Please use it often.

You can check your alignment immediately by driving over our new Automatic Wheel Alignment Indicator. The hand on the large dial immediately shows any degree of misalignment present in number of feet the tires are actually dragged sideways in each mile due to the wheels being toed in or out. A bell warns you if this misalignment is excessive.

Let Us Test Your Headlights

Your headlights are capable of giving good service. Let us check and adjust them with our new Headlight Tester---while you wait. The charge is nominal---you'll be more than repaid by the additional comfort good lights afford and by the knowledge your lights are scientifically adjusted to meet all legal requirements.

A Small Garge For Adjusments

If these inspections reveal the need for any adjustments, we will be glad to make them for you. Usually they are of a minor character and the charge is small. You will be the judge, however, and you will not be under the slightest obligation. Please feel free to test your car whever you care to---drive in day.

IMPORTANT!

This Is the Same Equipment That Is Being Used in Our Local Public Test .... Have Us Make Your Adjustments and Know They are Made Right!

Henigan Wins 34th Boston Marathon Run

NEW ENGLANDER VICTOR IN RACE FOR FIRST TIME

Forty Year Old Runner Covers 26 Miles and Some Yards in 2.46.45 4-5.

FATHER OF FIVE.

Fred Ward, of New York, Finishes Second, While De Mar Romps Home Seventh.

BOSTON, Mass., April 20 (C.P.). — James P. Henigan, of Medford, Mass., veteran Marathon campaigner, to-day won the Boston Athletic Associations 34th annual Marathon run. It was Henigan's first victory in the Boston classic. Henigan's time was 2.46.45 4-5.

Henigan, nearly 40 years old, married, and the father of five children, has been taking part in long distance runs for nearly twenty years, and finished as high as second in the 1928 Boston run. He was eighth last year, and his time was 2.46.38 1-5.

Fagerlund continued to hold second place at Coolidge Corner, and was tied there in 2 hours 29 minutes.

To-day Henigan defeated a field that included the veteran Clarence De Mar, seven times winner of the race, and John C. Miles of Hamilton Ont., winner in 1926 and 1929 and holder of the course record of 2.33.08 4-5.

The race was run under weather conditions that took a heavy toll of the contestants. The sky was clear with a blazing sun and a mid-summer temperature.

Fred Ward Second.

Fred J. Ward, Jr., of the Millrose A.A., New York, was second. His time was 2.49.03 2-5.

Immediately after he crossed the finish line at the Boston A.A. clubhouse, Henigan was crowned with a wreath of laurel sent from the Valley of Marathon, Greece, scene of the first marathon run. The wreath and a medal were provided by the Young Men's Greek-American Association.

Henigan walked much of the last half-mile and as he approached the finish line the crowd started to cheer and he broke into a sprint that carried him to the line.

Karl Koski, of the Finnish-American A.C., New York, who was placed among the first ten in several previous races and who was seventh in the Olympic marathon at Amsterdam in 1928, was third. His time was 2.53.27 3-5.

David Fagerlund of the Finnish-American A.C., New York, who ran in second place through much of today's race, finished fourth. His time was 2.53.41.

De Mar Finishes 5th.

Clarence De Mar finished fifth. His time was 2.55.46 1-5. De Mar finished strong and crossed the line smiling, to the accompaniment of cheers from the crowds massed along the route.

Percy Wyer of the Monarch A. C., Toronto, was sixth in 2.56.01.

David Komonen of Toronto, who set the pace through several miles, was seventh. His time was 2.58.31 2-5.

Paul Debruyn, of New York, was eighth in 2.59.09.

Gordon A. Norman, of Malden, was ninth in 3.03.33.

John C. Miles, of the Hamilton Olympic Club, Hamilton, Ont., finished tenth, barely a step ahead of John Jakela of the Central Y.M.C.A., Toronto, Ont. Miles' time was 3.04.56 and Jakel's 3.04.58.

Jakela had been leading Miles until close to the finish, when the latter put on a sprint to finish ahead.

Cerney Takes Lead

Frank Cerney of Pittsburgh took the lead soon after the start and at the first checking point, Ashland, approximately three miles from the start, was heading the pack only a couple of yards in front of Leslie Pawson of the Pawtucket, R. I., Y.

Lost 15 Years Ago

Fifteen long years ago, but the passage of time has failed to dim the memory of her boy who paid the supreme sacrifice overseas in the service of his King and Empire. He was a member of the 21st Battalion, and as his surviving comrades filed out of All Saints' Church following the evening service yesterday, his mother a frail, wistful little figure hovered timidly about the groups of returned men who stood chatting reminiscently on the church lawn. She was seeking someone, anyone, who could claim acquaintance with her boy.

"He died in September, 1916, from wounds received in action," she remarked simply, a note of sadness in her voice, which was also touched with something akin to pride.

RAILROADS PLAN TO CUT SERVICE

Competition By Motor Bus and Private Cads on Short Hauls Blamed.

STARTS APRIL 26.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 20 (C.P.).—Reduction in the passenger train schedules of both the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific Railway systems will go into effect on the Eastern divisions of these lines on April 26, it was stated here today. The service decrease will amount to between eight and ten per cent, passenger train miles on each system.

Main and branch lines are both affected, the cut in service on some of the latter over short distances being quite drastic.

Competition by motor-bus and private car on short hauls is primarily responsible for the eliminating of some of the trains. With the approach of Summer and the prospect of the bus lines and private motors further encroaching upon the railway business, the companies, with the approval of the Board of Railway Commissioners, have instituted these decreases with a view to economy in operation.

Many of the services will, however, be restored in the Fall.

MODERATOR OPENS NEW CHURCH.

TILLSONBURG, Ont., April 20. — (C.P.). — Very Rev. Frank Baird, Moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly, to-day opened the new St. Andrew's Church here. In his address he referred to the "wonderful progress and prosperity" of the Presbyterian Church in Canada since the recent union. There are now 182,000 loyal members, which, he said, was a gain over the original membership

YORK CONSTABLE BEING SUED FOR $500 DAMAGES

Action Arises Out of a Shooting Accident While Deer Hunting.

DRINKING ALLEGED.

Doctor Fears Boy's Ankle Will Never Be Normal as Result of Bullet Wound.

Arising out of a shooting accident during the hunting season in the north country last Fall, an action, for the recovery of $500.00 damages and costs opened at a special sitting of the County Court here this morning before His Honor Judge L. V. O'Connor.

The plaintiffs are Garnet A. Drain, a minor, who is suing through his father, William P. Drain of Burleigh Township, and the defendant James Suggitt, a police constable in the County of York.

J. A. O'Brien is appearing for plaintiffs, and W. F. Huycke for the defendant.

When the court adjourned for lunch, Mr. Huycke made application for permission to have a medical man examine the injured right ankle of the plaintiff, Garnet A. Drain. Mr. O'Brien raised strenuous objection, contending that the application was brought at a most inopportune time, as the medical witnesses for the plaintiffs, Doctors J. C. Smith and E. H. Wood had already been called, and had left the court.

Objection Overruled

His Honor overruled the objection, remarking, "It seems to me that the injury is such that I cannot see that plaintiff would be prejudiced, providing the examination takes place in the presence of one of plaintiff's witnesses."

William P. Drain, the first witness stated that his son was 17 years of age. He and his son stayed at Trout Lake Inn in Burleigh Township during part of last Fall. They arrived there on the evening of November 5, 1930. Defendant Suggitt was there with his companions. "They were having a good merry time, drinking and playing cards," he said.

"At about one o'clock in the morning of November 6, Suggitt was under the influence of liquor. He was not fit to carry a firearm or be about.

"When I entered the living-room at about 7.30 next morning," proceeded witness, "they were still drinking. They subsequently left for the hunt. Describing defendant's conduct, witness said, "He was very talkative, and had a sway to his walk."

Witness' son accompanied the party on the hunt, and the next thing he knew, he said, "My boy came in and said, "Oh, daddy, I am shot." I said "I was afraid of you taking the gun,"

FIRE IS SWEEPING OVER CALLANDER LOSS RUNS HIGH

Pacific Hotel, C.N.R. Station, Three Stores Already Fallen Prey.

CHURCHES THREATENED.

Firemen Aided By Section From North Bay Continue to Battle Flames.

CALLANDAR, Apr. 21. — (CP)—Early this afternoon the Pacific Hotel, the Canadian National Railway station and three stores have fallen prey to the flames which have swept part of this town and are still spreading. The damage will run into many thousand dollars.

Shifting of the wind from off Lake Nipissing has changed the course of the first slightly and it now appears the Roman Catholic church which was in the direct line of the flames this morning may be saved. This afternoon the Presbyterian manse, the United Church and parsonage with several other buildings are in the line of the fire but the local firemen, now reinforced by the North Bay sections, are hopeful of stemming the flames. The distance from the lake, the only adequate source of water is proving a great handicap.

Callandar has a population of about 900. There are several large lumber yards adjacent to the town.

Fate Of Suspects Lies In Jury's Hands

DETROIT, Mich., April 20. (CP). Instructed to return no compromise verdict, the jury in the Gerald E. Buckley murder case started its deliberations at 10:10 a.m. to-day.

Recorder's Judge Edward J. Jeffries instructed the jurors they should either find any or all of the three defendants guilty of first degree murder or return a verdict for their acquittal.

As a result of this instruction, Ted Pizzino, Joe Bommarito and Angelo Livecchi, if convicted will face a sentence of life imprisonment, the maximum penalty under the Michigan law.

Judge Jeffries acceded to one request of Prosecutor aHrry S. Toy, when he instructed the jurors that the State did not have to prove motive to establish its case.

LYE IS POURED ON SLEEPING TRIO

Husband and Stepsons Badly Injured by Jealous Woman.

WOMAN ARRESTED.

NEW YORK, N.Y., April 20 (C.P.). — Boiling lye was poured on Samuel Aisenson and his two sons, Harold 11 and Martin 14, as they slept early to-day in their Brooklyn apartment. Police arrested Mrs. Minnie Aiesenson, stepmother of the boys, whom they found in a nightdress in a court yard.

Detectives said neighbors informed them that the stepmother had been jealous of the boys. A year ago she married Aisenson, who is 42, and a printer, bringing to his house her own child, now 4.

Police were called to the apartment by neighbors who heard Aisenson's screams. They found him in the hall, trying vainly to beat down the locked door. His body was badly seared.

Inside the two children were almost as badly burned. In addition, they had been beaten with a hammer. The right eye of the younger boy was gouged out. Mrs. Aisenson was arrested as she limped out of the courtyard. She had leaped from the rear window of her apartment, spraining her ankle.

PADRE OF 21ST ENCOURAGES MEN TO MORE SERVICE

Annual Ypres Day Parade is Held by Members of Legion to All Saints'.

REV. W. E. KIDD PREACHER.

Need For Greater Speed on Part of Those Making Pension Adjustments.

"Service" was the theme of a very inspiring and thoughtful sermon preached by Major The Rev. W. E. Kidd, M.C., Overseas Chaplain of the 21st Battalion, at the morning service at All Saints' Anglican Church on Sunday. The occasion was the annual church parade of Branch 52, Canadian Legion, in commemoration of the first battle of Ypres, and the church was taxed to its utmost capacity by the splendid turnout of returned men and those who accompanied them and by general members of the congregation.

Headed by the Legionaire Standard Bearer, Albert J. Gash, and the Peterborough Rangers Band, under Lieut. W. H. Peryer, the parade made a brave showing as it marched away from Murray street en route to the church. Immediately to the rear of the scarlet - tuniced bandsmen, marched a detachment of the Peterborough Rangers Regiment; members of the "Red Patch Club" and officers and members of the Legion.

The service opened with the processional hymn, "All People that on Earth Do Dwell."

Rev. J. Douglas Paterson, rector of All Saints', conducted the service and extended a welcome to the returned men, and to representatives of all organizations taking part in the service of commemoration.

Prior to the sermon, the hymn, "O Valiant Hearts" was sung. "It is a hymn beautifully appropriate to such a service," thought the rector, "and has come to be better known by the title, "The Supreme Sacrifice."

Immediately following the offertory, the rector handed the colors to the Legionaire standard bearer, from their place of rest on the altar, and after the mournful cadences of the Last Post had ceased to echo around the sacred walls, the congregation stood in silence and with bowed heads in tribute, to the memory of those who laid down their lives in the service of their God and country. Then was the silence broken by the clarion call of the Reveile, after which the organ crashed out the opening bars of the recessional hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Taking his text from St. Luke 22: 26, "But ye shall not be so; but he that is greatest among you, let him be as the younger; and he that is chief, as he that doth serve," the preacher explained that at the time Christ uttered these words, He was passing through a critical time. He was telling His disciples of the relationship He expected to exist in the future between them and their work.

NO ONE SAW THE ACCIDENT BUT MAN IS BELIEVED TO HAVE SLIPPED FROM STEPS OF BAGGAGE CAR

Watson Was Found Some Time After the Accident Lying Alongside the Tracks About 350 Yards From the Havelock Station—Leaves Wife and Six Children.

HAVELOCK, April 20. — (Examiner Correspondence) — Alexander Watson, C.P.R. conductor died in Nicholl's hospital early this morning as a result of injuries received when he fell under the midnight train as she pulled out of here last night. How the accident happened no one knows, but Mr. Watson was found with both legs severed lying along side the tracks about 350 yards from the station by the yard engine crew about half an hour after the train had pulled out.

A resident of Havelock for the past 40 years, Mr. Watson has been operating out of Kingston for three years and last night was returning to his home here. He had come in on the midnight train and got off at the station where he talked to several of the men who were standing around.

When the train pulled out he was seen to jump onto the steps of the second baggage car to take a ride to east end of yards where his home is and that was the last seen of the man until he was picked up lying along side the tracks.

Dr. J. Holdcroft was immediately summoned and a special train was made up and the man rushed to Nicholl's hospital but he died soon after being admitted.

Members of the engine crew who found Mr. Watson were Harry Bush, trainman; Walter Clarke, engineer

SOLLOWAY MILLS APPEAR IN COURT

Fifteen Charges of Theft Face Former Prominent Toronto Brokers.

CASE PROCEEDING.

TORONTO, Ont., April 20. (CP)—Scenes of more than a year ago when eight prominent Toronto brokers were arrested following an investigation of their books by the Attorney-General's department were recalled in th Assize to-day when I. W. C. Solloway and Harvey Mills, former partners in the now defunct stock brokerage firm of Solloway-Mills, appeared to face 15 charges of theft.

The meteoric rise within three years of a small brokerage office formed a partnership, beginning in 1926, to a huge chain of offices throughout Canada in 1929, valued at more than $1,000,000 in real estate alone and then the beginning of their downfall is the story of the millionaire brokers who have been appearing in courts in three provinces since early last year, each serving a jail term and paying heavy fines as a resut of former convictions.

The charges pending against the accused involved the theft of shares of various stocks from former clients and 25 minutes of the court time was used up in reading the 15 charges.

When asked how the accused would plead Arthur G. Slaght, K.C., counsel for Solloway made a motion asking for the quashing of all charges on the ground of elapsed time. He pointed out that three counts at least must be within six months.

Mr. Justice Raney dismissed this motion and the case is proceeding

FERGUSON SEEKS TO BETTER TRADE

High Commissioner Attends Opening of Empire Shopping Week in Birmingham.

WANT BRITISH STOCK.

BIRMINGHAM, England, April 20 (C.P. Cable). — Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner to Great Britain, attended the opening of the Empire Shopping Week here to-day and spoke of the need for closer trade relations between Canada and the Mother Country, as well as between all the Dominions.

"I have never been able to understand," said Mr. Ferguson, "why the British Government can make trade treaties with every other country, and yet we cannot make a treaty between ourselves to the mutual advantage of Canada and the rest of the Empire. The problem is now being wrestled with in an earnest desire to accomplish something."

Mr. Ferguson added that Canada did not intend keeping an open door for all nationalities, but wanted to maintain a preponderance of British stock in her population. Migration had been suspended for the next couple of years only because it seemed unwise that large numbers should go to Canada unless they had ample capital, the High Commissioner said.

BETHANY, April 20.—On Sunday at about 12 o'clock, a grass fire broke out southwest of Bethany and steadily gained headway, a whole mile being covered, and men were forced to plow breaks to safeguard property as the fire travelled north.

Hint Gardner May Seek Committee to Probe Economic Conditions.

HAVE LABOR, U.F.A. BACKING.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 20.—(C.P.)—The debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne will be resumed in the House of Commons this afternoon by Robert Gardiner ,leader of the United Farmers of Alberta. He will move a subamendment on behalf of the Independent groups. The expectation now is that a division on the address will not be reached before late to-morrow at the earliest and may go over to Wednesday or Thursday.

The Progressive leader said today he contemplated moving the subamendment this afternoon, but the nature of it he declined to disclose. He took issue with the Liberal amendment as something which gave no indication of grappling with the real needs of the country in a practical manner. It was simply formal, in a partizan way.

Text Not Made Public.

While the text of the amendment which Mr. Gardiner will move has not been made public, it is understood that it calls for the appointment of a special committee of the House of Commons to investigate present economic conditions with a view to discovering remedies.

The unemployment situation, it is understood, is dealt with and the amendment advocates the provision of a further amount to deal with the emergency Assistance to the western farmer, in the way of credit, is advocated. The amendment it is stated, calls for establishment of some system of government guaranteed loans to farmers who are unable to get credit from the banks.

The amendment, it is understood, will have the support of the Labor group as well as the U.F.A. members.

Mr. Gardiner will be followed by E. J. Garland (U.F.A.-Bow River), while A. A. Heaps (Lab.-Winnipeg North, and A. M. Carmichael (Prog.-Kindersley) will also speak to-day.

Thermometer Hits The 74 Degree Mark

Ice-cream sales jumped high and ice companies launched out upon brisk business to-day as the thermometer climbed to 74 degrees here today, setting a new record for 1931. Seldom in former years has Peterborough registered such heat in April.

Most citizens left their topcoats at home, while on Saturday the first "straw" was glimpsed, the wearer walking sedately down George Street without batting an eyelash at the mild sensation he was leaving in his wake.

Yesterday with the temperature at 70 degrees, motorists took to the highways in the greatest numbers of the year..

Blankets were tossed to the floor in disgust last night with the mercury failing to drop below 60.

EXCITING RESCUE MADE AT SEA AS PASSENGER JUMPS OVERBOARD

Tourists Get Thrill as Sailor Tries to Prove Himself Hot Swimmer.

LOCKED IN IRONS.

By GORDON SINCLAIR
(Special to The Examiner—Copyright, 1931)

S.S. FRANCE, off Lisbon, Portugal, April 20—"Man overboard! Help! Help! Man overboard!" This exciting cry rang up and down the decks of the France to-day as she steamed full ahead for Africa with most of her passengers asleep, after one of those whoopee parties known as a bal masque.

A quick witted sailor from Brittany spread the alarm, "Un homme a la mer! Je n'ai pas le temp de prevenir." He hurried down the deck tossing lifebuoys overboard. They carried tins which lit up as they struck the smooth sea. Away to the rear the black waving arms of a man were seen. He grew farther and farther away. It seemed the ship would never stop and yet but a moment or two had passed. The alarm was tongued up and down the decks and companionways, "Un homme la mer! Un homme a la mer!" The wireless crackled. Three other ships near by hove to at once. One of them, a big Cunarder, swung in a wide circle to greet the France.

Passengers Hurried on Deck

Men and women in pajamas, kimonos, bath robes and that sort of thing hurried on deck. Two women screamed. One was convinced the

The Weather

With a temperature of 70 degrees in the shade, Sunday was an ideal day as far as weather conditions were concerned. Many of the trees are commencing to bud, and if they do not get a serious set-back will be in leafage at an earlier date than usual.

To-day at noon the thermometer was at 73 degrees, the highest of the present season. The barometer, however, is falling and a change is near.—W.P.

Girl Proves Shy at Showing Needle Skill, Gunplay Follows; Pals Cease to Be Pals

CHICAGO, Ill., April 20 (C.P.). — Sam Basgiorno, 29, and Frank Nemeck are, or rather were, pals.

So chummy had they been that Frank invited Sam to go calling last night on Mary Warnus, but Sam demurred, on the ground that his appearance was not of the best; in that there was a hole in his best trousers.

"But," said Frank, "this girl we are going to see is handy with needle and thread. She'll fix 'em."

.....So they went to see Mary, who was cordial enough until Frank suggested the needle and thread. She declined. One word led to another. Frank drew a pistol and fired at Mary, but missed. The bullet struck Sam in the fleshy part of his leg, puncturing Sam's pants once where it went in and once where it went out. That made three rips in Sam's best pants.

Sam is looking for a new seamstress. The police are looking for Frank.

Illegal Fishing Is Being Carried On On Lakes and Rivers in the District

Stories of the extent of illegal fishing being carried on in local waters were given further proof this morning when an Examiner reporter saw a dog carrying two muskelunge heads.

The dog was of that mongrel type which is often forced to forage in garbage cans for food. In his search for breakfast, the dog had dragged forth two large fish heads. A few friendly words by the reporter and the dog was coaxed close enough that the heads were identified as those of 'lunge.

J. W. Gravestock, president of the Fish and Game Association, said today that the Association and the department were doing all in their power to stop the illegal fishing that was known to be going on. "The fish are spawning early this year," he stated, "Yesterday was a fine day for the illegal fisherman, since everything was ideal for a big run. We were fully engaged in trying to stamp it out, and had 16 special wardens located at strategic points for that purpose."

Gunshots Greet Visitors To Roadhouse

ONE WOUNDED AT CHICORY INN SIX ARRESTED

Affair is Climax of Competitive Business Along Highway Police Claim.

IN COURT TO-DAY.

Frenchy Belanger Among Those Nabbed as Officers Swoop Down.

TORONTO, Ont., April 20 (C.P.). — Rumors of gang warfare and racketeering broke out anew here at the week-end following the shooting of Oscar Campbell, proprietor of the Pinesccroft Inn, roadhouse located on the Hamilton-Toronto Highway near Port Credit.

Campbell was shot in the groin early on Sunday when he and a group of five men, including Albert "Frenchy" Belanger, Canadian fly-weight champion, and one woman approached the Chicory Inn, a nearby roadhouse, and are said to have attempted to gain admittance.

William Cook, part owner of the Chicory Inn, was arrested by Provincial Police and charged with the shooting. He was taken to the County Jail at Brampton where he will be arraigned to-day.

Belanger and the others, Melville Campbell, Richard Ashcroft, Harry Frise, and Charles Brown, all of Toronot, were also taken to the Brampton Jail, and held without bail. They will appear in court to-day.

Condition Fair.

Hospital authorities reported to-day that Campbell was resting comfortably and that his condition was considered fair. He was operated on for the removal of the .32 calibre bullet which had lodged in the groin.

While police are diffident concerning the motive for the shooting and Attorney-General W. H. Price, who received a report of the affair, has stated his belief the affray was not the outcome of gang warfare, rumors persist the shooting culminates the troubles of the past.

According to Cook, police say, he was struck by Oscar Campbell in Toronto two weeks ago and that "Campbell and his crowd" attempted to gain entrance to the Chicory Inn to "wreck the place." Campbell, Cook claims, fired the first shot which crashed through a window over the door, whereupon he opened the door and returned the fire.

To-day police reported checking up on reports that the affair dates back to competitive roadhouse business between the owners of the various roadhouse establishments along the Highway.

Reports of other prominent Toronto men having been wounded in recent affrays persisted to-day.

NON-POLITICAL TRADE COUNCIL EMPIRE RECOMMENDED BY FRASER

W. A. Fraser, M.P. for Northumberland, Heard in Debate in Federal House.

TRADE WITH BRITAIN.

W. A. Fraser, M.P., representative for Northumberland county in the Dominion parliament, delivered his maiden speech in the House last Thursday. The following is the Hansard report of his contribution to the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne in which Mr. Fraser recommended the establishment of a non-political empire trade council:

Mr. W. A. FRASER (Northumberland): As a new member addressing the house for the first time I respectfully ask the indulgence of this honourable assembly. I trust, Mr. Speaker, you will permit me to voice my appreciation of the dignity and fairness with which you discharge the duties of your office, which sometimes must be a bit uncomfortable. Before proceeding, may I pause to express my deep regard for my French Canadian colleagues in this parliament. They lend much charm to the proceedings by the eloquence of their addresses.

I have the honour to represent, on this side of the house for the first time in over forty years, one of the most important agricultural, fruit-growing and industrial ridings in the province of Ontario — Northumberland county. Cobourg, the beautiful county town, is the most important

First Flier Enrols For Pacific Flight

TOKYO, April 20 (A.P.)—Thomas Ash, Jr., United States flier, registered to-day with the newspaper Asahi as the first contestant in its prize offer of $25,000 for the first foreigner to make a non-stop flight between Japan and the United States.

Ash has taken over the monoplane City of Tacomina, which was left here last year by Harold L. Bromley, Canadian flier, after he failed in attempts at a trans-Pacific flight.

The monoplane, renamed the Pacific, is being reconditioned. Ash's father lives at Enfield, Hartford, Conn.

Honduras, Nicaragua Rebel Forces Related

MEXICO CITY, April 20.—(A.P.)—Belief that the revolution in Honduras is related with the operations of the insurgents under Augustino Sandino in Nicaragua gained ground to-day among observers of Central American politics here.

It was pointed out in Mexico's large colony of Central American students and political refugees that General Gregorio Ferrera, head of the revolutionary movement in Honduras, is a pronounced enemy of American intervention activities, sharing Sandino's views in this regard.

Ferrera was in Mexico a year ago and is well known here. He is of pure Indian blood and has a large following among the laborers of the large American banana plantations of the north coast of Honduras.

PLAY BOARDS PRESENTED TO WAR VETERANS

Presentation Made to Christie Street Hospital by Canadian Legion Delegation.

FROM CAMPBELLFORD.

Checker and Cribbage Boards Made By Skilled Hand of A. H. McKeel.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 20. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Thirteen years ago the World War ended and left behind it the wreckage of humanity which is always the aftermath of such events. Although completely dependent on the help and generosity of their country, these men are not forgotten by their more fortunate comrades, which was evidenced on Sunday at the Christie Street Hospital, Toronto, when a delegation from the Campbellford Branch No. 103, Canadian Legion B.E.S.L. paid a friendly visit to the hospital and made a presentation of six checker boards and six cribbage boards with twenty decks of playing cards for the use of the patients.

This delegation, which was headed by Major J. M. Byott, consisted of A. H. McKeel, Dr. O. C. Watson, W. R. Ryder, A. G. Thompson, J. McEachern, E. H. Armstrong, T. Dutton, G. C. Bromley, T. Pope and E. H. Lewis.

The responsibility of the gift to the hospital was with Mr. McKeel who made the boards and arranged for the presentation. He has put much time and energy this winter in the preparation and completion of this task and the result justified his action. In making the presentation to F. Butson, Pension Secretary for the Provincial Command and A. N. Reily, Y.M.C.A. representative in the hospital, who received the gifts in the absence of the commanding officer, Mr. McKeel said that if the men could take as much pleasure out of the gifts as he had had in making them he was more than satisfied. He spoke in glowing terms of praise of the fine response that he had received from the citizens of Campbellford in every effort he had made on behalf of the returned men, declaring that they were people who were filled with the spirit of patriotism.

Erected Memorials

Major Bygott, in a few words, spoke of the splendid work that had been done by Mr. McKeel on behalf of the ex-serviceman, especially in the erection of two war memorials, one on the Alnwick Indian Reserve at Alderville and one at Trent River.

Receiving the presentation Mr. Reily stated that a better choice for a gift could not have been made, to which Mr. Butson agree, thanking Mr. Keel and the delegation for their kindness and thought. They regretted the fact, they said, that

5,000 WORKLESS HEAR HARANGUES

Communists in Winnipeg Denounce City Police, Premier and Mayor.

WANT SOVIET TRADE.

WINNIPEG, Man., April 20 (C.P.)—Five thousand of Winnipeg's unemployed crowded Market Square Sunday to hear speeches denouncing Canada's Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett; Mayor Ralph Webb of Winnipeg and City Police officials.

The clash between unemployed and demonstrators and policemen last Wednesday, during the Dominion-wide workless demonstrations, was the subject of the orators who berated the police for its "terrorism." Order prevailed throughout, as Communist leaders denounced all and sundry who link themselves with the "capitalists."

Every speaker strongly opposed the embargo placed by Premier Bennett's Government on Russian goods. "Smash the embargo against the Soviet regime," was the keynote of the addresses.

Mayor Webb was showered with criticism for his efforts to have all Communist agitators deported. "Before Mayor Webb deports us, we'll put him back into the ocean upon which he was born," cried one orator.

Banners carried by the members of the crowd read—"1914 heroes, 1931 vagrants," and "Fight against capitalism's militarist."

WINTER RETURNS TO PRAIRIE LAND

Temperature Drops and Blizzards Rage in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

SEVERAL DUST STORMS.

WINNIPEG, Man., April 20 (C.P.).—High winds, with snow flurries in some localities, brought winter back to the West during the week-end.

Across the prairie provinces there was a sharp drop in temperatures, with snow reported from Alberta and Saskatchewan areas, while high winds swept the Western districts of Manitoba.

In the southern areas of Saskatchewan there were dust storms, while in the western part of the province snow was reported. Dust storms held away to the east of Regina.

Alberta reported the mercury several points below the freezing line on Sunday night. Blizzards raged in the High River and Calgary districts, but the snow was not heavy.

At Medicine Hat the wind reached a velocity of 35 miles an hour, accompanied by flurries of snow. Heavy snow was reported from Castor, with the wind building up drifts three feet high.

Blonde Wrecks Beauty Parlors

NEW YORK, N.Y., April 20.—A 22 year old blonde hiding behind the anonymity of "Mary Smith, stood embattled before Magistrate August Dreyer and told she wrecked a Broadway beauty parlor Friday.

"Look at me," she cried. "I'm a blonde. I asked to have my eyelashes trimmed, my brows arched, and for face treatment. They blackened my eyebrows. My face burned. My brows didn't arch. Why should I go into the street looking like a clown. They promised to do it over again. I waited 20 minutes and got no attention."

The court suggested mildly that the proper course would have been to sue the beauty parlor, took into consideration the indignant woman's night in jail and suspended sentence.

FIRE DESTROYED MONAGHAN HOME

Little Pumper of Johnson Motor Does Fine Work in Fighting the Blaze.

CITY FIREMEN CALLED.

A fire which completely gutted the residence of George Sage, Orpington Road, in North Monaghan, just outside of the city limits, and totalled a damage of same $5,000 broke out on Saturday morning.

A call was immediately sent in to the local Fire Department and many volunteers were on hand to aid the firemen. Arrived at the scene of the fire which then had spread to every part of the house and was mounting in flames, it was discovered that the fire had started in the garage at the rear of the house. However, the occupants of the house had time to remove their household effects.

A new Johnson motor pump was used to pump the water, and this little pumper did wonderful work. Through 1,650 feet of hose and a 2-inch nozzle the pumper forced out water at the rate of 155 gallons a minute with a pressure of 175 pounds. Besides this some 300 feet of chemical hose were used, a 35-gallon chemical tank, and a three-gallon tank. However, the flames had made such headway that the incessant labor of the firemen was of no avail.

Bit by bit the fire-fighters lost their ground, and gradually the building settled down to a blackened mass of ruins, with only the pump left standing in the middle.

Fortunately the household effects were all safely removed and so the loss was confined to the buildings.

PORTUGESE WIN OVER INSURGENTS

Gov't Forces Move to Re-establish Authority in Funchal, Madeira.

PANTA DELGADA GIES UP.

LISBON, Porugal, Apr. 20. —(AP) —Victor in a bloodless battle with revolutionaries in the Azores Islands the Government moved today to re-establish its authority in Funchal, Madeira, where a rebel Junta has been in control for more than a fortnight.

The fishing trawlers Portugal, Joao Gualdino, Azvedo Gomes, and Maria Cristina, all fitted with big guns, were ready to sail for Madeira today to aid in tightening the blockade about the islands and starve out the rebels.

Two destroyers also had steam up and the steamship Carvalho Arajuo was being transformed at the arsenal into an emergency auxiliary cruiser to aid in a determined effort to bring the island capital back under the home Government's rule.

Not a Shot Fired

The Azores victory was accomplished without firing a shot. The Government boats threatened the island ports one by one and they capitulated. Portuguese troops entered the cities and were said in a Government communique to have been received with acclaim by residents.

The garrison at Ponta Delgada, capital of Sao Miguel, further most east of the Azores, surrendered at 5 a.m. Sunday after their leaders had stolen away in the steamer Pero de Alenquer, which they requisitioned, to the Canary Islands. Portuguese warships pursued the fugitive vessel. Ponta Delgada was the last of the rebel strongholds in the Azores to capitulate.

The island of Fayal, on which Horta is located, alone of the larger islands did not join the revolt in the Azores.

Austria plans to spend yearly $71,000,000 on social welfare this year.

TWO LOSE LIVES BATTLING FIRES TO SAVE HOMES

Blazes Flare Out in Three Untouched Counties in Wisconsin.

125 HOMELESS.

One Village Razed and Thousands of Acres of Timber Destroyed.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 20.— A wave of fire that swept across Northern Wisconsin and Upper Michigan destroying one village, burning two woodsmen to death, razing thousands of acres of timber and cut over lands, and making 125 persons homeless, subsided today.

Soaking rains in the northwestern part of Wisconsin quelled several fires and dying winds curbed most of the others. Blazes continued to flare menacingly, however, in three Michigan counties untouched by fires. Flames roared into Tipler, Wis., as residents fled the doomed village. Only seven dwellings and the school house remain. Property damage was estimated by village officials at more than $300,000. The women and children were taken to neighboring towns.

Charles Dryden, 45, and Louis Bruun, 50, both of Morse, Wis., lost their lives as they fought fires near there.

In the Michigan peninsula serious blazes still burned in Menominee, Iron and Dickinson Counties. Near Hermansville, Nathan, Nadeau and Randville, more than 1,000 men were on duty fighting fires.

FALLS OFF LOCKS FRACTURES SKULL

Arthur Leal, 44, Unconscious for Three Days in St. Joseph's Hospital.

FELL 14 FEET.

Unconscious for two days with a fractured skull, Arthur Leal, 44, of 179 Bethune street, lies in St. Joseph's Hospital as result of an accident late Friday night, in which he fell from the locks at the end of Morrow street.

Leal fell 14 feet from the top of the locks upon the cement base and stones beneath, suffering a fractured skull and other injuries. He was fishing and was in the act of walking across a piece of board from one of the lock piers to another, when he fell.

Louis Thompson, 5 Wilson avenue, saw Leal fall and went to his assistance. Help was summoned, but it was only with extreme difficulty that the sorely injured man was lifted out of his position and taken to hospital.

Dr. F. J'Reilly and Dr. F. P. McNulty are attending him, and some hope was expressed to-day of his recovery, although he remains unconscious.

Thinking Men invest in Life Insurance

IN years gone by, man sought independence for himself and family by diligently saving part of his earnings and gradually accumulating a "nest-egg" to provide for old age, death or other eventuality.

Today, thinking men reverse the procedure. They first create an estate, with the aid of Life Insurance, and then pay for it out of income. These men regard Life Insurance as the most important of all investments—one which immediately guarantees protection for loved ones, education for the children and independence in later years.

What other investment offers so much?

By owning Life Insurance you can have the confidence that comes from having certain definite resources behind you—reserve funds that you can depend on for future needs. And Life Insurance encourages systematized saving — the foundation of success.

Think what your financial position will be ten or twenty years from now. Then ask a Life Insurance Representative to assist you in planning independence for yourself and family.

deep water port between Kingston and Toronto, serving all central Ontario, and providing a year-round base for the twice-daily Canadian National car and passenger ferries between Canada and the United States. The people of Cobourg are vitally interested in the development of the St. Lawrence deep waterway and I am anxiously waiting any announcement by the right hon. the Prime Minister (Mr. Bennett) regarding this great and necessary undertaking.

I believe the people who elected me expected that I would make myself heard in this house both in the interest of my county and in the interest of this great Dominion, not as a narrow partisan but as a sincere Canadian citizen, endeavouring in his humble way to serve them and his county, to the best of his ability. This I intend to do according to my judgment.

I have followed with keen interest the proceedings of this house and the policies of this government, both here and in London. I have endeavoured at the same time to keep in touch with the people of my riding, and I can say most emphatically to this house that they are waiting for the Prime Minister to fulfil his many election promises. This, I believe he knows to his sorrow is beyond his capabilities to do. As a representative of the people, I believe it is my duty to assist if it is within my power to improve the conditions in Canada, and with this honest purpose in view, I submit for the consideration of this house my thoughts regarding our future. I believe we should have at this time definite suggestions to place before the administration for consideration and that wise counsels should prevail.

I disclaim any special knowledge of statesmanship, but with some knowledge of both business and public matters, I cannot see why the affairs of this country should not be conducted exactly as successful business is administered.

Trade With Britain

First, Mr. Speaker, I submit the greatest possibilities for trade expansion lie with Great Britain, and that the surest, safest and most logical place for us to concentrate our efforts, in peace as in war, is with the empire. Our policy should not be Canada alone, but Canada leading the way within the British commonwealth of nations for the advancement and security of all on which our welfare depends; in this way Canada can be first A most illustrious citizen, speaking at a Canadian Club banquet in London, said that Canada was the cornerstone on which rests the great edifice of the empire. In this I fully agree. Let us live up to this position and make the edifice the greatest structure this word has ever known.

In this way, and in this way alone, can we promote our Canadian interests in trade and commerce and make sure the safety of our future. In this way we develop markets with 450,000,000 people for our surplus agricultural and manufactured products; we will have our trade lanes protected by Great Britain, and we will be doing as much business as possible with the people on whom, in my opinion, will in the future depend the very existence of civilization as we know it. Canada, situated as it is, extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific, lying in the path of empire progress, with its great railway systems, vast natural resources, industrial centres, wonderful agricultural expansion and undaunted man power, must blaze the way.

No Faith In Blasting

Having had to make my living in business, I do not believe business can be done by blasting. I never blasted myself into a single order in twenty years, and never tried. Blasting only results in retaliation. I am a firm believer in the principle that business is done for mutual advantage. It is much easier to do business with friends than with strangers, and we generally do our utmost by friendly relations and the quality of our goods to increase our business with our best customers, especially when selling them twice as much as we buy from them. Business is a matter of give and take; nations are only collective individuals, and sometimes you have to give more for the present to get more in the future. It is poor business to antagonize your best customers and seldom, if ever, can you have all your own way. After all, the giving and taking must be pretty well balanced.

Never were trade relations between corporations and individuals maintained over a period of years except by cordial understandings ,plus mutual profit. I would like to quote, with commendation, the words of the Acting Minister of Japan, who, addressing the Canadian trade deelgation at a farewell dinner in Tokyo a few months ago, said, in part:

> Friendship is a greater thing than trade. Without it the springs of trade will be frozen. Trade can thrive only in a genial atmosphere of mutual good feeling, and friendship rests on knowledge.

The Prime Minister is a very able lawyer and has much to do with big business, but I doubht if he has had anything to do with actual salesmanship.

Let us take stock of Britain, the customer who bought $281,838,000 of products from us last year and sold us $189,180,000 worth. Britain, during the period of 1914 to 1919, stood the brunt of the world war, in which she suffered more than any other country. She sacrificed the flower of her manhood; she lost most of her foreign trade; she lost a large part of her shipping; she financed her allies and she is paying her war debts. Other countries, to supply the needs of their people previously supplied by Britain, built industries, many of them not adapted to the country in normal times, and they have since endeavored to protect them with high tariff walls. The United States, with war profits and nearly forty per cent. of the world's gold, a country over-industrialized, took advantage of Britain's position to make a drive to expand her foreign trade before the motherland could recover.

Where does Britain stand to-day? Last year Britain's overseas trade amounted to nine billion dollars — greater than any country except the United States, and greater than the United States in manufactured products. She built 35 per cent of the world's ships, and carried nearly 50 per cent of the world's shipping. She increased her foreign investments by over a billion dollars and she developed at home the most efficient industrial system in the world. She has less unemployment pro rata than that high protected country the United States, and had a favorable trade balance of $195,000,000. Far from being decadent, as the Hon. Howard Ferguson will learn, she is fast regaining her pre-war position.

When Britain succeeds, Canada succeeds. Britain is a trading nation, and while we need her as a consumer she is also necessary to us as a broker to resell our surplus, manufactured or otherwise. She is a clearing house for our products on the markets of the world, and more so now than in the past.

Barriers That Menace Trade

World conditions are changing. The importance of Russia as a competitor is becoming more serious. As so well stated by His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales when opening the British industrial exhibition at Buenos Aires, artificial trade barriers which are a menace to commerce to-day must be modified and the world economic system must be readjusted. Let us get together with Britain, before she is forced into further trade treaties with European and other foreign countries by our foolish Canada-alone policy, with its blasting methods which have made it more impossible for her to do business with us, and join the other dominions in working out the possibilities of increasing our trade within the empire, so there can be control for the benefit of the whole, even if it hurts in spots.

I submit for the consideration of this government for the adjourned Imperial economic conference the following proposal: that a non-political empire trade council be formed, comprising the following members from Britain and each dominion: one government representative, one outstanding industrialist, one outstanding financier, one prominent agriculturist, one outstanding economist, one outstanding transport man, and one outstanding labor representative, to study the foreign trade of their respective countries and the possibilities of encouraging the exchange of commodities with other parts of the empire; the council to meet in London within twelve months, to draft recommendations to include tariff readjustments, trade treaties, and other arrangements that they consider will further develop empire trade.

There is something like $14,000,000,000 of trade annually within the British Empire. Britain has the same right to determine her policy as Canada has. The Prime Minister knows we cannot dictate the course she is to follow; she knows her business better than we do, but she will welcome sane, reciprocal trade considerations as will our sister dominions. Britain protects our ocean trade lanes and the empire has a great world responsibility at this time.

Use Canadian Ports

I submit for the consideration of the government that a thorough investigation be made to devise ways and means of diverting a greater percentage of our overseas trade through Canadian ports. Last year $206,163,170, or 34 per cent of our overseas exports, and $9,849,889 of our imports, were handled by United States ports. Canada has excellent port facilities on both the Atlantic and the Pacific where millions of dollars have been invested. Railway rates should be so adjusted as to divert the traffic through these gateways instead of through United States ports. If this is done, it will certainly help to solve the problem of unemployment. Our railways are laying off men. They need the traffic, our terminal men require this work, and the sooner Canadian freight is handled by Canadians in Canada, the sooner will more of our people find employment. The Canadian railways should increase their proportion of through freight rates with United States railways. I submit to the Minister of Railways and Canals that is one of the most important policies in connection with the transportation problem in the Dominion of Canada. It is absolutely necessary for Canada to find markets for her products, and to increase her foreign trade in order to cure unemployment. This can best be accomplished within the empire, with the assistance and co-operation of Britain. The influence and benefit of trade must be considered fairly in all its ramifications, and not only from a manufacturing viewpoint. The handling of imports as well as exports provides work and increases business, and in same cases much more labor is employed in handling imported commodities from the seaboard to the consumer than would be used to manufacture the same commodities in Canada. The use of Canadian raw materials and the amount of labor employed should be the yardstick of tariff protection.

I am going to issue on the floor of the house a warning in connection with protetction. If the manufacturers of Canada seek and procure increased protection from the government, then the government—and this thought applies to every administration—should procure from the protected manufacturers the assurance that they will consider and put into practice the purchase of Canadian materials for every branch of their operation. Protected Canadian manufacturers should realize that the responsibility lies with them to protect and to give Canadian labor every advantage of their protection. In this I mean not only the labor that is employed in turning out their own product, but the Canadian labor that is employed or that it is possible to employ in the production of every article that is used in their industry. My contention is that many Canadian manufacturers are free traders when they are purchasing the materials that enter into the products of their factories and protectionists when they are selling the products of those factories to the Canadian public. I am not making in this house statements that I am not in a position to verify and I state emphatically that the perspective of many Canadian manufacturers is narrow and selfish; it is anti-Canadian and diametrically opposed to the policy they themselves advocate. They wish to help with employment, if they can use men profitably in their own industry, but they do not give a thought to the number of Canadians who could obtain work if they purchased as much Canadian material as possible on equal terms from other Canadian manufacturers and producers.

I agree with the Prime Minister that this is a time for action; it is a time for sane, logical and consistent action. The republic to the south of us has made it harder and harder for us to get the products of our farms and factories into their country, yet the Canadian manufacturers continue to play into the hands of United States industry. Like the Prime Minister I feel it is a time for plain speaking and clear thinking as to the economic policy of this country and its political effect, particularly as regards Great Britain and the empire of which we are proud to form a part. First let us put our own house in order, then let us strengthen the empire so we can in part, and as a whole, formulate a policy that will promote the interests of the British commonwealth of nations, if necessary against the rest of the world.

Confidence in Canada

In conclusion, Mr. Speaker, unemployment will cease only when our trade increases. I have endeavoured to place before this house three definite ways in which employment of labour in Canada can be increased. Within the empire we have every product and commodity that is required by the people of the empire to trade. Britain is a naturally industrial and trading country; Canada has vast resources but is immature, and will naturally be so for many years to come until our population is capable of consuming a greater proportion of the product of our industries and until our population is so distributed as to lessen the distances that exist between populated centres. Our policies will have to be worked out slowly. No one has more confidence in the future of Canada than I, but we are not quite in a position to dictate to Great Britain what she shall do, and certainly we should not attempt it as long as we rely on the British navy to protect our overseas commerce. I believe in Canada as being all-important in service and strength to the empire. Our population is made up of descendants of the two great peoples of the world, the British and the French, and we are capable of leading the way within the empire. The union of the United States on one side and the progress of Soviet Russia on the other is forcing an economic alliance of the countries of Europe. A lowering of trade restrictions between the countries of Europe will mean a further decrease of Canadian trade with these countries. As a Canadian citizen and a member of this house I state emphatically that it is the essential duty of this government to have ready to submit at the economic conference to be held in Ottawa this coming summer, definite proposals that will be acceptable to Great Britain and the other parts of the empire, for the increase of trade within ourselves.

I submit that the Prime Minister will have to change the attitude he adopted at the London conference and I suggest that he adopt the attitude of the Hon. Charles Dunning when he said, in part:

> "We do not intend to meet the other countries of the British commonwealth of nations in a spirit of petty bargaining, but rather in a broad spirit of willingness to become in ever increasing measure good customers to those who treat us in like manner. This is the spirit in which we desire to meet all nations, but we believe that within the British commonwealth of nations lies the greatest measure of opportunity for development of trade, because of our common heritage kindled institutions and a common patriotism."

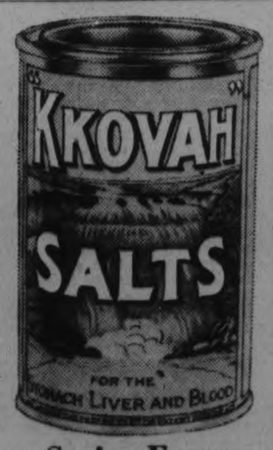
A man who considers his own interest and his own interest alone, seldom succeeds; never over the long run, and it is not otherwise with nations.

With all the emphasis that I can express I desire to say that it is the bounden obligation of the present government to make sure that the economic conference to be held in Ottawa during the coming summer will be productive of ways and means whereby we can solidify the British Empire in trade as well as in sentiment.

HOW TO GET RELIEF FROM CATARRH

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness, or head noises, go to your druggist and get 1 oz. of Parmint (Double Strength); take this home, add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take a tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to make, tastes pleasant, and costs little. Every one who has catarrh should give this treatment a trial. You will probably find it is just what you need.



Spring Fever

is that "tired feeling" brought about by clogged intestines. A teaspoonful of Kkovah Salts before breakfast will remove the waste and help to tone up your whole system. Try it—20c a tin at all druggists and grocers.

Efficiency League Meets At Trent River

Mrs. Bonney Conducts Topic on Easter at Havelock Meeting.

TRENT RIVER, April 20 (Examiner Correspondence). — The Efficiency League held their weekly meeting on Friday night at the church, with Rev. W. R. Archer in charge of the opening exercises. The hymns, "Listen to the voice of Jesus" and "I am so glad," were rung and Rev. Mr. Archer led in prayer, followed by the Scripture reading. George Armstrong supplied as secretary for the meeting, and after the reading of the minutes Mr. Archer announced a play, "The Road Back" to be given by Havelock talent on Friday night, April 24, at Havelock, and proposed that the Trent River League meet on Thursday night for this week to allow anyone from Trent River to attend the play. A collection will be taken up at the Thursday night League meeting.

On Friday night, May 1st, Trent River League and Rush Point League meet at Havelock United Church for a literary and social night. Isaac Lawson as leader of missionary night had charge of the following program: Mr. Lawson gave a short address on Missions; Rev. W. R. Archer spoke briefly on Jack Miner and His Birds; reading, Miss Marion Inkster; vocal duet, Mesdames Thomas Doupe and Gordon Shearer; the first reading of the League paper, "Echoes of the Efficiency League," was read under the various headings—editorials, poets' corner, and jokes—by Miss Bessie Inkster; instrumental on ukulele, by Fred Alley. Some discussion was taken up regarding the play, "Under the Laurels," which was to have been presented here before Easter but no action was taken in the matter. Rev. Mr. Archer conducted a tree contest, the khaki side winning. There were 51 in attendance at the meeting. The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

PLAY BOARDS PRESENTED TO WAR VETERANS

the O.C. was not present to welcome them but assured the Campbellford comrades that proper acknowledgement would be made.

An inspection of the hospital was made by the delegation, an official presentation being made in each ward by Major Bygott, the men through Mr. Reily thanking the comrades for their kindness.

The six cribbage boards measure four inches by thirteen, are supported on a rubber foot at each corner, and are trimmed in walnut, cherry wood and red cedar. The top comprises a hinged lid which lifts up and reveals space inside for two decks of cards and a receptacle for the tally pins. The holes for the tally pins are made from the eyelet tags of shoes, three of the boards being done in red and the other three black.

The checker boards are sixteen inches square and like the cribbage boards are supported on rubber feet. Three of them are inlaid in walnut and white wood, while the other three are white wood inlaid with red cedar. The tops of these boards are glassed, giving them a perfect finish. On the side is inlet a drawer for storing the pieces.

Skill of Craftsman

Both checker and cribbage boards are all hand inlay and show the skill of the master craftsman. Perfectly finished and exact in every detail Mr. McKeel has not only put much time and endless skill into their making, but has shown by their perfect finish the love he had in performing the task that would bring so much joy to the hearts of those who the war has deprived of much of the fun in life. All boards are equipped with two markers, these being glass covered. In one are the words, "Made by Mr. A. H. McKeel of Campbellford and donated to the Christie Street Hospital." In the other marker is the inscription, "The property of the Christie Street Hospital, Toronto."

The glass for the checker boards was contributed by T. S. Tait and Son, local Campbellford merchants, and the tally pins were the gift of J. Jacobs. Those contributing decks of playing cards were: Dr. O. C. Watson, A. L. Riendeau, A. J. Meyers, ex-Mayor of Campbellford; A. D. Bennett, Dr. H. O. Richardson, Major J. M. Bygott, Capt. George H. Free, Captain A. G. Thompson, F. N. Brown, Fowlds and Son, J. Ernest Birk, Major A. T. Linton, James Watters, G. A. Ironside, president of the Campbellford Branch of the Legion; L. J. Stoven, Joe McArthur, Rev. N. Clarke Wallace, vice-president of the Campbellford Branch; N. Alex MacColl and W. R. Ryder.

Much to His Credit.

Mr. McKeel is a well-known citizen of Campbellford, being an ex-Reeve of the town, and by trade a contractor. During and since the war he has worked actively for the soldier, and from the time of the Armistice has put all his efforts in furthering the cause of the returned men. For his work along this line he was made an honorary member of the Campbellford Branch No. 103, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., and as a member of that organization has done much to help the cause. The building of a beautiful glass panelled cupboard for the local headquarters of the Legion and the donation of hand-made cribbage and checker boards are among the many deeds to his credit.

Two outstanding services that Mr McKeel has rendered are the erection of two war memorials, one at Trent Bridge and the other on the Alnwick Indian Reserve at Alderville. The memorial at Trent River which was unveiled on August 26, 1923, to the memory of Private Richard Oliver of that place, the only one to lose his life during the World War, was planned by Mr. McKeel, who also superintended the work on it, being ably assisted by the residents of the community. The war shrine at Alderville was erected to commemorate the 33 Indians who enlisted from the Alnwick Band and the nine who gave their lives in the service of their country.

Mr. McKeel and his son submitted plans for this memorial in 1923, which after some delay were sanctioned by the Government, when its erection was carried forward and completed in September, 1927. Clarence McKeel had the honor of unveiling this monument, which was the first Indian war memorial to be erected and unveiled in the Dominion of Canada. So pleased were the Alderville people with the work of Mr. McKeel and his son Clarence that at a subsequent banquet given at that place in their honor they were each presented with a gold watch in token of the appreciation of the Alderville people for the erection of the memorial.

A feature of the delegation was the presence of Thomas Pope, who is a veteran of the North-West Rebellion.

How To Lose Fat and Get That Youthful Feeling

Over in Great Britain when a man is feeling "as fit as a fiddle" and looking the "picture of health" they say:

"HE'S GOT THAT KRUSCHEN FEELING."

That means he takes his little dose of Kruschen Salts every morning.

It's the same in the U.S.A.—in Germany—in Holland—in Australia—in South Africa, for Kruschen Salts are now sold the world over.

Kruschen Salts is not one salt only—it is the combination of six salts necessary to healthy life.

Take half a teaspoon in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning, modify your diet and exercise regularly.

But don't miss a morning, for Kruschen not only puts and keeps the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels in a splendid healthy condition, but purifies your blood-stream, and sends new life and activity to every part of your body.

SOCIALIST PAPER IN CORNER STONE

Elderly Mason Confesses Placing Propaganda in Liverpool Cathedral in 1904.

SNOWDEN IN SECRET.

LONDON, April 20. (AP)—Posterity—probably a very remote posterity—has been robbed of a surprise by the confession of an elderly stone mason that before King Edward laid the foundation stone of the Liverpool Cathedral in 1904 he placed beneath it a sealed metal box containing socialist newspapers and propaganda.

Socialism in those days was regarded far less "respectable" than now when it is the avowed creed of His Majesty's ministers and a large section of the nation, and the action of the stonemason, Fred Bower by name, would have brought a shock of horror had it been known.

According to Bower, if some day, the cathedral is demolished there will be found under the corner stone besides documents and coins laid there officially in accordance with tradition ,some socialist pamphlets, in one of which are the words:

"This church was erected to commemorate the work of the unemployed carpenter, Jesus Christ, yet within its shadow there are slums unfit to house pigs. These will pass away in the light of education and you will be living in a better England through the efforts of us who are dead and gone."

Bower rounds out his story by saying that he told Philip Snowden, present Chancellor of the Exchequer, at the time what he had done and Snowden urged him to keep it secret until several tons of granite covered the box. Otherwise, Snowden said, the authorities would have it unearthed. He has followed Snowden's advice until now.

Hydro Men Battle With Grass Fires

HASTINGS, April 20.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—A party of Hydro surveyors who are staking out one of the power lines through Asphodel township have been busily engaged since Saturday afternoon in fighting fire in woods on J. W. Oakley's farm in Asphodel township. On Saturday it was thought that the fire was about out but the blaze on Sunday morning started up again and the fire fighters worked Sunday afternoon and on Sunday night believed they had again checked its advance.

PAINFUL PILES

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt's prescription — HEM-ROID —to end itching, bleeding, protruding piles. This internal remedy acts quickly even in old, stubborn cases. HEM-ROID succeeds because it heals and restores the affected parts and removes blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why salves and cutting fail. McDermid & Jury, Bond's Drug Store says HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back.

POLICE ARREST YOUNG HUSBAND FOR KIDNAPPING HEIRESS WIFE

Co-ed's Ruse of Leaving Notes Along Route Leads to Party's Capture.

TWO OTHERS HELD.

MADISON, Wis., April 20. (CP)—A 20 year old youth, Harry Hamilton Drill, son of a St. Paul, Minn., attorney, and two companions were held in jail to-day accused of kidnapping Drill's co-ed heiress wife, Helen Fisher Drill, 19, in New York.

Left Notes

A ruse of the wife led to the arrest of Drill, Harold Cadiwell, 20 and Elmer Peterson, 27, also of St. Paul.

Along the way she left penciled notes telling of her plight, one of them scrawled on a paper towel in a La Porte, Ind., filling station, resulted in the arrests.

It read:—

"Have been kidnapped. Please inform—(name withheld by authorities)—of Port Richmond, N.Y. Next stop Park Hotel, Madison. They sent my clothes there."

She left the water running in the washroom so an attendant would be certain to find the note. The message was found and relayed to Sheriff F. T. Finn here. The men were arrested at an hotel. Finn said Caldwell and Peterson confessed complicity in the affair. The husband was evasive and after a long distance telephone call to his father said he would fight extradition.

Missing Since Thursday

The young wife, missing from her New York apartment since Thursday, said she was forced into an automobile owned by a Columbia University student, transferred to another car and compelled to come west with her husband and his companions.

The brief and periodic matrimonial adventures of the couple have been stormy, the girl told Finn. A divorce is pending between the pair, already remarried after the first marriage was annualled.

Two Broken Ribs Prove Argument

CHICAGO, Ill., April 20 (C.P.).—The perils of police work formed the subject matter of the conversation Sergeant Thomas Maloney was having last night with a friend as he sat at his desk in a police station.

"Policemen are," he said, "in constant danger. Our profession is the most hazardous in the world."

"Fiddlesticks," interjected his listener.

"Yes, sir," the sergeant went on. "It's a dangerous business. Fortunately I have escaped harm, I've never been shot, kicked by a horse and my gun has never failed, but all of these things could have happened."

To emphasize the word "could" he brought down his fist with a bang. There was a crash as his chair gave way, and he fell to the floor, winning the argument with two fractured ribs.

VAGABOND SAVES YOUNG LAD'S LIFE

Pulls One Youth From River But Fails to Get Second in Time.

DISAPPEARS IN CROWD.

WAUSAU, Wis., April 20 (C.P.). — Unsung, a vagabond walked the railroad ties into Wausau yesterday. Bright and sunshiney, it was a good day to be on the road.

Two boys, Norman Knox, 7, and a playmate, inveigled by near-summer weather, decided to take a swim in the Wisconsin River near the tracks. The vagabond heard a scream. He rushed to the river, calling for help as he ran. He dived in, dragged one boy ashore, and went back into the water. Policeman Empy arrived and followed the stranger. Between them they pulled the Knox boy ashore. But he was dead.

As a crowd gathered and started to sing praises of the unidentified vagabond, he slipped out and disappeared down the tracks in his wet rags. It was a good day to be on the road.

Police Capture Slayer After Exchange of Shots in Philadelphia.

CONFESSION MADE.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 20. — Two men were shot to death by a companion early to-day in the Manayunk section of the city. Their slayer was captured by police after an exchange of shots. The slain men were Vincent Ventre, 49, and Antonio Begossi.

Antonio Lei, 40, who police say admitted firing the shots, was captured by a policeman who heard the shots.

After questioning Lei, detectives said they believe the shooting culminated a "black hand" feud and attempt to extort money from Lei.

James Perri was arrested and held for questioning after police learned the three men had spent last night drinking at his home in West Manayunk.

BEER BY THE GLASS.

The finance committee of the Windsor City Council has unanimously passed a resolution favoring the sale of beer by the glass in hotels and restaurants throughout the Province.

A similar resolution passed by the East Windsor Council has been going the rounds of municipal councils, practically all of which have merely shelved the proposition.

The border authorities might just as well abandon this campaign to bring about the sale of beer by the glass.

There is no general demand in Ontario for the restoration of conditions approaching those existing in the days of the open bar, and it is safe to say that few municipal councils in the Province will waste a moment in discussing the Windsor proposals.

The support given the beer-by-the-glass idea in Windsor suggests that that community perhaps hopes to benefit through its proximity to Detroit were such authorized.

It is apparently the feeling that the opportunity to buy intoxicating beverages would bring thousands of thirsty Detroiters over the border that has led to the passing of this particular resolution, but there are many people who think that Windsor would be making a bad bargain in inviting traffic of that nature.

In the long run the Border Cities would find itself sorry that the doors had ever been thrown open.

SHOULD BE SUPPORTED.

Sportsmen and nature lovers of Canada doubtless noticed with regret that in the main estimates submitted to Parliament last week there was no mention of a grant toward the maintenance of Jack Miner's celebrated bird sanctuary at Kingsville.

The famous naturalist who established his sanctuary in 1904 and who has carried it on ever since at the cost of thousands of dollars of his own money, received little state assistance until two years ago when the Federal Government gave Mr. Miner a grant of $5,000, which was renewed last year.

It is to be hoped that the absence of any grant for this purpose in Mr. Bennett's estimates was an oversight, and that there is no intention of neglecting Mr. Miner's work, which is undoubtedly a national asset.

Thousands of dollars is spent each year, and rightly spent, in the payment of game wardens' salaries for the protection of birds and game, but it is doubtful whether all this expenditure means more from the viewpoint of conservation than does the Miner sanctuary where huge numbers of wild ducks, geese and swans are protected and cared for each year.

Again the institution is one of the greatest attractions for tourists that this country possesses, and it is surely not fair that Mr. Miner and his family should have to meet all the expense of its upkeep, including the hiring of extra men who are needed from time to time.

When it is remembered that the United States has voted millions of dollars for the establishment of sanctuaries based on the Miner plan, Canada should not object to paying a modest $5,000 a year toward this most valuable conservation work.

THE ANNIVERSARY OF YPRES.

This week witnesses the sixteenth anniversary of the Second Battle of Ypres, the engagement in which the Canadian Expeditionary Force fought its first major action, and in which it displayed a sheer fighting course in the face of great odds that was typical of the men of the Maple Leaf throughout the long months of the war.

Although sixteen years have rolled by, the details of that glorious stand of the Canadians are still fresh in memory.

It is well to recall them to-day, to remember the launching by the Germans of the first great gas attack, the overwhelming of the French native troops holding the line to the left of the Canadian battalions, thus creating a gap that left the channel ports open to the enemy, the hurried rush of the Canadian reserve battalions to block the path, and then the bulldog resistance of Canada's division against the grey-clad hordes.

Sir John French, in his official dispatch following the battle, declared that "the gallantry and determination of the Canadians saved the situation," and the full story of what happened in front of Ypres in those April days of 1915 more than confirms that outstanding tribute to the valor of the Dominion's troops.

The anniversary of the 2nd Battle of Ypres should always, The Examiner believes, be observed in this country because it marks the date of the battle in which the Canadian Expeditionary found itself and began a record that terminated with the corps regarded as the finest shock troops on the Western Front.

AN EXPLANATION NEEDED.

A matter brought to the attention of Parliament by C. B. Howard, one of the Quebec Liberal members, last week deserves a more explicit explanation than has hitherto been given.

Mr. Howard declared that by an order-in-Council passed in December the value of imported fruit trees was changed for duty purposes from 3 cents to 30 cents a tree.

As a result a distributor of such trees who took orders for a large number last summer for delivery this spring and who ordered two car-loads from American nurseries found that instead of having to pay $664.28 duty as he expected was called upon to pay $3,472.12, while the trees themselves cost him $1,179.06.

When duties are suddenly raised there are bound to be injustices, and this particular agent seems to have run foul of a very bad piece of luck.

But his predicament was not the most serious feature of Mr. Howard's complaint.

It seems that last year the distributor was able to buy trees from a Canadian firm at 12 cents a tree, but since the order-in-Council was passed in December the price has climbed to 23 cents a tree, and three different Canadian firms have quoted that figure.

If there are plenty of such trees available in Canada many people will agree that it is good business to keep similar products from other countries being dumped in here.

Canadian nursery men should, however, play the game—given possession of the home market they should not seek to exploit it.

If the facts are as stated Mr. Howard was justified in condemning Canadian growers for having increased their prices by almost 70 per cent. during the past year.

If the increases are the result of the change in the value for duty of imported trees it is up to the Government, in view of its explicit promise, to withdraw the increased protection unless there is a readjustment more favorable to the consumer.

NO INJURY, NO DAMAGES.

Many years ago a newspaper in this city inadvertently admitted to its columns a letter satirizing one of the parties to a court proceeding that had attracted a great deal of public attention. Action for damages for libel was brought.

When the case came to trial, the defendant newspaper, at the beginning of its defence, put in a copy of an issue in which the inadvertence was explained and a very handsome apology made.

The "exhibit" was handed up to the judge. He read the explanation and apology very carefully. Speaking to the plaintiff, he said: "I should advise you to accept this as I do not think you will get anything more here."

The plaintiff's lawyer terminated the proceedings then and there, costs being arranged for by agreement with counsel for the other side.

* * * *

What brings this old Vancouver case to mind again is one that has just been tried in Ontario with somewhat similar results. Here again the libel was the result of sheer inadvertence and an apology had been published.

The defendant journal was the Whitby Gazette which in reporting a trial for theft of cattle gave the accused a wrong Christian name in a sub-heading. It happened that there was a man in the neighborhood of the same surname and really bearing the Christian name used. Somebody pointed the report out to him and he went to law.

The defence was able to show that the plaintiff had suffered no actual damage and had been eager to make out a case against the newspaper.

The jury found unanimously for the defendant, declaring the published apology was sufficient and recommending that the case be dismissed.

When the question of costs was raised, the judge, giving them against the plaintiff, said: "I am quite convinced he was out for law. I don't encourage any such conduct."

* * * *

Newspapers that bring unjustified and injurious allegations against people should, of course, be called to account. But it is comparatively seldom that a respectable newspaper does anything of the sort. Not only has it is own reputation for accuracy and impartiality to maintain, but the penalties may be very heavy.

It does sometimes happen that in the heat of a political campaign a newspaper will overstep the bounds of legitimate criticism and bring charges against a public man that result in a libel action. In such cases it is proper that the courts should inflict what are called exemplary damages.

Most newspaper libels, however, are really accidental. A mistake is made in a name, a witness is spoken of as the accused, or some similar slip is made by a reporter or headline writer working at top speed. Usually the newspaper is anxious to make all the amends possible and it is seldom that any real injury is sustained.

* * * *

As the cases cited show, the courts distinguish between what may be called technical libels and libels printed with deliberate purpose. More particularly do they discriminate between libels that have proved hurtful and libels that have not.

Above all, the judges are inclined to frown upon the plaintiff who "is out for law," finding in the casual error of a reporter or printer occasion to enrich himself at the cost of the proprietors of a newspaper who, in any event, were innocent of wish or intention to do the suitor harm.

The Whitby case is a warning to such plaintiffs that their rapacity may cost them dear, for the legal expenses of a suit for libel are usually no trifle.—Vancouver Sun.

TANAR OF PELLUCIDAR

BY

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Then slowly he made a circuit of the outer walls of the grotto, but only where the stream passed out at its far end was there any opening—a rough archway that rose some six feet above the surface of the underground stream.

Along one side was a narrow ledge and looking through the opening he saw a dim corridor leading away into the distance and obscurity. There being no other way in which to search for freedom Tanar passed along the narrow ledge beneath the archway to find himself in a tunnel that followed the windings of the stream. Only here and there small patches of rock that formed the walls and ceiling of the corridor threw out a luminosity that barely relieved the inky darkness of the place.

For what distance he followed the tunnel, Tanar did not know, but presently he came to a low and narrow opening through which he could pass only upon his hands and knees. Beyond, there seemed to be a much lighter chamber and as Tanar came into this, still upon all fours, a heavy body dropped upon his back from above and then another at each side of him and he felt cold, clammy claws seizing his arms and legs, and arms encircled his neck—arms that felt against his flesh like the arms of a corpse.

Tanar struggled but there were too many against him and in a moment he was disarmed and his ankles and wrists securely bound with tough thongs of rawhide. Then he was rolled over on his side and lay looking up into the horrid faces of Coripies, the Buried People of Amiocap.

The blank faces, the corpse-like skin, the bulging protuberances where the eyes would have been, the hairless bodies, the claw-like hands combined to produce such a hideous aspect in the monsters as to make the stoutest of heart to quail.

And when they spoke! The mumbled mouthing revealing yellow fangs withered the heart in the breast of the Sarian. Here, indeed, was a hideous end, for he knew that it was the end, since never in all the many tales the Amiocapians had told him of the Buried People was there any record of a human being escaping from their clutches.

Now they were addressing him and presently, in the hollow mewing, he discerned words. "How did you get into the land of the Coripies?" demanded one.

"I fell into a hole in the ground," replied Tanar. "I did not seek to come here. Take me out and I will reward you."

"What have you to give the Coripies more than your flesh?" demanded another.

"Do not think to get out, for you never shall," said a third.

Now two of them lifted him lightly and placed him upon the back of one of their companions. So easily the creature carried him that Tanar wondered that he had ever overcome the Coripi that he had met upon the surface of the ground.

Through long corridors, some very dark and others partially lighted by outcroppings of phosphorescent rock, the creature bore him. At times they passed through large grottoes, beautifully wrought in intricate designs by nature, or climbed long stairways carved in the limestone, probably by the Coripies themselves, only presently to descend other stairways and follow winding tunnels that seemed interminable.

But at last the journey ended in a huge cavern, the ceiling of which rose at least two hundred feet above them. This stupendous grotto was more brilliantly lighted than any other section of the subterranean world that Tanar had passed through. Into its limestone walls were cut pathways that zigzagged back and forth upward toward the ceiling, and the entire surface of the surrounding walls was pierced by holes several feet in diameter that appeared to be the mouths of caves.

At one end of the grotto, in a large opening, a few feet above the floor, squatted a single, large Coripi. His skin was mottled with a purplish hue. The protuberances that suggested huge eyeballs beneath the skin protruded much further and were much larger than those in any other of the Coripies that Tanar had examined. The creature was, by far, the most repulsive of all the repulsive horde.

On the floor of the grotto, directly before this creature, were gathered a number of male Coripies and toward this congregation Tanar's captors bore him.

Scarcely had they entered the grotto when it became apparent to Tanar that these creatures could see, a thing that he had commenced to suspect shortly after his capture, for now, at sight of him, they commenced to scream and make strange, whistling sounds, and from the openings of many of the high flung caves within the walls heads protruded and the hideous, eyeless faces seemed to be bending eyes upon him.

One cry seemed to rise above all others, as he was borne across the grotto toward the creature sitting in the niche. It was "Flesh! Flesh!" and it sounded gruesome and horrible.

Flesh! Yes, he knew that they ate human flesh and it seemed now that they were but awaiting a signal to leap upon him and devour him alive, tearing pieces from him with heavy claws. But when one did rush upon him there came a scream from the creature in the niche and the fellow desisted, even as one of his captors had turned to defend him.

The cavern crossed at last, Tanar was deposited upon his feet in front of the creature squatting in the niche. Tanar could see the great eyeballs revolving beneath the pulsing skin of the protuberances and though he could see no eyes, he knew that he was being examined coldly and calculatingly.

"Where did you get it?" finally demanded the creature, addressing Tanar's captors.

"He tumbled into the Well of Sounding Water," replied one.

"How do you know?"

"He told us so."

A Thought

A MAN AND HIS LIFE

My life is not an apology, but a life.

It is for itself and not for a spectacle. I much prefer that it should be of a lower strain, so it be genuine and equal, than that it should be glittering and unsteady. I wish it to be sound and sweet, and not to need diet and bleeding.

My life should be unique; it should be an aims, a battle, a conquest, a medicine.

What I must do is all that concerns me, not what the people think. The rule, equally arduous in actual and in intellectual life, may serve for the whole distinction between greatness and meanness. It is harder because you will always find those who think they know what is your duty better than you know it. It is easy in the world to live after the world's opinion; it is easy in solitude to live after our own; but the great man is he who in the midst of the crowd keeps with perfect sweetness the independence of solitude.—Emerson.

A DISTINGUISHED VISITOR'S OPINIONS

To the Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir:—

The coming to Canada of Sir Josiah Stamp at the request of the Dominion Government to assist in an investigation of the grain trade, brings to our midst a very remarkable man.

"Primarily, Sir Josiah is a statistician, indeed the most brilliant statistician of whom there is any record. Up to 1914 he was a somewhat obscure but brilliant civil servant. During the war he became the chief financial adviser of Premier Lloyd George. He is to-day chairman of the Midland and Scottish Railway, the largest transportation system in Britain, and is also a Director of the Bank of England.

He was the chief British representative on the Reparations Commission, and so conspicuous were his contributions to the settlement of this question that General Dawes is reported to have said, "The Dawes Plan ought to have been called the Stamp Plan."

In presenting Sir Josiah for a degree at Columbia University in June, 1930, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler said of him, "He is the trusted guide and counsellor of his own nation and of every international body with which he has been associated."

Withal, Sir Josiah is a genial gentleman with a great variety of social interests to many of which he has given the careful study of his high-trained mind. Among these has been the drink traffic and its consequent inebriety.

Because of his special study, his comprehensive knowledge, and his fair-mindedness, he was one of the most important witnesses before the Royal Commission on Licensing (England and Wales) which held extensive hearings last year. Among various aspects of the latter discussed by Sir Josiah, four points stand out as having special significance.

Speaking of efficiency, Sir Johiah remarked, "Whenever tests had been made as to the efficiency of people following various trades in cases where they did and did not take alcohol, the balance had always been in favor of abstinence.

"From the economic point of view the production of this country, if there were no alcohol, would be 8 to 15 per cent. higher. Other factors, however, must be taken into account."

Among other points raised, Sir Josiah said, "Expenditure on alcohol is non-cumulative. It does not create in the spender a will to work harder, or increase his ambitions to get a large income and to be a better citizen; whereas expenditure in other directions such as the purchase of a house—he spoke from personal knowledge of the Building Society movement—has the effect that, when the period of payment comes to an end, that payment is so engraved in the weekly budget that the man goes on saving it in some other direction, and that is one of the best features of the American instalment system. When he has finished buying his car he buys a house, etc., and does so within his weekly wage. The drinking classes do not appear to have that kind of ambition."

He considered that England at the present time was suffering from Capital Hunger, and in this connection the following interchange is interesting:

Q. Mr. France (Commissioner): "You regard an average increase of about 10 per cent. as the probable increase in national efficiency if there were no liquor traffic? On what figure would that operate?"

A. "Between £2,000,000 and £2,500,000."

Q. "Then the increase output without the alcoholic habit, would amount to an annual average of £225,000,000?"

A. "Yes."

Q. "You estimate in your lecture that if half of the net alcoholic expenditure (after deducting taxation) were transferred to other commodities, then in a single generation (at a cumulative rate of 2½ per cent.) the nation would gain a new asset of £225 000,000?"

A. "Yes."

Sir Josiah was not urging prohibition or any special scheme of administration, but simply giving his opinion of what would happen in certain contingencies, especially with a lessening of drink. He admitted that if the liquor revenue were suddenly cut off, the Government would face a "first-class financial problem." He stated that, "I do not think any problem arises with gradual diminution. If spread over (say) ten years I would laugh at the monetary problem." This phase was summed up in a question by Rev. Henry Carter and its reply:

Q. "Take the liquor trade as it exists to-day; have regard to the fact that its operation brings a large revenue to the national exchequer and also that a very large consumption of alcoholic beverages is the necessary basis of this tax yield; what would be your judgment, on balance, as to the national value of things as they are? Do you represent a good bargain for the nation?"

A. "No; a very bad bargain: the great expenditure on alcohol is a very bad expenditure."

The moral and social aspects of the liquor problem did not escape the keen eye and alert interests of this varied-minded man. "In the moral field my personal feeling is that moral forces would have a much greater chance with a more moderate consumption of alcohol, and that under those changed conditions all sorts of other good social influences would have a chance to grow. I am sure of that."

A. J. Irwin.

What To-day Means To You

"ARIES."

If April 20 h is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are rom 9 a.m. to 10:15 a.m., from 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. and 7 p.m. to 8:20 p.m. The danger periods are from 11 a.m. to 1 :30 p.m. and from 4:30 p.m. to 6 p.m.

As r logical influences on April 20th will retard rath r th n prom te your interests, and you will meet with unsurmountable obstacles, temporary in nature, however. The depressing atmosphere of the day will be lifted after sunset, and ou will meet the evening engagements with a light heart.

Th child born on this April 20th will have many endearing qualities, and it is destined to find much happiness, a worl full of friends, and a goodly share of material prosperity. It will have a good mind, and nimble tongue, clever hands, and a disposition full of sunshine.

If born on an April 20th you will live on a mediocre level. You start things off with a big bang, but you soon reach a point beyond which you never make progress. Indifference and boredom creep in and cause you to drop interest in those things, from wh ch you could anticipate big returns. Your "Offi with the old," and "on wi h the new" policy, does not inure to your benefit. Others exp ct big things from you, until they find out how shallow-rooted most of your enthusiasms are.

You have a brusque manner, and although friendly at heart, you do not draw people to you. Your mark may be wor e than your bite, but it is alarming and unp easant to many. You eas ly get miffed, and fall into a dark mood. At such times you seem to like to be miserable, and to make your associates equally so. When you are in one of your jolly moods, you ar most gracious and charming, and a most desirable companion. Your temperament is not an even one, and you allow externals to upset you too easily. You hould try to uproot the seeds of resentment which lie in your system, as they sour your sweeter nature.

You work hard by fits and spell , and you can accomplish things in double-quick time, when the working mood is on. At other times you frown at the demands of Duty, and you go at things in a half-hearted way. You will have many thrills during your life, and short periods of great happiness, but you do not have the powers within you to generate chronic contentment.

HIGH PRICES FOR LETTERS.

LONDON, April 20 (By The Canadian Press).—Some remarkable prices were paid for Thackeray letters at Sotheby's, all of them being carried off by United States buyers. One four-page letter in which Thackeray paid a generous tribute to Dickens was sold for $900. A small water color portrait of Thackeray, hitherto unknown, and painted by Eyre Crowe, A.R.A., the novelist's secretary, went for $145. Rare books showed a revival in prices. A first edition of R. S. Surtees' "Jorrocks's Jaunts and Jollities," with Alken's colored plates, realized $1,125, a Kelmscott "Chaucer" $925, and a first edition of Keats's "Endymion" $700. A rare in the saleroom was a copy of the Cresset Press edition of "Gulliver's Travels." This was one of only 10 copies printed on vellum, and realized $1,090.

ROSENEATH LADIES HEAR FINE TALKS

President Mrs. J. A. Campbell and Mrs. M. Brown Speak on Temperance at W.M.S.

ROSENEATH, Apr. 18 (Examiner Correspondence). — On Tue day afternoon, Apri 14, the W.M.S. of the Roseneath United church met at the home of Mesdames R. and G. Mouncey, when forty ladies were present, including members and visitors. The presid nt, Mrs. A. J. Campbell was in charge and conducted the meeting throughout, Mrs. Andrew Brown read the Bible lesson, Romans 14, verses 11-28.

Mrs. Lesie Sherwin resigned her office as assistant leader of the Mission Band, and, after a short discussion, Mrs. Wilbur Smith kindly consented to fill the position.

The next regular meeting will be held at Mrs. Mary Brown's on June 9th. The May meeting is a joint meeting with Roseneath and Fenella to meet together in the church at Fenella.

Mrs. Albert Halstead read an excellent report of the Presbyterial convention, held at Cobourg which she was sent as a delegate; also, Mrs. Delbert Brisbin gave her paper on Mission Band work that was given at the Presbyterial. Both papers contained many good things and new ideas for the future officers to work upon.

The Devotional leaflet was read by the president, the introduction was given by Mrs. Lily Turner, followed by leaflets read by Miss Jessie Smith, Mrs. William Mouncey, Mrs. Lewis Nixon and Miss Eliza Brown. The entire program dealt with temperance and the indulgence in liquor. The drunkard has ceased to be a "fine fellow," for whom allowance must be made for his frequent lapses. The charge brought against the liquor traffic, backed by generations of sorrowful history, is that it has been a source of vulgarity, immorality, crime degredation and poverty.

The president, in addressing the audience, said it was up to the women of our country to co-operate and put a bar on the easy sales.

She also spoke of the temperance vote to be free from any political standpoint and that it should be taught in the schools. Her talk was most interesting, sincere and earnest, and she urged the W.M.S. members to create higher ideals, awaken loftier ambitions, and inspire to God's service.

To stimulate the production of something valuable and wholesome.

Mrs. Mary Brown, the temperance superintendent, made a few remarks by saying Canada is supposed to be a temperance country: that is what the supporters of the liquor traffic tell us. Does it look like temperance when the liquor bill amounts yearly to $190,666,933, and Quebec and Ontario are the largest sellers of intoxicants? When a nation of ten million uses $200,000,000 worth there must be something wrong, and so many out of employment! In conclusion, Mrs. Brown urged everyone to do her duty and keep themselves active in the works of our Heavenly Father who does so much for us.

Mrs. Delbert Brisbin favored the gathering with a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Lily Turner. Another number on the program was a poem, "The Drunkard's Child," by Mrs. M. Brown.

The meeting was brought to a close by repeating the Mizpah benediction, after which afternoon tea was served by the hostess and friends, and all enjoyed a few moments in social conversation.QQQ

Canadian Couple Have Auto Looted

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 20. — (C.P.).—While Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kaiser of Toronto, Ont., en route to their home from Havana, Cuba, dined in a local restaurant last night, a thief twisted a door handle from their automobile, and looted the car. The couple reported loss of clothing and other property valued at more than $1400, including four ladies' evening wraps and an $800 diamond bracelet which had been packed in a travelling bag.

C.P.R. ALSO DOWN.

TORONTO, Ont., April 20.—(CP)—Unusually heavy selling of Imperial Oil came into the Toronto Stock Exchange market this mornin and broke the price of the stock a couple of points to a new low for years of 11 5-8. Most of the selling was of arbitrage nature and done for New York accounts.

The whole oil group was weak, with International Petroleum setting a new low at 11¼, B.A. Oil and Supertest each losing ½ point the former to 10½ and the latter to 19¼.

C.P.R. equalled the low of 37 made last week and Brazilian, Nickel, Durant Motors, Walkers, Loblaw "A" of the better known stocks, were fractionally lower. Dominion Stores sold unchanged at 22 and Ford of Canada made a small gain at 23¼. Service Stations sold unchanged at its record low of 18.

NEW ENGLANDER

M. C. A., John MacLeod, of the Dorchester club, and David Komonen, of Toronto.

Clarence De Mar and Koski were in another bunch about fifteen yards behind the leaders and Kennedy was in about thirtieth place.

Komenen went ahead of Cerney in the run into Framingham, six miles from the start and was timed there in 33 minutes 3 4-5 seconds.

De Mar had worked his way up toward the front and was running in third place as the leaders went through Framingham. David Fagerlund of the Finnish-American, A. C., New York, had moved up into fourth place, not far behind De Mar.

Pawson, Henigan, MacLeod and Johnny Miles followed in order after Fagerlund.

Among those trailing after Miles were John Semple of the Lynn, Mass. Y. M. C. A., Arthur Gastrin of the Millrose A. A., Whitey Michelson, Joseph Quick of the Dorchester club, and Koski and Kyronen.

Leads At 11 Miles

Komonen kept his place at the head of the procession through the five mile stretch from Framingham to Natick, approximately eleven miles from the start, where he was clocked at 12:55:29.

He was about 20 yards ahead of Henigan and Fagerlund. Fifty yards farther behind was a group which included De Mar, Semple, John Jakela of the Toronto Central Y. M. C. A.; Koski, Gavrin and Quirk.

At Wellesley Square, practically the half way mark in the race, Komonen and Henigan were running together in the lead. They were timed at 1:13:40.

Fagerlund was in third place and was timed at 1:15 and immediately in back of him was De Mar.

Jakela and Koski were running together only a few steps behind De Mar and they were followed, in turn, by Con Olson of the Buccaneers, A. A., Sydney Mines; N.S., Semple and Quirk.

Michelson, Johnny Miles and Willie Kyronen were in a group of a half dozen that passed the half way point about seven minutes behind the leaders.

Komonen failed to hold his place in the four-mile stretch from Wellesley to the Woodland Park Hotel, Auburndale, and the veteran Henigan was leading at that point. His time was 1.40.08, approximately four minutes behind the record. The distance is about 17 miles from the start.

Fagerlund was in second place, about 100 yards behind Henigan and Komonen in third place, nearly 300 yards in back of the leader.

De Mar was fourth, approximately 8 minutes in back of Henigan. De Mar was running on the sidewalk.

The effects of the first hard hill, which the runners encountered before reaching Auburndale, were apparent as they arrived at this point. Several of them stopped to splash water over themselves, among them Johnny Miles, who was timed at 1.54. The blistering sun also made its effects evident in the lobster-red faces and arms of the runners.

ILL FORTUNE DOGS McLEOD FAMILY

Aunt Dies, Father Seriously Ill, Brother, Sister Victims of Accident.

ALL HAPPENS IN WEEK.

KINCARDINE, April 20. (CP) — That misfortune could present itself in so many forms in a single family, within a period of less than a week, as has been the case of the McLeod family in Kincardine, is hardly believable. But since last Tuesday one member of the family has died, another is seriously ill and two others have fallen victims of accidents.

On Tuesday last while at her work in Henry's bookstore Miss Annie McLeod swallowed a thumb tack. On Saturday she was taken to London where an x-ray examination revealed that the tack had lodged in the vicinity of the victim's appendix. As yet no effort has been made to operate and the patient appears to be making normal progress.

On Saturday while watering the horses, Kenneth McLeod, a brother of Miss Annie was kicked by one of the animals and suffered a fractured leg.

This afternoon the remains of Mrs. James Campbell, an aunt of the afflicted brother and sister, who died late last week, were laid to rest in the cemetery here and at the family home lies the father gravely ill with heart disease.

Chicago Grain Prices Undergo Early Setbacks

CHICAGO, Ill., April 20.—(CP)—Grain prices underwent early setbacks to-day as a result of reports indicating general breakup of drought. Material enlargement of the amount of wheat on ocean passage counted also as a bearish factor. Opening at ¼ cent off to ¾-3-8 up, wheat afterward continued to sag. Corn started unchanged to ½ down and subsequently declined all around.

YORK CONSTABLE

and he said, "I didn't do it. The Chief shot me."

The boy was weak from loss of blood, explained witness, who also stated he had seen many wounded men in the army, but that his son was very weak. The boy was wounded in the right ankle.

Defendant gave witness $5.00 to buy gasoline for the car, to take the boy into Dr. Smith at Lakefield, and then to Nicholl's Hospital at Peterborough. He was in hospital 24 days; the hospital bill amounting to $70.00. Dr. Smith told witness, his bill would be $25.00, while Dr. Wood's bill amounted to $50.00.

Bills Remain Unpaid

After the boy came from hospital he boarded out at Mrs. McIlymoyle's at $4.00 per week. The total bill amounted to $52.00 for board. None of the bills have yet been paid.

Witness described how his boy can walk perhaps 100 yards, when his foot begins to swell up and give him pain. Suggitt had not contributed anything to the expenses.

Under cross-examination witness stated that Suggitt's party were "hollering up till one o'clock in the morning. Witness only had one half pint of beer. Defendant's party had 94 pint bottles of beer and 8 quarts of whiskey at the house.

Guide Taken Sick

"My son went out with these people" he said, "because one of the guides was taken sick."

After the accident, he alleged Suggitt had promised to pay all expenses and to donate a purse.

Dr. James C. Smith of Lakefield, describing the injuries, stated, "the history of the case is that the boy was suffering from a wound in the right ankle from a soft-nosed bullet. There was sufficient dressing on the wound, when the boy and his father arrived at the surgery to prevent the flow of blood, so the injured boy was taken down to Nicholl's Hospital.

Dr. Smith called in Dr. E. H. Wood of Peterborough. "We cleaned up the pieces of bone" he said, adding "the bullet had entered the front part of the ankle practically in front of the instep. The boy was operated on as soon as arrangements could be made. The tendons were torn. Witness is still giving the injured youth treatment. He last saw him 10 days ago. His bill for professional attendances to date amounted to $35.00, while he estimated a further sum of $10.00 for necessary treatment in the future.

The wound had healed up nicely stated the doctor, but there was still a good deal of functional disturbance at the ankle joint, and he would not care to say that the ankle would ever go back to normal.

Under cross-examination witness said, "the functional impairment is such that the injured ankle will never get back to the same strength as the uninjured ankle.

Dr. E. H. Wood gave corroborative evidence. He had conducted the operation, while Dr. Smith gave the anaesthetic.

Garnet A. Drain, corroborated his father's testimony up to the point where witness left the house on the morning of November 6th, with Suggitt and his party. He said the party was composed of Mr. Suggitt, the defendant, a Mr. Price, a man named "Dick" and a fellow with a grey suit whom they called "Cinderalla" and another man whose name witness did not know.

Witness went on the excursion with the party because a guide, Hilliard McIlmoyle was sick, and Mr. Price had asked him to accompany them. He rowed the boat across the lake on the way out. He did not see any member of the party with liquor while in the boat.

When they got across the lake, the boat was tied up, and witness walked off into the woods with Suggitt, Mr. Price and "Dick." The party spread out. Suggitt carried a gun —a Winchester 32-40 and witness had a gun which had been lent to him by "D. J."

Carried Gun Carelessly

Suggitt carried the gun carelessly, said witness, and was staggering as he walked. Describing the incidents leading up to the accident, witness said, he was standing on a rock; Price was a short distance away. Witness saw something move in the bush ahead of him, and shouted to Price. We then went back to where Suggitt was. He was coming towards us using the gun, as one might use a cane. He had hold of is by the barrel. He said he would like to shoot a deer; the gun fell from his grasp, and went off. The shot entered my right ankle, and I fell back against a rock."

"I was about 2 feet from the muzzle of the gun" replied witness in answer to a question from His Honor.

After he was shot "Dick" came up. He pulled off his handkerchief from around his neck, and Suggitt tied the wound up.

"When we got back to the house" declared witness, "Mrs. McIlmoyle said, what was the boy doing, he has no money, and Suggitt replied, Never mind, son, I will see you through."

Witness had been unable to do any work since the accident. He formerly worked at Toronto General Hospital in the kitchen, where he received $40.00 a month and his board. He also worked at Robertson's Chocolate factory in Toronto at $9.00 per week. This winter he declared he was offered a job at $1.50 a day without board, but was unable to do the work on account of his injury.

The witness was subject to a very lengthy cross-examination by Mr. Huycke.

Wright-Hargreaves and Dome Also Firmer in Higher-priced Golds.

Acme Gas sold somewhat higher and cheaper oils, generally, were holding. Imperial was under heavy pressure, however, price dropping nearly two points to below $12, while International Pete and B. A. Oil lost a quarter apiece.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND BRIEFS

A Special Service to The Examiner.

TWIN CITY RAPID TRANSIT

Mark Wolff, chairman of the proxy committee that was defeated recently in an attempt to oust the management of the Twin City Rapid Transit Company, announce that the committee will continue its efforts for the relief of the stockholders.

MONTREAL POWER

"Power" has repeated its ability to weather reactions and on this account it is confidentally expected that the stock will again lead the local market on the recovery. Financial Service is informed on good authority that earnings so far this year are running ahead of the same period of 1930.

COSTLY ENTERTAINMENT

These are days when men are remembering their unfortunate ventures in the stock market. It is human nature to blame stock losses on someone else's judgment. When prices are rising the well known operator for the sake of tips he may be able to give. If these tips go sour, he, of course, gets the blame. One well-to-do host recalls that a week-end visit paid him by a market plunger some time ago cost a quarter of a million. Another man, who before the days of adversity was a yachtsman, is reported to have entertained a well-known operator on his yacht for a couple of days. A few months later the bill was settled through stock market channels and it left the host poorer by half a million and yacht less as well.

TECK-HUGHES

There is increasing American interest in the stock of this company. The new mill which went into production around the 20th of March is said to be running smoothly. Production in the month made a new record for this company and it is expected that April will show even greater improvement. It is believed that dividend increase from 60 cents to 80 cents will not long be delayed.

Though extremely ill and borne on a stretcher, the Infanta Isabella smiled and chatted with numerous aristocratic emigres who came to greet her. The Infantas were accompanied by Dr. Varela, Marquis Bertran de Lus and Marquis Mancanedos.

Others leaving Spain on the same train included Prince Max Hohenlohe and family, Madhloness Ivanrey, the Yturbe family and Senor Santamaria, those greeting the Princess included Infante Fernando and his two sons, and Senor Gaballero, former Ambassado to France.

THE CHURCH AS CONTRIBUTOR TO PUBLIC WELFARE

Major W. E. Kidd, Army Padre, Makes Plea For Greater Support on That Ground.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP.

A stirring plea for greater support for the church as an institution that made a most valuable contribution to citizenship, was voiced before the Peterborough Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon to-day by Major Reverend W. E. Kidd, of Ancaster, war-time chaplain of the 21st Battalion, who was the guest speaker. Former members of the 21st Battalion who were guests of Rotarian Lieut. Col. Gordon Hall to-day were James Houghton, president of the local 21st Battalion Club; Fred Hart and George Melton.

Rotarian Hall introduced the speaker, who began by saying that he had been at a loss to decide his subject for to-day until he remembered a conference of army chaplains just before the winter of 1917-18, at which the General Commanding the 1st Army had urged the chaplains to do everything in their power to keep up the morale of the men at the front. Recalling that request the thought had come to him that at this time when Canada was going through a period of economic stress, that the church, using the term in its broadest sense, was capable of a very great national service, not only from a religious but from a social viewpoint.

Major Kidd, in support of that contention, mentioned the work of the Sunday school which had great difficulty, he said, in obtaining the necessary man-power and woman-power to carry on. In spite of that fact, it was successful because a search of the Juvenile Court records would show that a very small percentage of Sunday school attendants appeared before the courts.

Similarly at this time, when every community organization had been created to alleviate the distress caused by economic conditions, the trained workers, the leaders necessary to deal sympathetically with this great problem were in a great number of cases found in the churches.

In cities where recently disturbances had been reported it would be found, the speaker argued, that in industrial sections where people were most sensitive to unemployment, the churches were handicapped because they were not large enough and well enough equipped with money to give the service that was afforded in other more prosperous sections.

The work done by the church in home mission circles was also cited by Major Kidd, as a proof of the national service. If it were possible to have sufficient workers trained as the ministry is trained, go among the new-comers who took up their residence in Canada's outposts, the speaker was sure that a great deal would be accomplished in the way of Canadianizing the new arrivals.

The speaker was thanked by Rotarians Rev. Dr. C. V. McLean on behalf of the club.

At to-day's meeting President Robert Abbott named a nominating committee headed by Past President Ross L. Dobbin to nominate a field of directors to be balloted on.

Rotarian Jack Gillespie announced that six Rotarians had already signified their intention of attending the District Conference at Buffalo, N.Y., next week, and that more were expected to go.

On Monday, May 4, the local Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs will hold a joint evening meeting, to be addressed by Hon. Rev. W. G. Martin, Minister of Public Welfare.

Local Cricketers Hold First Workout

Peterborough Cricket Club held their first full practice on Saturday afternoon at Nicholl's Oval. There was a splendid turnout of members, and almost a dozen new prospective members took turns at "wielding the willow" and among them there was noticeable some very good material for many of the important matches which have been arranged for this season.

Peterborough Cricket Club have been notified that they are drawn for the first round of The Ross Robertson Memorial Cup, which will be played in Peterborough on July 4th, and if this city win that game, they again get the second draw at Nicholl's Oval on July 18th. This trophy is emblematic of the Championship of Canada, and Peterborough are out hot foot to bring that honor to this city.

If there are any more cricket players who would like to associate themselves with the club, they are requested to communicate with the secretary, as it is proposed to start a second eleven.

NEW YORK LIST CONTINUES DROP

General Motors and Tobaccos, Only Issues to Make Upward Progress.

TRADING SLUGGISH.

NEW YORK, N.Y., April 20.—(CP)—The stock market fell back into its old habit, declining to-day, after the upturn on Saturday.

Trading remained sluggish, and liquidation of notable volume appeared only in spots, but traders evidently saw little in the upturn late last week save bear profit taking. A few specialties broke sharply, but there were a few fitful rallies, and General Motors and the tobaccos managed to make upward progress.

Auburn was again a weak feature, dropping more than 20 points before rallying. Industrial Rayon again broke badly, as its quarterly statement showed earnings of only 6 cents a share. Ingersoll Rand also lost several points. U.S. Steel made an extreme decline of 3 points, getting below 130 for the first time since 1927. Other declines ranging from 2 to 3 points were recorded by Air Reduction, Public Service of N.J., North American, Westinghouse Electric, New York Central, Case Electric, Autolite, Eastman and Royal Dutch, the last named recording a new minimum for the American shares. American Tobacco "B" however, gained more than 5, and General Motors pushed up a point.

Weak Spots Continue On Montreal Exchange

MONTREAL, Que., April 20.—(CP)—Continued weakness was apparent on the Montreal stock market during the morning, with a wide range of stocks still on the decline.

McColl-Frontenac shares declined 1½ points to sell at 14 around noon. Quebec Power lost a full point at 42, Shawinigan was off ¾ at 51, Nickel lost ¼ at 16 1-8, Montreal Power dropped ¼ at 59¾, Power Corporation was off ¼ at 58, Cement was down ¼ at 14 1-8. Canadian Pacific Rai way shares sold off ¼ at 37¼. Brazilian dropped 7-8 to 20 1-8.

BRINTON AND SELECT TEAM IN 4-ALL TIE

Clever Exhibition of Soccer Code Provided by Well Matched Outfits on Saturday.

ON BRINTON GROUNDS.

Ben McMaster, Preston, Sweet, Bohn and Adkinson Are Successful Marksmen.

A four-all result was the verdict of the tilt between the Brinton and the "Select" eleven in the exhibition soccer game played before a good attendance of spectators, at Brinton Grounds, on Saturday afternoon. The picked team was one of the best ever chosen by the executive. Perfect co-operation being shown by the players when they turned out as selected which was greatly appreciated by those in charge. While the tussle provided an opportunity to try out some new players on the Brinton line-up.

First Half.

The spin of the coin didn't prove any advantage, therefore, the captains were not anxious about the decision. From the kick off, the Select made a straight line for the opposition goal where they were successful in registering through Ben McMaster, with a first timer. Taken by surprise at an early stage, brought out many well planned raids by the Brinton forwards to pepper the Select custodian with all kinds of shots, Griffin being very reliable in between the sticks.

Sweet dribbled his way right into goal then he struck the upright with a rising shot. O'Halloran taking possession from the re-bound but his objective drive never materialised when Blowers headed he space back out of danger. Quick as a flash, the McMaster brothers instituted an attack that ended in Downer, at outside right, evading the defense cleverly with a feint move. He sent a smart drive across the goal mouth where Ben McMaster controlled the ball to his satisfaction and finally sent a hard shot in below the bar for number two. It was pleasant to witness the excellent half back line of the Select eleven introduce nullifing efforts to stop the energetic forward line of the Brinton. Keeping up a steady pressure they were rewarded through Jack Sweet who reduced the lead to the score at the interval. Select 2, Brinton 1.

Play is Even.

The second moiety provided many interesting exchanges until a movement by the Select halves gained a decision after a Brinton raid. On a mid-field tackle, Wade stopped a determined attack to send the McMaster brothers away to the other end. The Select attack held the upper hand of the situation whenever they got inside the goal-area where they indulged in clever close passing that eventually let Preston make it three to one. The ball travelled from he left wing into the centre, then sent out to the right where it was followed by the defense thereby allowing the attackers an opening. The ball was returned quickly into the centre again where centre forward met the ball with his head that had the accuracy mark on it all the way as it fell in below the bar out of the reach of the goal-keeper. From this point on, the Brinton attack was more aggressive which confined the game into the Select territory and left their defense out of position. Wade intercepted a ball from Wes wood that was intended for his team-mates but the Select centre-half sent Jack McMaster away to the other end. The whole front line had a try at goal, until Preston harassed the full backs right out in front of the goal-posts. The goal-keeper saved from him but was not quick enough to save the count when he dropped the ball to the waiting toe of the centre-forward. Later, the Brinton over-shadowed the picked eleven in every department to get the better of the argument, Adkinson, at outside left, for the Brinton came into the picture with clever shots from the wing. He compelled Griffin to move smartly to save his charge. To the astonishment of "Select" custodian, the Brinton player picked the near corner to register the third tally. With the sun causing him inconvenience to see the ball, Boon dropped a twirling shot in below the bar to even up the count. Thereafter, the players opened up a terrific pace to get the winning tally but the half backs and full backs held them scoreless for the remainder of the tussle. Brinton 4, Select 4.

BLIND SCHOLAR DESCRIBES CITY VIEWED BY ONE UNABLE TO SEE

First Impression is a Bizarre and Confusing Babel of Human Voices.

Buildings, Sounding Boards.

(By Lorena Hickok.

NEW YORK, N.Y., April 20.—Halvdan Arterud, a blind scholar, walked the streets of New York and told how a great city looks to a man who cannot see.

A bizarre and confusing babble of human voices speaking many tongues.

Ceaseless scream and rumble and clang of metallic, mechanical sounds.

Enfless canyons walled in by immense buildings — vast sounding boards whose height his ears can not measure beyond five stories.

A sensation of going up and up and up in an elevator to a level where the air feels thinner about his temples.

Blind Since Birth.

Mr. Arterud, one of Norway's outstanding blind teachers, is a delegate to the world conference on work for the blind, now meeting at the Hotel Pennsylvania. He has been blind since birth.

Of the 120 delegates, representing 37 nations at the conference, about one-fourth are blind. What they see in New York, he said, must be just about the same as his impression.

Their eyes are their ears, their clever, sensitive fingers that patiently trace again and again the outline of models of New York's skyscrapers, and a subtle, highly developed sensitiveness to air pressures which is called obstacle sense, a kind of sixth sense of the blind.

We all notice that queer babble of voices and languages first, he said. You see, we blind must learn to guide ourselves about in the streets by listening to the voices of those about us. That's how we keep from running into people. We listen more intently than you do; therefore, we are more conscious of what people are saying. In our own cities we don't hear such a mixture of tongues.

Mr. Arterud walked along a cross-street that leads into Fifth Avenue past the new Empire State Building.

Sounding Boards.

You see, these buildings act as sounding boards, he said. This is not a very wide street—I know by the sharpness of the noises. I am conscious of enormous buildings. Not so much high as big, covering a lot of space. There are so few breaks in the walls.

They must be at least five stories high, for the street noises would sound differently if they weren't. But how much over five stories, I couldn't tell.

He paused beside the Empire State Building, whose metal covered mast gleamed in the sunlight, 1,252 feet above the sidewalk. He shook his head.

No, he said, if you had not told me, I wouldn't know. He turned into Fifth Avenue.

Ah, this is a wider street, an avenue, he said. The sidewalk is wider. I can tell by the sound of my footsteps. A very wide street, I think. Still huge buildings, but not so close together. The noises are not so sharp. The air feels different.

If the weather continues fine many of the local farmers will complete their seeding next week.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, April 20. — Bullish reports shoved wheat values up 1⅜c to 1⅝c on the grain exchange yesterday. Strong Liverpool cables, continued dry weather in Western Canada and the United States, and a good export demand for Canadian wheat helped the market to higher ground.

Gains at one period amounted to 1½c, but slight recessions occurred. May wheat closing at 64¼c. July 65⅜ to 65½c, and October 67⅝ to 67½c per bushel.

Export sales of Canadian wheat overnight and on Saturday were estimated at 2,000,000 bushels, and reports indicated that an improved demand prevailed for Manitobas on the Continent.

A good demand for cash wheat occurred, but light offerings held the trading in check, and prices closed practically unchanged. Values were unmoved in the coarse grain market, with activity in oats and barley the feature.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 20.—Despite a handicap from weakness shown at times in stocks, wheat soared Saturday to above the season's previous top price level. Active buying of wheat for Europe, about 2,500,000 bushels from North America, including some United States wheat acted as a stimulus, and so too, did announcement that France had enlarged the quota of foreign wheat that millers would be permitted to use. In addition, drought continued over the spring wheat belt, both of this country and Canada with dust storms in Canada reported as the worst that so far have prevailed.

Wheat closed strong, ¾c off to 1⅛c up, corn ⅛c lower to ⅝c higher, oats unchanged to ¼c advance and provisions unchanged to 5c decline.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, April 20.— All lines on the produce and dairy market here last week lost heavily, with butter leading the way. The depressing influence of the decline in butter affected cheese and eggs, while potatoes also dropped. On Saturday butter quotations to retailers were lower, and cheese and potato prices declined, while egg prices were unchanged.

After losing from 6c to 6¾c during the week, No. 1 finest butter closed the week unchanged at 24c a pound. It was one of the lowest price weeks in the history of the market. To retailers solids and prints declined 2c at 28c and 29c a pound, respectively. Receipts last week were 7,851 boxes.

Ontario colored cheese dropped ¼c at 16¼c a pound, and last week's receipts were 1,438 boxes. The market during the week declined 2c.

New Brunswick Green Mountain potatoes, in carlots, lost 10c at 80c per 80-pound bag, and to retailers prices were also 10c lower at 90c.

The egg market was unchanged on Saturday, but during the week was 1c lower. Carlot prices of fresh Ontario and Prairie extras were quoted at 23c, firsts at 21c and seconds at 18c to 18½c a dozen. British Columbia fresht extras and firsts, in carlots, were quoted at 22½c to 24c and 21½c to 22c, respectively. Seconds were 18½c to 19½c a dozen. Quotations to retailers were unchanged. Receipts for the week were 14,602 cases.

FEARS ALLAYED FOR PRINCESS

Queen of Rumania Seeks News of Sister From Spanish Exiles.

HUSBAND FOLLOWED KING.

PARIS, April 20 (C.P.)—Fearing for her sister, Beatrice, a princess of Spain, Queen-Mother Marie of Rumania has sought from the exiled Alfonso and Victoria their first-hand account of the bloodless revolution which overturned the throne and set up a Spanish Republic.

Queen Marie, the Princess Ileana, and the wife of the Grand Duke Cyril of Russia motored from Brittany yesterday and closeted themselves with the exiles in their apartment at the Hotel Meurice for half an hour. Later Marie and Ileana left for Germany.

The exiled King and Queen are believed to have reassured Marie as to Beatrice's safety, although members of the royal entourage to-day professed not to know her whereabouts.

It was understood in Paris that she had remained in Madrid at the bedside of the aged Infanta Isabella, aunt of King Alfonso, who because of her great age and infirmity is considered safe, with her entourage, from any anti-Monarchist popular demonstrations.

Beatrice is the wife of the Infante Don Alfonso, the favorite cousin of the deposed King. Her husband and the Duke of Miranda were the King's companions on the trip by automobile, cruiser, and train into exile on Wednesday and Thursday, her husband, in order to accompany the King, having to leave her behind at Madrid.

King Alfonso and Queen Victoria, tired out by their arduous week, are spending their time here resting. They have made no decision as yet as to where they will make their residence. Alfonso has dropped his title of King, and wishes to be known simply as Duque de Toledo, or Duke of Toledo, one of his many titles.

Western Live Stock Wanted In Britain

CALGARY, Alta., April 20 (C.P.)—Announcement that the British Consumer's Co-operative will make large purchases of western livestock if a standard of quality can be guaranteed, was welcomed by agriculturists here last night.

George Riddle, representative of the co-operative, with headquarters in Manchester, England, stated orders would be placed weekly if a standard of quality could be guaranteed. He made his announcement following interviews with western co-operatives and Alberta Government officials. The extent to which the British Co-operative handles agricultural products from Canada in the British Isles was indicated by Mr. Riddle in stating that last year the Co-operativep urchased $30,000,000 worth of Canadian wheat.

GHOST HAUNTS OLD PANTHEON BUILT TO GODS

Workmen Engaged in Restoration Find 30 Skulls Under High Altar.

BEARDED SPECTRE SEEN.

Built By Agrippa in 27 B. C., Structure Stands Wonderfully Preserved.

(By Mail from George Hambleton, C. P. Staff Correspondent)

ROME, Apl. 20.—After twenty centuries of stormy history, the Pantheon has a ghost. Under the high altar, workmen engaged in restoration have discovered 30 skeletons. And a bearded spectre wanders about on occasion, announcing itself, like Hamlet's father, in loud lamentations. Attendants shake their heads when questioned. The cynical laugh. But the story persists. More than one claims to have seen the ghost of the Pantheon. One Rome newspaper gleefully questions how it will be classified in the coming census.

Built in 27 B.C.

The casual visitor, glancing at the well preserved Pantheon, has some difficulty in believing its antiquity. One is accustomed to associate ancient Rome with vast arches and broken columns. Yet the Pantheon runs back to 27 B.C. Agrippa built it in his third consulate—a temple to all the Gods, that he might offend none. The Pantheon suffered many transformations and spoliations. In the middle ages it was used as a fortress. The Hotel of the Sun across the square—where in 1513 Ariosto lived for a time and wrote — seems almost blatantly modern by comparison.

Today past the old Pantheon, the traffic of modern Rome dashes noisily. By the fountain in front crowds gather and talk as they have talked since the city first grew on the seven hills. In the street of Minerva, silk stockings are advertised at slaughter prices. Near the alley of Orlando's sword, radio and talkies. Across, the ever present sign of Fascismo.

And looking back at the columned old portico, one recalls again the story, told half-cynically, of the ghost of the Pantheon—and wonders.

FRUIT COMPANY MUCH WORRIED

Fears For Holdings in Nicaragua Since Removal of U. S. Marines.

MILLIONS INVESTED.

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 20. — Officials of the Standard Fruit and Steamship Company express grave concern over the continuation of their extensive operations in the interior of Nicaragua in the face of raids by outlaws and the announcement of Secretary of State Stimson that United States Marines no longer will be used to police the banana-laden jungles.

The company, which has been operating in Nicaragua for ten years and has millions of dollars invested there in farms extending 65 miles into the interior from Puerto Cabezas, announced yesterday, through John J. Brownson, Superintendent of its foreign department, that it was faced with curtailment if not suspension of much of its fruit business under the Stimson policy.

Refugees Leave

Meanwhile the Cefalu, one of the company's ships, was steaming toward New Orleans with refugees from the recent insurgent outbreaks and the bodies of Captain Pefley, Idaho Marine, and William L. Selser, company employee, who were slain a few days ago in an interior outpost.

Standard officials described the National Guard of Nicaragua as untrained and unable to cope with the recurring attacks. They cited despatches from Puerto Cabezas, quoting R. L. Salassi, the company's organization manager, as saying that all United States citizens in that district were evacuating their homes and leaving their business.

Brownson said the United States workers were the life blood of his organization and that the company would be left in a quandary if they were not assured protection by the Government.

During further discussion, it was suggested that the milling and baking trade should be rationized in order to secure from this source the fund necessary to put into the pockets of the British farmer the amount needed to make wheat growing an economic success.

Following the marriage Mr. and Mrs. Charlton left by motor for Toronto and Buffalo where the honeymoon will be spent. The bride travelled in frock of yellow with hat and coat to match. KEENE MASONS VISIT NORWOOD

Work of M. M. Degree Exemplified by Officers of Vistiing Lodge.

PRESENT SQUARE.

NORWOOD, April 18 (Examiner Correspondence).—About twenty officers of and members of Keene Lodge A.F.and A.M. paid a fraternal visit to Norwood lodge recently. Work of the Third Degree was exemplified by Keene lodge officers, following which the travelling emblem was presented on behalf of Keene lodge by W. Bro. Robert McCamus.

Later refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed during which impromptu speeches were made by a number of the visitors. The Worshipful Master and several brethren from Hastings lodge were present also.

Return Visits Made.

On Monday evening St. Andrews Young People's Guild enjoyed the pleasure of a return visit from the Young People's Society of Hastings Presbyterian Church. Russel Robson, president of the Norwood Society, welcomed the visitors and then called on the president Miss Allie Spooner, of Hastings Society, to take charge of the meeting.

The visiting Society provided the program for the evening. Scriptural reading, Miss Robinson; topic, "Going Forward," Mrs. Brown; piano instrumental, Miss Madeline Dodd; reading, Miss Mary Spooner; song, William Flatman; recitation, Freda McKee; duet, Reta Muncey and Jean Clapper; reading, Francis Kennedy; duet, Reta and Jim Mnucey; recitation ,Valda Muncey; reading, Miss Allie Spooner; address on Robert Burns, Rev. Dr. D. A. Thompson.

The Young Ladies and Young Men of the Norwood Society served refreshments and a social time was spent by all, after which Dr. Thompson tendered the thanks of the visitors for the very pleasant evening.

May Start Again.

The butter-box factory in Norwood may re-open soon. Negotiations are under way which may result in this industry starting again which will be a great asset to the village in general.

To Call For Tenders.

At a special meeting of the Board of Education held recently it was decided to call for tenders for a bus service to convey pupils from Villiers, Westwood, Birdsalls and Hastings to and from high school commencing with the new school year—Sept. 1st.

Exports from the Netherlands to the United States in a recent month included $1,048,000 in tobacco and $288,000 in diamonds.

EXCITING RESCUE IS MADE AT SEA

missing man was her husband. Nobody seemed to think he would ever be seen again because he had dropped completely out of sight by now. The ship swung around gradually. A boat put out smoothly, noiselessly, quickly. It was French seamanship at its best.

After what seemed a long time the swimmer was spotted again. He waved frantically. The liner drew alongside him just as the boat reached him. The big Cunarder, seeing rescue imminent, swung back on her homeward course for England. Two smaller ships stood by. Then an astonishing thing happened. The missing man, known by now to be a pantry man, raced away from the boat. He struck out boldly for Portugal just visible on the right. Strong arms reached out to grab him but he fought them off. The officer in the boat seized him by the hair. Two others smacked him on the upper arms with such force as to paralyze them and he was hauled, naked and complaining, into the boat.

The life boat came alongside and was hoisted aloft as movie machines whirred. Then the crew set out in a great circle and retrieved all the missing lifebuoys, the passengers retired to get dressed and conversation buzzed. Scores of versions as to what had happened were heard but the thing was not very exciting after all.

The pantryman was a night worker. He never drank. The day before he had been ashore and did drink—plenty. He brought liquor back with him. Lots of liquor and Spanish liquor. He made a gallant boast that he was the best swimmer in the entire French Fleet. He could swim better than any fish alive. He could prove it. The crew kidded him. They laughed it off so the boy friend said, "All right, you boobs. I'll show you! When we get near the Portugese coast I'll jump over and swim ashore. See if I don't!

At the appropriate moment the merman came on deck and said, "Well so long you eggs. I'm off for Portugal and don't you try to stop me." But they did stop him. They pulled him back by his belt. Three times they did this just as he'd get halfawy up to the rail. The fourth time he cut the belt, dove overboard and away he went with all the whoopee spreading along the decks.

When the France reaches Havre, her home port, this lad will be introduced to an admiralty court. Meanwhile he's in irons feeding on bread and water. If Elwood Hughes wants his name for the big swim I can get it.

Man Hunt Organized

The passengers seemed to enjoy the excitement but one of them, craving the spotlight or something, decided it would be a swell idea if he jumped off too. He told his plans to one friend who laughed if off. He went to lunch and orderedevery course but he ate nothing. He made an immediate appointment to play tennis but never showed up. Four hours later he was still missing and the friend got excited. A man hunt was organized and the ship searched from glory hole to boat deck but no passenger turned up. The ship was officially notified. The purser quietly went at the mystery of the missing passenger and produced him from an unknown hiding place in less than two minutes. This is equal to a home run with the bases full.

The only explanation was that the young man was in love and deep sea love affairs seem to affect people strangely. This one, for instance, wanted to be a martyr and diving overboard seemed a decent means of getting that way.

Here on this cruise most of the single folks have paired off already and unless my name is Ludendorff or Whitzenpoople the wedding bells will ring at least once as a result of it. Sea going love affairs seem to spring up suddenly like mushrooms and unless the things are nipped at the right moment they perish like snowballs in July. But while they last the chief steward has a swell time rearranging the seating plans and mysteriously producing flowers from the bowels of the ship in mid ocean. Compared with the things a chief steward is asked for, the routine racket of pulling rabbits out of a hat isnt even a one base hit.

But enough of this preliminary stuff. That purplish haze you see far ahead is the fringe of the Pyrenees. Spain stands ready to say hello. What do you say if we find out what this old Spain custom is anyhow?

PROMPT RESPONSE SAVES FACTORY

CAMPBELLFORD, April 20 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent) — What might have developed into a serious fire broke out Saturday morning at the Campbellford Cheese Factory, when the local fire squad, promptly responding to an alarm, found the beaver board partition in the upper portion of the building ablaze, and quickly extinguished the fire. The cause was the lighting of a box stove in one of the rooms, the pipe getting overheated. Another few minutes without attention and the fire would have developed into serious proportions.

Picture Show

Two picture shows were staged in Campbellford last week, when under the auspices of the Willing Workers of Christ Church two varied programs were given in the Parish Hall on the evenings of Friday and Saturday. Both presentations were well attended and a very fine quality show produced, featuring Felix the Cat and Charlie Chaplin as well as other pictures.

PADRE OF 21ST

"It was a relationship of service, and so we might say that from that time on, the great motto of the Christian Church has been one of service," said the speaker, adding, "wherever that spirit finds us, whether in a public position or in the everyday common things of life, we will have the responsibility of that service."

"But," he went on, "we desire to have an example which should inspire this principal. We have it in our Lord Himself and in that hymn which your rector called attention to entitled, "O Valiant Hearts."

Prince of Wales

From the point of view of the returned men, from the point of view of every citizen of the Empire, we desire this example of service, and the padre, called to mind the contribution which the Prince of Wales is making in his service to the Empire.

"To you my comrades of the overseas legion, it is a great pleasure to me and I esteem it a privilege to come and preach to you this morning," he said.

He spoke of the bond of union that exists between all returned men, and deplored the impression that is abroad in many quarters that such services and re-unions are considered as being opposed to the ideals of peace, and are inculcating into the youth of the nation a leaning towards war.

"No! There is something more in these parades and services of returned men. We are not holding up to this country or to any other country the idea of war. No one hates war more fully, and on one has more reason to hate war than the returned men."

"What we are standing for in this day and time, is the whole idea of public service to our country. We can thrill the manhood and womanhood with the responsibility of citizenship in this country, and that responsibility must of necessity be borne out of sacrifice."

"God grant that sacrifice may never again be war,' he said, adding, "I do want to get this message over to you, the message of citizenship built upon sacrifice."

He proceeded to speak of the sacred anniversary which they were commemorating, and recalled how sixteen years ago Canada was shocked, but also thrilled with a great pride, upon learning how Canadian citizens under military organization, had been able to withstand the greatest onslaught of the enemy hosts, who used poison gas for the first time.

"It is as we look upon that day, and upon such days as that, that we realize the necessity of public service, and as your rector has said, we see so well the necessity for rededicating ourselves to all that is best."

"In this time of depression," he stated, "it is our responsibility to stand steady to the best ideals of law and order, and to remember all that our Empire stands for. The returned men are dedicated to such ideals, and in that thought we can look confidently to the future of our country."

In closing, the preacher spoke of the need for more speed on the part of those responsible for making adjustments to the pensions of returned men.

"The Legion," he stated, "is an entity just a step higher up than the Boards that should make these adjustments."

He did not wish to be misunderstood or to be thought bitter in his outlook upon such matters.

21st Battalion Reunion

At the evening service, the church was again the scene of another unique gathering, when ex-service members of the 21st Battalion, numbering some 65-70 men, gathered from all parts of the district, and were addressed by their old chaplain, Major The Rev. W. E. Kidd of Ancaster.

The men met in the Parish Hall before the service, and again after church adjourned to the Parish Hall, where they exchanged reminiscences over the coffee cups. The refreshments being provided by the A.Y.P.A.

At evensong, as at the morning service, the Last Post and Reveille were sounded, and a hushed period of silence was observed. Sergeant Stewart of the Peterborough Rangers, a former band sergeant of the Middlesex Regiment, sounded the Last Post and Reveille and also provided a trumpet solo, "The Holy City," accompanied by the organist, Mrs. W. A. Logan.

The music was a feature of the evening service, and the choir under the direction of Geo. E. Chandler rendered the anthem, "Give Peace in our Time." This is the same anthem which All Saints' Church choir sang at the unveiling of the memorial tablet to members of the 21st Battalion who paid the supreme sacrifice overseas, and which adorns the north wall of Peterborough Armouries.

The preacher did not have any text; he did not even preach a sermon, but contented himself with addressing the members of his old battalion, speaking to them in a conversational tone of voice, recalling the trials and hardships they had been through, and recounting some of the more hapy moments of comradeship.

He recalled how church services were held almost every Sunday, in the line and out, and contended that such spiritual experiences of which he spoke caused one to realise that after all religion is a big factor in our lives under all circumstances.

He recalled the various celebrations of Holy Communion, which were held by the members of the 21st Battalion, often under very trying conditions, mentioning especially the celebration of the Lord's Supper which was held at Christmas 1917, as the sun was just rising, and again the following Easter Day. "These were the influences which carried men through the dark places," he observed.

In closing he said, he hoped the few words he had spoken to them would help to recall some incident, that would make their lives a little happier and a little more worthwhile.

The parade of the 21st Battalion was in charge of R.S.M. T. Jordan, M.C., D.C.M., of Belleville.

Summer Resorts Are Preparing For Trade

Fishermen's Paradise at Healey Falls Installing All New Beds —Fine Fishing Ground.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 20 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — With the coming of the warm weather people are beginning to think of and prepare for the summer vacation, and those summer resorts which cater to the tourist trade are busy making preparation for the coming season.

At the Fisherman's Paradise, which is located one mile above Healey Falls, the proprietor, Stanley Keller, is active in making the resort comfortable and ready for his guests. He is not only completely re-decorating the hostel but is installing all new beds, and generally fixing up. There is accommodation for forty guests. This is an ideal spot to locate for the summer holiday and especially so to lovers of the rod and line. Good fishing is the order of the day, there being a reach of sixteen miles from this point before the first lock is reached at Hastings. Some of the best lunge of the district can be caught at this location.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Card parties still continue to be held, so perhaps the discussion to-day won't be out of place. It is about novelty bridge party sets.

• • • • • • •

Bridge table sets, with or without napkins to match, are, as you know, smart card party accessories. This is responsible for the popularity of needlework card motifs to be used for decoration.

• • • • • • •

The motifs in any design you like, can be adapted easily to patchwork applique.

• • • • • • •

These sets and also card cases for decks can be made quickly and besides being useful for a hostess' own use, these sets make delightful prizes and inexpensive to make, but not to buy.

• • • • • • •

They are also very nice to contribute to bazaars and fairs and sell very well, I am told, if not priced too high.

• • • • • • •

Bridge party sets are a novelty and when making them use two colors, red and black for the foundation textiles. Ornament the corners of a black cover with the red card suits, diamonds and hearts, one motif in each alternate corner.

• • • • • • •

On red covers use black suits, clubs and spades and position them also in alternate corners.

• • • • • • •

Then make four black finger-doilies with herd card motifs in corners and four red ones with black motifs. Include a case to match to hold double decks of cards for each table scheme.

• • • • • • •

There are then, five pieces in each card set, cover, four finger-doilies and a case for decks. Two or four of these sets are needed for a party set.

• • • • • • •

Cross stitch and filet inserted sets are given further novelty touches by embroidering a border of herringbone stitch.

• • • • • • •

The fancy note is made by interlacing a contrasting color about the herringbone to make straight stitches over the crosses Use black over red herringbone stitch and red over black.

• • • • • • •

Applique motifs can be turned in and blind stitched to covers, napkins and cases of linen or cotton goods.

• • • • • • •

If enamel cloth is the foundation textile, the dull finish only should be used. The motifs can be cut from the contrasting color of enamel cloth and then glued in position. There can be no napkins to match enamel sets.

A BEDTIME STORY

Howard R Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S TIPPING TABLE

"That surely was very queer!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily as he put his tall, silk hat on his head and looked at the hole in the hollow tree out of which he had just popped. I don't mean that the rabbit gentleman's head had popped out of the hole in the tree.

My goodness! No.

Uncle Wiggily's head was fast on him. But a little while before, when he was looking at a hollow tree, thinking it might hold an adventure, all of a sudden something queer happened. The bunny uncle's tall, silk hat, like a piece of stove pipe, blew off his head and stuck in a hole of the hollow tree, looking like a cannon.

Then along came the Bob Cat and Uncle Wiggily, pointing at his tall hat in the tree, pretended it was a cannon and scared the Bob Cat away. But the queer part was that as Uncle Wiggily pointed at his hat and pretended it was a cannon, out the hat popped from the tree. There was a loud BOOM and also a cloud of smoke as if a real cannon had been fired.

"I can't understand who said BOOM and who pushed my hat out of the hole in the tree nor who made the dust like smoke," said Uncle Wiggily. "I wonder who did it?"

Uncle Wiggily and Jackie were eating ice cream.

"I did it!" suddenly answered a voice and it came from inside the hollow tree.

"Oh this is wonderful! It is jolly good magic!" cried Uncle Wiggily. Magic fooled the Bob Cat! Hurray!"

'No, I fooled the Bob Cat!" barked a voice and out of the same hole in the hollow tree where Uncle Wiggily's hat had been caught, jumped Jackie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boy.

"Why, Jackie, how did you get in that tree?" asked Uncle Wiggily in surprise.

'I crawled in!" barked Jackie. "I was playing in the woods and I saw you coming, Uncle Wiggily, I thought I would crawl in the hollow tree and pop out to surprise you. But after I was down inside the trunk, your hat blew in the hole and stopped it up. A little crack was left, though, for me to look out, and next I saw the Bob Cat coming to get you."

"Then," went on the puppy dog boy, "when I heard the Bob Cat say he was going to nibble you and when you pointed at your hat in the tree and pretended it was a cannon, I thought I would help along the joke. So I made a big BOOM and I kicked the hat so it popped out as if a real cannon had fired. That's how it happened."

"What made the smoke?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I did that, too," barked Jackie with a laugh. "There is a lot of dry, powdery dust inside the hollow tree. I threw a paw full of that out as I kicked your hat and it looked like cannon smoke."

"Indeed it did!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "That was very clever of you, Jackie, to scare the Bob Cat and make him run away."

"I'm glad I did," barked the puppy boy.

"And as you did me such a favor," went on Uncle Wiggily, "I want to do one for you. What kind of a favor would you like, Jackie?"

"An ice cream favor, if you please," Longears with a laugh. "Come with me Jackie answered.

Longears with a laugh. "Come with me to the five and ten cent store and we will get some fifteen cent ice cream.

A little later Uncle Wiggily and Jackie were seated at a table eating ice cream. Outside the store was the Fuzzy Fox. He happened to be passing and saw Uncle Wiggily and Jackie go in.

"Here is my chance!" whispered the Fox. "I guess the Bob Cat didn't catch Uncle Wiggily, but I shall. I'll go in the store and get him. I don't care about the little dog. It's the rabbit I want."

Into the five and ten cent store the Fox went. He ran up to the table where Uncle Wiggily was eating the last of his ice cream and cried like a robber: "Paws up! Stick up your paws!"

Uncle Wiggily raised his paws high above his head.

"Now you can't do anything to me!" snickered the Fox. "Your paws are up in the air and you can't put any lather on my nose. I have you now! Ha! Ha! Ha!" and he laughed merrily—that is, merrily for a Fox.

But all of a sudden, while Uncle Wiggily's paws were in the air, the table began to tip and move and slide and do all manner of queer tricks. The Fox opened his eyes wide in surprise.

"Are you moving that table, Uncle Wiggily?" howled the Fox.

"No, I am not," the rabbit gentleman answered. "How could I move the table with my paws in the air!" The table tipped again, harder than before and the Fox howled:

"Oh, this must be magic. Bad magic for me! I'd better run!" So away he ran. Even Uncle Wiggily wondered why the ice cream table tipped.

HUMANE SOCIETY SETS VIOLET DAY

Report on Conditions of Some of Mail Cariers Horses Presented to Postmaster-General.

TAG DAY ON MAY 2.

The regular Executive meeting of the Humane Society was held in the Chamber of Commerce, Thursday. The president, T. E. Sargent, presided.

A reply to our letter to headquarters regarding the condition of some of the mail-carrier's horses, was read and the Manager stated that data regarding this would be presented to the Postmaster General, at Ottawa, shortly.

A letter was read advising the Society about the Annual Meeting and Convention, May 26 and 27. This letter asked that the names of the local delegates be forwarded not later than May 7. It was thought that the Society would be able to send three to five delegates.

The Financial Report was read and showed a balance on hand of $34.86. The Society is now putting a great deal of dependence on the success of Violet Day, which is to be held on Saturday, May 2, as finances are badly depleted. The vacant store, formerly occupied by Robertson's Barber Shop, has been secured as headquarters for the day.

Dr. Johnston gave his report of activities during the past month, which read in part,—

In company with the Provincial Constable, made a visit to a stable to see a horse that had been suffering with a sore back. Treatment was being used. Conditions in the house were found to be worse than in the barn. The Constable ordered a clean-up.

Made a visit to a stable at Center Dummer regarding a horse that was reported to be suffering. Found the horse being looked after to the best of the owner's knowledge. Gave prescription and advice. Examined a horse in Norwood, in a very emaciated condition. Warned the owner about putting horse in harness until given permission. Examined 16 horses on the market. Found them in good condition with the exception of one, which needed attention.

Stopped a lame horse on the street driven by a rag pedlar. Horse was suffering agony. Sent it to the barn and gave advice as to what was to be done to relieve the horse.

Made call at a farmer's stable in answer to a complaint. Found everything well cared for.

Made a call to a farmer's stable in answer to a complaint. Found two cows lying in the stable, unable to get up, and a third one had died. Veterinary advice had been received regarding these cattle. The remaining cattle were only in fair shape and the horses in poor condition and not fit to start the season's work on the land. This stable will be kept under supervision.

Condemned an old horse, which was later destroyed. Warned a man from Fraserville about the condition of his horse and gave orders for him to keep it off the road, which he promised to do.

Made a visit to stable of a local farmer. Found things better than expected on account of the number of complaints that had been received. Made a call on another farmer complained about. Found conditions fair.

During the month there were 34 calls answered for dogs and 21 calls for cats.

TRADE RELATIONS END WITH SOVIET

Embargo Set By Moscow Will Affect Slightly Over $1,000,000 Worth of Trade.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 20 (C.P.).—Canada's trade relations with Russia are at an end for the present. This is the interpretation which is put on the embargo on Canadian imports announced in Moscow yesterday. The action of the Soviet Government occasioned little surprise in official circles here as the Canadian Government prohibited the importation to Canada of Russia's principal export commodities nearly two months ago.

While the Canadian ban on Russian goods applies only to certain classes — coal, lumber and timber, wood pulp, pulpwood, asbestos and furs—the report from Moscow indicates Russia has placed a general embargo on all Canadian goods. This is of little significance, however, as practically all the goods Russia had to sell are banned under the Canadian order.

Canadian exports to Russia have consisted chiefly of farm machinery, agricultural and vegetable products and textiles. Based on trade figures for the last two years, it is estimated between one and two million dollars worth of Canada trade will be affected. Canadian exports to Russia mounted to more than $3,000,000 in 1929, but last year totalled only $1,689,000.

Princess Betsy Is 5 Years Old Tuesday

WINDSOR, Eng., April 20. (AP)—Princess Betsy of York celebrates her fifth birthday to-morrow behind the cold gray walls of Windsor Castle, where her parents, the Duke and Duchess of York, have brought her especially for the occasion.

At her own request, since she no longer cares for "baby toys" most of her presents will be mechanical toys. There will be gifts from her granddaddy, the King, the Queen, and probably a wireless greeting from Uncle Albert, who is enroute home from South America. Another gift will be in the name of her baby sister, Princess Margaret.

In the afternoon there will be a tea party in the castle in her honor. She is the eldest child of the Duke and Duchess of York.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

THE SKIN IS AN ORGAN.

You may think the skin is just a coat or covering for the body, and that its appearance can be improved with paint or enamel just like the surface or coat of an automobile.

Now the body of an automobile has nothing to do with its working parts. The story is told of a car that went across the desert without any engine in it. The driver simply asked to be towed by passing motorists who never asked why, and never lifted the hood of the engine. The car looked all right.

The skin however is an organ in itself and has blood vessels, nerves, muscles and fat. Its main job is to regulate the heat of the body.

As a covering of the body all these different tissues are necessary, and so the skin is soft and plaiable enough to permit free movement of all parts in and beneath it, and yet tough enough to withstand the ordinary wear and tear of life.

To do this work properly it has an outer hard or horny layer and beneath this a softer layer in which are the blood vessels, nerves and so forth. About and beneath this layer is fat, which acts as a cushion so that many of the knocks and bumps we receive do no harm to the underlying structures.

Running from the outer surface of the skin down into the layer in which are blood vessels, nerves, and fat, there are little channels from sweat glands and also from the fat glands; beside the fat glands are roots of the fine hair which come up to the surface and cover the body. Thus the skin is a real organ pouring oil and water out on to its surface.

And like any other organ it depends upon the food you eat, the air you breath, sunlight, sleep, and exercise to make the right kind of blood to enable it to do its work properly.

Diet is a big factor in keeping the skin in good condition, but unfortunately due to peculiarities of some individuals in the way their system handles certain foods it is hard to lay out a diet suitable for all skins. You know how in some people such good foods as tomatoes, eggs, oysters, shell fish, pork, and fresh strawberries, cause irritation and sometimes hives or urticaria.

If your skin is rough, dry, irritable, or has pimples, try cutting out certain foods, until you find the most suitable diet. Soaps, medicated ointments, creams and so forth are recommended quite properly by physicians or some local condition, but a good skin depends upon good health habits.

Relief from Gas, Stomach Pains, Dizziness

The doctors tell us that 90 per cent of all sickness is due to stomach and bowel troubles. You can't be well if your digestion is bad; you are likely to get sick unless you relish food and digest it properly.

Tanlac has a wonderful record as a relief from digestive troubles, even those of years' standing.

Mr. Alex. Krenbrenk, Clavet, Sask., writes: "Constant indigestion and cramps just about doubled me up. I lost weight; nerves were on edge; felt tired all the time. TANLAC brought back my healthy, vigorous self again; meals digested easily; cramps left for good."

If you suffer from gas pains in the stomach or bowels, dizziness, nausea, constipation, or torpid liver; if you have no appetite, can't sleep and are nervous and all run down, you need Tanlac. It is good, pure medicine, made of roots, herbs and barks Get a bottle from your druggist today. Money back if it doesn't help you. Accept no substitute.

Some very interesting addresses on the work of the order, were given by the visiting officers and by the newly elected officers, after which a light lunch was served by the entertainment committee, assisted by the Ladies' Chapter.

Alfonso Of Spain Will Visit London

PARIS, April 20. (AP)—Alfonso of Spain, who travels now as the Duke of Toledo, will leave for London at noon to-morrow on private business.

None of his family will accompany him. A member of the exiled King's entourage said he might postpone the trip at the last minute if necessary but that this would be only in case of "unforeseen events."

The Duke of Miranda announced this afternoon that Alfonso and the royal family had definitely chosen Fontainebleau as a place of residence for the time being.

Toronto Leafs Win And Lose Over Week-End

O'NEILLMEN LOSE TO SKEETERS BUT DEFEAT NEWARK ON SUNDAY

Richardson and Strong Connect For Homers to Bring Leafs 4-2 Victory.

JERSEY CITY WINS 6-4.

NEWARK, N. J., April 20.—Nolan Richardson, the lean but powerful third baseman, and Ken Strong of New York University football fame were the heroes in the 4 to 2 victory the Toronto Maple Leafs registered here yesterday afternoon against the Newark Bears. Both delivered powerful Ruthian wallops which drove in all four of the Leafs' markers.

Richardson had a fine day with the bludgeon, for not only did he drive in the first two runs, but delivered a triple and a single. Strong waited until his fourth and last appearance at the pentagon to deliver his blow, which just put the game on the right side of the ledger. The two smashes were homers in any International League park. Richardson came through in the fifth and Strong in the eighth.

Pete Stack got a pair of doubles on his first two attempts and Pitcher Art Smith came through with a much better hurling exhibition than the box score shows. In pinches Smith showed his true mettle, for he made the Bears ground out or pop up.

Smith Is Effective

The Leafs and Bears both threatened in the second after two were out. Shevlin, who played a whale of a game at first, walked and raced to third when Stack slapped a double to right. It was up to Smith, but he grounded to Herbie Thomas, who cavorted at short, as Bobby Stevens is laid up with a sore arm. In the turnabout H. Thomas singled and went to third when Hargreaves hit to right. Smith then turned on steam and made Myles Thomas, his pitching opponent, roll to the box for an easy out.

SKEETERS DOWN LEAFS

JERSEY CITY, N.J., April 20. — Jersey City captured its first game of the season at West Side Park Saturday, defeating the Toronto Maple Leafs, 6—4. The visitors took the series, three games to one.

Deshong and Hartman held the Leafs to seven hits, while the home team reached three pitchers for twelve. Rabbitt hit a home run off Deshong over the right field fence with two on in the sixth to tie the score.

Jersey City sewed up the contest in its half of that inning by scoring two runs on four hits. Morrow drove a homer in the fourth.

Al Butzberger, the youthful southpaw, was Toronto's starting pitcher. He lasted six innings, during which the Jerseys made 9 hits and 5 runs. Butzberger issued three walks and hit one batter. The local earned a run off him in the firts inning, although a base on balls and a hit batter got the left-hander into trouble in this frame. In the third inning the locals added another run on an error by Rogell, a walk, a sacrifice and a wild toss by Butzberger. Morrow accounted for a third run in the fourth when he lifted the ball over the left field fence.

Not that it matters, but there are rumors that the Cincinnati club will be sold again. The purchaser, if there is any purchaser, will never be accused of trying to buy a pennant.

What the ball players can't understand is why the Reds let Curtis "Beeville" Walker go. He was a good hustling outfielder and he hit .307 in 134 games last year. He was a fine chap on and off the field. On top of that, the Reds brought Eddie Roush out of retirement at a big salary and even Eddie can't figure it all out.

Keene

KEENE, April 20 (Examiner Correspondence)—The monthly meeting of the Keene branch of the Women's Institute was held in the Town Hall on Tuesday evening when the roll call was responded to with "My favorite flower and hints on growing it."

After a short business discussion the visitor of the evening, Miss E. Hopkins gave an interesting and instructive talk and as a result, twelve members have joined a "Home Beautification Project" to take the form of a perennial border to be grown from seed.

There followed a paper by Miss Kathleen Nelson on "Exterior Home Beautification" who stressed the necessity of clean and well kept as well as well planned lawns and gardens in order to help make Canada beautiful. There was also a demonstration of patching, but judging from the scarcity of patches on display there has been a neglect of practice along this line. The president at this time took the opportunity to urge all members to be present at the annual meeting to be held on May 5, and the meeting was brought to a close.

CLARENCE DE MAR CONFIDENT OF WINNING BOSTON MARATHON

Field of 228 Runners Toe Off at Hopinton To-day for Start of Classic.

MILES IS THIRD.

BOSTON, Mass., April 20.—A field of 228 long distance runners toed the mark at Hopkinton to-day for the start of the 35th annual Boston A.A. Marathon.

The cream of North America's marathoners were prepared to battle their way along the 26-mile legwearying road that runs through the hearbreaking Wellesley Hills.

Before the starter's gun it seemed the favorites for first place would centre about Clarence De Mar of Keene, N.H., who makes his thirteenth trip over the course and attempts his eighth victory since 1911; Karl Y. Koski, Finnish-American A.C. of New York, who finished third last year, and Johnny Miles of Hamilton, Ont., who won in 1926 and 1929, and holds the record for the course.

Two other previous winners, Carl Linder of Quincy and Bill Kennedy of Portchester, N.Y., were playing return engagements.

Miles brought 19 Canadians with him and Koski came to town with Willie Kyronen, also wearing the colors of the Finnish-American A.C., Whitey Michelsen, Frank Ward and Harvey Frick, all makers of marathon history were slated the runners up.

De Mar, who appeared strongest of the three favorites on the eve of the race, felt extremely confident to-day and said that anyone who beats him will have to "do better than 2 hours and 30 minutes" for the course. Ignoring all opponents, De Mar planned to run against his stop watch.

Without any sort of opposition last year, De Mar won in 2.24.48 or 1 minute 40 seconds behind the record in 1929 by Miles.

The Keene, N.H., veteran is an excellent judge of pace. Besides his seven wins, he has gathered two seconds and two thirds and his poorest performance was in 1929 when he finished ninth.

Crowns at Stake In Chicago Bout

NEW YORK, N.Y., Apr. 20. — Champions both, Tony Canzoneri of New York and Jack (Kid) Berg of Great Britain will clash at the Chicago Stadium Friday night in a ten round bout in which both the lightweight and junior lightweight and junior welterweight titles may be at stake.

Berg's junior welterweight crown is certain to go to the winner and Tony's 136-pound title also will be tossed into the ring in the event that Berg makes the class limit.

The Briton, a tireless, aggressive fighter who smothers his opponents with the stream of leather he tosses, probably will be a decided favorite at ringtime. Campaigning alike against lightweights and "light" welterweights, Berg has been virtually unbeatable during the last two years. Although he fights usually at 138 pounds, the Whitechapel Whirlwind can make the lightweight limit of 136 pounds without weakening himself perceptibly.

Wally Pipp dropped into town for a short visit. The ex-Yankee first baseman is out of baseball entirely. He gets his excercise at golf and admits that his game is not very good. Pipp says that Bucky Harris will have to put a winning club in Detroit this year if the club is to draw at all at the gate. Business conditions are bad in the Automobile City.

STRIKE-OUT RECORDS IN DANGER AS MAJOR LOOPS GET UNDER WAY

Seven Hurlers Strike Out Five or More Players in Sunday's Eight Games.

NATIONAL LEAD TIE.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.)

If major league pitchers can continue their performances of the season's first few games, some of the strikeout records may be in serious danger. Whether it is the changed ball or a mere epidemic or poor batting eyes, fanning this year seems to occur more often than in previous seasons, when slugging was the rage.

Seven hurlers in the two major leagues struck out five or more rivals in yesterday's eight games, and in many cases that was not enough to win or even keep the pitcher on the mound for nine innings. Big Fred Fitzsimmons of the New York Giants led the way, fanning seven of the Boston Braves as his team won 9 to 2. Fitz limited the Braves to six hits in giving them their first defeat of the season while the Giants got 14 blows to go into a three-way tie for the league lead.

In a long drawn out game which saw the Chicago White Sox whip the St. Louis Browns 12 to 6, 15 men struck out. Sam Gray, the loser of four St. Louis pitchers, and Garland Braxton of Chicago each whiffed five. With a near record crowd of 80,000 looking on Rube Walberg of Philadelphia bested Charley Ruffing of the New York Yankees 3 to 2 in a pitching and fanning duel. Walberg struck out six and allowed the same number of hits. Ruffing fanned five while giving seven hits.

Charley Root of the Chicago Cubs and Remy Kremer of Pittsburgh a'so were credited with six strikeouts apiece. Root was wild at the start, but good Cub fielding aided him in turning back the St. Louis Cardinals 4 to 1. It was the first defeat for the Cards, putting them level with the Braves and Giants. Weak base running by the Reds rendered Kremer's six walkers harmless to Pittsburgh as the Pirates won 5 to 1. Cincinnati had 14 men left on base.

Good pitching also came to the fore in the other American League games, bringing victories to Washington and Detroit. Lloyd Brown's mound work helped the Senators take the league lead by shutting out the Boston Red Sox 8-0. Earl Whitehill turned back Cleveland with seven hits, stopping all of the Indians but young Jose Vosmik to win 7 to 2. Vosmik's homer brought in both Cleveland runs and with a single left him with a batting overage of .667 for five games.

Philadelphia's two Elliotts combined to hold Brooklyn to seven blows in the remaining National League game and hand the Robins their fifth straight defeat 6 to 4, in ten innings. Homers by O'Doul and Herman were the leading Brooklyn blows.

Yesterday's Stars.

Mule Haas, Athletics—His single in the eighth scored Bishop with run that beat the Yankees, 3-2.

Charley Root, Cubs—Held Cardinals to six hits, fanned six, and beat them, 4-1.

Roy Spencer, Senators — Drove in four runs with triple and single against Red Sox.

Fred Fitzsimmons, Giants — Gave Braves only six hits and beat them easily, 9-2.

Harry McCurdy, Phillies — Pinch single in tenth inove in two runs and beat Robins 6-4.

Earl Whitehill, Tigers — Stopped Indians with seven hits and beat them, 7-2.

READING, Pa., April 20—Montreal took the opening game of the series from Reading here yesterday, 8 to 7. It was Reading's fifth straight loss.

The Keys pounded out eighteen hits to Montreal's twelve, but errors helped the Royals to several runs, Jimmy Adair of Reading and Herb Thormahlen of Montreal hit homers.

SKEETERS WIN IN TENTH

JERSEY CITY, April 20.—A sharp single by Joe Brown in the tenth inning with a man on second resulted in a 7-6 triumph for the Jersey City Skeeters over the league champion Rochester Red Wings here yesterday before a crowd of 10,000.

Rollings threw wild to first on Watson's grounder, permitting Walsh to reach second, and Brown came through with the winning single.

"Specas" Toporcer and Joe Brown, former Rochester players, led the Skeeters in batting with three hits each. Billy Southworth, Rochester manager, hit a home run in the eighth.

TORONTO HAS WON 6 TITLES

Only Baltimore and Rochester Have Better Records in Flag-Winning.

A NOTABLE RECORD

(Special to The Examiner—Copyright, 1931)

TORONTO, April 20.—The first International League war organized in circuit. Utica won the pennant. wego, Rochester, Syracuse, Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo forming the circuit Utica won the pennant.

In 1887 the circuit was increased to ten clubs, Newark, Jersey City, Wilkesbarre and Scranton coming in, while Utica and Oswego dropped out. Toronto won the flag.

In 1888 the circuit was reduced to eight clubs—Toronto, Buffalo, Syracuse, Rochester, Albany and London were the members, Syracuse won the pennant with the remarkable percentage of .723 in victories.

In 1889 Detroit and Toledo filled the places left vacant by Troy and Albany. Detroit won the flag. In 1890 the circuit, weakened by the withdrawal of Syracuse and Rochester, threw up the sponge and on July 7 passed out of business, thusly ending the first chapter of the International league.

From 1891 until 1894 it was strictly the Eastern league, for no Canadian cities were represented. In 1895 Toronto, Rochester, Scranton came in, and in 1898 Montreal joined the circuit. From 1899 till 1902 the circuit had many changes. Hartford, Scranton, Syracuse, Worcester, Wilkesbarre, Springfiled kept coming and going. From 1903 till 1916, the roster of the league remained unchanged. It was in 1912 that the league was renamed the International and it remains so to-day. Since 1920 but few changes have taken place in the circuit, Montreal rejoining in 1929, and with its million of people to draw from has added strength to the circuit.

Biggest Minor League

With over 4,000,000 people to draw from the International league is powerful and ranks third of all leagues, major and minor, in population. Reading with 110,000 is the smallest city in the circuit. Newark and Jersey City, although among the oldest members, have barely managed to get in on the pennant winning list, for each have annexed but one pennant.

In all there were 27 cities that held franchises in the old International-Eastern-New International since 1906.

Taking it from 1892 until 1930, a stretch of 39 years, the Buffalo club played 36 seasons, Toronto 36, Rochester 34, Jersey City 30, Providence and Newark 28 each, Montreal 24, Syracuse, Springfield and Reading played less than fifteen years in the league since 1892.

Rochester and Baltimore are tied in winning pennants with eight each. Toronto ranks next with six, Buffalo and Providence each won five. Newark, Jersey City and Montreal in their many years as members of the circuit annexed but one flag each. Syracuse and Springfield each won a pennant. Reading has its first pennant to win.

Great Record

Toronto club finished in first division in 27 out of 36 years. Buffalo finished in first division 23 times, Baltimore 20 times and Rochester 19 times. Jersey City is the weak member in this line, for that club had only six seasons in which it finished in the first division.

Baltimore is the only club that escaped finishing in last place and in only one year did that club wind up in seventh place. Buffalo was extremely successful in avoiding the last rung, for in only one year out of the 36 did a Buffalo team finish in last place. Rochester skilfully avoided a cellar position, for that club had only two years that it finished last. Toronto finished last but three times and Newark had the same record. Jersey City club easily captures the record for finishing in last place, for the "Skeeters" landed there in ten different years. Although a decidedly second division club, Montreal carefully avoided the last ditch, for that club finished in that place but once during the 24 years of its membership in the Easter-International league.

Baltimore set a world's record in winning pennants consecutively, for the club won seven in that many successive years.

SPORTS by JIMMY THOMPSON

WINS BY A CIGAR

Just try and make an athlete break the laws of training, that is, one who has ambitions on some crown or title. Harold Webster, now of the Hamilton Olympic Club, started out on his career by breaking every training rule that existed. Harold's first attempt was at marathon running. He apparently was just in the game for the sport of the thing and paid little attention to the rules of training and was enjoying himself on his first venture in the sport field. This particular race took place in Guelph about six years ago. At the finish Webster came plodding in amongst the also rans and to the consternation of the judges and spectators he was joyfully puffing a large cigar.

NALACS BEATEN BY THE SAINTS

Montreal Basketeers Suffer From Weakness By Lack of Reserves.

FINAL COUNT 39-36.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Apr. 20.—(CP)—Montreal Nalacs, champions of Quebec and conquerors of the Ottawa and District and Maritime Province titlists, encountered a stumbling block here Saturday night in their march to the Canadian senior basketball championship.

Meeting the local Grads, Ontario's best, in the first of a two-game series for the right to travel west to meet University of British Columbia, western Canada monarchs, Nalacs finished the first tilt on the short end of a 39 to 36 count.

Like their fellow citizens who lost out in the battle for the junior crown at Toronto, Nalacs suffered from weakness in reserves. Their opponents forced a terrific pace from the start and with heady relieving by first class substitutes were able to maintain the race throughout most of the game.

Grads gained a substantial lead early in the first half which quickly dwindled when "Ace" Cambray, flashy centre, was banished for incurrence of four personal fouls, and the Montrealers seized advantage of his departure to rally brilliantly and cut the lead to three points. At the rest period Grads led, 27 to 24.

The Ontario champions increased their lead several times during the hectic last session but they were forced to call on all the defensive resources at their command to stave off the closing effort of the visitors to knot the count. Cliff Melville, deadly shooting centre of the Nalacs, emerged the hero of the contest. He outplayed Cambray to the extent of running wild to score 17 points.

TO UNIQUE HOCKEY TITLE.

DELISLE, Sask., April 20 (By The Canadian Press).—Canada has produced many a hockey team contributed by members of one family. But the Bentley family, of this town, lays claim to the blue ribbon for producing more hockey players—both men and women—than any town on this continent—which means the hockey world.

Many will recall the famous Cook septette of which Carl Cook was coach. The family came from Southampton, Bruce county, the county which produced Mickey MacKay, Barney Stanley, Hal Winkler, Kenny McKenzie and other scintillating stars in past professional hockey ranks.

But the Cooks, as a family, are outnumbered by the Bentleys. There were were 13 in the Bentley family. Six are playing hockey to-day and the six sisters were hockey players before they were married. The brothers and sisters used to have real games—six boys on the one side with the six sisters furnishing the opposition. The girls played real hockey, too, taking their bumps with the same nonchalance as did their brothers.

Rory and Jack are now with the Drumheller Miners, star Alberta aggregation of hockeyists; there are two younger brothers with budding reputations in hockey circles, while next to them are two, younger still, who show promise of developing into stars in the not too distant future.

CRESCENTS AND BAILIEBORO ARE STILL DOUBTFUL

Decide to Leave Entry Date Open Until April 28th at Saturday's Meeting.

ARRANGE PRACTISE DATES.

Executive Plans to Hold Exhibition Game Before Opening of Schedule.

Three teams are definitely entered in the East Peterborough Baseball League, and two possible entries are doubtful. This was disclosed at the league meeting held at Duffus' on Saturday night. The teams sure of entering are the Cogs, the Rays and the C.G.E. As far as 'Phonse Brioux is concerned, the Crescents will not operate in the E.P.L. this year. 'Phonse had indicated his intention of again managing this team. Bailieboro will know this week whether they will play in the local loop or in the Lakeshore League.

Darcy Davis, president, conducted the meeting which had a representative gathering, and considerable business was cleaned up. After a thorough discussion of the entries, it was agreed to hold the date for them open until Tuesday, April 28th. By that time, the baseball situation around here should be clearing up and the various managers will be prepared to declare themselves. This arrangement should suit everyone.

It was thought that perhaps someone would take hold of the Crescents outfit and have them in the league again this year. After quite a bit of discussion, those present agreed that any E.P.L. manager had a right to sign any player he could, unless, of course, the player had already signed with another team.

Bailieboro, which has been invited to attend the Lakeshore League meeting tomorrow night in Port Hope, is prepared to enter whichever outfit is approximately her own strength. If the local league indicates a strong loop, Bailieboro will play with the Cobourg-PortHope group However, they would prefer to come in the East Peterborough League as far as travelling expenses are concerned.

Exhibition Game.

Those present last night thought an exhibition game between an all-star E.P.L. team and some strong outsider, before the schedule started would be welcomed by the fans, and also help to pay for the work being done on the diamond. The latter includes, ground rolled, new screens made and installed, and new dugouts built. This work will be begun at once.

Dates for team practices were arranged for next week, giving each team one evening at the Exhibition Grounds, and dividing the time on Saturday afternoon up so that no team will be neglected. One week night and an hour Saturday afternoon was left open for the seniors to use if they wished to.

There was some further talk in which everyone gave his views on the matter of umpires, and of playoff games. Nothing definite was done along these lines, and they will come in for more attention at the next meeting about the end of the month. It is likely that the league will begin its games around the middle of May, weather permitting. After various minor details had been cleared up or shelved until the next session, the president closed the meeting.

CASUAL COMMENT

Saturday was a real baseball day and plenty of players took advantage of the hot sun to loosen up. A bunch of boys with City League aspirations worked out in the afternoon at the James Stevenson Park.

• • • • • • •

And a whole flock of intermediate and senior ball players worked up a good sweat at the Exhibition Grounds diamond. Three practises were called for the afternoon with Cogs, C.G.E. and the senior outfit supposed to try out with their teams.

• • • • • • •

But the boys for the most part worked out in all three practises without giving any indication as to which team they would be playing with. There was a big turnout and they had a good start in limbering up muscles for the coming campaign.

• • • • • • •

Among the different pitchers who tossed them in for batting practise were Holmes, Maudsley, Kitchen, Ralph, Masterson, Hardill, and Utronki.

• • • • • • •

Some of them threw the spalding as though this was July and not April. Consequently, there'll be a few stiff arms for the next week or so. What's the big hurry anyway? Much better to take it easy for a while and nurse the arm along so that it will be right later in the season.

• • • • • • •

Art Primeau gave his C.G.E. squad a good warming up, keeping them at it nearly two hours. The pitchers, outfielders, infielders and batters all had plenty to do. Of course, Art doesn't know yet just who will be on the team when the schedule starts.

• • • • • • •

And 'Shiner" Johnston had them on their toes when he began hitting the ball around the infield. Some of the players looked in mid-season form, but most of them need quite a bit of conditioning yet before they'll be at their best.

• • • • • • •

However, there's time enough for that, if the boys will keep coming out from now on.

• • • • • • •

The Cogs are holding a practice at the Exhibition Grounds tonight at six, getting squared around for the E. P. L. race. Like other intermediate teams, the Cogs have as yet no line on how the different positions will be filled, but a few more workouts will give them some idea.

• • • • • • •

And the Rays will have their initial workout at six on Tuesday on the same diamond. And again on Friday at the same hour and place. The Rays ought to field a good team this summer.

• • • • • • •

Doug Miller and several other lacrosse players were down at the Fair Grounds Saturday tossing the ball back and forth, just sort of getting loosened up. Doug says they are holding a general practice there at six on Wednesday, and all enthusiasts are welcome.

• • • • • • •

There will likely be an intermediate lacrosse team here this year, playing with Campbellford, Havelock, and some of those places.

• • • • • • •

While this town has a number of classy players, they don't get into it with both feet like Campbellford and such places. A little support by folks interested in the game, and a good turnout at the practices, might get lacrosse back where it belongs in Peterborough.

• • • • • • •

All entries into the Men's City Softball League should be in at the meeting Wednesday night, held at 7:30 in the Board Room of the Duffus Bowling Alleys. Six or eight teams are expected in the league this summer.

• • • • • • •

Quite a bit of business was accomplished at Saturday night's meeting of the E. P. L., but entries were not closed until the 28th. Any team around here may enter the league up to this date.

• • • • • • •

Somebody ought to take hold of the Crescents team and run them again this year. The Cogs, Rays and C. G. E. are the only other sure entries yet, as Bailieboro is undecided, and the Crescents are doubtful.

TORONTO 'CAGE QUINTET WINS JUNIOR HOOP TITLE

Defeat Montreal Team for Canadian Championship on Round 51 to 48.

RESERVES COUNT.

TORONTO, Ont., April 20. (CP)—West End Young Men's Christian Association squad to-day are the newly crowned Canadian junior basketball champions. In a thrilling two game series the eight browny youngsters of the West End "Y" nosed out Montreal Central Y.M.C.A., by 51 points to 48 on the round to bring to this city the first championship of the 1931 athletic season.

While West End won the first game on Friday night, 32 to 26, they were unable to turn back the Quebeck titlists in the deciding game on Saturday which ended with the Montrealers on top, 22 to 19, just three points short of a tie on the round.

The visitors lacked the reserve strength of their opponents and this resulted in their downfall. In the first game no substitutions were made and Saturday only two players were given a breather. The Ontario champions on the other hand were relieved with regularity throughout the series and each time a Montreal rally threatened to wipe out the West End lead, fresh players were shot into the fray and they were successful in stemming the tide.

Allan Mills, brilliant guard, who arrived from Montreal just in time to take part in the second tilt, played a spectacular game despite his long jaunt and his four baskets put him at the top of the scorers. Mills, along with Captain Sammy Morrison and "Buster" Allan proved a trio West End Could only halt by consistent substituting. Coach Bus Haugh's policy of having fresh players checking these three stars proved an effective method of hampering them. For otherwise they would probably have swamped the champions. The latter had an advantage in weight and height but the Quebec representatives were much the best marksmen.

Efforts of Coach Haugh to arrange a series with teams in Regina and Winnipeg proved unsuccessful and the new Canadian monarchs, after exchanging sweaters with the Montrealers, carried home their souvenirs, through for the season with the "hoop" game.

Bucky Harris practically despaired of big Dale Alexander at first base for the Tigers last year, but he is going to try it again this season. The good-natured giant is a doletully crude fielder, but he can pound the ball when he steps up to the plate.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

BERT McLEOD RETURNS HOME FROM KANSAS

Local Druggist Has Played Four Seasons With Pla-Mors in American Association.

MAY RETURN NEXT YEAR.

Says Kansas City Has Not Suffered Industrial Depression of Other Cities.

The C.G.E. neighborhood is itself again.

Bert McLeod is back again from his fourth season with the Kansas City team in the American Hockey Association, and already many of his friends have been visiting him at his drug store at the corner of Park and Albert streets, and incidentally enquiring about the play-off series for the league championships which the Tulsa "Oilers" wrested from the Kansas "Pla-Mors." Mr. McLeod was accompanied by his wife.

The Kansas City team had a good season financially and in every other respect, Mr. McLeod told The Examiner this morning. They played fifty-six games and wound up again in the play-off with Tulsa. A year ago the Kansas City team won the championship, but the southerners came through this season, taking three of the four titular games. Mr. McLeod may return again next winter, but will reserve his decision until next fall.

Business is Good

"Kansas City has not suffered from the business decline as much as other cities and sections in the United States," Mr. McLeod remarked. "It is a great central distributing centre, with its trade lines reaching out in all directions. For that reason it has not been as sharply hit as many other large centres. It is also a hub for the air lines. Commercial aviation is a very prominent enterprise in and around the city, especially because it is one of the main central stops on the transcontinental flights. Knute Rockne took off from Kansas City on the fatal trip that ended with a crash. Rockne faced off for one of our games during the winter. Another celebrity who came in by plane was Theodore Driesser, the novelist, on his way west to Hollywood after the encounter with Sinclair Lewis, in which the Nobel prize winner took a slap on the face that was heard around the continent."

The Middle West is looking for a business revival this summer, Mr. McLeod said, and he believed its effect would extend directly into Canada. Wilfrid Ranger, the other Peterborough man on the Kansas City team, is expected home in a short time, although there is the possibility of his remaining there with the Chevrolet company. Bert said that Ranger had a good season, and was still playing fast hockey in his old position.

WINNIPEG TOILERS DEFEATED IN WEST

Win Second Senior Game 22-21 But Drop Round to U. of B. C. By 50-36.

VANCOUVER, April 20.—Winnipeg Toilers, four times Western Canada champions, passed out of the Dominion basketball play-off picture here Saturday night with a victory. They defeated University of British Columbia by 22 to 21, in one of the fastest and most exciting games seen at the coast in recent years but they lost the round, 50 to 36, for Varsity in the first game registered a 29 to 14 win.

At one time in the second half Toilers had chiselled the British Columbia champions' lead down to seven points, but Varsity took a deep breath and plunged into the battle again with a result that was all too bad for the Winnipeggers.

BIRMINGHAM AND W. BROMWICH ALBION TO MEET IN CUP FINAL

Latter Were Great Cup Fighters Early in Career, But Former is New to Code.

TANGLE ON APRIL 25TH

LONDON, England, April 20 (By The Canadian Press).—The climax of another season of English football will be reached on April 25 when, at Wembley Stadium, the final of the oldest and most historic football competition in the world — the Association Cup — will be played between Birmingham and West Bromwich Albion, two teams whose grounds are but a mile or so apart. It is strange that out of 526 clubs who entered the competition that the final should be contested by neighbuorng teams but, in the long history of the competition which dates back to 1871, there have been three previous occasions when two Birmingham clubs reached the final.

West Bromwich Albion were one of the finalists each time and Aston Villa were their opponents. Birmingham, however, have never reached a cup final before. West Bromwich, therefore, are by far the more experienced cup fighters of the two. By their victory over Everton they qualified for their seventh final and it is a coincidence that, for the fourth time out of seven, they will be opposed to neighbors.

The record of West Bromwich in their previous six finals is as follows:

1886—Blackburn 2, West Bromwich 0 (after a goal-less draw in first match).

1887—Aston Villa 2, West Bromwich 0.

1888—West Bromwich 2, Preston North End 1.

1892 — West Bromwich 3, Aston Villa 0.

1895—Aston Villa 1, West Bromwich 0.

1912—Barnsley 1, West Bromwich 0 (after goal-less draw in first match and half-hour extra time in second match).

In this season's contests West Bromwich have had the harder task of the two finalists. They had to meet Charlton three times before they could enter the fourth round and to qualify for the semi-final they had to play Wolverhampton Wanderers — another Birmingham Club — twice. Against Everton in the semi-final they played a heroic game. They had already met the Second Division leaders twice during the season and each time they had lost but against Everton, who had scored in every previous cup match this season, the "Throstles" as they are called, not only prevented Everton from scoring but themselves scored the goal which won the match. Their goal may have been a lucky one, it was shot from long range, but the fact remains that they bottled up Dean, the human goal-scoring machine, and his clever colleagues very thoroughly. With their wing-halves marking the Everton wingers they left their backs and centre-half free to watch the ubiquitous "Dixie" who was thus frustrated in many of his lightning runs down the field which so often result in goals. These tactics so rattled Everton that when chances were offered them they became panicky in their efforts at goal and were guilty of much wild shooting.

Although they have never before reached a final Birmingham have a little score to pay West Bromwich. At Small Heath, Birmingham won their way into the semi-final of 1886 when they met West Bromwich and were beaten. Birmingham may have benefited by the misfortunes of Chelsea with whom they drew 2-2 at Birmingham in the sixth round. In the replay at Chelsea the London club was unable to field its strongest side and Birmingham won 3-0. Birmingham, however, had showed their mettle in beating Liverpool previously and it is a great tribute to their defence that they have conceded only two goals throughout the cup competition. Birmingham, indeed, have one of the most stubborn and determined defences in the country. Their goalkeeper, Hibbs, takes many risks and is unorthodox but he is full of pluck and resource and even when his backs are beaten Hibbs faces the oncoming forwards with coolness and courage and often robs them singlehanded. Birmingham, as the "mystery" team of the cup, will be a very hard nut for West Bromwich to crack.

London's ill-luck in the cup competition has become proverbial. Usually blessed with the luck of the draw London teams are, nevertheless, rarely able to combat the more strenuous tactics of the northern teams and although London naturally has more first-class clubs than any other centre in the Kingdom the cup has been won only on three occasions by a London club since Blackburn took it away from the capital in 1883 by beating the Old Etonians, who were the first London team to win it.

From that time football began to prosper in the North of England. When Blackburn won it from the Old Etonians, Birmingham or Small Heath, was a minor club. Everton had just begun to play and the school masters of Sunderland had formed the team which Birmingham defeated in the semi-final this season.

Blackburn's success spurred these minor clubs to emulation and the fight for the best players, which ultimately resulted in the professional system, began. Preston North End were the first club openly to pay their players. Their action led to the formation of the Football League and to the beginning of professional football as it is now played.

SUMMER PRINCESS FIRST AT EPSOM

Winner in Great Metropolitan Stakes by Length and Half Over Dusty.

EPSOM DOWNS, Eng., April 20.—(C. P. Cable).—Summer Princess, by Prince Galahad out of Reine D'ete, won the Great Metropolitan stakes to-day by one length from Dusty, with Arctic Star third, another two lengths behind.

Sixteen horses ran the two and a quarter miles of the big spring handicap.

Summer Princess, owned by Charles Gulliver, started at 20 to one against and carried lowest impost of 91 pounds. Dusty, owned by H. Liddell started at nine to one against and carried 110, while Arctic Star, owned by Lady Curzon of Kedleston, started at 20 to one and carried top weight of 121 pounds.

The race famous "Double" with the city and suburban to be run on Wednesday, featured the opening day of the first meeting of the season at Epsom. The Great Metropolitan was first run in 1846.

Storms Over Italy Damage Crops Badly

ROME, April 20.—(A.P.)— Heavy crop damage is feared from a forty hour rain, averaging nearly two inches, which has fallen over the western part of Central and Southern Italy.

The Agricultural Institute said today that fruit was certain to have suffered badly but that immediate good weather might reduce the damage to grain. The rain began Friday night nad fell steadily until 8.00 a.m. to-day, continuing intermittently since except in Northern Italy, where the total fall was slight.

Many rivers and creeks are high but no serious flood damage is reported as yet.

BURNBRAE PLAY IS WELL STAGED

"Marrying Anne" Put on by St. Andrew's Young People Draws Large Crowd.

BURNBRAE, April 20. (Examiner Correspondence.)—A capacity crowd filled the basement of St. Andrew's church on Wednesday evening when the members of the Young People's Society presented the three-act play "Marrying Anne."

Robert Matthews was very effective in his role of Mr. Old-days a very cranky and eccentric elderly gentleman who kept his whole household in subjection including his daughter Rose (Miss Hazel McKenzie). The youngest son of the family Bob (Fred Bennett) has been forced to leave home in disgrace owing to the fact that $500 was missing from his father's safe and this was the amount needed for Bob's course in aviation. The old man gives Bob no chance but accuses him on the evidence and turns his picture to the wall.

The Play.

As the play opens, Mr. Old-days is telling his daughter and Dr. McCallum, the young family physician (Malcolm Hutcheon), that he is to be the guardian of his step-grandaughter, Anne Burns (Helen Oddie), until such time as she reaches marriageable age. Anne arrives accompanied by her friend June Edgley (Jean Craighead) and their actions and dress shock the Old-days and their housekeeper, Mrs. Chubb (Edith Gibbon).

The first two acts are enlivened by the old gentleman's efforts to get Anne off his hands by marrying her to the doctor, who clearly shows his preference for June whose Uncle Jim Edgley has still a warm spot in his heart for Rose, but owing to family difference they have parted. Anne's dress is scandalizing the neighbors and Mrs. Steele (Nellie Bennett) comes to object. Her daughter Lizzie (Fern Wetherill) just as staunch by upholds the younger generation. Mr.-Old-days surprises everyone by standing by Anne and her ways.

In the final act Anne unearths the secret of the stolen money. Mrs. Chubb had borrowed it to send to her son, Earl for the purpose of buying a house and was unable to put it back before it was missed. Anne smooths everything over and then takes her matrimonial venture in hand herself and is engaged to Bob, who returns by aeroplane near the end of the play. Leo Fry and Will Craighead took the parts of Jim Edgley and Earl Chubb in the tableau that marked the happy culmination of four romances.

A short program of songs and music was given in hour of Mr. Old-days during the third act. Special mention is due a very fine vocal solo by Malcolm Hutcheon.

During intermissions music and song were given by Miss Foster, Mr. Fred McMullen and Mr. John Storrie. Rev. D. A. McKenzie made a very efficient chairman. The proceeds were over sixty-six dollars.

POMERANIAN "FEROCIOUS

That his fall from his bicycle and attendant injuries all were due to the sudden appearance of a neighbor's black dog across his path, was the claim of a Belfast, Ireland, man in demanding damages from the neighbor for "knowingly allowing a ferocious dog to wander in the highway." In court the neighbor testified that the dog was a tiny Pomeranian, or had been, because the male member of the family had tired of its continuous barking and had had it executed. At that the judge would offer only sympathy to the cyclist.

RIEL EXPELLED 57 YEARS AGO

Rebellion Leader Removed From House of Commons—Had Fled Ottawa.

HANGED IN 1885.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 20 (By The Canadian Press).—On motion of Mackenzie Bowell, Louis Riel was expelled from the house of commons 57 years ago Thursday—April16,1874.Riel had organized the Red River Rebellion in 1869, and had been defeated in 1870 but not captured. He was elected for Provencher in 1873 by a majority of 126. After taking the oath on March 30 he fled from Ottawa.

Riel was re-elected by acclamation but the house of commons had declared him an outlaw, and he did not claim his seat. Another election was ordered and on March 31, 1875, a Liberal candidate was returned unopposed. Riel brought on another rising in 1884 and he was hanged at Regina for treason on Nov. 16, 1885.

LARGE ATTENDANCE STIRLING MEETING

One Hundred and One Members of St. Paul's Y.P.S. Hold Gathering.

STIRLING, April 20 (Examiner Correspondence).—The members of the Y.P.S. of St. Paul's Church met on Monday evening with an attendance of 101, under the direction of the Literary Department, Jerry Clute being in charge, and giving a most interesting talk on music, and the great masters from the earliest days to the present high standard.

Some time was spent in drilling on correct pronunciation of the different composers. Mrs. J. Balmforth gave the life of Beethoven, followed by Laurene Scott playing No. 4 Mazurka, one of the masterpieces of Godard. Margaret Walt gave the life of Mendelssohn and this was followed by Dorothy Joblin playing "The Spring Sun." Mr. Clute gave a short talk on Dvorak and Miss Bessie Conley sang, "Going Home," one of his favorites.

H. Hay and W. Jones contributed a duet, "The Name of Jesus is So Sweet," and the Misses Dorothy Joblin and Margaret Walt gave an instrumental duet, "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers."

A musical was staged at the close and a spelling match of the names of the composers created a good deal of amusement.

OVER ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY ATTEND ANNUAL CHURCH BANQUET

Brotherhood of St. James' S. S. Gather at Father and Son Supper.

PLEASING PROGRAM.

The Brotherhood of St. James' United Sunday School were hosts on Friday evening at the annual Father and Son banquet held in Wesley Hall, when over 120 were entertained at a sumptuous supper.

Celebrating their championship of the City Church Hockey League, St. James' team with their manager, W. K. Sloan and the teacher of their Sunday School class, Miss M. Kidd, were the guests of the Brotherhood, on this happy occasion. The Executive of the City League, including Messrs. J. H. Howard, H. T. Rehill, C. Sproats and A. Hope, were also invited guests.

A. R. Church, president of the Brotherhood, presided capably as chairman of the evening and proposed the toast to the King, which met with the usual response, the National Anthem.

St. James' is fortunate in possessing two male voice quartettes, both of whom rendered several pleasing selections. The first group Messrs. Ba'dry, Worrall, Turner and Lee appeared first, singing, "Comrades in Arms," and an encore, "The Tack," while Messrs. Prest, Osborne Moynes, and Woods, the Brotherhood quartette, sang "God bless my boy," and a negro melody "Far away in the South," with accompaniments by Mrs. Osborne.

Instrumental Numbers.

Members of the Salvation Army band, Messrs. B. Smith, R. G. Routley, T. Wells, M. Shadgett and S. J. Richardson contributed instrumental numbers, "Russian M mories" and "Murmuring Breezes" and Mr. Richardson's vocal solo, "I am a Pilgrim" was greatly enjoyed.

The toast to the Fathers and Sons was proposed by Mr. H. H. May.

Stan Church, on behalf of the Sons, spoke briefly of the pride it should be to any son here to follow in his father's footsteps.

Also from the Boy's viewpoint was the short and interesting address of Leo Copp, president of the Boy's Work Council.

In his toast to the church, Mr. Spence compared it to a tree, the branches of which are its many organizations, each contributing to the beau y of the whole.

The more beauty and service in the individual life adds to hat of the church,

Responding, Rev. A. E. Moorhouse said the church stands in a unique position in the world being above every other organization. Over fifty years ago a man declared that in half a century the church would be extinct. Is it? The boy who gets into a church or Sunday school is safe. A strong true, Christian church is a power for good, not only in the community but in the whole city.

In toasting the Brotherhood, W. K. Sloan spoke of the great blessing it had meant to the boys and men of the church. As manager of the hockey team, he also referred to the straight and square playing of his boys and emphasized the value of the spiritual side of life in all sports.

Mr. Littlefair replied to this toast saying that the Brotherhood was based upon Christ. The clay of the Sunday school is to be molded to His example. It is he aim of the Brotherhood to have every man in the church a member of this organization.

For the community singing J. Hodson accompanied at the piano, and also sang a ple sing solo.

On behalf of the Brotherhood, Rev. Mr. Moo house tendered a vote of thanks o the ladies who pre ared and served the delicious banquet. Thi was seconded by Mr. Hogan.

The hymn "O God ou held in ages past" and the benediction brought o a conclusion this very successful banquet.

Will You Need an Income of $100 a Month?

Some one has said that the sweetest words in the English language are "Enclosed please find cheque."

How would you like to have $100 a month mailed to you regularly after you reach age, say 50, 55 or 60, whichever you select? You would like to have it now, perhaps, and if you have the capital sum needed to buy such an income the Canada Life will guarantee it to you at once. But if you haven't the capital you can arrange now that you will have that income later on.

Suppose you are earning $100 a month—it may be $150, $200, or more. Whatever it is, there is part of that income you want continued.

If you were not earning, how much would continue? That is, how much of your income would go on, no matter if you earned a salary or drew pay or not? For many people the answer would have to be: "Not very much!"

It takes $20,000 capital well invested to bring in $100 a month. Under the Canada Life plan you do not need to save $20,000 in order to make sure of an income of $100 a month.

The Canada Life, with $188,000,000 of well-invested assets, will guarantee to continue that part of your income you must have later on for living expenses, say $100 a month. And the Canada Life may have to start the income going at any time to you or your family. There are no years of waiting if the need should come suddenly. That is, should you become totally disabled or should you die.

How you can provide such an income is told in our booklet, "Getting the Income You Want." Why not send for it now?

THIS COUPON WILL BRING YOU VALUABLE INFORMATION

The Canada Life Assurance Company,
Toronto, Ont.

Without obligation on my part, please send me by mail your booklet, "Getting the Income You Want."

FUTURE HOUSES MADE OF STEEL

Structures Nearly All Glass Are Three Stories High With Flat Roof.

BOLTED TOGETHER.

NEW YORK, N.Y., April 20 (C.P.). — Neighbors of those who will live in the houses of the future are going to have a nice time if they are inclined to be inquisitive. The houses will be nearly all windows.

One of these dwellings, built of steel, glass, and rubber, is on view at the Architectural and Allied Arts Exposition here. A lot of men carried the parts into the exhibition hall and bolted them together. They didn't need any nails because there is no wood in the structure.

Starting at the bottom this is how the house looks. There is no cellar. On the ground floor there is a garage, which the leisurely motorist, returning home, opens without disembarking. He just sticks a key into a post about ten feet from the door. An electric motor does the rest. If the owner or his wife are walking home they can enter through the front door, after crossing the porch, which is set almost level with the ground and is located under one-half of the second storey. Inside there is an entrance hall, a furnace room, and storage space under the stairs.

Live on Second Floor.

The occupants live on the second floor. They have a large living-room two storeys high, with windows on the two outside walls extending from about four feet above the floor up to the ceiling. The bedroom, with bathroom attached, is one storey high, and has windows along two sides. The bathroom has an exercise nook big enough to swing your arms in. There is also a kitchen with a dumb waiter extending from the entrance hall right to the third floor.

The stairs continue from the living-room to the library, which is a balcony with half the floor area of the living-room. A door leads from it to the garden, set over the bed and bath rooms. The garden is partly roofed to allow the owners and their guests to sit out even in rainy weather. It has a small lawn and two flower beds. The roof of the house is flat.

From outside the structure looks like the side of a giant all-metal airplane cabin with corrugated walls. Inside, under the wall covering, the frames and struts look like the internal bracings of an airplane wing. The whole thing occupies a ground space of 22 by 28 feet. The architects say such houses will be shipped, knocked down, for about $4,000.

Osgoode Hall Upholds Judge Huycke Verdict

TORONTO, Ont., April 20 (C.P.)—Judgment for $300 damage that Judge Huycke of Peterborough County gave in favor of J. J. Bruce Bickel in his action against Evans Blewett was sustained by the decision of the First Divisional Court at Osgoode Hall this morning.

The parties in case are Smith Township farmers. Bickel sued to recover damages for injuries done to a team of horses when they were struck on the highway by an automobile belonging to Blewett and driven by Blewett's son.

Judge Huycke gave judgment in favor of Bickel. Blewett appealed against the decision.

THE SON OF TARZAN No. 43 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

During these months, Meriem slowly learned the rudiments of apes' language, perfected herself in jungle craft and often now helped Korak and Akut while they hunted. The great anthropoid had come to accept the girl on a footing of equality, though for the most part he avoided her. The youth was always kind to her. He had constructed a tight little shelter in the swaying branches. Here she slept. The Killer and the ape perched nearby.

High in her leafy bower, Meriem no longer feared the leopard, though there was always Histal the snake to strike terror to one's soul and the great baboons living nearby who barked at any of the trio when they passed near them. After the construction of the shelter the activities of the three became localized. They ranged less widely, always returning to their own tree at nightfall. A river flowed nearby. Fish and game were plentiful.

Existence settled into the routine of sleep and food. They looked no further ahead than today. Korak had given up hope of returning to civilization. He had wandered so far inland that now he knew he was completely lost in the mazes of the jungle. Since the coming of Meriem he had found the thing he had missed—human companionship. They were friends, companions, happy and innocent children leading an idyllic life together.

The little girl idolized Korak as she might an older brother. Love was a thing unknown to either, but as the youth neared manhood it was inevitable that it should come to him, as it did to every other savage male. Meriem could now swing through the trees with the agility of the Killer himself, surefooted, lithe and fearless. Korak was very proud of her and even old Akut would grunt his approval of this little "human she."

PRIZE TABLE GOES TO MRS. JACKSON

Winning Number in Free Gift Competition Was 48.

AT COLEMAN BROS.

Coleman Bros.' competition for the free gift of a handsome and attractively novel living room table finished with Moore's Utilac, ended Saturday night at 10 o'clock. Sharp at 10.30 Chas. H. J. Mitchell of The Examiner advertising department broke the seal covering the winning number, and declared Mrs. H. Jackson, 96 McDonnel street, winner of the table, her coupon number 4" corresponding with the number exposed. The lucky number 48 was selected by Benjamin Moore & Co., Toronto, typed by them on a white display card, firmly covered by their trade mark seal, and its identity remained a secret with Benjamin Moore & Co. until revealed by The Examiner man, Saturday night.

Benjamin Moore & Co. are manufacturers of Utilac for polishing furniture and woodwork, paints, varnishes and other house decorating accessories, all of which enjoy an enviable reputation for value and quality in Canada, from coast to coast. Coleman Bros. are their exclusive dealers in Peterborough.

This competition has been most gratifying—in response to the invitation to participate without charge or purchase and in a record-breaking demand for Moore's products, all of which have been substantially reduced in price.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter

FIRST STRAW HAT.

"Signs of Spring" is fast turning to "signs of summer," with the parade of the first straw hat of the season in a northerly direction down Aylmer Street yesterday afternoon. Undoubtedly the broiling sunshine of Sunday gave the inspiration for the donning of this type of headgear, but the street critic, and in this case the street cynic, uttered such remarks as "rushing the season," etc. Unless the warm weather gives away to the much needed rain soon, the straw in the fields will never turn to green grass, and straw hats will be extremely popular and hence common this year.

BELLS ON PRANCING STEEDS

Jingling bells and prancing steeds mark the passing of the ice delivery wagon of a local company down the street. The high-stepping horses and the long sets of sleigh bells have aroused many to conjecture as to the meaning of this. Some think the tinkling cymbals are out of place when not on a sleigh in the winter season. It is at any rate a novel method, and the very nature of its appeal ought to arouse a certain amount of interest.

18th Battalion C.E.F. Re-unites In London

LONDON, Ont., April 20. (CP)—Over 500 members of the 18th Battalion, C.E.F. including 50 from Toronto attended the semi-annual reunion here on Saturday and heard interesting addresses by officers who were with the unit in the Great War. Col. E. S. Wigle who organized the battalion and took it overseas presided.

Major Arnold Dillon, suggested that there be a grand reunion when in 1932 the London old boys come to the city to celebrate.

Capt. Maddox, Toronto told of the changes in the battlefield at Ypres where the battalion made history and of the work being done there.

MURDER VICTIM FOUND IN LAKE

"Legs Diamond" Mentioned in Probes Being Held Near Catskill.

TORTURE CASE BARED.

NEW YORK, N.Y., April 20.—Catskill, a quiet little town along the Hudson River, has become the centre of two investigations, one involving murder, the other torture. In both, the name of Jack "Legs" Diamond, reputed gangster, is mentioned.

The body of a man, weighted down with a chain and a stone grate, was found yesterday in a private pond near East Fishkill, and police believed it to be that of Harry Western of Catskill, a roadhouse proprietor, who has been missing nine months. Western disappeared in August last year after receiving a mysterious telephone message. His automobile was found in Brooklyn some days later, where it had been driven by a chauffeur for Diamond.

Police said it had been planned to push the blood-stained car off a Brooklyn pier.

The body was found by a fisherman and his son, who saw the legs protruding from the mud a short distance from shore.

The story of torture was related by Grover Parks, of Catskill, a truckman. He told the Sheriff of Greene County that he was driving a load of cider along the road near Acra, where Diamond lives in retirement, when he was accosted by several men. When he failed to answer their questions satisfactorily, he said, he was beaten and the soles of his feet burned over a fire. He accused members of the Diamond gang.

Can Of Gas Explodes Two Young Lads Hurt

SUDBURY, Ont., April 20 (C.P.).—Two four-year-old boys, Billy Fournier and Jackie Fordy, were severely burned about the face and hands to-day when a can of gasoline near which they had been playing exploded. It is believed that one of the children lit a match and ignited some rags near the gasoline can.

The heat from the rags exploded the gasoline. Billy Fournier suffered the most severe injuries, being burned about the face, while his companion had his hands burned.

The Fire Brigade which was called to the scene rendered first-aid until a doctor arrived.

The boys were taken to their homes.

Snowden Will Give His Budget Speech

LONDON, April 20. (AP)—Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, has recovered sufficiently from his recent illness to make it almost certain that he will be able to stand the strain of delivering his budget speech in the House of Commons April 27, Mrs. Snowden stated to-day.

The speech, it is expected, will last two hours and Snowden will stand before the dispatch box on the big desk in front of him in the usual way. It has been suggested that he remain seated throughout the speech but this is impracticable because few members would be able to hear him.

BETTER PAGEANT IS PLANNED THIS YEAR

Splendid Reports of Y. W. C. A. Activities Given at April Meeting.

Splendid report of the Y.W.C.A. activities were given at the April meeting of the Board of Directors.

Plans have all been promoted for a bigger and better Gymnasium Pageant which will be held again this year in the Grand Opera House on Friday and Saturday, May 1 and 2. Miss Littlefield, popular physical director, reported on the many attractions of the program which included many dainty dances in pretty costumes, aesthetic and interpretive, toe and tap dances, bright and snappy exercises with many new big features, large classes working in perfect rhythm and the bandit dance by the wee tots who are always one of the special attractions. The pageant sewing committee have practically completed their huge task of 400 costumes. The advertising committee and "Y" members have been busy distributing posters and pennants and the many gym pupils are all working hard to sell tickets and crowd the Opera House for the two nights performance, May 1 and 2.

Announcement was made that the swimming pool will open the end of April. A few repairs are now being made and everything should soon be ready.

It was decided to hold the annual meeting of the Y.W.C.A. on May 18th and an invitation has been extended to Miss Ethel Law, the newly appointed member of the National staff and formerly National General Secretary of the Y.W.C.A. New Zealand, to be guest speaker.

The "Y" camp committee are already thinking and planning for Camp and reports indicate an excellent holiday for all girls who attend.

The Annual Camp Shower will be held at the Y.W.C.A. May 11, and everyone is invited to come in for afternoon tea and bring a gift for Camp. The committee suggested, canned fruit and vegetables, single bed sheets, blankets, as being especially needed but all contributions will find a place.

The Educational Committee reported that Dr. Locke had had to cancel his lecture on Russia for this season because of his long illness.

The reports of the General Secretary and Physical Director showed a busy month in every department.

Mrs. E. E. Harvey, president of the Y.W.C.A., spoke of the loss the Board felt in the death of Mrs. B. Gardiner. Her interest and years of untiring work will always be a blessing to the Association. A letter from the General Trustee was read advising the Board of a bequest left the Y.W.C.A. by Mrs. Gardiner.

The meeting closed with prayer. Tea was served.

STATUE UNVEILED TO EVANGELINE

Acadian Delegation Continues Pilgrimage in Louisiana Bayou-lands.

HEAD FOR NEW ORLEANS.

ST. MARTINSVILLE, La., April 20 (C.P.). — A statue of Evangeline, sad and lonely, stood under an ancient live oak beside her traditional grave here to-day as 150 of her homefolks from Canada continued their pilgrimage in the romantic Bayou-land of their "Cajun" cousins of Louisiana.

The statue was dedicated yesterday to the strains of the "Marseilles" and the Canadian National Anthem, with a speech by Governor and Senator-elect Huey P. Long, himself boasts of Acadian blood, and greetings from French Ambassador Claudel through the French Consul-General, Maurice de Simonin of New Orleans. Governor Long, in lauding the contribution of the Acadians, or "Cajuns," as they are colloquially called, to Louisiana, pledged his aid toward obtaining establishment of an Evangeline Memorial Park.

Grandfather Told Story.

Another speaker was Judge James Simon, of St. Martinsville, a grandson of Judge Edouard Simon, who is credited with telling the story of Evangeline to Longfellow—how the maid of Grand Pre lost her lover Gabriel in the deportation of some 14,000 of the Acadians from Canada to Louisiana in 1755, and found him again many years after when she was a Sister of Mercy and he was dying of a pestilence.

The Canadian visitors descendants of the 4,000 Acadians who succeeded in remaining in their homeland during the great deportation, had as today's itinerary New Iberia, Jeanerette, Houma, Napoleonville, and Thibodeau. To-morrow they will reach New Orleans, and on Wednesday will entrain for Nova Scotia, as Acadia is now called, where, in Longfellow's words:

"Maidens still wear their Norman caps and their kirtles of homespun,
And by the evening fire repeat Evangeline's story;
While from its rocky caverns the deep-voiced neighboring ocean
Speaks, and in accents disconsolate answers the wail of the forest."

BOAT CAUGHT IN RAPIDS MAN DROWNED

Olivers Found Guilty Of Conversion, Fraud

CHARLES IS GIVEN 3 YEAR SENTENCE IN PENITENTIARY

Prisoner Must Pay Fine of $2,500 or Spend Extra Year in Prison.

BOTH TO BE DEPORTED.

Mary Oliver Gets 18 Months' Determinate in Mercer, 2 Years less One Day Indeterminate.

HAMILTON, Ont., Apr. 21. — (CP) — Charles and Mary Oliver, who were found guilty in county criminal court this morning on charges of conversion and fraud arising out of the affairs of the defunct McKnight-Oliver Syndicate, were sentenced by Judge Thomson. Charles Oliver was sentenced to three years in Portsmouth Penitentiary on each charge, the terms to run concurrently, and must pay in addition a fine of $2,500 or spend another year in prison. He is to be deported to the United States on expiration of the terms.

Mary Oliver was sentenced to eighteen months determinate in Mercer Reformatory, and two years less a day, indeterminate deportation also being ordered in her case.

Charge Amended

Senator Staunton, for the defense moved for arrest of judgment finding fault with all three counts of the indictment. The Crown submitting, however that the indictments had been good. His Honor Judge Thomson finally amended the charge of converston slightly and dismissed Senator Staunton's motion.

"If I'm wrong, you can have me set right, Mr. Staunton," he remarked.

He then proceeded to sentence the prisoners.

The Oliver case began over a year ago when the McKnight-Oliver Syndicate, in which Ontario and United States investors had placed large sums, became insolvent. Charles and Mary Oliver were placed under arrest, but their cases were adjourned as the Crown strove to complete its evidence. Finally they came to trial before Judge Thomson several weeks ago, and the hearing lasted for many days.

Amusing Testimony Given.

During the trial much interesting and sometimes amusing testimony was given. Robert McKnight, the inventor, whose alloy steel production discovery was supposed to render the holders of the syndicate stock wealthy being described in detail by witnesses, and testimony given as to his ambitious schemes. It was declared that, among others, ex-King Alfonso of Spain wanted to "buy into" McKnight's project.

SEEDING IS OVER ON SOME FARMS

Several Otonabee Farmers Have Already Completed Their Seeding.

RAIN GREATLY NEEDED.

Spring seeding has already been completed by some of the farmers in Otonabee township. Several of them told The Examiner that this was the earliest in their recollection, but Duncan Drummond, Simcoe street implement dealer, told The Examiner this morning that he remembers one season at his home in Otonabee when the grain was in the ground by April 8, and William Anderson had finished his work a week earlier.

Reports from the country are all rosy in so far as the new agricultural year is progressing. Fall wheat and clover are in excellent condition.

One farmer said he didn't think there had been one acre of fall wheat killed by the frost of winter. The ground has been most favorable for seeding, and the crop has gone into the ground with the brightest promise—if. And that "if" is focussed on the present lack of rain. Not only are the lakes in this district depleted, but the farm wells have not filled up. Pasturage is fair, but is beginning to lag behind the lush growth of other Aprils.

MRS. W. REW GIVEN $800 JUDGMENT BY JUSTICE LOGIE

George Gillespie, Otonabee Farmer, Was Being Sued for $10,000 Damages.

TWO CASES POSTPONED

Damage Action Followed Fatal Accident to William Rew Last Fall.

Judgment for $800 and costs was awarded to Mrs. Eliza Rew, Gladstone avenue, by Mr. Justice Logie here yesterday afternoon, in her action for $10,000 damages against George Gillespie, Otonabee farmer, whose daughter, Jean Gillespie, driving the family car on October 1st, 1930, fatally injured the plaintiff's husband, William Rew, at the corner of Lansdowne and Lock streets.

Two other civil cases on the docket of the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court of Ontario were postponed to the next sittings of the court. There were no criminal cases on the brief list.

The details of the accident which cut short the life of William Rew, an employee of the Brinton Carpet Company, as he was returning to his work at the factory during the noon hour, were told at the coroner's inquest. Most of it was repeated yesterday afternoon. Mr. Justice Logie found that Mr. Rew was partly responsible for the accident in his neglect to see what traffic was approaching when he stepped from the sidewalk on to the crossing from the north to the south side of Lansdowne street. His Lordship fixed the degree of this contributory negligence at one-third, and then accepting the testimony of doctors who expressed the opinion that Mr. Rew would not have lived more than two years longer, and estimating at $1,200 the damages which should be assessed on that basis, Mr. Justice Logie reduced that amount by the one-third which he equated with the fatal abstraction of the victim, and allowed the plaintiff the remainder, $800 and costs of the case.

F. D. Kerr, K.C., was solicitor for the plaintiff and G. N. Gordon, K.C. for the defendant.

Witnesses for the plaintiff, including William Ferguson, treasurer of the Brinton Carpet Company, presented an array of evidence that William Rew was never ill, rarely missed a day from work and never complained of ill health; but that bright structure was dealt a reeling blow by the evidence of Dr. C. Waite, autopsist, who said he found a serious heart condition that was "very alarming."

Mr. Ferguson stated that Mr. Rew could have remained with the company as long as he wished. Dr. Waite and his fellow pathologists, Dr. A. G. Howson and Dr. T. W. H. Young, intimated that the deceased would probably not have lived two years;

BRITAIN DECIDES TO SETTLE ALONE QUOTA ON WHEAT

Will Not Consult Dominions Before Settling on Purchasing Scheme

ANNOUNCED IN COMMONS.

Thomas Claims Dominions' Policy of Considering Own Interests First Be Followed.

LONDON, April 21 (C.P. Cable)—The Government of the United Kingdom will not consult the Governments of the wheat-growing Dominions, before deciding on the form of its contemplated wheat quota purchasing scheme, designed to ensure use of a certain proportion of British wheat in British flour mills.

Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary for the Dominion, made this clear in answering questions in the House of Commons this afternoon.

The questioner suggested the Dominions should be consulted before a definite decision was reached.

Non Consult Dominions

"Oh, no," replied Mr. Thomas. "The Dominions made it perfectly clear at the Imperial Conference that their policy was to consider the interests of their own people first. I will not be accused of being unfair if I say that must equally be the position of this country"

Earl Winterton then urged that India, normally a wheat- exporting country, should be included in any consultations, and Mr. Thomas agreed. The events of the Imperial Conference showed the Indian representatives did not want to be excluded, he said.

OSHAWA, April 21.—A judicial inquiry into the charges laid against City Engineer W. C. Smith before the Oshawa City Council, was requested at last night's Council meeting by Alderman Peter MacDonald, Chairman of the Finance Committee.

"The charges against the City Engineer have not been cleaned up, and the conditions which exist are a disgrace to the City Council," Alderman MacDonald charged. "We should ask for a judicial investigation."

Alderman MacDonald's statement followed the report brought in by the Council in Committee of the Whole in which the charges against the City Engineer's Department were further investigated. By a vote of ten to five, the press were evicted during the discussion. Alderman MacDonald and Alderman Cawker refused to sit in committee unless the press were present and walked out with the members of the press. Mayor Marks favored the press being present.

According to the report adopted by the Council in Committee of the Whole, the Council decided to lay the matter over until the City Engineer has taken court action on the charges made against him. It is understood on good authority that City Engineer Smith is issuing a writ against the man who made the charges to the Council. Concerning the charges made against the Standard Paving Company, the report mentioned the analysis made by R. W. Hunt Company, inspection engineers, who found the samples of pavement submitted to be up to specifications.

The Weather

Yesterday's highest temperature was 77 degrees in the shade. This was late in the afternoon. While I am unable to state positively that this is a record for April, I believe it is, as a search for a considerable number of years back failed to reveal any figures that high. Wintry conditions in the West, hot and dry in Ontario, and showers and cool in the East are being apportioned to our Dominion at present.—W.P.

DEFENCE DENIES DRAIN'S STORY OF DRUNKEN PARTY

Judgment is Reserved in Damage Action Brought Against James Suggitt.

RIFLE SLIPPED.

Considerable Evidence Given as to Drinking Which is Denied by Defense.

Judgement was reserved by His Honor Judge L. V. O'Connor in an action heard before him in County Court here yesterday and which arose out of a shooting accident during the hunting season in the north country last Fall, in which Garnet A. Drain, a minor, was suing through his father, William P. Drain, of Burleigh Township for $500.00 damages and costs, against James Suggitt, Police Chief of Etobicoke Township, County of York.

J. A. O'Brien appeared for the plaintiffs and W. F. Huycke for the defendant.

The hearing which opened at 10.00 yesterday morning, occupied the whole day, and it was 6.30 p.m. before the court finally arose. Prior to the noon adjournment the evidence of both plaintiffs was heard, and also that of Doctors J. C. Smith of Lakefield and E. H. Wood of Peterborough.

It transpired that William P. Drain and his son, had arrived from the Burleigh Ranch at their summer resort, referred to as The Club House, on the evening of November 5th, 1930. Defendant Suggitt was there with four of his companions all from the Toronto district.

Plaintiffs swore that "the members of Suggitt's party were having a good, merry time, drinking and playing cards," and that they were intoxicated that night, and also on the morning of November 6th.

Evidence leading up to the accidental shooting of Garnet Drain while out hunting, alleged that the boy had gone with the party at the invitation of J. R. Price, one of defendant's companions.

The boy describing the shooting, related how he had rowed the boat across the lake. He was with Suggitt, Mr. Price and a man he knew as "Dick." They went into the bush for about a mile, and spread out. Witness was near Mr. Price when he saw something move in the bush. He told Price and they started to go over to where Suggitt was standing some distance away.

Used as Walking Cane

The boy then described how he had seen defendant Suggitt coming towards him using his rifle—a Winchester 32-40 as one might use a walking cane. He had hold of it

William T. Moffat Drowned in Eddy Two Others Saved

Marmora Township Man is Drowned Within Sight of His Own Home—Brother Swims Ashore and Brother-in-law Clings to Upturned Boat.

THREE YOUNG MEN WERE OUT FISHING WHEN BOAT WAS CAUGHT IN THE RAPIDS

Moffat Could Not Swim and His Head Disappeared Immediately Beneath the Rushing Waters — Coroner Dr. H. H. Alger Decided Inquest Not Necessary.

MARMORA, April 21 (Examiner Correspondence).—William T. Moffat, 26, of Marmora Township, was drowned at 5.30 p.m. yesterday at Cameron Shoots in Beaver Creek, when the boat in which he was fishing with two young companions caught in the rapids and upset.

His brother, Norman, aged 12, swam to shore, while Henry Woodbeck, his brother-in-law, clung to the upturned boat and was saved.

Moffat was drowned in an eddy below the shoot about 20 feet from shore and within sight of his own home. The body was recovered less than half an hour later by John Vincent and Irvine McCoy. Artificial respiration was resorted to under direction of Dr. H. Crawford for more than an hour without success.

Out in Small Boat.

The young fishermen were in a small boat and were proceeding up the rapids in Beaver Creek. Moffat was standing up in the front trying to direct the boat. It turned broadside, was caught in the rapids, filled with water, and then tipped over.

Moffat could not swim and his head disappeared immediately beneath the swirling water. In the eddies and current the others were fully engaged in the supreme effort to save themselves.

Moffat was popular in this district and the news of the drowning came with a distinct shock. The funeral will be held at 1 p.m. on Wednesday from his mother's home on the Fourth Concession of Marmora Township, to the Zion Cemetery at Mount Marmora.

Coroner Dr. H. H. Alger, of Stirling, considered an inquest unnecessary.

PREMIER SCULLIN WANTS ELECTION

Is Prepared to Return Any Measure to Senate in Order to Bring About Dissolution.

SEVERAL MEASURES IN VIEW.

CANBERRA, Australia, April 21 (C. P. Cable via Reuters)—Prime Minister James Scullin said in the House of Representatives to-day that he was prepared to return any Government measure to the Senate in order to bring about dissolution and go to the country on the vital issue of the $90,000,000 fiduciary notes bill.

The Senate last week defeated the Government's fiduciary notes bill by 21 to 6. If any measure rejected by the Senate is returned to it within three months, and is again rejected, the Government will be entitled to call dissolution of both the Senate and House of Representatives. It has been suggested there are several measures, besides the fiduciary notes bill, which the Prime Minister could utilize to bring about dissolution.

The Prime Minister also told a questioner that he knew nothing of reports that Hon. E. G. Theodore, Commonwealth Treasurer, would go to the United States to raise a loan.

Answering another questioner, Mr. Theodore told the House that expenditure on all pensions and maternity bonuses during the financial year would probably be $102,000,000.

Milkman In London Is Bandits' Victim

LONDON, Ont., April 21. (CP)—Held up at the at the point of a revolver as he was walking from an Oxford street home to his milk wagon at 3.30 o'clock this morning, S. Edwards, 429 Hamilton Road, driver for the Silverwood Dairy was forced to hand over his pouch containing about $4 cash and a quantity of milk tickets.

Board Will Repaint Queen Mary Hospital

Queen Mary Isolation Hospital is to be repainted as soon as arrangements can be completed for the work, by the chairman of the local Board of Health and Alderman Walter Stocker, to whom the responsibility has been entrusted. This was the decision made at the regular meeting of the Board, held in the Committee Room of the City Hall this morning, under the chairmanship of J. J. Turner.

The Board received the report of the annual inspection of Queen Mary Hospital. The report contained high commendation of the work which is being done by Miss Alice M. Price and her staff, and also praise for the caretaker and gardener, Mr. Clarke, on the splendid condition of the hospital grounds.

Recommendations that all the woodwork on the building be repainted and that certain repairs to the verandah be made, and also to the flagpole, received the unanimous endorsation of the Board.

Alderman Stocker suggested that tenders be called for the labor, while the paint and other materials be supplied by the Board. The suggestion was well received, and on the motion of His Worship Mayor R. Denne, it was decided that the arrangements be left with the chairman of the Board and with Ald. Stocker, with power to act.

The report of Dr. C. B. Waite regarding the milk tests were entirely satisfactory.

C. S. Stapleton, city sanitary inspector, reported four cases of scarlet fever and two of erysipelas, which he said were quarantined.

WALKER APPEALS TO ROOSEVELT

New York Mayor Would Have Removal Proceedings Against Him Dismissed.

DENIES CHARGES

NEW YORK, N.Y., April 21. (CP) Mayor Walker, denying that he "condoned incompetence and encouraged corruption" in the municipal affairs of New York has asked Governor Roosevelt to dismiss the removal proceedings against him.

In his reply to charges filed by the city affairs committee he called the city affairs committee as "an annex to the socialist party".

He makes caustic references to the two members who signed the demand for his removal—John Haneys Holmes, its president, and Rabbi Stephen S. Wise. He declared Mr. Holmes to be a "recognized leader in a group of agitators and Soviet sympathizers" and quoted a piece of doggerel which described Rabbi Wise as a man of "vast and varied misinformation."

A committee of the Legislature which will inquire into conditions into New York is ready to function as soon as counsel chooses to proceed.

PIG GOES TO MARKET

By GORDON A. SINCLAIR

VIGO, Galicia, Spain March 30.—(Copyright, 1931).—Spain put on her sunniest summer smile to-day, hung out enough flags for a Bulgarian army, lined up six varieties of cops as a reception committee, waived red tape aside and played host to 1200 tourists.

Half the pilgrims were Americans travelling in a French ship, the other half were Germans en route to South America and just here long enough for the giant "Cap Polionio" to pick up mail. The result was a babel of mixed tongues along the quay.

A streaming, squealing, fighting pig with hair long enough for membership in the House of David provided my own initiation into the country. A peasant who smoked two cigar butts at once sat astern in a smelly barge while his wife and daughter paddled it into port. Then he languidly lit a cigarette off one of the cigars, told his wife exactly where to park the barge and proceeded to enjoy life. In the barge was one brown calf and the lousy haired hog screaming his protests

First Tourists Stop At Exhibition Camp

Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Neill formerly of Toronto and now en route by automobile to Ottawa, where they are to make their new home have established the local record of being the earliest auto campers to ever have located at this tourist camp during the six years of its existence.

Accompanied by their five youngsters, this couple are not only the earliest tourists through here, but they beat all previous records by at least four weeks according to Jack Gillespie superintendent of the camp.

Seen by an Examiner reporter this afternoon, this happy little party were found living in a true camping fashion and eating a hearty meal around one of the camp fables. A substantial canvas tent was erected near by, adequate shelter from the strongest rays of the sun or from the heaviest deluge of rain.

County Road System To Have Traffic Cop

The County roads of Peterborough are to be patrolled by a traffic officer this summer, and applications which are to be forwarded to J. J. Leahy, in care of he County Clerk at the Court House here, and endorsed "Applications for Speed Cop" will be considered by a joint representation of the County Roads and Suburban Area Commissions on Saturday morning next.

The matter was first broached at the inaugural meeting of the 1931 County Council, as it was felt that traffic conditions on county roads during the summer season were such that the need of a traffic officer was an urgent one.

Reeve Leahy in conversation with The Examiner this noon, stated that the officer would be required to furnish his own motor cycle, and a uniform, which is optional. His jurisdiction would extend over the County Roads and through the connecting links of highways through villages in the county. The length of the appointment has not yet been decided upon but will be discussed on Saturday next.

COMMONS DOWN BILL TO PROHIBIT IMPORT OF FORCED LABOR GOODS

Member Introducing Measure Explains it is Aimed at Products From Russia.

LABORITES HAIL DEFEAT.

LONDON, April 21 (By George Hambleton, C.P. Staff Correspondent).—By a vote of 166 to 137 a majority of 29 votes, the House of Commons this afternoon declined to grant first reading to a private bill designed to prohibit the importation of goods made by forced labor in foreign countries.

Aimed at Russia

Commander O. Locker-Lampson, Conservative, who sought leave to present the bill, made it clear the measure was aimed at imports from Soviet Russia. As Miss Ellen Wilkinson, Labor Member acting as one of the tellers, took her position at the right of the clerk's table—indicating the defeat of the bill—Laborite supporters cheered.

"Slave drivers, slave drivers," came the shout from the Conservative benches. . . . "Friends of the British workingman," ironically added Sir Frederick Hall, Conservative Member for Dulwich.

Commander Locker-Lampson argued that the question of prohibiting the entry of foreign forced labor goods was above purely political questions. It entered the domain of right and wrong. Russian goods sweated out the life-blood of disinherited peasants. But were there any socialists refusing to accept these tainted goods?

Cites Canada's Action

He cited the "strong action" taken by the Dominion of Canada in placing an embargo on all Russian goods. The conscience of the world was outraged

First Major Vote Of Session Set For To-Day

GARDINER PAINTS GLOOMY PICTURE OF PRAIRIE LANDS

Moves Sub-amendment Asking for Committee to Probe Depression and Suggest Solution.

WHEAT BOARD ADVOCATED.

Heenan States Notrehrn Ontario is Expecting Action on Trans-Canada Highway.

OTTAWA, Apr. 21.— The Government is expected to face today the first major vote of the session. Three divisions are slated to take place, all revolving around the address in reply to the speech from the throne. Slightly more than 100 members have taken part in the debate which has been occupying the attention of the House of Commons almost since opening day. With that debate out of the way, the House may proceed with the real business of the session, it being considered of a more or less preliminary nature.

Climaxing a speech which painted a dark, dreary picture of conditions among Western Canada agriculturists, Robert Gardiner, U. F. A. leader, yesterday moved a sub-amendment to the address in reply. It called for the appointment of a special committee of Parliament to probe the causes and extent of the present depression and suggest solutions, credit assistance from the Federal Government to farmers and thirdly immediate action to relieve unemployment.

Morale Lost

Canada never faced a graver economic depression than today, the U. F. A. leader declared. The morale of the western agriculturist was lost and he feared that 80 per cent of the farmers would be found bankrupt if forced to liquidate at the present time. Drastic remedies might be necessary and he appealed to all parties in the house to shed their political coats and give undivided attention to solving the conditions.

"The banks say the farmers of Western Canada are securing all the advances to which they are entitled," said Mr. Gardiner. "If that is so, then I take it from the banks that Western Canada is insolvent; that is what the statement of the banks would indicate."

What he termed a "fair suggestion" was advanced by Mr. Gardiner to the ministry. It was that the co-operative societies of the West, which exported goods to all parts of the world where Canada's tariffs did not affect the price at which they sold, should be permitted to import, without paying duty, goods to a similar value.

The U.F.A. Leader was joined in the debate by one of his chief lieutenants. E. J. Garland, member for Bow River. He advocated the establishment of a Canadian Wheat Board and participation in international schemes to regulate the marketing of Canada's crop. It was useless, he said, for "the lotus-eaters to wrap themselves in a drugged dream" and say things will right themselves. Canada was one of the very few wheat-exporting nations that had failed to take direct action to protect the producers. Some had created monopolies, others bonused the wheat industry.

Canada, through Hon. G. H. Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner in Great Britain, had invited the wheat producing nations to confer on marketing problems How may Canada enter into an international scheme of that kind without first securing national control, asked Mr. Garland.

Help For Steel Industry.

I. D. MacDougall (Con.-Inverness) served notice on the Government he would vote against the budget if some measure of advantage were not given the coal and steel industry. Speaking in the address debate, the Nova Scotia member declared he

Princess Elizabeth 5 Years Old To-day

WINDSOR, England, April 21 (C.P.). — Princess Elizabeth, elder child of the Duke and Duchess of York, to-day celebrated her fifth birthday, arising early and rushing into the oak room at the castle, where there were all sorts of mysterious presents, which she had a grand time opening.

Most of the gifts were such as would educate as well as amuse. Among the King's gifts was a terrestrial globe, which she eagerly examined, asking to have pointed out where Uncle David and Uncle George were. Her mother, the Duchess of York, indicated the route of the Princes' return from South America.

FONTAINEBLEAU TO BE NEW HOME OF KING ALFONSO

Paris Police Fear They Have Less Chance of Preventing Assassination in City Crowds.

KING GOES TO LONDON.

Will Confer With Banker Regarding Matters of Personal Finance.

PARIS, April 21 (A.P.)—Spain's exiled King and Queen broke up their newly - formed Paris establishment to-day to seek a new home where there will be less chance of an assassin's bullet thwarting the hopes of Alfonso to return to his throne.

Alfonso before noon left the Hotel Meurice by motor car for Calais to take a cross channel steamer to England, where, gossip had it, he was to confer with his banker regarding matters of personal finance, which have been complicated by the revolution at Madrid and the economic slump in the United States.

Queen Victoria and the five Infantas were ready for the motor car trip this afternoon to Fontainebleau, where the entire second floor of the Hotel Savoy has been refitted for them. Alfonso, returning April 28, will find them already established there.

Alfonso's third son, Prince Don Juan, whom most Spanish Monarchists consider the logical heir to the throne, is en route to Paris from Italy. While Alfonso is in England he probably will make arrangements for Don Juan, who is a handsome

British Speedster To Better Record

LONDON, April 21 (C.P.).—Sir Malcolm Campbell has definitely decided to attempt to better his world's land speed record of 246 miles an hour set recently at Daytona Beach, he said to-day.

As soon as the Bluebird is returned from Buenos Aires where it was exhibited in the British Industrial Exposition, it is to be rebuilt for the new attempt, said Sir Malcolm. "I have not decided where and when, but the car will be finished by next October, and I am going to New Zealand for the end of the year. I may have a shot at the record in New Zealand, but there is nothing definite."

He said that he considered Daytona Beach the world's best racing way.

BENNETT URGES SPIRITUAL FAITH BE ADHERED TO

Premier Stirs Hearts of Listeners at York Bible Class Function.

1,200 ATTEND BANQUET.

Mayor Stewart, United Church Moderator and Other Notables Address Young Men.

TORONTO, Ont., April 21 (By Thomas Green, C.P. Staff Writer).—Pleading for spiritual faith in an age of doubt and suspicion, Premier R. B. Bennett addressed the York Bible Class here last night. For "affectations of cynicism" towards spiritual things, the Prime Minister had words of criticism. And speaking on a high plane, he urged the adoption of the large outlet of Christian faith.

A message of hope in the future was visualized by Premier Bennett. It was true that life was difficult at times and problems and difficulties seemed almost impossible of solution. But people must work on. Sorrows, disappointments, and misfortunes came; but for those who suffered from such mental depressions, the Prime Minister stated, there was the large outlet of Christian faith.

Seventh Annual Banquet.

It was the seventh annual banquet of the York Bible Class, founded in the basement of a church seven years ago by Denton Massey, present leader, with a membership of only thirty-two young men. More than 1,200 members were present last night.

Hon. W. N. Rowell, K.C., Toronto, Mayor Stewart, Toronto, Rev. Dr. W. H. Sedgewick, Toronto, Sir William Letts, Manchester, England, Dr. E. H. Oliver, Saskatoon, Moderator of the United Church, Rabbi M. N. Eisendrath, Toronto, and E. G. Burgess, Toronto, spoke in addition to the Prime Minister.

"We must aim to the widest and finest thing in life and must look for some security in the Christian faith," Premier Bennett exclaimed. "In other ages, in other lands, men have found it, some in philosophies, some in the teachings of the Far East; in all ages men have found this larger, wider view. The great thing is to have faith and sincerity of purpose in following the course you have outlined for yourself.

"The problems of life, as distinguished from the spiritual, are found in a general way to yield to knowledge and courage. In this age of specialization, man must have knowledge. With our night schools, libraries, our extension courses and our universities, there is little or no excuse for not having knowledge. Knowledge is the first requisite to material success."

It might not be given to people to acquire material success, Premier Bennett stated to his audience, "but the influence of your lives will irradiate from this city and be greater than any material wealth.

The Prime Minister went on: "This is an age of doubt and suspicion, an age of distrust, an age in which faith is questioned; an age in which some would substitute science for religion. That cannot be, for science only discovers that which really exists, and science has not yet discovered the soul.

Faith Of Our Childhood

"In this age of doubt and distrust, men, what are we thrown back upon? What are we thrown back upon but the faith of our childhood? That is a faith that means everything to us." Mr. Bennett added a poetical touch to his remarks, as he did at other stages of his address by quoting Whittier's poem "Trust."

Difficulties were great. Problems were great. But opportunities were very great. And, he went on, the only way to overcome difficulties was by leaning towards things spiritual.

He appealed against any assumption of an attitude of cynicism in spiritual matters, and added "young men, steel your hearts against it. Those things that endure come from within; of that I am certain. Unless you lay firm hold on what is abiding, life becomes a poor affair after all."

Mr. Rowell spoke of the honor done to the churches and the city by bringing Premier Bennett to Toronto. He proceeded it is significant and important to the welfare of this Dominion that we should have a Premier who so recognizes the place of religion and religious work in our national life as to break away from his onerous duties at Ottawa of several portfolios. Canadians should be profoundly thankful that the leaders of both parties realized the value of religion in our national life.

DISASTROUS FIRE HITS CALLANDER DAMAGE $30,000

Originated in Basement of Pacific Hotel—Just Recently Remodelled.

TURN OF WIND HELPFUL.

Ontario Forestry Branch Rendered Splendid Service With Pumps.

NORTH BAY, April 21.—Originating in the basement of the Pacific Hotel, Callander which had recently been remodelled in anticipation of the summer tourist trade a disastrous fire swept through the business section of the village yesterday, causing damage estimated at $30,000.

Callander is situated nine miles south of North Bay, and only the fortunate turn in the wind when the blaze was at its height, accounted for the fact that the rest of the village and the nearby lumbering community were unscathed.

Reeve Morrison called on North Bay for help, and equipment was sent to assist in bringing the fire under control.

The Pacific Hotel, owned by Carlino Bros., and lately remodelled for the summer tourist trade, was razed. Fanned by the breeze the flames leaped the Canadian Northern Railways tracks and swept from their path the Canadian National Railways station, Hurtubise's butcher shop and bakery, Yerke's restaurant and a store operated by Sam Butti of North Bay. Three families living in the apartment above the butcher shop lost a considerable part of their furniture. Station Master Keeling lost his household effects when the Canadian National Railways station was destroyed.

Turn of Wind Helpful

A fortunate turn in the wind when the blaze was at its height saved the east corner of the village, in which the Town Hall, Catholic, Anglican and United Churches and public school are situated.

The Canadian National passenger train southbound at 10.15 had barely passed through the village when the flames swept across the line. The three lines of rails were curled up, closing the line to traffic. At 2 o'clock track-layers were at work restoring the line.

Had adequate firefighting equipment been available at the outset it is probable that the damage would have been restricted to one corner of the hotel. The fire was first noticed eating through the southeast corner of the hotel, and although a bucket brigade was quickly formed, it ate a passage up the walls to the roof. Within half an hour it had spread to the whole interior and fanned by a stiff breeze it quickly enveloped the structure.

Forestry Branch Aids

The Ontario Forestry Branch rendered good service at the beginning with two pumps and a large supply of two-inche hose. The village volunteer brigade and Powassan brigade were reinforced by a detchment from the North Bay department under Chief Bredy but the famillities were not equal to the task.

By covering the front of his store building with tarpaulins and dampened blankets, C. K. Morrison, Reeve saved his premises from destruction.

The Pacicf Hotel was one of the original buildings of the village, having been erected in 1883. Remodelling was completed only Saturday last, at a heavy cost. Charles Carlino stated that they would likely begin to rebuild within a few days.

FOREIGNERS FLEE FROM HONDURAS

U. S. Warships Rush to Protect Citizens in Danger From Rebel Armies.

By Mario Ribas

(Copyright, 1931, by the A. P.)

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, April 21. — (A.P. — Foreign women and children, principally United States' citizens of Tela and Trujillo, coast cities of Honduras, to-day sought safety aboard ships in the two harbors from attacks of revoltuionary armies harassing the north coast.

The battle ship Maryland took up a station in the harbor of La Ceiba for the protection of Americans in the banana-raising regions of that district ,while the cruiser Memphis sailed post haste to Trujillo. The Marblehead was en route to the danger zone.

Several hundred Americans along the north-east seaboard were not thought to-day to have been in real danger from the rebel armies, who some believe to be in league with the Sandino insurgent movement of Nicaragua, but fear is felt that developments may increase their hazard.

The Honduran Congress last night imposed martial law on the entire country. All available troops were called to the colors, and civil guard troops were organized to aid in putting down the revolt, which the government claims is sponsored by irresponsible conservatives drawing upon disaffected laborers in the rank and file of their armies.

President Vicente Majia Colindres, in a statement to the Associated Press, said that while the Government recognized the revolt had not yet been put down, he believed it to be near its termination. He had been forewarned, he said, and was ready for its outbreak Saturday night.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 21.—(C.P.)—Robbers who followed the automobile of Benjamin Beris, president of the American Glass Company, and his wife, overtook them as they drove into their garage last night and robbed them of jewelry estimated to be worth between $35,000 and $50,000.

One piece of jewelry, a bracelet containing 2,000 small diamonds, was estimated to be worth $25,000.

MEASURE GIVEN MAJORITY OF 48, ALL DAY DEBATE

Party Lines Swept Away—Premier Votes With Conservative Chiefs.

VOTE 258 TO 210.

Barrage of Prayer Raised By Ardent Sabbatarians While Debate On.

LONDON, April 21 (C.P.).—While kneeling Britons outside prayed for a Divine "visitation upon the heads of iniquitous defenders" of the Bill legalizing Sunday movies and other amusements, the House of Commons last night passed the measure, 258 to 210, on its second reading.

A barrage of prayer was raised by ardent Sabbatarians while debate on the movie bill was progress. A huge prayer meeting was organized by the Lord's Day Observance Society in a nearby hall to synchronize with the debate and as division time approached most of those attending repaired to Parliament Square and formed groups for prayer.

Pray Out Loud

Some of these groups gathered about the statue of Oliver Cromwell, great puritan leader of the seventeenth century, which stands on the parliamentary precincts. One such group was composed of white haired old men with patriarchal beards, who prayed loud for defeat of the bill and a visitation of divine wrath upon its proponents.

An occasional loud voice would proclaim to such applause as would greet a campaign slogan: "Honor the Sabbath Day to keep it holy." Now and then fierce arguments arose between the Sabbatarians and their opponents and police had to intervene. Finally just before the division in the House the police cleared the square.

The parties were mixed up in extraordinary manner in the lobbies when the vote was taken on the measure.

Premier, Baldwin for Roll

Premier Ramsay Macdonald and the Conservative Leader, Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, for once found themselves in the same lobby, voting for the bill. Most other Conservative leaders and all the ministry voted for it. Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George was absent but nearly all Welsh members opposed it, as did most of the Scottish members save for the Clyde districts.

The measure if passed on its third reading will cancel blue laws of 1780. Until recently nullification was considered to have taken place already but a Sabbatarian enforcement campaign led to introduction of the bill to make their cancellation formal as well as de fact.

MINISTER MAY QUIT CABINET

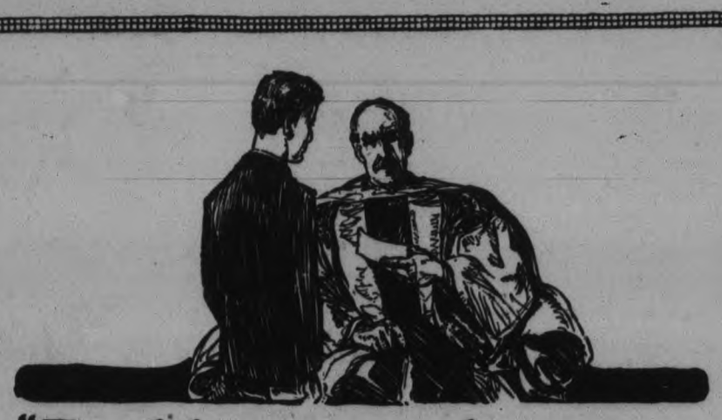
Hon. Murray MacLaren Likely to be New Brunswick Governor.

SAW OVERSEAS SERVICE.

OTTAWA, April 21. — Resignation of Hon. Muray MacLaren as Minister of Pensions and National Health is expected after the present Parliamentary session. It is reported he will be the next Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick. Dr. MacLaren served with distinction in the Canadian Army Medical Corps overseas. It was his Department that, some months ago, suddenly and without warning, reduced the relief payments to disabled veterans who were unemployed. This caused considerable embarrassment to the Government. Dr. MacLaren is a wealthy man—worth several millions — and should fit into the New Brunswick Government House picture nicely.

WINNIPEG, Apr. 21.—One of the longest sessions in its history completed, the Manitoba Legislature was prorogued at 8:55 o'clock last night by his Honor Lieutenant-Governor G. B. McGregor.

The bill amending the city charter of Winnipeg, allowing a poll tax, was adopted by the Legislature, 25 to 4. This bill was pounced on by Labor members when brought up Friday and was attacked bitterly.



"Dad has passed away, I'll have to leave"

THIS LAD must leave college with his education uncompleted. His life's plans are all wrenched asunder. Before he is fitted for it—he must go out and look for a job.

His father wanted to give him a good education. But, he failed to take steps that would have guaranteed that his son's start in life would be amply provided for — whether he himself lived or passed away.

Have you a son or a daughter whom you would like us to protect from such a disaster? We'll make a bargain with you whereby we will pay over to your son—or to you on his account—at a stated time, any amount of money you decide will be required. If you should die before that time, the money will be paid immediately to him or to his guardian.

Thus your boy will be sure of his chance in life. He deserves it, doesn't he?

It's a duty you should perform now—while you are insurable.

BARN TOTALLY DESTROYED IN SERIOUS FIRE

David Thompson of Moira Suffers Heavy Property Loss in Blaze.

CAR IS BURNED

Efforts of Bucket Brigade Successful in Saving the Residence.

BELLEVILLE, April 21 — David Thompson a prominent farmer who resides on Concession Four of Huntingdon Township, one mile north of Moira, suffered a heavy loss, when his barn, together with most of the contents, were totally destroyed by fire. The origin of the blaze is unknown but it had gained such headway when the alarm sounded, that it was impossible for the bucket brigade composed of farmers, to do anything to stem the blaze although they fought valiantly.

A large frame structure with a stone basement, it was one of the largest and mostup-to-date buildings in the district. A quantity of implements stored in the barn were lost while a car stored in a garage which adjoined the barn was consumed. Seven pigs and seven calves perished in the blaze. A milk house and several outbuildings which were adjacent to the barn were burned to the ground. Five hundred bushels of grain and fifteen ton of hay are a total loss.

The fire was first discovered by an immigrant boy who was working about the place. He informed neighbors and Mr. Thompson who was working in a distant field rushed to the scene.

The loss will be a severe one to Mr. Thompson. The damage is conservatively estimated at $4,000 although this is said to be partly covered by insurance. There was little or nothing removed from the barn before the conflagration had gained headway. It was with difficulty that the house was saved, as it was caught several times and the flames extinguished.

had promised the coal miners of that province the budget would contain something of advantage to them. He would vote against the Government if the budget was lacking in that respect.

Northern Ontario was expecting immediate action in commencing the trans-Canada hightway, declared Hon. Peter Heenan, former Minister of Labor and member for Kenora-Rainy River. It had been promised by Premier Bennett and the countary expected the pledge to be redeemed.

Canada was finding out that trade retaliation was a double-edged weapon, declared A. A. Heaps, (Lab.-Winnipeg North), referring to Russia's ban of Canadian goods as a result of this country's action a few weeks ago in refusing to accept Soviet imports. 'This country," the Laborite asserted, "has succeeded in cutting off her nose to spite her face."

No people in Canada received more 'dole' than the wealthy class, Mr. Heaps declared, predicting still more 'dole' would be forthcoming when the budget is presented.

In urging upon the House the acceptance of the Gardiner sub-amendment, A. M. Carmichael (Prog.-Kindersley) said the west was looking toward Ottawa for some measure of assistance. So far it had received next to nothing. He criticized Hon. E. B. Ryckman, Minister of National Revenue, for fixing values for duty purposes on gasoline. The purpose seemed to be to prevent gasoline entering Canada below a certain price, but prices in this country were entirely too high.

Government Packing Plant

Establishment of a Government packing plant in Western Canada was urged upon the Ministry by F. R. Macmillan (Cons., Saskatoon). It would do much toward encouraging livestock farming in the West and would guarantee a steady supply of meat products for the British market.

Confidence in the ability of the Government to solve Canada's economic ills, was expressed by J. E. Lawson (Cons., West York). A reasonable length of time was needed, however, before solutions could be enacted.

The former administration must accept the blame for the present situation whereby hundreds of employees of the Department of the Interior were being dismissed, Hon. T. G. Murphy, the Minister, informed the House. The last Government, Mr. Murphy declared, had made no provision for the employees, either in other departments or in the service of the Provinces, when the natural resources were returned to the Western Provinces. Had that been done, the present situation might never had arisen.

In replying to the Minister, Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King said the resources had not been transferred until October, after the change in governments had taken place.

Every one of the men and women whose services had been dispensed with had their names listed with the Civil Service Commission for assignment to other departments when vacancies occurred, Mr. Murphy said.

FONTAINEBLEAU TO BE NEW HOME

youngster not yet eighteen, to enter a school near London.

Fear Assassination

A special police force was taken to Fontainebleau to-day to assure the safety of the royal exiles. One of the principal reasons for the move from Paris was the fear of police that amongst the city crowds they had less chance of preventing assassination.

In this connection some comment has been aroused here by a Marseilles dispatch to the Paris Midi which says that a Spaniard, badly burned about the face and in a hospital there, had to leave Spain precipitately after he had distributed tracts, just before Alfonso's departure, demanding the Monarch's death.

His name was given as Vicinte Broton, born in Seville in 1903. He maintains that he was burned while stoking aboard ship, but since he refused to give either the name of the vessel or its master, police are investigating on the hypothesis that he may have been injured by a premature explosion of a dynamite cartridge.

Scotland Yard On The Job.

LONDON, April 21 (C.P.)—Scotland Yard to-day made every preparation for the protection of Alfonso, Duque de Toledo, who is expected in London late to-day from Paris.

A strong force of uniformed detectives was assigned to the Victoria Station to guard against any possible attempt against his life. Most of these officers were strong-armed men, acquainted with international desperadoes who might like to drop a bomb in his path.

In view of the privacy of his visit there will be nothing in the way of official greeting, but he probably will be welcomed by a few of his Spanish friends and perhaps some member of the British Royal Family.

One of the numerous unconfirmable reports current to-day was ...at business with his banker is bringing him here.

THURLOW RESIDENT CELEBRATES 91ST BIRTHDAY AT HIS HOME

James Balcanquel, Former President of Cheese Factory and Political Candidate.

BORN IN THIS COUNTRY

BELLEVILLE, April 21—One of Hastings county's oldest residents and one of the most highly respected citizens of Thurlow township yesterday passed his 91st milestone. James Balcanquel, who for years was a force in politics, industry and church work in the county, was yesterday and to-day receiving the congratulations of his friends for miles around in the country as well as the city.

Mr. Balcanquel has not been well for the past six or seven months and has been confined to his bedroom. But old age and infirmity has not conquered his indomnitable spirit and, although suffering slightly from deafness is in complete control of his faculties. "I was born in this country," he said, "but my people came from Scotland and settled in Tyendiaga. Just to show you how progress has been made with the years it took my parents seven weeks to make the journey by boat. The craft ran into a stiff headwind and was blown a hundred miles out of its course. They thought they would never arrive here, they told me."

Building a home in Tyendinaga township, Mr. and Mrs. James Balcanquel, his parents, later moved into Thurlow and bought the home where Mr. Balcanquel now lives with his son-in-law, Ernest Leavens. Mr. Balcanquel has resided in the home for over half a century and when he retired sold out to his son-in-law just as he had bought the farm from his father.

Has Had Busy Life

James Balcanquel has had a busy life. President of a cheese factory, and elder for years in the church and a candidate for Dominion parliament as well as being a farmer, he has not wasted much time during his long life. The home in which he now lives with the Leavens is in wonderful condition and is one of the finest looking houses along the 4th.

For thirteen years Mr. Balcanquel was president of the Bronk Cheese Factory, which is located near his home, and for a great many more years was a member of the board of directors. He was also president of the Belleville Cheese Board. He was a member of the then Presbyterian Church, now United, and an elder of that body. Mr. Balcanquel always took a devout interest in church work a characteristic of Scottish people.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, April 21.—There were no signs of improvement on the local butter market yesterday, and the dullness that has held for some time was more than ever in effect. Prices were lower, but there was no trading, and conditions were not improved any by the decided weakness at Montreal. Yesterday brokers in the Quebec city were quoted finest creamery solids at 23c, with the prospect of even lower levels. Toronto brokers were asking the nominal prices of 28c for No. 1 creamery and 27c for No. 2 with no buyers interested. Production in Ontario has recently increased to a great extent, and with the approach of the grass season owners of butter have become panicky at the lack of interest from buyers. With conditions similar to those of the last two weeks there can be no way of telling what will happen when some of the buyers find it necessary to look for supplies, though it begins to look as if buyers will be able to stock up very cheaply.

Cream

The country cream shipper naturally suffers when the butter market takes a tumble, but yesterday prices were about steady, with the decrease reported last week-end. The top prices of the range were reduced 1c per pound fat, making a closer spread but further reductions can be expected this week. The market yesterday was 29c to 30c for special, 28c to 29c for No. 1 and 25c to 26c for No. 2 f.o.b. country points.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 21.—Confronted by at least a partial break-up of drought conditions in the spring wheat belt and by unsettlement of the securities market, grains slid downhill yesterday. Bearish sentiment was increased by talk that the 1931 winter wheat crop would equal in size any ever raised in Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma, and that Texas, Missouri and New Mexico production would exceed all records. Substantial decreases shown both in the United States and Canadian wheat visible supply total failed to act as a counter-balance.

Wheat closed nervous, ⅛ to 1⅜ cents lower; corn ¼ to ⅞ cents down; oats ¼ to ½ cent off, and provisions unchanged to 10 cents decline.

MONTREAL, April 21.—Another 2-cent cut was made in the price of butter on the produce and dairy market here yesterday. The butter decline was the only change on the market, egg, cheese and potato quotations all holding unchanged.

Having lost from 6 to 6¾ cents last week, fresh and regraded No. 1 finest butter started the week with a 2-cent decline at 23 cents a pound. Some dealers claimed that prices were slightly lower, but the majority quoted prices at 23 cents. To retailers solids and prints were unchanged at 28 and 29 cents a pound, respectively. Receipts were 327 boxes.

Carlot prices of fresh Ontario and Prairie eggs were quoted at 23 cents for extras, 21 cents for firsts and 18 to 18½ cents a dozen for seconds. British Columbia fresh extras, in carlots, were 23½ to 24 cents; firsts 21½ to 22 cents, and seconds 18½ to 19½ cents a dozen. To retailers quotations were unchanged. Receipts were 1,311 cases.

Ontario colored cheese was quoted at 10¼ cents a pound and receipts were 117 boxes.

New Brunswick Green Mountain potatoes, in carlots, were quoted at 80 cents per 80-pound bag, and to retailers 90 cents.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, April 21.—Disappointing week-end export demand, coupled with reports of rains in sections of the spring wheat territory, had a depressing effect on values in the wheat pit here yesterday. At the close prices were 1¼c to 1½c lower than Saturday's final figures.

No estimate was available of the week-end export transactions which were extremely light. The market opened fractionally higher, but a decline set in, which held to the close.

Indifferent demand featured various grades of cash wheat trading. Offerings were light at unchanged spreads.

Coarse grain sales were confined to barley for export, and oats for domestic use. Futures prices moved in sympathy with wheat.

THE BETTER WAY TO PREVENT CONSTIPATION

YOU MUST look out for the health of your family. Often a faulty diet leads to constipation. Headaches, dizziness, loss of energy follow. Husband and children become irritable. Serious disease may develop.

You can prevent this by including roughage in the diet. A pleasant way to supply this roughage is with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, a delicious ready-to-eat cereal.

Two tablespoonfuls daily, for each person, will prevent and relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. In severe cases, use with each meal. Do this instead of giving them habit-forming pills and drugs.

ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron to enrich the blood and lend color to cheeks and lips. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Hastings Will Have Power In Near Future

HASTINGS, April 21. — (Examiner Correspondence).—From good authority, it is learned that the Hydro have overcome the last obstacle in bringing the line to Hastings. It is some months since the voters passed the Hydro by-law, but the Council and Hydro have had many an obstacle to get over before making the start. The material has been here for some time. The officials were here last week and made arrangements with the property owners for placing the poles on their properties. They intend to bring the line along the highway as far as the four corners, then enter the fields. Work will start, it is rumored, about Tuesday.

EVERY HOUR

During the year 1930—in the Province of Ontario alone—in every hour between midnight and dawn one person was injured by motor traffic.

IN ADDITION to the number of persons reported injured during the year, there were also 525 deaths due to motor accidents.

Over 1,500 more persons were injured by motors in 1930 than in 1929.

These figures have an interest for every car owner. When the next hour strikes—will you have added to the accident record? However careful a driver you may be, it always pays to secure the fullest and most comprehensive form of Insurance.

Dominion of Canada's General Insurance policies offer complete and impregnable coverage for every form of motoring risk. Better still—they are "all Canadian."

THE 21ST BATTALION.

The 21st Battalion is one unit of the Canadian Expeditionary Force that is actuated by the feeling that the associations and comradeship formed in the years of the world conflict should be maintained in the piping days of peace.

The formation of a battalion club, which has one of its most active branches in Peterborough, has kept the spirit of the 21st alive, and to-day, more than twelve years after the end of the war, there is among the veterans of the Eastern Ontario battalion the same espirit-de-corps that made it one of the crack fighting units of the Canadian army.

That has been exemplified once again by the enterprise of the local club in making it possible to hear the beloved war-time padre of the 21st, Major W. E. Kidd, who not only preached at the annual church parade of the Canadian Legion on Sunday morning and to his old comrades from his battalion in the evening, but remained over to address the Rotary Club yesterday.

The personality of the chaplain, it may be suggested in passing, doubtless has had more than a little to do in perpetuating the spirit of the battalion.

He impressed himself upon local citizens as a man whose teaching and example could not fail to strengthen the morale of any body of men with whom he was thrown into contact.

RUSSIA'S REPRISAL.

The action of the Russian Government in ordering its trade commissioners to make no further purchase of Canadian goods and to boycott Canadian shipping should occasion no surprise.

Canada could expect nothing else.

Having notified the Soviet Government that everything that Russia had been supplying to this country would be shut out, it was inevitable that there would be Soviet reprisals.

The Bennett Government naturally took this latest development into consideration when it decided upon the embargo against Russian products; it knew that the loss of what export trade had been going to Russia would as a matter of course follow Canada's action, and it took the position that the sacrifice of that business was worth while in view of its belief that the only way of handling the Russian problem was for the rest of the world to quit dealing with the Soviet.

Several million dollars of Canadian export trade will disappear as a result of the Russia reprisal policy, but Mr. Bennett will undoubtedly argue that that price was little enough to pay for the satisfaction of knowing that this country has supplied leadership to the world in the face of a crisis of tremendous importance to civilization.

ILLEGAL FISHING.

The incident recorded in the news columns yesterday of a dog dragging a parcel containing two lunge heads throws a bright light upon conditions that deserve the attention of the fish and game authorities.

The canine prowler produced evidence of illegal fishing that fits in with the stories coming from district waters of muskies being speared in the shallows of the Kawarthas.

These stories are circumstantial, it is true, but there is no reason to doubt that the peculiar conditions prevailing at present are lending themselves to a great deal of illegal taking of fish.

Even with extra wardens it is a difficult matter to completely prevent that sort of thing, but it is the duty of the Government to take more than the usual precautions against poaching and at the same time the duty of the public generally to discourage this annual destruction of game fish.

There would not be a great deal of damage done were there not commercial possibilities to this illegal fishing.

If the fish spearing gentry had no market for their catch their activities would be materially curtailed.

No good citizen, therefore, will lend himself to the illegal slaughter of fish by buying from the men who make a practice of bagging muskies and bass at this season of the year.

NOT CANADA'S AFFAIR.

It is surely not Canada's business to protest to the League of Nations against the use of St. Pierre and Miquelon as a base of supply for illicit liquor traffic to the United States.

The islands in question belong to France; the party injured by the traffic complained of is the United States.

If there are to be protests they should come from the country directly affected, and not as the conference of the Evangelical Church appears to think from Canada.

We in this country have done our full share to help the United States enforce its prohibition law.

We have maintained our own self-respect by tossing away the millions of dollars of revenue that came into the national revenue from the liquor trade as a result of shipments into the United States, and we have ordered that such shipments into the neighboring Republic must cease.

That is all that reasonable people could expect.

We cannot logically be asked to follow shipments of Canadian liquor all over the world to keep it from reaching American consumers, nor to endanger friendly relations with other countries because American dry forces are unable to enforce prohibition.

If Canadian liquor is reaching the United States by way of St. Pierre it is up to the American Government to do the protesting; certainly by no stretch of the imagination is it any business of Canada.

FISHING.

To some people there is no sport like fishing—especially when there is a chance of getting a fighting game fish on the end of a steel pole and 18-pound test line; but to others the sport made famous by Isaac Walton is only a pain in the neck and the hot sun is unbearable to them as they sit in an open boat and dangle a pole over the side for hours without getting a bite.

The Fenelon Falls Anglers' Association considers that the majority of people like fishing, however, for in seeking to conserve the fish it thinks it is doing the one thing that will aid the tourist industry most. Much of Fenelon Falls' prosperity depends on the tourist business in the summer months, and the move of the Anglers' Association to shorten the fishing season fifteen days shows that this is one village anyhow that would rather continue its tourist trade for some years than let all the present tourists have a wonderful time for a few years killing off the lunge and bass that make this district famous.

Whether or not this is a "bromide," and whether or not you think it is a story that has been worn out, we think the story of the goose and the golden eggs is too applicable here to be passed by. The man turned his goose inside out so that he could get all the golden eggs without waiting, but the Fenelon Falls people do not show signs of approving of turning their lakes and rivers inside out so that all the fish will be caught and served within a few years. And Fenelon Falls is one of the best tourist centres in the district and should know.

A shorter fishing season is a debateable question as anyone will know if he has had any interest in the dozens and dozens of meetings held in this country in the past few years. The Fenelon Falls organization's point seems to be well taken, however, and should ad-tourists at heart—unless the hotel-keepers and others tourists at heart—unless the hoel-keepers and others who like to keep the tourists with them as long as possible start raising a protest about the beginning and end of the fishing season being too close together.—Lindsay Post.

NO "DOLE" IN CANADA.

The Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada, will receive loyal and enthusiastic commendation from every self-respecting Canadian for his decisive rejection of the appeal made to him by a delegation representing the Workers' Unity League of Canada demanding the establishment of unemployment insurance on a non-contributory basis. The Premier's answer was direct, clear and emphatic. "We will not put a premium on idleness, and we will not put our people on the "dole," he declared. It will be some satisfaction to Canadians to learn that the vast majority of the members of the delegation had been born in Central Europe and other European countries, and who had imbibed their ideals of citizenship from these countries. It is simply gross effrontery for men of this type to appear before the Canadian Government demanding that they be supported in idleness by the labor of diligent and thrifty Canadian workers.

There may be good reason for the establishment of unemployment insurance in Canada on a contributory basis, under which workers, employers and the Government would all contribute. The establishment of such a scheme, however, would be designed to carry workers through a period of unemployment, and should be of such a character as to give no encouragement, whatever, to idleness and disinclination to work. The delegation put their request in the form of a demand, and it was very fitting that Premier Bennett should be equally positive and explicit in his refusal. Speaking in the House of Commons, the Premier explained that he had been urged by the deputation to prevent, by statute, all voluntary agencies, such as churches, charitable and social organizations, from continuing their benevolent work in the communities. It is very evident that demands of this character do not originate from loyal and patriotic Canadian citizens, but from those who are imbued with communistic ideals and who do not hesitate to take what belongs to others.

For a young country, Canada has been exceedingly generous in the enactment of paternal legislation, but an overwhelming majority of Canadians will draw the line very sharply at the demand for the establishment of a system of "dole." The principle of unemployment insurance in Britain has been grossly abused until it has degenerated into this pernicious system. This has proved to be a heavy millstone around the neck of industry, thrift and national prosperity, and has served to promote idleness and a dislike of work. The British people realize the injustice and evil of the system and are endeavoring to amend it. The people of Canada have no desire to see the principle established in this country. The system of unemployment insurance on a proper basis may be necessary to provide against emergencies, but people must learn to provide for themselves by practising thrift and laying aside something for the proverbial "rainy day." When this principle was recognized and practised by the pioneers of Canada there was no need for a "dole." An idle, thriftless class is no asset to Canada, and a few more deportations of this sort of agitator might have a wholesome effect.—Brantford Expositor.

TANAR OF PELLUCIDAR

BY

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

"Do you believe him?"

"There was no other way in which he could enter the land of the Coripies," replied one of the captors.

"Perhaps he was leading a party in to slay us," said the creature in the niche. "Go, many of you, and search the corridors and the tunnels about the Well of Sounding Water." Then the creature turned to Tanar's captors. "Take this and put it with the others; we have not yet enough."

Tanar was now again placed upon the back of a Coripi, who carried him across the grotto and up one of the pathways cut into the face of the limestone wall. Ascending this pathway a short distance, the creature turned into one of the cave openings, and Tanar found himself again in a narrow, dark, winding tunnel.

As the Coripi bore him through the long tunnel, Tanar thought of the statement of the creature in the niche, to the effect that there were not yet enough. What did he mean? Enough of what? Enough prisoners? And when there were enough, to what purpose would they be devoted?

How far the tireless Coripi bore Tanar, the Sarian could not guess, but presently they emerged into a dimly lighted grotto, before the narrow entrance to which squatted a dozen Coripies. Within the chamber were a score more and one human being—a man with sandy hair, close-set eyes and a certain mean, crafty expression of countenance that repelled the Sarian immediately.

"Here is another," said the Coripi who had carried Tanar to the cavern, and with that he dumped the Sarian unceremoniously upon the stone floor at the feet of the dozen Coripies who stood guard at the entrance.

With tooth and claws they severed the bonds that secured his wrists and ankles.

"They come slowly," grumbled one of the guards. "How much longer must we wait?"

"Old Xax wishes to have the greatest number that has ever been collected," remarked another of the Coripios.

"But we grow impatient," said the first speaker. "If he makes us wait much longer he may be one of the number here himself."

"Be careful," cautioned one of his fellows. "If Xax heard that you had said such a thing as that, the number of our prisoners would be increased by one."

As Tanar arose to his feet, after his bonds were severed, he was pushed roughly toward the other inmates of the room, who he soon was to discover were prisoners, like himself, and quite naturally the first to approach him was the other human captive.

"Another," said the stranger. "Our numbers increase but slowly, yet each one brings us closer to our inevitable doom and so I do not know whether I am sorry to see you here or glad because of the human company that I shall now have. I have eaten and slept many times since I was thrown into this accursed place and always nothing but those hideous, mumbling things for company. How I hate and loathe them, yet they are in the same predicament as we for they, too, are doomed to the same fate."

"And what may that be?" asked Tanar.

"You do not know?"

"I may only guess," replied the Sarian.

"These creatures seldom get flesh with warm blood in it. They subsist mostly upon the fish in their underground rivers and upon the toads and lizards that inhabit their caves. Their expeditions to the surface ordinariy yield nothing more than the carcasses of dead beasts, yet they crave flesh and warm blood. Heretofore they had killed their condemned prisoners one by one as they were available, but this plan gave a mouthful of flesh to a very few Coripies.

"Recently Xax hit upon the plan of preserving his own condemned and the prisoners from the outer world until he had accumulated a sufficient number to feast the entire population of the cavern of which he is chief. I do not know how many that will be, but steadily the numbers grew and perhaps it will not be long now before there are enough of us to fill the bellies of Xax's tribe."

"Xax!" repeated Tanar. "Was he the creature sitting in the niche in the great cavern to which I was first taken?"

"That was Xax. He is ruler of that cavern. In the underground world of the Buried People, there are many tribes, each of which occupies a large cavern similar to that in which you saw Xax. These tribes are not always friendly and most of the prisoners that you see in this cavern are members of other tribes, though there are a few from the tribe of Xax who have been condemned to death for one reason or another."

"And there is no escape?" asked Tanar.

"None," replied the other. "Absolutely none; but tell me who are you and from what country? I cannot believe that you are a native of Amiocap, for what Amiocapian is there who would need ask questions about the Buried People?"

"I am not of Amiocap," replied Tanar. "I am from Sari, upon the far distant mainland."

"Sari! I never heard of such a country," said the other. "What is your name?"

"Tanar, and yours?"

"I am Jude of Hime," replied the man. "Hime is an island not far from Amiocap. Perhaps you have heard of it."

"No," said Tanar.

"I was fishing in my canoe, off the coast of Hime," continued Jude, "when a great storm arose which blew me across the waters and hurled me upon the coast of Amiocap. I had gone into the forest to hunt for food when three of these creatures fell upon me and dragged me into their underworld."

"And you think that there is no escape?" demanded Tanar.

"None — absolutely none," replied Jude.

Imprisoned in the dark, illy lighted, poorly ventilated cavern weighed heavily upon Tanar of Pellucidar, and he knew that it was long, for he had eaten and slept many times and, though other Coripi prisoners were brought from t me to time, there seemed not to be enough to satisfy Xax's craving for flesh.

Tanar had been glad of the companionship of Jude, though he never thoroughly understood the man, whose sour and unhappy disposition was so unlike his own. Jude apparently hated and mistrusted everyone, for even in speaking of the people of his island he mentioned no one except in terms of bitterness and hatred, but this attitude Tanar generously attributed to the effect upon the mind of the Himean of his long and terrible incarceration among the creatures of the underworld, an experience which he was fully convinced might easily effect and unbalance a weak mind.

Even in the breasts of some of the Coripi prisoners Tanar managed to arouse sentiments somewhat analogous to friendship. Among the latter was a young Coripi named Mow from the grotto of Ictl, who hated all the Coripies from the grotto of Xax and seemed suspicious of those from other grottoes. Though the creatures seemed endowed with few human attributes or characteristics, yet it was apparent to Tanar that they set a certain value upon companionship, and being denied this among the creatures of his own kind, Mow gradually turned to Tanar, whose courageous and happy spirit had not been entirely dampened by his lot.

Jude would have nothing to do with Mow or any other of the Coripies and he reproached Tanar for treating them in a friendly manner.

"We are all prisoners together," Tanar reminded him, "and they will suffer the same fate as we. It will neither lessen our danger nor add to our peace of mind to quarrel with our fellow prisoners, and I, for my part, find it interesting to talk with them about this strange world which they inhabit."

And, indeed, Tanar had learned many interesting things about the Coripies. Through his association with Mow, he had discovered that the creatures were color blind, seeing everything in blacks and whites and grays through the skin that covered their great eyeballs. He learned also that, owing to the restricted amount of food at their command, it had been necessary to restrict their number, and to this end it had become customary to destroy women who gave birth to too many children, the third child being equivalent to a death sentence for the mother.

He learned also that, among these unhappy Coripies, there were no diversions and no aim in life other than eating. So meager and unvaried was their diet of fish and toads and lizards that the promise of warm flesh was the only great event in the tiresome monotony of their existence.

Although Mow had no words for love and no conception of its significance, Tanar was able to gather from his remarks that this sentiment did not exist among the Buried People. A mother looked upon each child as a threat to her existence and a prophecy of death, with the result that she loathed children from birth; nor is this strange when the fact is considered that the men chose as the mothers of their children the women whom they particularly loathed and hated, since the custom of destroying a woman who had borne three children deterred them from mating with any female for whom they might have entertained any degree of liking

When not hunting or fishing, the creatures squatted around upon their haunches staring stupidly and sullenly at the floor of their cavern.

"I should think," said Tanar to Mow, "that, confronted by such a life, you would welcome death in any form."

The Coripi shook his head. "I do not want to die," he said.

A Thought

FIDELITY

Be true to thy friend. Never speak of his faults to another, to show thy own discrimination; but open them all to him, with candor and true gentleness. Forgive all his errors and his sins, be they ever so many; it do not excuse the slightest deviations from rectitude. Never forbear to dissent from a false opinion, or a wrong practice, from mistaken motives of kindness; nor seek thus to have thy own weakness sustained; for these things cannot be done without injury to the soul.—Mrs. Child.

What To-day Means To You

"TAURUS"

If April 21st is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. and from 8 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 12:10 p.m. to 1:50 p.m. and from 6 p.m. to 7:45 p.m.

Although April 21st is, from an astrological viewpoint, good for new ideas, and fresh interests, the mind will be less acute and efficient than usual. Opportunities will present themselves, and success or failure depends entirely on their reception. A change, affecting business interests, is foreshadowed.

Children born on this April 21st will possess great ability and natural aptitude. They will be heavy readers, industrious students, and intelligent workers. They will be shrewd, careful, and take very few false steps. They are made for success, and, in addition, their dispositions will compel happiness.

Born on April 21st, you have a very peculiar temperament, a deep nature, and hard to comprehend. You are secretive and cautious, and are never happier than when mixed up in some intrigue. You are to be trusted, yet few wish to confide in you. Trustworthy though you be, there are not many willing to trust you. Fatalistic in your ideas and conceptions, you take risks that others would avoid, and rather live for the day than for the future.

You are a rather merciful judge of your own acts. Others, however, who err can never expect leniency at your hands. You are inflexible and stern and can without a qualm see others suffer, if in your opinion, they deserve it. To your friends, and these are very few, you are loyal and steadfast. The signs denote that material success awaits you. This success, when it comes, will lack the comforting accompaniment of well wishers. You are, in later life, destined to travel extensively, and under this mellowing influence, your outlook will change, and spontaneity and naturalness will gradually wear away reserve and coldness.

Your home life does not hold out much promise of happiness during its early years. Later on, however, you will learn to appreciate, in thought, word and action, the affection and devotion of your family, and happiness will prevail.

MANUFACTURERS TO MEET IN CITY

Ontario Branch of C. M. A. to Meet in Peterborough Wednesday, April 29.

CIRCULAR SENT OUT.

News has come from the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Toronto, that the annual meeting of the Ontario Division will be held in the Empress Hotel, Peterborough, on Wednesday, April 29, commencing with luncheon at 1 p.m. The letter was received by the local branch of the Association from J. M. McIntosh, Secretary, and G. R. Kerr, Chairman.

The following is an extract from the circular sent around to the various branches of the C.M.A. in Ontario:

"This will be the first occasion on which your Association has been able to arrange a meeting of such importance in this very interesting industrial center in the easter portion of the Province.

"Your Executive Committee hopes that it will attract many visitors to Peterborough from places within convenient travelling distance either by rail or motor, and that members who may have business to transact in Peterborough will arrange their visits so as to coincide with this meeting.

"Our members in Peterborough will extend a most cordial welcome to all who attend. This event will provide an excellent opportunity for an interchange of views in respect to the industrial situation.

The importance of this city as a meeting ground for many of the organizations of the Province is being more and more realized. With the baseball convention held a few weeks ago and the International Plowing Match coming very shortly now, Peterborough is receiving its share of visitors, and hence popularity.

Lakefield

Mrs. Agnes Patterson has returned to the village after spending three weeks with friends in Peterborough.

Miss Thelma Huggins, of Peterborough, was the guest o Mr. and Mrs. T. Junkin, this week.

Mrs. E. D. Bailey was in Toronto last week for a few days.

Mr. and Mr . Andrew Wilson were in the village from Young's Point on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Casement, of Madoc, were visiting friends in the village last week.

Mrs. S. Nicholls, of Smith, is the guest of Miss Nelson.

Mrs. F. J. Tate and Mrs. E. R. Tate were in Peterborough on Friday.

Mr. Wellington Macdonald was badly injured when he fell off the roof of Mrs. John Hull's residence on Bridge St. on Friday morning, breaking his hip and his ankle. As Mr. Macdonald is an elderly gentleman he will be laid up for some time.

The fire brigade was called out on Wednesday to a grass fire at Mr. M. Hampton's on Smith St. The dry condition of things this spring has made the annual grass burning an undertaking fraught with considerable hazard. Rain is badly needed in this district.

A gang of workmen have been sweeping the main streets of the village and making ready the road surface for the oil which will be put on later in the season. Dead leaves have been cleaned from the gutters and the improvement is very great.

The W.A. of St. John's Church has closed for the season and shipped a large bale to the Mackay Indian school, western Canada. For several years the bale has been sent to this school with clothing, etc., for the children.

Issues Recommended As Good Purchases

Dominion Bridge, Dominion Stores, Montreal Power and National Breweries Among Those Named.

It is an accepted fact that when one is very close to a situation, he loses his perspective, and it will be recalled that in the last bull market, many executives sold out holdings in their own companies considerably before the big rise got under way.

Standard Statistics, Inc., viewing Canadian conditions from across the border, expresses an opinion on business here that is well worth perusing. They say that, viewed from the standpoint of industrial conditions, the position of Canada is somewhat analogous to that of the United States. The indirect stimulation provided by active protectionist policies, however, has aided several important industries in resisting the influences of depression. Moreover, natura expansion of the country has modified the declining tendency.

The continued influx of foreign branch plants, hastened by upward tariff revisions, has relatively expanded construction activities and mitigated unemployment. The power industry is rapidly extending its scope of operations into new territory. The Canadian banking system has proved the soundness of its structure by weathering depression so far without a single failure. The extractive industries have generally maintained volume of outputs. On the other hand, the paper and pulp industry is in an unsatisfactory condition, with the probability of further deflation ahead. Agriculture, the most important component of Canadian industry, is feeling the full effects of world-wide overproduction, with little improvement in near term prospect. On the whole, Standard Statistics is of the opinion that lower prices and reduced demand for Canadian products will necessitate a scaling down of outputs in most divisions of industry during the remainder of the current half year.

Broadly considered, profits have not been commensurate with general industrial activity, and common stocks of leading Canadian corporations have declined drastically from the 1929 highs. In the conviction that trade readjustments has not yet been sufficiently thorough to provide the background for early recovery, Standard Statistics anticipate that earnings of most concerns in 1931 will be markedly below those of last year. Practically all issues analyzed herein are, therefore, considered to be lacking in near or medium term attraction. On the other hand, prospective long term growth of Canadian business warrants judicious commitments, during weak markets, in shares of those companies which are most likely to share in this industrial development.

These include: Dominion Bridge, Dominion Stores, Montreal Light, Heat & Power, National Breweries and Page-Hersey Tubes.

Following refusal of the Ulster and Irish Free State Governments to continue their subsidy to the Lough Swilly Railroad, the company has laid off all the clerks.

Ancient Relics Found In Samaria Ruins

JERUSALEM, April 21 (A.P.)—An enormous reservoir and other relics dating from Roman times were unearthed yesterday on the site of the Israelite city of Samaria, mentioned in the Old and New Testaments, by a joint expedition of Harvard University, the Hebrew University, the British School of Archeology, and the Palestine Exploration Fund.

The excavations began ten days ago. Among other finds to-day were specimens of pottery of the third and fourth century, apparently a section of Israelite wall and various mosaics. There also were several lamps.

It is hoped that further search will reveal new facts of the old city and relics of the Herodian Restoration.

Identity is Known After Year Lapse

LONDON, Ont., April 21.—Just one year ago to-day a man of about 65 years of age was found with his throat cut, in a laneway in this city.

To-day he was identified as John McKinnon of Massena, N. Y. Police found upon his body a rosary and a photograph. Upon the photograph was an indistinct word. When all other attempts at identification failed police deciphered the word as "Massena" and sent the photograph to the Chief of Police there.

Last night a telegram and a telephone call was received from relatives in Massena and the man's identity was learned.

Thorold Trio Held For Beating Farmer

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., April 21—While walking on St. Davids road, Thorold Township, last night William Smith remonstrated with a party of three young men and two girls in a parked car who had started a fire in a nearby field. Warning them to put it out as it might spread, Smith was set upon, knocked down and badly beaten. Mrs. Smith, who went to her husband's assistance, was treated similarly until her screams attracted a hired man on a neighboring farm upon whose appearance the party made off. After an all-night search three Thorold young men were apprehended in connection with the assault and will be given a hearing this afternoon.

E. W. BEATTY DENIES HOUSE STATEMENT

Livestock Industry For Western Canada Did Not Collapse Through Lack of Support.

TORONTO, Ont., April 21.—(By the Canadian Press)—E. W. Beatty, K.C. president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, to-day denied his plan for a revolving loan fund of $5,000,000 to enable Western Canada to go into the livestock business had collapsed through lack of financial support, as stated in the House of Commons yesterday by E. J. Garland, United Farmer member for Bow River, Alberta.

"Mr. Garland's statement in reference to the Dominion Agricultural Credits Corporation, as reported in to-day's press, indicates that he is singularly uninformed as to the situation," said Mr. Beatty, who passed through Toronto on his way to Stratford, Ont., where he will address the Alumni Association of the University of Toronto at dinner to-night.

"The fact is that under the present law, insurance, mortgage, rust and some loan companies are not authorized to hold stock in the credits company," Mr. Beatty said, "and the necessary powers must be secured by appropriate to legislation. So far as the companies incorporated in Ontario are concerned, this power has already been obtained by an act recently passed, and similar legislation will be introduced in the Dominion house in the very near future. In the meantime, the companies are dealing with the allocation of subscriptions as between themselves through their own organizations.

"I have yet to learn of one single case where disapproval of the proposals has been made by any company communicated with. Final action of the companies has been delayed only because of the necessity of removing these legal disabilities."
